SMYTH.

SMYTH-CARMICHAEL, SIR JAMES-ROBERT, of Nutwood, co. Surrey; b. 11 June, 1817; s. his father, 4 March, 1838.

Lineage.

The paternal surname of this family, Carmichael, is one of great antiquity in Scotland, and was adopted originally from the Barony of Carmichael, in Lanarkshire.

SIR JOHN CARMICHAEL, who commanded the auxiliaries at the battle of Baugé, in Anjou, A.D. 1422, attained the highest martial renown by dismounting the Duke of Clarence, the English general, which exploit decided the fate of the day in favour of the united French and Scottish armies. In memory of this achievement, Sir John having broken his spear in the encounter with the duke, obtained the addition to his family arms of a hand holding a broken spear, which continues the crest of his descendants. Sir John Carmichael had two sons, William, from whom the (extinct) Earls of Hyndford sprang.

S M Y

Robert, progenitor of the Carmichaels of Balmaddy; of which family the representation devolved upon

THOMAS CARMICHAEL, Esq., who m. in 1740, Margaret, eldest dau. and heiress of James Smyth, Esq. of Atherny; and dying in 1746, left an only child,

JAMES CARMICHAEL, M.D., F.R.S., b. 23 Feb. 1742, who assumed, in compliance with the testamentary injunction of his maternal grandfather, the additional surname and arms of SMYTH. Dr. Carmichael-Smyth, who was a fellow of the Royal College of Physicians, London, and physician-extraordinary to GEORGE III., received the thanks of the House of Commons twice for his public services. He m. in 1775, Mary, only child of Thomas Holyland, Esq. of Bromley, co. Kent; and dying in 1821, left issue,

JAMES, the late bart.

Henry, major in the Bengal engineers.

William, late paymaster of Exchequer bills.

Charles, capt. in the Bengal cavalry.

David, judge and magistrate in Bengal.

Robert, capt. in the British army.

SOMERSET, DUKE OF, (Edward-Adolphus Seymour, K.G., D.C.L., F.R.S., and F.S.A.,) Baron Seymour, of Hache, co. Somerset; and a baronet; b. 24 Feb. 1775; inherited as 11th duke, at the demise of his father, 15 Dec. 1793; m. 24 June, 1800, Lady Charlotte Hamilton, 2nd dau. of Archibald, 9th Duke of Hamilton and Brandon, by whom (who d. 10 June, 1827) he has issue,

EDWARD-ADOLPHUS, Lord Seymour, b. 20 Dec. 1804; m. 10 June, 1830, Jane-Georgiana, youngest dau. of the late Thomas Sheridan, Esq., and grandau. of the Right Hon. Richard-Brinsley Sheridan, and has two daughters, Jane-Hermione.

 Ulrica.

Archibald-Henry-Algernon, b. 30 Dec. 1810.

Algernon-Percy-Banks, b. 22 Dec. 1813; an officer in the army.

Charlotte-Jane, m. 31 March, 1839, to William Blount, Esq. of Orleton, Herefordshire.

Jane-Anne-Wilhelmina.

Anne-Maria-Jane.

Henrietta-Jane.

His grace m. 2ndly, 28 July, 1836, Margaret, eldest dau. of Sir Michael-Shaw Stewart, Bart.

Lineage.

This family deduces its descent from a distinguished house of Normandy, and derives its surname from St. Maur, the place of its abode in that principality. Camden, in his Britannia, says, "Not far from Caldecot are Woundy and Penhow, the seats formerly of the illustrious family of St. Maur, now corruptly called Seymour. For we find that, about the year 1240, (in order to wrest Woundy out of the hands of the Welsh,) Gilbert Marshal, Earl of Pembroke, was obliged to assist William St. Maur; from whom was descended Roger of St. Maur, Knt., who m. one of the heiresses of the illustrious John Beauchamp, the noble Baron of Hache," &c.

SIR RICHARD ST. MAUR, Knt., becoming possessed of Woundy, Penhow, &c., co. Monmouth, fixed his residence at the last of those places, and was s. by his eldest son,

SIR ROGER DE ST. MAURO, who d. in the 28th year of KING EDWARD I., and was s. by his son,

SIR ROGER DE ST. MAURO, living in the 8th year of KING EDWARD II., who m. Joan, dau. and heiress of Damarel, of Devonshire, and had two sons,

John, who d. in the 32nd EDWARD III., leaving a son and heir,

ROGER, whose dau. and heiress conveyed the inheritance to the family of BOWLAYS, of Penhow, in Monmouthshire, who bore the Seymour arms, and terminated in a dau. and heiress, who was m. to Sir George Somerset, 3rd son of Charles, 1st Earl of Worcester.

Roger.

The younger son,

SIR ROGER DE ST. MAURO, "who," in the words of Camden, "married one of the heiresses of the illustrious John Beauchamp, the noble Baron of Hache, who was descended from Sibyl, one of the co-heiresses of that most puissant William Marshal, Earl of Pembroke, and from William Ferrars, Earl of Derby, Hugh de Vivon, and William Malet, men of eminent worth in their times." This lady survived her husband, and dying in 1393, was s. by (the son of Sir William Seymour, by Margaret, dau. and heir of Simon de Brockburn, of Brockburn, co. Hertford,) her grandson,

ROGER SEYMOUR, who m. Maud, dau. and co-heiress of Sir William Esturmi, of Chadham, co. Wilts, Lord of Wolf Hall, in the same county, and was s. by his son,

JOHN SEYMOUR, high-sheriff of co. Southampton in the 9th year of HENRY VI., and of Wilts in the following year. In the 12th of the same reign, when the title of the house of York was set on foot, and all persons of note in the counties were summoned to take the oaths, this John Seymour appeared in Wiltshire, and is the first mentioned in the list after the knights in that county. He m. Isabel, dau. and heir of William Mac-Williams, Esq. co. Gloucester, and was s. by (the son of John Seymour, by Elizabeth, dau. and heir of Sir Robert Coker, Knt. of Lawrence Lydiard, Somersetshire) his grandson,

JOHN SEYMOUR, who m. 1st, Elizabeth, dau. of Sir George Darrell, of Littlecote, co. Wilts, by whom he had four sons and four daus. He espoused 2ndly, a dau. of Robert Hardon, and had another son, Roger. He was s. at his decease by his eldest son,

SIR JOHN SEYMOUR, Knt., one of the commanders of the forces which suppressed the insurrection of Lord Audley and the Cornish rebels in 1497; who subsequently participating in the French wars of KING HENRY VIII., was made a knight-banneret by that monarch in 1513. He was afterwards sheriff successively of the counties of Dorset, Somerset, and Wilts. Sir John was in the train of KING HENRY in his interview with the French monarch, FRANCIS I., in 1520, and when the EMPEROR CHARLES V. came into England, in 1522, he was appointed to attend his royal master at Canterbury for the purpose of receiving the prince. Sir John Seymour m. Margery, 2nd dau. of Sir Henry Wentworth, K.B. of Nettlested, in Suffolk, by whom he had six sons and four daus., of whom lived to maturity,

EDWARD.

Henry, (Sir) K.B., from whom claim to be descended the SEYMOURS of Castletown, in the Queen's co., now represented by AARON CROSSLEY SEYMOUR, Esq. of Castletown, and SIR JOHN HOBART SEYMOUR, Bart. (See BURKE's Commoners, vol. iii. p. 201.)

Thomas, created Lord Seymour, of Sudley; who m. QUEEN CATHARINE (Parr), widow of KING HEN. VIII., and was constituted lord-admiral of England. Convicted of high-treason, he was beheaded, 10 March, 1548-9. (See BURKE's Extinct and Dormant Peerage.)

JANE, m. to KING HENRY VIII., by whom she was mother of KING EDWARD VI.

Elizabeth, m. 1st, to Sir Anthony Oughtred, Knt., and afterwards to Lord Cromwell.

Dorothy, m. to Sir Clement Smith, and afterwards to Thomas Laventhorpe, Esq.

Sir John d. 21 Dec. 1536, in seven months after his daughter's elevation to the throne, and was s. by his eldest son,

SIR EDWARD SEYMOUR, K.B., who had been elevated to the peerage as Viscount Beauchamp, 5 June, 1536, and was created, 18 Oct. 1537, Earl of Hertford. In the 32nd year of HENRY VIII., his lordship was sent over to France to ascertain the limits of the English borders, and upon his return was honoured with the Garter. In two years afterwards, he was appointed lord-great-chamberlain of England for life, and constituted one of the council to the Queen Regent (Catherine), upon the king's expedition into France, in 1544. After the decease of KING HENRY VIII., who bequeathed him £300, and nominated him one of his executors, and one of the council to his son, the earl was constituted lord-treasurer of England, and not being previously a baron, he was created, 15 Feb. 1546-7, Baron Seymour, of Hache, and advanced, on the next day, to the DUKEDOM OF SOMERSET, with remainder of both honours to his issue by his second wife, and after those to his male descendants by his first wife. On the 17 Feb. in the same year, he had a grant of the office of earl-marshal for life; and on the 12 March following, was appointed, by patent, PROTECTOR and Governor of the King and his realms, with an income of 8,000 marks so long as he should exercise that high office. His grace m. 1st, Catherine, dau. and co-heiress of Sir William Fillol, of Fillol Hall, co. Essex, by whom he had two sons; of whom

Edward (Sir) was seated at Berry Pomeroy, co. Devon, where he was s. by his son,

EDWARD, who was created a Baronet, 29 June, 1611; and dying in two years afterwards, was s. by his son,

SIR EDWARD, 2nd bart., who was s. by his son,

SIR EDWARD, 3rd bart., to whom s. his son,

SIR EDWARD, 4th bart.; who m. Margaret, dau. and co-heiress of Alderman Sir William Wale, of London, by whom he had two sons; and 2ndly, Lettice, dau. of Francis Popham, Esq., and had,

Francis, created Lord Conway, from whom the noble house of Hertford derives.

Sir Edward Seymour, who filled the speaker's chair in 1672, d. in 1707, and was s. by his eldest son,

SIR EDWARD, 5th bart. This gentleman m. Letitia, only dau. and heiress of Sir Francis Popham, of Littlecote, and was s. in 1740, by his eldest son,

SIR EDWARD, 6th bart., of whom hereafter, as 8th Duke of Somerset.

The Protector Somerset m. 2ndly, Anne, dau. of Sir Edward Stanhope, Knt. of Sudbury, co. Suffolk, and heiress of her mother, Elizabeth, sister of John Bouchier, Earl of Bath, by whom he had three sons and six daus. The ultimate fate of this nobleman was such as too generally awaited the aspirants to power at the period in which he lived. After reaching the summit of his ambition, and grasping the sceptre of unlimited authority, which he swayed during the two first years of his nephew's minority with all the attributes of royalty and with all its exterior symbols, he was hurled from his invidious pre-eminence by the arm of one of his most confidential counsellors, Dudley (Earl of Warwick), Duke of Northumberland, and brought to the block, 22 Jan. 1552, generally lamented by the people. (For a more detailed account of this eminent person, refer to BURKE's Extinct and Dormant Peerage.) His grace being attainted, his honour of course became forfeited, but his eldest son by the 2nd marriage,

EDWARD SEYMOUR, was created by QUEEN ELIZABETH, in the 1st year of her reign, Baron Beauchamp and Earl of Hertford. His lordship m. Lady Catherine Grey, dau. and heiress of Henry, Duke of Suffolk, (and granddaughter, maternally, of Charles Brandon, Duke of Suffolk, by Mary, Queen-Dowager of France, and sister of KING HENRY VIII.) This lady, who was sister of the amiable, interesting, and unfortunate Lady Jane Grey, was herself not less unhappy. Upon her pregnancy being discovered, in 1563, she was committed prisoner to the Tower, as well as the earl her husband, where he was detained for nine years, and fined by the star-chamber £15,000 for having vitiated a maid of the royal blood. The unhappy countess died in confinement in 1567, after giving birth to two sons, viz.,

- i. Edward, who d. young.
- ii. Edward, Lord Beauchamp, who, in the 6th of JAMES I., (notwithstanding the Duke of Somerset's descendants by his 1st wife had lodged a petition against the claims of those of the second to the family honours,) obtained letters patent that himself and the heirs male of his body, immediately after the death of his father, should be barons of parliament, and have place and voice therein; as also other letters patent, the same year, for the enjoyment of the title of Earl of Hertford. He m. Honora, dau. of Sir Richard Rogers, Knt. of Brianston, co. Dorset; and d. before his father. He had issue,

EDWARD, (Sir) K.B., who m. Anne, dau. of Richard Sackville, Earl of Dorset; and d. in 1618, before his father and grandfather, without surviving issue.

WILLIAM, (Sir) who s. his grandfather.

FRANCIS, (Sir) who was created BARON SEYMOUR, of Troubridge, 19 February, 1641. This nobleman m. 1st, Frances, dau. and co-heir of Sir Gilbert Prinne, Knt. of Allington, co. Wilts, by whom he had,

CHARLES, his successor.

FRANCES, m. to Sir William Ducie, Knt. of Tortworth, Gloucestershire.

His lordship espoused 2ndly, Catherine, dau. of Sir Robert Lee, of Billesley, but had no other issue. He d. 12 July, 1664, and was s. by his son,

CHARLES, 2nd Lord Troubridge; who m. 1st, Mary, dau. and sole heir of Thomas Smith, Esq. of Soley, co. Wilts, and had a son and two daus., of whom Frances, the younger dau., m. Sir George Hungerford, Knt. of Cadengham, Wilts. His lordship espoused 2ndly, Elizabeth, dau. of William, Lord Allington, (who was m. 2ndly, to Sir John Ernlo, Knt. of Whetham, chancellor of the Exchequer, temp. CHARLES II. and JAMES II.,) and had surviving issue,

FRANCIS, } successively Dukes of Somers-
CHARLES, } set.

Honora, m. to Sir Charles Gerard, Bart.

The validity of the marriage (between the Earl and Lady Catherine Grey) was, however, subsequently tried and established at common law. His lordship espoused two other wives; namely, Frances, dau. of William, Lord Howard, of Effingham; and Frances, dau. of Thomas, Viscount Howard, of Bindon, and widow of Henry Parnell, Esq. of London; but had no other issue. His lordship lived to an advanced age, and dying in 1621, was s. by his grandson,

SIR WILLIAM SEYMOUR, as Earl of Hertford and Baron Beauchamp; who was created, 3 June, 1640, Marquess of Hertford. During the reign of JAMES I., this nobleman attempted, without having gained the consent of that monarch, to marry Lady Arabella Stuart, first-cousin to the king, and was, in consequence, obliged to fly the kingdom, while the unfortunate lady was committed prisoner to the Tower, where she closed her unhappy life, 27 Sept. 1615. His lordship subsequently returning, and taking a most distinguished and gallant part in favour of royalty during the civil wars, was restored to the Barony of Seymour, of Hache, and DUKEDOM OF SOMERSET, by the reversal of the attainder of his eminent ancestor, 13 Sept. 1660. His grace m. 2ndly, (if his connexion with Lady Arabella be deemed a marriage,) Lady Frances Devereux, eldest dau. of the accomplished and ill-fated Earl of Essex, by whom he had, (with three daus.,)

HENRY, Lord Beauchamp, who pre-deceased the duke, leaving,

WILLIAM, 3rd duke.

Elizabeth, m. to Thomas Bruce, Earl of Aylesbury.

JOHN, who s. as 4th duke.

The duke d. within little more than a month after his restoration to the honours of his great-grandfather, 24th Oct. 1660, and was s. by his grandson,

WILLIAM, 3rd duke; at whose demise unmarried, in 1671, the estates of Tottenham Park and Savernake Forest, co. Wilts, with other considerable landed property, devolved upon his sister, the Countess of Aylesbury; while the peerage reverted to his uncle,

LORD JOHN SEYMOUR, as 4th duke; who m. Sarah, dau. and heir of Sir Edward Alston, Knt., M.D., president of the College of Physicians, and widow of George Grimstone, Esq.; but d. without issue, in 1675, when the MARQUESSATE OF HERTFORD expired, but the other honours devolved upon his cousin,

FRANCIS SEYMOUR, 3rd Baron Seymour, of Troubridge, as 5th duke, (refer to EDWARD, Lord Beauchamp, son of Edward, 1st Earl of Hertford.) This nobleman, during his travels in Italy, having, in company with some French gentlemen, visited the church of the Augustinians, at Lerice, and there offered rudeness to ladies of the family of Botti, of that place, was shot to death by Horatio Botti, the husband of one of those ladies, at the door of his inn, in April, 1678. His grace dying unm., the dukedom &c. devolved upon his brother,

CHARLES, 6th duke, K.G., commonly called "the proud Duke of Somerset." His grace m. 1st, Lady Elizabeth Percy, only dau. of Jocelyn, Earl of Northumberland, and sole heiress of the Percys, (her ladyship had been m. twice previously: 1st, to Lord Ogle; and 2ndly, to Thomas Thynne, Esq., but had no issue,) by whom he had issue, ALGERNON, his successor.

Percy, M.P. for Cockermouth; d. unm. in 1721.

Charles, d. unm. in 1710.

Catherine, m. to Sir William Wyndham, Bart. of Orchard Wyndham; and dying in 1713, left

CHARLES, who s. his uncle, the Duke of Somerset, in the Earldom of Egremont, &c.

Thomas, who m. Isabel, dau. of Edward Onley, Esq. of Catesby.

Anne, m. to Peregrine, 3rd Duke of Leeds; and d. in 1722.

The duke espoused, 2ndly, Lady Charlotte Finch, dau. of Daniel, Earl of Winchelsea, by whom he left, Frances, m. to John, Marquess of Granby.

Charlotte, m. Heneage, Earl of Aylesford.

This nobleman, so well known as the proud Duke of Somerset, is thus described by Grainger: "His grace was of a middle stature, finely formed, and of dark complexion; he loved music and poetry; had judgment; but an hesitation in speech made him appear wanting in expression. He was noble in sentiments, magnificent in living, a generous enemy, and a firm friend. His foible was an unbounded pride, which carried him to very indecent lengths. The first peer of the realm being a Roman catholic, he took precedence on all great occasions. He had attended the funerals of CHARLES II., QUEEN MARY, and WILLIAM III., and at the coronation of JAMES II., WILLIAM and MARY, ANNE, GEORGE I., and GEORGE II. He seemed little less in his conduct than if vested with regal honours. His servants obeyed by signs. The country roads were cleared that he might pass without obstruction or observation. He had two wives; the 1st was Elizabeth, sole dau. and heir of Jocelyn, the virgin widow of Henry Cavendish, Earl of Ogle, the relict of Thomas Thynne, Esq., who was shot in his coach by Count Coningsmark, in hopes of obtaining the heiress of the Percys. His 2nd duchess was Charlotte, 2nd dau. of Daniel, Earl of Winchelsea and Nottingham. He made a vast distinction between a Percy and a Finch. The duchess once familiarly tapped him on the shoulder with her fan; he turned round, and with an indignant sour countenance, said, 'My first duchess was a Percy, and she never took such a liberty.' His children obeyed his mandates with profound respect; the two youngest daus. had used to stand alternately whilst he slept of an afternoon. Lady Charlotte being tired, sat down; the duke waked, and displeased, declared he would make her remember her want of decorum. By his will he left her £20,000 less than her sister. The pleasant Sir James Delaval laid a wager of £1000 that he would make the duke give him precedence; but that was judged impossible, for his grace was all eyes and ears upon such occasions. Delaval, however, having one day obtained information of the precise time when the duke was to pass a narrow part of the road on his way to town, stationed himself there in a coach emblazoned for the day with the arms, and surrounded by many servants in the livery of the head of the house of Howard, who called out when Somerset appeared, "The Duke of Norfolk." The former, fearful of committing a breach of etiquette, hurried his postillion under a hedge, where he was no sooner safely fixed when Delaval passed, who, leaning out of the carriage, bowed with a familiar air, and wished his grace a good morning. He indignantly exclaimed, "Is it you, Sir James? I thought it had been the Duke of Norfolk." The wager thus fairly won, was paid, and the town made merry with the stratagem to gain it. His grace d. in 1748, at the advanced age of eighty-seven, having filled high offices in the courts of CHARLES II., WILLIAM III., and QUEEN ANNE, and was s. by his only surviving son,

ALGERNON, 7th duke; who had been summoned to parliament, at the demise of his mother, as Baron Percy. His grace was created Baron Warkworth, of Warkworth Castle, co. Northumberland, and Earl of Northumberland, 2 Oct. 1749, with remainder, in default of male issue, to his son-in-law, Sir Hugh Smithson, and his heirs male by Lady Elizabeth Seymour; and on the day following, (3 Oct.) Baron Cockermouth, of Cockermouth Castle, and Earl of Egremont, both in the co. Cumberland, with remainder to his nephew, Sir Charles Wyndham, Bart., (uncle and predecessor of the late Earl of Egremont—see that dignity.) His grace m. Frances, eldest dau. and co-heiress of Henry Thynne, Esq., by whom he had issue,

GEORGE, who d. in his 19th year, in 1744.

Elizabeth, who m. Sir Hugh Smithson, Bart. of Stanwick, co. York, (see Duke of Northumberland.)

The duke d. in 1750, when the Earldom of Hertford, the Viscounty of Beauchamp, and the Barony of Seymour, of Troubridge, expired; the honours obtained by his grace passed according to their respective limitations; and the Dukedom of Somerset, with the Barony of Seymour, of Hache, the male line of Edward, 1st duke, by his 2nd wife, to whom the patent was in the first instance limited, having failed, reverted to

SIR EDWARD SEYMOUR, Bart., as 8th duke, (refer to descendants of Sir Edward Seymour, son of Edward, 1st duke, by his 1st wife.) This nobleman claimed the dukedom upon the demise of his kinsman; and the attorney-general, Sir Dudley Rider, reporting in his favour to the crown, he was summoned to parliament, 23 Nov. 1750, and took his seat accordingly. His grace m. in 1716, Mary, only dau. and heir of Daniel Webb, Esq. of Monckton-Farley, co. Wilts, and heir of her uncle, Edward Somner, Esq. of Seend, in the same county, by whom he had issue,

EDWARD, } successive dukes.

SOMERVILLE.

SOMERVILLE, BARON, (Mark Somerville,) in the peerage of Scotland; b. 26 Oct. 1784; inherited as 16th baron, at the demise of his half-brother, 5th Oct. 1819.

Lineage.

The remotest ancestor of this family upon record is,

SIR GUALTER DE SOMERVILLE, one of the companions of the NORMAN CONQUEROR, who became Lord of Whichnour, co. Stafford, and his descendants possessed considerable property, about the close of the 12th century, in co. Lanark, and in other parts of Scotland; of whom

WILLIAM DE SOMERVILLE was one of the barons appointed at the marriage of ALEXANDER II. (whose reign commenced in 1214) to exercise in a tournament at the castle of Roxburgh. This William's great-grandson,

SIR WALTER DE SOMERVILLE, m. Giles, dau. and heiress of Sir John Herring, with whom he got the lands of Gilmerton Drum and Goodtrees. He was s. by his eldest surviving son,

SIR THOMAS DE SOMERVILLE, of Linton and Carnwath, who m. Elizabeth, dau. of Sir James Douglas, of Loudon, and was s. by his eldest son,

SIR WILLIAM SOMERVILLE, one of the hostages for the ransom of KING DAVID II., in 1357; who d. in 1403, and was s. by his elder son,

THOMAS DE SOMERVILLE, (one of the ambassadors deputed, in 1423, to the court of London, to treat for the ransom of KING JAMES I.,) who was created, 15 Dec. 1430, LORD SOMERVILLE. His lordship m. Janet, dau. of Sir Alexander Stewart, of Dernley, with whom he acquired the Barony of Cambusnethan; and dying in 1445, was s. by his only son,

WILLIAM, 2nd baron; who m. Janet, dau. of Sir John Mowat, of Stanhouse; and dying in 1456, was s. by his eldest son,

JOHN, 3rd lord; who d. in 1491-2, and was s. by his grandson,

JOHN, 4th lord, (son of William, master of Somerville, by Marjory, sister of Hugh, 1st Earl of Eglintoun;) at whose decease s. p., the dignity devolved upon his brother,

HUGH, 5th lord; who m. Janet, dau. of William Maitland, of Leithington; and dying in 1549, was s. by his eldest son,

JAMES, 6th lord. This nobleman was a strenuous opposer of the Reformation, saying, with the Earl of Atholl and Lord Bothwick, "that he would believe as his fathers had done before him." His lordship joined QUEEN MARY, at Hamilton, in May, 1568, with three hundred horse, at whose head he fought at the battle of Langside, and was severely wounded. He m. Agnes, dau. of Sir James Hamilton, of Finnart; and dying in 1569, was s. by his elder son,

HUGH, 7th lord; who m. Eleanor, dau. of George, Lord Seton; and dying in 1597, was s. by his son,

GILBERT, 8th lord. This nobleman entertained KING JAMES VI. most sumptuously at his castle of Cowthaly, which the monarch jocularly called Cow-daily, from seeing a cow and ten sheep killed daily. His lordship, by a course of similar extravagance, ran entirely through his estates. He m. Margaret, dau. of John Somerville, of Cambusnethan, and had three surviving daus.,

Mary, m. 1st, to James, Lord Torphichen; and 2ndly, to Sir William Douglas, of Pumpherstoun.

Margaret, m. to Sir Humphrey Colquhoun, of Balvie.

A dau, m. to Stewart of Minto.

His lordship d. in 1618; and as he left no male issue, the title devolved upon his brother,

The Hon. HUGH SOMERVILLE, of Drum, as 9th lord, but he never assumed the honour. He m. Margaret, dau. of Gavin Hamilton, of Raploch; and dying in 1640, was s. by his elder son,

JAMES SOMERVILLE, (10th lord, but he likewise declined assuming the dignity,) who m. Lillas, dau. of Sir James Bannatyne, of Newhall, a lord of Session; and dying in 1677, was s. by his only son,

JAMES SOMERVILLE, (11th lord, but unassumed,) who d. in 1690, and was s. by his grandson,

JAMES SOMERVILLE, (12th lord, still unassumed,) who m. Margaret, dau. of Murray, of Deuchar; and dying in 1700, was s. by his eldest son,

JAMES, the 13th lord; whose claim being disputed, was confirmed by parliament, 27 May, 1723, and he was chosen one of the representative lords in 1741. Georgiana, Laura, m. 21 July, 1829, to the Hon. Robert-Edward Petre.

Isabella-Maria.

His lordship m. 2ndly, 25 May, 1836, Elizabeth, dau. of Richard Caton, Esq. of the state of Maryland, and sister of the Marchioness Wellesley. Lord Stafford inherited as 7th baronet, at the demise of his father, 14 Aug. 1809, and succeeded to the ancient Barony of Stafford, after the reversal of the iniquitous attainder of Sir William Howard, Viscount Stafford, in 1824; the House of Lords resolving, 6 July, 1825, that "Sir George Jerningham had made out his claim to the title, dignity, and honour of Baron Stafford, under certain letters patent, bearing date 12 Sept. in the 16th year of the reign of KING CHARLES I." His lordship assumed, by sign-manual, in 1826, the additional surname and arms of STAFFORD.

Lineage.

The paternal line of the present house of Stafford is stated to have been originally Danish, and the name "Jernegan." Weever, in his work on "Ancient Funeral Monuments," has these observations:—"This name hath been of exemplarie note before the Conquest, if you will believe thus much that followeth, taken out of the pedigree of the Jerninghams by a judicious gentleman, anno MXXX. CANUTE, King of Denmarke and of England, after his return from Rome, brought divers captains and souldiers from Denmarke, whereof the greatest part were christened here in England, and began to settle themselves here; of whom Jernegan, or Jernengham, and Jernihingho, now Jennings, were of the most esteeme with Canute, who gave unto the said Jerningham certaine manors in Norfolke; and to Jennings certain manors lying upon the sea-side, near Harwich, in Suffolke, in regard of their former services done to his father, SWENUS, King of Denmarke."

Bloomfield's History of Norfolk commences the pedigree of the Jerninghams with

JERNEGAN, or JERNINGHAM, who was settled at Horham-Jernegan, co. Suffolk, in the reigns of KING STEPHEN and KING HENRY II.; and dying in 1182, was s. by his son,

SIR HUBERT FITZGERNEGAN, Knt. of Horham-Jernegan, who d. in 1203, and was s. by his son,

SIR HUBERT JERNEGAN, Knt., who had been involved in the insurrection of the barons against KING JOHN; but on the accession of HENRY III. in 1216, he submitted and obtained his pardon. He was s. by his eldest surviving son,

SIR WILLIAM JERNEGAN, who was s. by his brother,

SIR HUGH JERNEGAN. This gentleman having, in 1243, made an exchange with his mother, transferred to that lady the messuage of Horham-Jernegan, and removed the residence of his own family to Stonham-Jernegan. He was s. by his son,

SIR WALTER JERNEGAN, of Stonham-Jernegan, who m. Isabella, dau. of Sir Peter Fitzosbert, of Somerley Town, in Suffolk, and sister and co-heiress of her brother, Sir Roger, (who was summoned, with about sixty other persons, 8 June, 1294, "22 EDWARD I." to attend the king wherever he might be, to advise on the affairs of the realm; but it is doubtful whether that summons can be deemed a regular writ of summons to parliament constituting a barony.) This lady was the widow of Sir Henry de Walpole, of Walpole and Houghton, co. Norfolk. Sir Walter d. about the 31st year of EDWARD I., and was s. by his son,

SIR PETER JERNEGAN, of Somerley Town, who, at the decease of his mother, succeeded as co-heir to her portion of the extensive possessions of the Fitzosbert family. From this Sir Peter we pass over a long line of gallant and distinguished personages to his descendant,

SIR HENRY JERNINGHAM, of Huntingfield and Wingfield, in Suffolk, and of Costessey, in Norfolk, who was the first among the Suffolk and Norfolk knights that declared openly for QUEEN MARY on the demise of EDWARD VI., in the year 1555; for which important service he was constituted by her majesty, immediately after her accession, vice-chamberlain, captain of the guard, master of the horse and of the household, and one of the privy-council. Sir Henry also obtained grants from the queen of several large manors in Norfolk, Suffolk, Herefordshire, and Gloucestershire, particularly those of Costessey, in Norfolk, and Wingfield Castle, in Suffolk. The former he made the chief place of residence of the family, having rebuilt the mansion, and it has so continued down to the present time. Sir Henry entertained QUEEN ELIZABETH there in her progress to Norfolk; but his adhesion to the ancient faith seems to have been a bar to any favour at court during that queen's reign. He m. Frances, dau.

of Sir George Baynham, of Clowerwall, co. Gloucester, and heiress to her maternal uncle, Sir Anthony Kingston; and dying in 1572, was s. by his eldest son,

HENRY JERNINGHAM, Esq. of Costessy Hall, who m. 1st, Eleanor, dau. of William, Lord Dacre, of Gillesland, and grandau. maternally, of George, 4th Earl of Shrewsbury, by whom he had five sons and a dau. He m. 2ndly, Frances, dau. and co-heiress of his cousin, Sir John Jernegan, of Somerley Town, and widow of Sir Thomas Bedingfeld, by whom he had one son and a dau. He d. in 1619, and was s. by his eldest son,

I. HENRY JERNINGHAM, Esq. of Costessey, who was created a Baronet, 16 Oct. 1621. Sir Henry m. Eleanor, dau. of Thomas Throckmorton, Esq. of Throckmorton, co. Worcester,* and had issue,

JOHN, who m. in 1612, Mary, dau. of Sir Francis Moore, Bart. of Fawley, Berks; and dying in the lifetime of his father, left

HENRY, successor to his grandfather.
Frances, m. to Philip Crambleton, Esq.
Dorothy, m. to Thomas Pegge, Esq.

William, m. Mary, eldest dau. of Francis Barnard, Esq., and relict of Hugh Lee, Esq., and of John Yonge, Esq.

Thomas, (Sir) knighted for his gallantry at the Isle of Rhé, in 1627.

Catherine, m. in 1624, to Francis Saunders, Esq.

This gentleman suffered severely during the civil wars. In the Usurpation, the park at Costessey was let down and the deer destroyed, the mansion, with the domain, let to a farmer, and a considerable part of the buildings was suffered to fall into decay. Sir Henry d. in 1646, and was s. by his grandson,

II. SIR HENRY, who m. Mary, dau. of Benedict Hall, Esq. of High Meadow, co. Gloucester; and dying in 1680, was s. by his only surviving son,

III. SIR FRANCIS, who m. Anne, dau. of Sir George Blount, Bart. of Sodington, co. Worcester, by whom he had seven sons and two daus.; and dying in 1730, was s. by his eldest son,

IV. SIR JOHN, b. in 1678; m. in 1704, Margaret, dau. of Sir Henry Bedingfeld; but dying s. p. 14 June, 1737, was s. by his brother,

V. SIR GEORGE, b. in 1680. This gentleman m. in 1733, Mary, eldest dau. and eventual heiress of Francis Plowden, Esq., by Mary, dau. of the Hon. John Stafford-Howard, younger son of the unfortunate Sir William Howard, Viscount Stafford, (and sister and heiress of John-Paul Stafford-Howard, 4th and last Earl of Stafford, who d. in 1762, when the earldom created in 1688 expired,) by whom he had surviving issue,

WILLIAM, his successor.

Edward, a man of letters and distinguished in literature.

Charles, a general-officer in the French service, and knight of Malta and St. Louis; d. 25 Nov. 1814.

Sir George d. 21 Jan. 1774, and was s. by his eldest surviving son,

VI. SIR WILLIAM, b. 7 March, 1736; m. in 1767, the Hon. Frances Dillon, eldest dau. of Henry, 11th Viscount Dillon,† and left by that lady (who d. in 1825) at his decease, 14 Aug. 1809,

GEORGE-WILLIAM, his successor, and present Baron Stafford, which dignity he inherits through his great-grandmother, Mary Howard, wife of Francis Plowden, Esq., grandau. of the so-unjustly attainted Viscount Stafford, and mother of Mary, wife of Sir George Jerningham, the 5th bart. This barony was created by patent, dated 12 Sept. 1640, (see note), and conferred upon Mary Stafford, (jointly with her husband, Sir William Howard, K.B.) sister and sole heiress of Henry Stafford, 13th Baron Stafford, a barony created in 1299, but forfeited by Edward de Stafford, Duke of Buckingham, lord-high-constable and K.G., who was beheaded in 1521. Henry Stafford, the duke's son and heir, was restored in blood by an act of parliament passed in the 1st year of EDWARD VI., whereby it was enacted, "That the said Henry, Lord Stafford, and the heirs male of his body, may be taken and reputed as Lord Stafford, and that the said Henry be restored in blood." His lordship was summoned to parliament from 1548 to 1558. He m. Ursula, dau. of Sir Richard Pole, K.G., by Margaret Plantagenet, Countess of Salisbury, niece of EDWARD IV., and was great-grandfather of the Mary Stafford who m. Sir William Howard, Viscount Stafford. (The present Lord Stafford claims the original barony of 1299, and the claim is before the House of Lords, but not yet decided upon.) For a full account of the Lords Stafford, refer to BURKE's Extinct and Dormant Peerage.

William-Charles, b. 13 Oct. 1772; an officer of rank in the Austrian service; m. 1st, 5 Oct. 1803, Anne, eldest dau. of Thomas Wright, Esq. of Fitzwalters, co. Essex, which lady d. in 1813; and 2ndly, Anne, dau. of Edward Moore, Esq.; and d. in 1820, leaving issue by the former,

Edmund-William, b. 5 Sept. 1805; m. Matilda, dau. of Robert Waterton, Esq., and has issue.

Arthur-William, b. 22 Feb. 1807; R.N.; m. Sophia, eldest daughter of Richard O'Farrell Caddell, Esq. of Harbournstoun, co. Meath.

Frederick-William, a military officer.

Lucretia, m. 19 July, 1836, to Edward, eldest son of Viscount Gormanston.

Louisa-Mary.

Gertrude-Frances, m. 18 Nov. 1834, to Charles-Edward Blount, Esq.

Edward, barrister-at-law, of Painswick, Gloucestershire; b. 14 July, 1774; m. 15 Oct. 1804, Emily, eldest surviving dau. of the late Nathaniel Middleton, Esq. of Townhill, co. Hants; and d. 29 May, 1822, leaving issue, Charles-Edward, barrister-at-law; b. 27 Nov. 1805.

John-Edward, b. 13 June, 1813.

James, b. 31 Jan. 1817; an officer in the army.

Mary-Clementina, m. in March, 1838, to Victor Amédée, Comte de Ripert-Monclar, Chevalier de Malte, eldest son of the Marquis de Ripert-Barret.

Charlotte-Georgiana, m. in 1795, to Sir Richard Bedingfeld, Bart., who d. 22 Nov. 1829. Lady Bedingfeld was advanced to the rank of a baron's dau., by sign-manual, in Oct. 1831.

Sir William d. 14 Aug. 1809.

Creations—Baronet, 16 Oct. 1621. Baron, 2 Sept. 1640.

Supporters—Dexter, a lion, rampant; sinister, a swan, ar., beaked and legged, sa., ducally gorged, per pale, gu. and of the second.

Seats—Cossy Hall, Norfolk; and Shiffnall Manor, Salop.

Note.—Sir William Howard, K.B., (younger son of Thomas, 23rd Earl of Arundel, by creation Earl of Norfolk and Earl Marshal, K.G.) m. the Hon. Mary Stafford, sister and heiress of Henry Stafford, 12th Baron Stafford, and was created Baron Stafford, while her ladyship was created Baroness Stafford, with remainder to their heirs male and general, male or female, 12 Sept. 1640. Lord Stafford was subsequently advanced to the Viscounty of Stafford, 11 Nov. 1640; but being beheaded and attainted in 1678, his descendants were debarred inheriting the baronies of either himself or the baroness until the reversal of the attainder in 1824. The viscounty expired at his lordship's decease.

* By MARGARET, dau. and co-heir of William Whorwood, attorney-general to HENRY VIII. ANNE WHORWOOD, her sister, the other co-heir, was the first wife of Ambrose Dudley, Earl of Warwick, but died issueless.

† By Lady Charlotte Lee, eldest dau. of George-Henry, 2nd Earl of Lichfield, and eventually heiress of her brother, George-Henry, 3rd earl. The Earldom of Lichfield in the Lee family became EXTINCT at the decease of her ladyship's uncle, Robert, 4th earl, in 1776. (Refer to BURKE's Extinct and Dormant Peerage.)

S T A I R.

STAIR, EARL, (John-William-Henry Dalrymple,) Viscount Stair and Dalrymple, Baron Dalrymple, of Newliston, Glenluce, and Stranraer, and Baron Stair, in the peerage of Scotland; and a Baronet of Nova Scotia; b. 16 Nov. 1784; inherited as 7th earl, at the decease of his cousin, 1 June, 1821; m. in 1808, (the late) Laura, youngest dau. of John Manners, Esq. of Grantham Grange, by Louisa, present Countess of Dysart, which marriage was dissolved in 1809, in consequence of a prior contract, in 1804, with Johanna, dau. of Charles Gordon, Esq. of Cluny, deemed a valid marriage by the laws of Scotland, where it took place. This latter marriage was, however, annulled in June, 1820.

Lineage.

The surname of this family is derived from the barony of Dalrympill, co. Ayr.

WILLIAM DE DALRYMPLE acquired, in 1450, the lands of Stair-Montgomery, in Ayrshire, with his wife, Agnes Kennedy, an heiress, and was s. by his son, WILLIAM DALRYMPLE, of Stair, who m. Marrion, dau. of Sir John Chalmers, of Gadgirth, in the same shire. This lady was one of the Lollards of Kyle, summoned, in 1494, before the king's council on account of their heretical doctrines; but JAMES IV. treating the charge with contempt, the accused were dismissed. The great-grandson of this William and Marrion.

JOHN DALRYMPLE, of Stair, was one of the first that openly professed the reformed doctrines, and joined the Earls of Lennox and Glencairn, in 1544, against the Earl of Arran. He was s. by his son,

JAMES DALRYMPLE, of Stair, whose great-grandson,

JAMES DALRYMPLE, of Stair, b. in 1619, having been bred to the bar was appointed, in 1657, by CROMWELL, at the recommendation of General Monk, a lord of Session, and was confirmed therein by KING CHARLES II., who created him a Baronet of Nova Scotia, 2 June, 1664. In 1671, Sir James became president of the court of Session, from which he was removed in 1681, and obliged the next year to retire into Holland. Returning with the Prince of Orange, in 1688, he was restored to the presidency after the Revolution, and elevated to the peerage, 21 April, 1690, as Baron Glenluce and Stranraer and Viscount Stair. His lordship m. Margaret, eldest dau. of James Ross, of Balniel, and had issue,

JOHN, his successor.

James, of Borthwick, one of the principal clerks of the court of Session, who was created a Baronet of Nova Scotia, 28 April, 1698, and whose descendant, Sir John-Hamilton Dalrymple, 5th and present bart., is HEIR-PRESUMPTIVE to the VISCOUNTY OF STAIR. (See Dalrymple, Bart. of Cranstown.)

Hew, a member of the faculty of advocates, who was created a Baronet, 29 April, 1698, and promoted the June following to the presidency of the court of Session, which office had continued vacant since the death of his father. Sir Hew served in parliament for the borough of North Berwick. He d. in 1737, leaving several children by his wife, Marion Hamilton.

Thomas, M.D., physician in ordinary to the king in Scotland.

David, (Sir) of Hales, co. Haddington, a member of the faculty of advocates, created a Baronet, 8 May, 1700. He was M.P. for Culross, solicitor-general to QUEEN ANNE, and a commissioner for the treaty of Union. He d. in 1721, leaving issue.

The viscount d. 25 Nov. 1695, and was s. by his eldest son,

JOHN, 2nd viscount; who was created, 8 April, 1703, Baron Newliston, Glenluce, Stranraer, Viscount Dalrymple, and EARL OF STAIR, with remainder, failing his own male issue, to the heirs male of his father. His lordship, who was lord-justice-clerk, and afterwards lord-advocate and secretary of state, m. Elizabeth, dau. and heiress of Sir John Dundas, of Newliston, co. Linlithgow, and had three sons, viz.,

I. JOHN, his successor.

II. William, of Glenmure, a colonel in the army, and member for the county of Ayr in the last parliament of Scotland; m. in 1698, Penelope, Countess of Dumfries, and had, with other issue,

WILLIAM, who inherited the Earldoms of Dumfries and Stair.

JAMES, who succeeded as 3rd earl.

III. GEORGE, of Dalmahoy, one of the barons of the Exchequer in Scotland; m. Euphame, eldest dau. of Sir Andrew Myrton, Bart. of Gogar, co. Edinburgh, and had,

JOHN, who s. as 5th EARL OF STAIR.

JOHN-WILLIAM-HENRY, who s. as 7th (and present) EARL OF STAIR.

The part which this nobleman (John, 2nd Viscount Stair) had in the horrible massacre of Glencoe cannot be passed over in silence. "King William," says Hume, "whose chief virtue was not humanity, signed a warrant for the destruction of those unhappy people, (the clan of Macdonald of Glencoe,) and an order for this barbarous execution, signed and counter-signed by his majesty's own hand, being transmitted to the master of Stair, secretary for Scotland, this minister sent particular directions to Livingstone, who commanded the troops in that kingdom, to put the inhabitants of Glencoe to the sword, charging him to take no prisoners, that the scene might be more terrible." (Hume, vol. iv.) His lordship was obliged to resign the secretaryship in 1695, parliament having voted that his letters exceeded the king's instructions, and declared the affair of Glencoe a barbarous murder. He d. suddenly, 8 Jan. 1707, and was s. by his eldest son,

JOHN, 2nd earl, K.T., a military officer of high rank and renown, and a participator in the victories of the Duke of Marlborough. His lordship served as brigadier at the battle of Oudenarde in 1708, and was bearer of the despatches announcing that victory to England. He subsequently attained the rank of field-marshal, and was appointed commander of the forces in North Britain. In 1715, Lord Stair went to France in a diplomatic capacity, and after the death of Louis XIV., was constituted ambassador-extraordinary to that court. The object of his embassy was of the utmost importance, and his manner of executing it the most brilliant and spirited. The former was to discover and watch over the intrigues of the Jacobites, when the Brunswick family could hardly be said to have a firm establishment on the throne, and to cement a friendship with the REGENT, Duke of Orleans, whose steadiness could not always be depended upon. No ambassador ever exceeded, and few have equalled, the splendid and magnificent table, equipage, and train of domestics by which the earl's embassy was distinguished. His lordship m. Eleanor, widow of James, Viscount Primrose, and dau. of James, 2nd Earl of Loudoun, but had no issue. In consequence of the marriage of his next brother and heir presumptive with a peeress, the earl surrendered, in 1707, all the honours to the crown, and obtained a new charter, containing, in default of male issue, a reversionary clause in favour of any one of the male descendants of the 1st viscount whom his lordship should name; in conformity with which his lordship executed a deed immediately prior to his decease, in 1747, appointing his nephew, John, the son of his 2nd brother, George, his successor. But that nomination was contested by the Hon. James Dalrymple, 2nd son of the Hon. William Dalrymple and the Countess of Dumfries; and the lords deciding in his favour, 2 May, 1748, he succeeded as

JAMES, 3rd earl; but dying without issue, in 1760, the honours reverted to his elder brother.

WILLIAM, as 4th earl; who had inherited the Earldom of Dumfries at the decease of his mother, Penelope, Countess of Dumfries. This nobleman dying, however, in 1768, without issue, the Earldom of Dumfries passed into the right line, and the honours of the house of Stair reverted to his cousin,

JOHN, 5th earl; the personage who had already been defeated under his uncle's nomination, but had then succeeded to his uncle's fortune without dispute, (refer to George, of Dalmahoy, youngest son of 1st earl.) His lordship m. Miss Middleton, dau. of George Middleton, Esq., a banker in London; and dying in 1789, was s. by his only son,

JOHN, 6th earl, one of the representative lords. This nobleman d. without issue, 1 June, 1821, when the honours reverted to his cousin, JOHN-WILLIAM-HENRY DALRYMPLE, Esq., the present earl, (refer to descendants of George, of Dalmahoy, youngest son of 1st earl.)

Creations—Baronet, 1664. Baron and Viscount, 21 April, 1690, to the 1st viscount and the heirs male of his body. Earl, &c., 8 April, 1703.

Arms—Or, on a saltier, az., nine lozenges of the field.

Crest—A rock, ppr.

Supporters—Two lions, ppr.

Motto—Firm.

Seats—Culhorn, Wigtonshire; and Stair House, Ayrshire.

Jane, m. 8 Nov. 1825, to Sir John-Benn Walsh, Bart.

His lordship inherited as 6th earl, at the demise of his father, 23 May, 1819. The Earl of Stamford is lord-lieutenant and custos-rotulorum co. Chester.

Lineage.

This is one of the most ancient and illustrious families in the peerage. It deduces an uninterrupted line from the Conquest, and has allied with the Plantagenets and Tudors.

HENRY DE GREY obtained from KING RICHARD I. the manor of Turroc, in Essex, and had the same confirmed by KING JOHN, with the privilege of hunting the fox and hare in any lands belonging to the crown except the king's own demesnes. In the reign of HENRY III., he had a grant of the manor of Grimston, co. Nottingham, from Robert Bardolph, whose niece and co-heiress, Isolda, he married, and eventually shared in the inheritance of all the said Robert's lands. From his 2nd son by this lady,

JOHN DE GREY, descended the extinct Earls and Dukes of Kent, the extinct Dukes of Suffolk, the Earls of Wilton, and the house of which we are now treating. This John de Grey was justice of Chester, temp. HENRY III., and d. in the fiftieth year of that reign, leaving a son and heir,

REGINALD DE GREY, who was justice of Chester in the reign of EDWARD I., and obtained from that monarch the castle of Ruthyn and other territorial possessions. He m. Maud, dau. and heiress of Henry de Longchamp, a powerful feudal baron, whose principal residence was Wilton Castle, co. Hereford; and dying in the first year of EDWARD II., left a son and heir,

John de Grey; of whose sons,

HENRY DE GREY, the eldest, was s. by his eldest son, Reginald, Lord Grey of Wilton; which dignity expired under the attainder of Thomas, Lord Grey of Wilton, who d. 6 July, 1614, in the Tower of London, where he had been imprisoned for participating in Raleigh's plot. His lordship's sister and heir, Bridget, m. Sir Rowland Egerton, Bart., the direct maternal ancestor of the extant Earls of Wilton.

ROGER DE GREY, the youngest son, obtained from his father the castle of Ruthyn, with other extensive possessions; and marrying Elizabeth, dau. of John, Lord Hastings, by Isabel, dau. and co-heiress of William Valence, Earl of Pembroke, left a son,

Reginald, whose son,

Reginald, Lord Grey de Ruthyn, upon the demise of John de Hastings, Earl of Pembroke, was found to be that nobleman's next heir. From the eldest son of this Reginald, Lord Grey, Sir John Grey, (who pre-deceased him,) descended the Earls of Kent, (the third successor to which honour having impaired his fortune by gaming, his brother and heir, Sir Henry Grey, of Wrest, declined assuming the dignity, but that gentleman's grandson and heir, Reginald, having by frugality recovered his fortune, became 6th earl,) which earldom merged in the Dukedom of Kent in 1710, and expired in 1740. (See BURKE'S Extinct Peerage.)

The 2nd son of Reginald, Lord Grey de Ruthyn,

SIR EDWARD DE GREY, m. Elizabeth, dau. and heiress of Henry, son and heir-apparent of William, Lord Ferrars, of Groby, and in consequence assumed that title. His lordship d. in the 36th year of HENRY VI., and was s. by his eldest son,

SIR JOHN GREY, who m. Elizabeth, eldest dau. of Richard Widville, Earl of Rivers, by whom he had two sons. Sir John fell at the battle of St. Albans fighting under the banner of HENRY VI., in the 39th year of that prince's reign, and his widow became subsequently queen-consort of EDWARD IV. Sir John Grey's eldest son and heir,

SIR THOMAS GREY, through the influence of his mother, was created, in the 11th year of EDWARD IV., Earl of Huntingdon, and in four years afterwards advanced to the MARQUESSATE OF DORSET. After KING EDWARD's death, however, his lordship was attainted of high-treason, but restored upon the elevation of HENRY VII. to the throne. He d. 10 April, 1501, and was s. by his eldest surviving son, (by his 2nd wife, Cicely, dau. and heiress of William Bonville, Lord Bonville and Harrington,)

THOMAS, 2nd Marquess of Dorset, K.G. This nobleman carried the sword of state at the celebrated meeting between HENRY VIII. and FRANCIS I. at Ardres, in 1520. His lordship d. 10 Oct. 1530, and was s. by his eldest son,

HENRY, 3rd marquess; who espoused, for his 2nd wife, Frances, eldest dau. and co-heiress of Charles Brandon, Duke of Suffolk, by Mary, Queen-Dowager of France, and sister of KING HENRY VIII., and was in consequence advanced, 11 Oct. 1551, to the DUKEDOM OF SUFFOLK and installed a knight of the Garter. The issue of this marriage were three daus.; the eldest, the amiable and unfortunate Lady Jane Grey, having for a few days enjoyed the empty trappings of royalty, was brought, with her husband, Lord Guilford Dudley, to the block, 12 Feb. 1554-5. Lady Catherine Grey, the 2nd dau., marrying Edward Seymour, Earl of Hertford, without the permission of QUEEN ELIZABETH, was committed to the Tower by her majesty, where she died, 26 Jan. 1567; while the 3rd, Lady Mary Grey, m. Martin Keys, Esq. of the co. of Kent, sergeant-porter to QUEEN ELIZABETH, and d. without issue in 1578. The unhappy father suffered soon after his eldest dau., 23 Feb. 1554-5, and his brother, Thomas,

27 April following. From that period the honours of the family were eclipsed until revived by KING JAMES I., who created

SIR HENRY GREY, Knt., (son of Lord John Grey, of Pirgo, co. Essex, and only nephew of the attainted duke,) 21 July, 1603, Lord Grey, of Groby, co. Leicester. His lordship m. Anne, dau. of William, Lord Windsor, of Bradenham; and dying in 1614, was s. by his grandson,

HENRY, 2nd Lord Grey, of Groby, (son of the Hon. Sir John Grey, by Elizabeth, dau. of Edward Nevil, Lord Abergavenny,) who was created EARL OF STAMFORD, co. Lincoln, 26 March, 1628. His lordship m. Lady Anne Cecil, youngest dau. and co-heiress of William, Earl of Exeter, in whose right he became possessed of the castle, borough, and manor of Stamford. The earl was a parliamentary military commander during the civil wars, as was his son, Lord Grey, who pre-deceased him. (The latter was one of the judges upon the trial of the unfortunate CHARLES, and his signature appears to the warrant for execution.) The earl d. in 1673, and was s. by his grandson,

THOMAS, 2nd earl. This nobleman was imprisoned for the part he had taken in Monmouth's rebellion, but was admitted to bail, and he finally secured his safety under the amnesty granted 10 March, 1685-6. His lordship m. twice, but leaving no issue at his decease, 31 Jan. 1719-20, the honours reverted to his cousin,

HARRY GREY, Esq., as 3rd earl, (grandson of the 1st earl, through his 3rd son, the Hon. John Grey, of Enville Hall, co. Salop, by his 2nd wife, Catherine, eldest dau. of Edward, Lord Ward.) His lordship m. Dorothy, dau. of Sir Nathan Wrigite, Knt. of Caldecote Hall, co. Warwick, lord-keeper of the great seal in the reigns of KING WILLIAM and QUEEN ANNE, (see BURKE'S Commoners, vol. ii. p. 256;) and dying in 1739, was s. by his eldest son,

HARRY, 4th earl. This nobleman m. in 1736, Lady Mary Booth, only dau. and heiress of George, last Earl of Warrington and 3rd Baron Delamere* of that family, by whom he had issue,

GEORGE-HARRY, his successor.

Booth, m. 10 May, 1782, Elizabeth, dau. of Charles Mainwaring, Esq. of Bromborough, Cheshire, by whom (who d. in 1823) he left, in 1802, one son and a dau., viz.,

1 Booth, of Aston Hayes, co. Chester, m. in 1809, his cousin, Lady Sophia Grey, dau. of George, 5th Earl of Stamford.

Sir Francis s. as 7th baronet, at the decease of his father, Sir Thomas Stapleton, Lord Le Despencer, 3 Oct. 1831.

Lineage.

The family of STAPLETON, which derived its surname from a town in the county of York, is no less famous for the gallant warriors it produced in different eras than by the dignities and honours conferred upon them by the sovereigns under whose rule they had the good fortune to flourish. Amongst even the knights of the Garter,* upon the institution of that noble order, we find a person of the name and family.

They subsequently transplanted themselves into Ireland, and enjoyed a considerable estate in Tipperary until the reign of CHARLES I., when John-Edmund Stapleton, Esq. of Thorlesbegg, being completely ruined by his adhesion to the royal cause, the family sought new fortune in the different foreign lands of Europe. Some went into Spain, where they attained high military rank; others into France, and there also, adopting the soldier's profession, became eminent in arms. Of the latter, a branch acquired a large estate at Dervaliers, near Nantes, in Bretagne, and bore the title of Counts of Tréves.

SIR JOHN STAPLETON, Knt., settled in Ireland, temp. HENRY II., and from him we pass to his lineal descendant,

RICHARD STAPLETON, who obtained, in 1566, from QUEEN ELIZABETH an exemplification of a grant from KING JOHN to the said Sir John Stapleton, Knt. of some confiscated lands in Ireland. He m. Eleanor Butler, of the house of Dunboyne, and was s. by his son,

STEUART, SIR JAMES, of Coltness and of Goodtrees, both in the county of Lanark; b. in 1744; m. Alicia, dau. of William Blacker, Esq. of Carrick, co. Armagh, by whom he has no issue. Sir James, who is a general in the army and colonel of the 2nd regiment of dragoons, s. to the title, upon the decease of his father, in 1780. Sir James Steuart represented the county of Lanark in three successive parliaments.

Lineage.

JAMES STEUART, of Allanton, the fifth of that designation, died in 1607, leaving two sons, SIR WALTER, his successor, and

JAMES STEUART, a posthumous child, b. in 1608. This gentleman was bred to the business of a merchant and banker at Edinburgh, and was eminently successful, through the interest of his uncle, Lord Carmichael, who was lord-treasurer-depute of Scotland. He m. in 1630, Anne, dau. of Henry Hope, and niece of Sir Thomas Hope, of Craighall, co. Fife, lord-advocate, by whom he had six sons and one daughter. Mr. Steuart was elected to parliament for the city of Edinburgh in 1639, and soon afterwards received the honour of knighthood. Sir James purchased, about the year 1644, the lands of Westbarns, or Kirkfield, and subsequently the barony of Coltness. In 1649, he was elected lord-provost of Edinburgh, and a second time in 1659; but he was dismissed at the Restoration as a covenant, being at the same time committed to Edinburgh Castle, and fined £500; but he obtained his release and a remission of the penalty through the influence of Sir Archibald Primrose, lord-register. He was again however sent to prison, where he remained for some years, and was liberated eventually through the same interest. Sir James lost his first lady in 1646, and m. 2ndly, in 1648, Marion, widow of Sir John Elliot, and only dau. of David M'Culloch, Esq. of Goodtrees, co. Mid-Lothian, by whom he acquired that estate, and had four daughters. He d. 31 March, 1681, and was s. at Coltness by his eldest son, Sir Thomas Steuart, while the estates of Goodtrees passed by bequest to his fourth son,

I. JAMES STEUART, who became, in consequence, of GOODTREES. This gentleman was bred an advocate, and very early distinguished himself by his profound knowledge of the Roman, Scotch, and English laws. He m. 1st, Agnes, dau. of the Rev. Henry Trail, of Blebo, by whom he had one son and three daughters; and 2ndly, Margaret, dau. of Alexander Air, Esq., by whom he had two sons and four daughters. Mr. Steuart having taken an active part in bringing about the Revolution, was appointed lord-advocate of Scotland in 1692, and created a BARONET OF NOVA SCOTIA in 1695. Sir James attained the reputation of being one of the most able, ingenious, and acute lawyers of his time; and his "Answer to Dirlton's Doubts" fully establishes that character. He purchased from his nephew, Sir David Steuart, in 1712, the estate of Coltness; and dying in 1713, was s. by his eldest son,

II. SIR JAMES, of Goodtrees and Coltness, b. in 1681; m. in 1705, Anne, dau. of Sir Hugh Dalrymple, of North Berwick, lord-president of the court of Session, by whom he had one surviving son and several daughters. Sir James, who was a distinguished advocate, was appointed, in 1709, solicitor-general for Scotland; and after the union, in 1713, he was returned to parliament by the county of Mid-Lothian. He d. in 1727, and was s. by his only son,

III. SIR JAMES, who m. in 1743, Frances, eldest dau. of David, Earl of Wemyss, by whom he had an only surviving child, JAMES, the present baronet. Sir James was an advocate, and, like his grandfather, early distinguished himself by the most splendid abilities and a knowledge of his profession which probably would have raised him to the highest offices of the state, had he not unfortunately been concerned, although not in a public manner, in the rising of 1745. Informations were in consequence lodged against him, and he retired with his family into France. During his residence abroad he wrote, in French, a defence of Sir Isaac Newton's chronology, and also composed his great and well-known work, "The Political Economy." In 1773, by the death of Sir Archibald Steuart Denham, the baronetcy of Coltness (which had been conferred, in 1698, upon Sir Thomas Steuart, the first of Coltness) was united in the person of Sir James with that of Goodtrees. He d. in 1780.

Heir-presumptive.

HENRY STEUART-BARCLAY, Esq., eldest son of Henry Steuart-Barclay, Esq. of Collernie, co. Fife, younger brother of the late Sir James Steuart, of Goodtrees.

Creations—Baronetcy of Goodtrees, 1695. Baronetcy of Coltness, 1698.

Arms—Quarterly; first and fourth, or, a fesse, chequy, az. and ar., in chief a lion, passant, guardant, gu., over all a bend of the last, charged with three oval-buckles of the third; second and third, gu., a chev., ar., between three storks' heads, erased, or.

STEUART.

STEUART-SETON, SIR HENRY-JAMES, of Allanton House, co. Lanark; b. 5 November, 1812; s. his grandfather in April, 1838.

Lineage.

This ancient family, of the county of Lanark, is the chief of one of the most extensive branches of the house of Bonkle, lineally descended from SIR ROBERT STEUART, of Daldowie, 6th son of Sir Robert Steuart, of Bonkle, or Bonkhill, son to Alexander, 6th lord-high-steward of Scotland, great-grandfather of KING ROBERT II., the first prince of the Stuart line. About the year 1290, Sir John bestowed the estate of Daldowie, on the river Clyde, part of his extensive possessions in the co. of Lanark and the co. of Renfrew, in patrimony on his son, Sir Robert. He was killed at the battle of Falkirk in 1298; and SIR ROBERT, who fought at Bannockburn with the lord-high-steward, under ROBERT BRUCE, in the following year, together with three of his brothers, Sir Allan, Sir Walter, and Sir Hugh, accompanied Edward Bruce in the expedition to Ireland, 1315, and participated in the battle of Dundalk, 1318, when that gallant and enterprising prince terminated his career. From Sir Robert descended

JAMES STEUART, 10th Baron of Allanton, and 13th in descent from the lord-high-steward of Scotland, b. 1715, who m. 1754, his cousin, Margaret, dau. of Henry Steuart Barclay, Esq. of Collernie, co. Fife, younger brother to Sir James Steuart, Bart. of Goodtrees, M.P. for Mid-Lothian in the 1st parliament after the Union, afterwards solicitor-general in the reign of GEORGE II., and had a son and heir,

I. SIR HENRY STEUART, LL.D., F.R.S., and A.S.E., 14th in descent from the lord-high-steward of Scotland, b. 20 Oct. 1759; who was created a BARONET, with remainder to the heirs male of the body of his only surviving child and sole heiress, ELIZABETH-MARGARET. SIR HENRY is well known to have been a very successful arboriculturist, and the founder of the art of transplanting large trees, and also for his classical and scientific attainments. Sir Henry m. 1778, LILLIAS, dau. of Hugh Seton, Esq. of Touch, co. Stirling, and had issue,

ELIZABETH-MARGARET, b. 31 Oct. 1789; m. in Jan. 1812, Reginald Macdonald, Esq. of Staffa, by whom she has,

1 HENRY-JAMES, the present bart.

2 Archibald, b. 18 May, 1814.

3 Colin-Reginald, b. 21 Dec. 1818.

1 Isabella.

2 Lillias-Margaret.

This lady added, in 1835, the surname of SETON to her own upon succeeding, as sole-heiress in right of her mother, Lillias, to the estate of Touch-Seton, co. Stirling, the property of her maternal uncle, the HON. ARCHIBALD SETON, late member of the Supreme Council, Bengal, and governor of Prince of Wales's Island. She at the same time succeeded to the office of heritable armour-bearer to the queen, and squire of the royal body, which high hereditary office she now holds, and which has been for time immemorial in the family of Seton of Touch, for which various charters are extant, at and previous to the year 1488.

SETON OF TOUCH.

The SETONS are a very ancient race, and trace their origin to Dougal Seaton, who lived in the reign of ALEXANDER I. of Scotland, son of MALCOLM KENMORE, 1109. This family were distinguished in Scottish history, and performed many loyal and gallant achievements during the wars with England and the various civil conflicts in Scotland. Dougal's descendant, Alexander, was created, in 1449, Marquess of Huntly. He m. 1st, GILES HAY, heiress of Enzie, by whom he had one son, ALEXANDER; and m. 2ndly, Elizabeth, dau. of CHANCELLOR CRICHTON, by whom he had George, 2nd Earl of Huntly, from whom are descended the Dukes of Gordon, Earls of Aboyne, Sutherland, &c. &c. From the only son of his 1st marriage, ALEXANDER, the Setons of Touch lineally derive; and Archibald, the late proprietor, was the 9th in descent from Alexander, the 1st Earl of Huntly. He was succeeded by his sister, Barbara, who dying without children, the property devolved upon the present proprietor, Lady Seton Steuart, his niece.

Creation—22 May, 1815.

Arms—Or, a fesse, chequy, az. and ar., surmounted of a bend, gu., charged with three buckles of the field, on a sinister canton of the fourth, a lion, passant, guardant, gold, pierced with a dart, ppr., (by special grant from KING ROBERT II. of Scotland,) and in base a broken spear, surmounted of a helmet, both ppr.

STEWART, SIR JAMES, of Fort Stewart, in the county of Donegal; s. as 7th baronet, at the decease of his father, 20th May, 1827.

Lineage.

I. SIR WILLIAM STEWART, Knt., being in great favour with KING JAMES I., became an undertaker for the plantation of escheated lands in the province of Ulster, and was created a BARONET OF IRELAND, 10 April, 1623. SIR WILLIAM was a privy-councillor in the reigns of KING JAMES I. and KING CHARLES I., and having served as a military officer in the troubles of Ireland, received in satisfaction for arrears of pay, due prior to 5 June, 1649, one debenture of 4000 and odd pounds; while his son, Sir Alexander Stewart, was allotted for his services a debenture for £2599. Sir William m. Frances, 2nd dau. of Sir Robert Newcomen, Bart. of Mosstown, co. Longford, and was s. at his decease by his grandson,

II. SIR WILLIAM, (only son of Sir Alexander Stewart, Knt., by Catherine, dau. of Sir Robert Newcomen, Bart., by Anne Boleyn, his wife.) This gentleman was advanced to the peerage of Ireland, 19 March, 1682, by the titles of Baron Stewart, of Ramalton, and Viscount Mountjoy, his lordship being constituted at the same time master-general of the ordnance for life, and colonel of a regiment of foot. The viscount served in Hungary at the siege of Buda in 1686, and upon his return to Ireland was raised to the rank of a brigadier-general, with the pay of £497. 10s. a year. His lordship undertaking, with the lord-chief-baron, Sir Stephen Rice, in 1688, a mission from Lord-Deputy Tryconnel to KING JAMES II., then at Paris, was, immediately upon his arrival in that city, thrown into the Bastille, and there confined until the year 1692, when, being released, he waited upon KING WILLIAM in Flanders, and lost his life, 24 Aug. in the same year, in the battle of Steinkirk. His lordship s. as 17th baron, at the decease of his father, 29 April, 1816.

Lineage.

This noble family, which derives its surname from the town of Stourton, co. Wilts, was of considerable rank antecedently to the Conquest; for we find at that period one of its members, Botolph Stourton, the most active in gallantly disputing every inch of ground with the foreigner, and finally obtaining from the duke his own terms. Having broken down the sea walls of the Severn, and guarded the passes by land, Botolph entered Glastonbury, when the victorious Norman had made his appearance in the west; and, thus protected, compelled WILLIAM to grant whatsoever he demanded. From this patriotic and gallant soldier lineally descended

SIR RALPH DE STOURTON, Knt. of the Holy Sepulchre, who m. Alice, dau. of Lord Berkeley, and was s. by his only surviving son,

WILLIAM DE STOURTON, who m. Joan, dau. of Richard Vernon, of Horningham, Wilts, and was s. by his eldest son,

JOHN DE STOURTON, lord of the manor of Preston, co. Wilts. This John, who, in the 37th of EDWARD III., was in the wars of Aquitaine, left by his 2nd wife, Jane, dau. of Ralph, Lord Basset, five sons and three daus., and was s. by his eldest son,

WILLIAM STOURTON, who was steward of the principality of Wales in 1402. This gentleman m. Elizabeth, dau. of Sir John Moigne, of Maddenton, Wiltshire, and was s. by his son,

SIR JOHN STOURTON, Knt., a gallant soldier and a distinguished statesman in the reign of HENRY VI.; which monarch, in consideration of his eminent services, elevated him to the peerage, 26 May, 1455, as BARON STOURTON, of Stourton, co. Wilts. His lordship m. Margery, dau. of Sir John Wadham, Knt. of Merrifield, co. Somerset; and dying in 1462, was s. by his eldest son,

WILLIAM, 2nd baron. This nobleman m. Margaret, dau. and co-heiress of Sir John Chidiok, Knt., and was s. by his eldest son,

JOHN, 3rd baron; who m. Catherine, dau. of Sir Maurice Berkeley, Knt. of Beverston, Gloucestershire; but dying s. p. was s. by his brother,

WILLIAM, 4th baron. This nobleman m. Thomasin, dau. of Hugh Wrottesley; but dying also issueless, was s. by his brother,

EDWARD, 5th baron; who, in the 5th year of HENRY VIII., was appointed, by act of parliament, as one of the most discreet persons, justices of the peace, for assessing and collecting a subsidy of £163,000 by a poll-tax. His lordship m. Agnes, dau. of John Fauntleroy, Esq. of Marsh, co. Dorset, and was s. by his eldest son,

WILLIAM, 6th baron; who m. Elizabeth, dau. of Edmund Dudley, Esq., father of John, Duke of Northumberland, by whom he had six sons and two daus. He m. a 2nd time, but had no issue by that marriage. His lordship d. in 1548, and was s. by his eldest son,

CHARLES, 7th baron. This nobleman, aided by his sons, having committed a foul murder upon a person of the name of Hargil and his son, was tried, convicted, and executed in a halter of silk, at Salisbury, in March, 1557; but his eldest son, (by Anne, dau. of Edward Stanley, Earl of Derby,)

JOHN, being restored in blood by act of parliament, in 1575, inherited the dignity as 8th baron. This nobleman was one of the peers on the trial of QUEEN MARY of Scotland. His lordship d. without issue, in 1558, and was s. by his brother,

EDWARD, 9th baron; who m. Frances, dau. of Sir Thomas Tresham, Knt. of Liveden, co. Northampton; and dying in 1632, was s. by his eldest son,

WILLIAM, 10th baron, K.B. His lordship m. Frances, dau. of Sir Edward Moor, of Odyham, co. Southampton, and was s. by his grandson,

WILLIAM, 11th baron, (son of the Hon. Edward Stourton, by Mary, dau. of Robert, Lord Petre;) who m. Elizabeth, dau. of Sir John Preston, of Furness Abbey, co. Lancaster, Bart., and was s. by his eldest son,

EDWARD, 12th baron. This nobleman sold, in the reign of QUEEN ANNE, the manor of Stourton, the advowson of the parish church of Stourton, Wilts, together with the manor of Stourton-Caundle, &c. in Dorsetshire, to Sir Thomas Meres, Knt., for £19,400. His lordship d. s. p. in 1720, and was s. by his brother,

THOMAS, 13th baron; at whose decease issueless, 24 March, 1743, the dignity devolved upon his nephew,

CHARLES, the 14th lord, (eldest son of the Hon. Charles Stourton, by Catharine, dau. of Richard Frampton, Esq. of Bilson, Dorsetshire.) This nobleman m. Catharine, Lady-Dowager Petre, dau. of Bartholomew, and sister and sole heiress of Francis Walmesley, Esq. of Dunkenhagh, co. Lancaster; but dying without issue, in 1753, the peerage devolved upon his brother,

WILLIAM, 15th baron. His lordship m. in 1749, Winifred, eldest dau. and co-heiress of Philip Howard, Esq. of Buckenham, co. Norfolk, and co-heiress of her uncles, Thomas and Edward, 8th and 9th Dukes of Norfolk, through whom her ladyship, with her sister, Lady Petre, became co-heiress to the Baronies of Howard, Mowbray, Furnival, Strange, &c. &c. His lordship d. in 1781, and was s. by his only son,

CHARLES-PHILIP, 16th baron, b. 22 Aug. 1752; m. 15th June, 1775, the Hon. Mary Langdale, 2nd dau. and co-heiress of Marmaduke, 5th Baron Langdale, (a barony which expired in 1777,) by whom he left issue,

WILLIAM, present peer.

Edward-Marmaduke, b. 6 Dec. 1790, assumed the surname of VAVASOUR only, by sign-manual, in 1826, in pursuance of the testamentary injunction of the late Sir Thomas Vavasour, Bart. of Haslewood, co. York, and was created a Baronet in Dec. 1827; m. in Aug. 1813, Marcia-Bridget, only dau. of James Fox-Lane, Esq. of Bramham Park, M.P., (see BURKE'S Commoners, vol. ii. p. 494,) who d. 10 June, 1825, leaving issue. (See Vavasour, Bart.)

Charles, b. 19 Sept. 1787, assumed, in 1815, the surname of LANGDALE only, in compliance with the testamentary injunction of Philip Langdale, Esq. of Houghton, co. York, the senior branch of the family of Lord Langdale; m. 1st, 27 Jan. 1817, Charlotte-Mary, 5th dau. of Charles, 7th Lord Clifford, of Chudleigh, who d. 31 March, 1819, leaving issue,

Lady Stratheden is the eldest dau. of Lord Abinger, by Louisa-Henrietta, 3rd dau. of Peter Campbell, Esq. of Kilmory, co. Argyll, of the Campbells of Auchinbreck. For further details of her ladyship's family, see BARON ABINGER.

Family of Campbell.

This family, originally from Argyllshire, has been settled nearly two centuries in the county of Fife.

GEORGE CAMPBELL, a steady adherent of his clan and of its chief, the first Marquess of Argyll, by which his fortune became considerably impaired, if not entirely ruined, settled, in 1662, at St. Andrew's, and became proprietor of the estate of Baltullo, in the parish of Cores. His eldest son, John, took the degree of master of arts at St. Andrew's in the year 1687, and gained the highest honours of the university, then of high reputation for all branches of learning. His grandson,

The REV. DR. GEORGE CAMPBELL, was minister of Cupar, and no less distinguished by his piety and eloquence in the pulpit than by his attainments in polite literature. He remained pastor of the same congregation fifty-four years, and d. in 1825. He m. in 1776, Magdalene, only dau. of John Hallyburton, Esq. of the Fodderance, a branch of the ancient family of the Hallyburtons of Pitcur, allied to the noble houses of Morton, Aboyne, and Northesk, and had issue,

His lordship m. 3rdly, Lady Campbell, dau. of John Cheape, Esq., and widow of Sir Alexander Campbell, by whom he has no issue. He inherited as 11th earl, at the demise of his brother, 3 July, 1820.

Lineage.

A member of the French family of Lyon (which originally sprang from the noble Roman house of Leoni) accompanied the Norman into England in 1066, and removed into Scotland in about thirty years afterwards. This Lyon was high in favour with the Scottish KING EDGAR, and obtained from that prince considerable grants in Perthshire, to which he gave the name of Glen-Lyon. From him lineally descended

SIR JOHN LYON, son of John de Lyon, feudal Baron of Forteviot, &c., and son-in-law and secretary to KING ROBERT II., from whom he obtained a grant, in 1371-2, of the Lordship, or Thanedom, of Glamis, in Forfarshire. Sir John, who was great-chamberlain of Scotland, fell in a duel with Sir James Lindsay, of Crawford, at the Moss of Balhall, co. Forfar, in 1383, and was s. by his only son, (by the Lady Jane Stuart, KING ROBERT II.'s youngest dau., with whom he acquired the Barony of Kinghorn.)

SIR JOHN LYON, of Glamis, who m. Lady Elizabeth Graham, 2nd daughter of Patrick, Earl of Strathern, by Euphemia, Countess Palatine of Strathern, grandau. of KING ROBERT II.; and dying in 1435, was s. by his eldest son,

PATRICK LYON, of Glamis, one of the hostages for the ransom of KING JAMES I., delivered up to the English 28 March, 1424, and released 9 June, 1427. This feudal chief was created a peer of parliament, as Lord Glamis, in 1445. His lordship was sworn of the privy-council and appointed master of the household in 1452. He m. Isabel, dau. of Alexander Ogilvy, of Auchterhouse; and dying in 1459, was s. by his eldest son,

ALEXANDER, 2nd lord; at whose decease without issue, in 1485, the barony devolved upon his brother,

JOHN, 3rd lord, a privy-councillor in, and justice-general of, Scotland. His lordship m. Elizabeth, dau. of Sir John Scrimgeour, of Dudhope, constable of Dundee; and dying in 1497, was s. by his eldest son,

JOHN, 4th lord; who was s. in 1500 by his eldest son, by Elizabeth, dau. of Andrew, Lord Gray,

GEORGE, 5th lord; at whose decease unm. in 1505, the title and estate passed to his brother,

JOHN, 6th lord. This nobleman m. Janet Douglas, 2nd dau. of George, master of Angus, and sister of Archibald, 6th Earl of Angus, by whom he had a son, John, and a dau., Elizabeth, who m. Ross of Craigy. His lordship d. 8 Aug. 1528, and his widow m. Archibald Campbell, of Kepneith. This lady, her husband, her son, Lord Glamis, his kinsman, John Lyon, and an old priest, were indicted for designs against the life of KING JAMES V., by poison or witchcraft, with the intention of restoring the house of Angus. Lady Glamis was condemned to the flames, and endured the savage sentence on the Castle-hill of Edinburgh, 17 July, 1537. Her husband, Campbell, endeavouring to escape from the castle, was dashed to pieces on the rocks which form the base of that edifice. Her son was also sentenced to be executed, but respited until he should attain majority; in the interim, he was ordered to be closely confined, and his estates were declared forfeited. The accuser, however, one Lyon, confessing that the whole story was a fabrication, his lordship was released, and restored to his estates and honours by parliament, 15 March, 1542-3, as

JOHN, 7th lord. He m. Janet Keith, sister of William, 4th Earl-Marischal; and dying in 1558, left issue,

JOHN, his heir.

Thomas, (Sir) ancestor of the Lyons of Auldbar, in Forfarshire. (See BURKE'S Commoners, vol. iv.)

He was s. by his elder son,

JOHN, 8th lord, who was constituted lord-chancellor of Scotland in 1575. His lordship m. Elizabeth, dau. of Alexander Abernethy, 6th Lord Saltoun; and falling, 17 March, 1578, in an accidental encounter between his followers and those of the Earl of Crawford, was s. by his only son,

PATRICK, 9th baron, captain of the guard, and one of the privy-council of KING JAMES VI.; who was created EARL OF KINGHORN, 10 July, 1606. His lordship m. Anne, dau. of John Murray, 1st Earl of Tullibardine; and dying in 1615, was s. by his eldest son,

JOHN, 2nd Earl of Kinghorn; who m. 1st, Lady Margaret Erskine, 3rd dau. of John, Earl of Marr, high-treasurer of Scotland, by whom he had no surviving issue. He espoused 2ndly, Lady Elizabeth Maule, only dau. of Patrick, 1st Earl of Panmure, by whom he had PATRICK, his successor; and Elizabeth, m. 1st, to Charles, 1st Earl of Aboyne, and 2ndly, to Capt. Alexander Grant. The earl d. in 1647, and was s. by his son,

PATRICK, 3rd earl. This nobleman obtained a new charter, dated 30 May, 1672, extending the reversionary limitation of the earldom, in default of direct male issue, to any person or persons nominated by himself; and in failure of those, to his heirs and assigns whatsoever; and his lordship procured another charter, dated 1 July, 1677, providing, "That (himself) Patrick, 3rd Earl of Kinghorn, and his heirs male, or heirs whatsoever, should in all future ages be styled EARLS OF STRATHMORE AND KINGHORN, Viscounts Lyon, Barons Glamis, Tannadyce, Seidlau, and Stradichtie." His lordship, who was a privy-councillor and an extraordinary lord of Session, d. in 1695, and was s. by his son, (by Helen, dau. of John, Earl of Middleton),

JOHN 4th earl; who m. Lady Elizabeth Stanhope, dau. of Philip, 2nd Earl of Chesterfield, by whom he had four surviving sons and two daus. His lordship d. in 1712, and was s. by his eldest son,

JOHN, 5th earl; who was slain in rebellion in 1715, at the battle of Sheriffmuir, and was s. by his brother,

CHARLES, 6th earl; who m. in 1725, Lady Susan Cochran, 2nd dau. of John, 4th Earl of Dundonald, by whom (who espoused 2ndly, George Forbes, master of the horse to the Chevalier) he had no issue. His lordship d.

in consequence of an accidental wound received in a scuffle, 11 May, 1728, and was s. by his brother,

JAMES, 7th earl; who m. in 1731, Mary, dau. of George Oliphant, M.D.; but dying without issue, in 1735, was s. by his brother,

THOMAS, 8th earl; who m. in July, 1736, Jean, dau. and heiress of James Nicolson, Esq. of West Rainton, co. Durham, and had issue,

I. JOHN, his successor.

II. James-Philip, b. in 1738; who, whilst in the E. I. Co.'s service, was taken at Cossimbazar, by Mir Cossim, Nabob of Bengal, and murdered at Patna, by order of the Nabob, with several English gentlemen, in July, 1763.

Henry, b. in 1821.

Lucy-Henrietta.

Sir George Strickland, who represents in parliament the West Riding of Yorkshire, s. as 7th baronet, 8 Jan. 1834.

Lineage.

The parent stock of this family was settled previously to the Norman Conquest at Strickland, or Stirkland, (as anciently written,) co. Westmorland, where it continued for several generations,* until

WILLIAM DE STRICKLAND having m. Elizabeth, dau. and heiress of Sir Ralph D'Aincourt, of Sizergh, co. of Cumberland, removed thither, and from him lineally descend CHARLES STRICKLAND, Esq. of Standish, who has assumed the surname of Standish; and THOMAS STRICKLAND, Esq., now of Sizergh.

The founder of the branch more immediately before us,

WILLIAM STRICKLAND, or STRYKELAND, accompanied Sebastian Cabot in his voyages of discovery to the coasts of America, for which Cabot obtained a pension from KING EDWARD VI., and his companion had a grant of arms made out to him by the name of William Strykeland, of Baynton-on-the-Wold. From this adventurous personage (a portrait of whom, in the naval uniform of the period, is still extant at the family seat at Boynton) descended

SIR WILLIAM STRICKLAND, Knt., M.P. for Scarborough, who m. Elizabeth, dau. of Sir Walter Strickland, of Sizergh; and dying in 1598, was s. by his only son,

WALTER STRICKLAND, Esq. of Boynton. This gentleman m. Frances, dau. of Peter Wentworth, Esq. of Lillingston Dayrell, co. Bucks, by whom he had, with four daus., two sons;

Walter, the 2nd son, enjoyed the confidence of the Usurper CROMWELL, and was called by him to the other house of parliament (as the house of peers was then denominated) by the style of Lord Walter Strickland.

Mr. Strickland d. in 1635, and was s. by his elder son,

I. SIR WILLIAM STRICKLAND, Knt. of Boynton, who was created a Baronet, 30 July, 1641. Sir William was a person of consideration during the Protectorate, and summoned to the other house as Lord Strickland. He m. 1st, Margaret, dau. of Sir Richard Cholmley, Knt. of Whitby, in Yorkshire, and had four daus., viz.,

Henrietta.

Frances.

Laura-Susanna.

His lordship was raised to the peerage, 12 July, 1838.

Lineage.

The ancient family of Tracy can boast of descent from Saxon ancestors, being descended from the blood royal of the Saxon kings of England, and possessing at the present day the same property as their Saxon ancestors did before the Conquest; viz., Toddington, in the co. of Gloucester,—a rare instance of WILLIAM THE CONQUEROR's forbearance.

1003

ETHELRED, surnamed the Unready, (son of KING EDGAR,) obtained the crown of England at twelve years of age, A.D. 979. He d. in 1016, leaving eight sons and four daus. Of his sons, one was EDWARD THE CONFESSOR; and of his daus., the youngest,

GODA, m. Walter de Maunt, Earl of Mantes, a nobleman in Normandy, who by this marriage became Lord of Sudeley and Toddington, in the co. of Gloucester, and left issue,

RALPH DE MAUNT, created Earl of Hereford, Lord of Sudeley and Toddington; a man of great power, and much engaged in military enterprise against the Danes and Britons. This Ralph, Earl of Hereford, left a son,

HAROLD, lord of the manors of Sudeley and Toddington, in the co. of Gloucester, and Ewyas, in the co. of Hereford, at the time of the Norman Conquest, and continued in the possession of them by KING WILLIAM THE CONQUEROR. He left two sons,

JOHN, the elder.

ROBERT, who assumed the surname of EWYAS from his castle of Ewyas, in Herefordshire, and had a greater estate than John, his eldest brother. His only dau., Sibyl, m. 1st, Robert de Tregos, and afterwards, Roger de Clifford.

The elder son,

JOHN, assumed the title of DE SUDELEY, from his place of residence, and became John de Sudeley, Lord of Sudeley and Toddington, co. Gloucester. He m. Grace, dau. and heir of Henri de Traci, Baron of Barnstaple, (which Barony of Barnstaple, in Devonshire, he possessed in the reign of HENRY I.,) and left two sons,

- I. RALPH, living in 1165, who m. Emma, dau. of William de Beauchamp, of Elmly, and left a son, Atwell de Sudeley, Lord of Sudeley Castle, who d. about the year 1195. His descendants continued Lords of Sudeley until Joan (the eldest sister and co-heir of John de Sudeley, Lord of Sudeley, who was summoned to parliament, temp. EDWARD I.) m. WILLIAM LE BOTELER, or Butler, of Wem, in Shropshire, and upon partition of the estate made 42nd EDWARD III., the manor and castle of Sudeley was assigned to Thomas le Boteler, or Butler, in whose family it long continued, and amongst whose descendants and representatives the barony is in abeyance.
- II. WILLIAM.

The second son,

WILLIAM, took his mother's name of TRACI, and was possessed of Toddington, in Gloucestershire, and the Barony of Barnstaple, in Devonshire, which was worth £100 sterling in England and £200 in Normandy. He held twenty-six knights' fees in 1165, was steward of Normandy. This William, it is asserted, was one of the murderers of Thomas à Becket. From him directly descended the Tracys of Toddington, VISCOUNTS TRACY, of Rathcoole, in the peerage of Ireland. (See BURKE'S Extinct Baronetage, and "Peerages Claimed" at the end of this work.)

HENRY TRACY, 8th viscount, who succeeded his brother in 1793, m. Miss Weaver, and d. in 1797, leaving an only dau. and heir,

HENRIETTA-SUSANNA, m. in 1798, to CHARLES HANBURY, Esq., who assumed the additional surname and arms of TRACY, and was raised to the peerage, in 1838, as BARON SUDELEY.

Family of Hanbury.

This family and that of LORD BATEMAN derive from the same source; viz., the Hanburys of Hanbury, an old Worcestershire house, which had been there seated from a remote period.

JOHN HANBURY, Esq. of Fakenham, co. Worcester, (son of Richard Hanbury, Esq. of Elmley Lovett, and lineal descendant of Richard Hanbury, 3rd son of Hanbury of Hanbury,) m. Anne, dau. of Christopher Capel, Esq. of Capel House, in Herefordshire, alderman of Gloucester; and dying in 1659, left several children, of whom the youngest son,

CAPEL HANBURY, Esq. of Gloucester, and of Whorestone, in Worcestershire, d. in 1707, leaving by his 1st wife, (with a dau., Mary, wife of Mr. Serjeant John Hoo,) a son and successor,

JOHN HANBURY, Esq. of Pont-y-pool, in Monmouthshire, M.P. for that co., and a major in the army; who m. in 1703, Bridget, dau. of Sir Edward Ascough; and d. 13 June, 1734, leaving, (with other children who d. s. p.), CAPEL, of whom presently.

Charles, (Sir) K.B. of Colebrook, co. Monmouth, b. 8 Dec. 1709; M.P. for Monmouth; m. in 1732, Frances, 2nd dau. and co-heir of Thomas, Earl of Coningsby, and had two daus., his co-heirs, FRANCES, m. in 1754, to William, 4th Earl of Essex.

CHARLOTTE, m. in 1759, to the Hon. Robert Boyle.

Sir Charles, who assumed the surname of WILLIAMS, d. 17 Nov. 1759.

George, of Colebrook, b. 23 Sept. 1715, who assumed the surname of WILLIAMS at the decease of his brother, Sir Charles Hanbury Williams. He m. Miss Chambre, dau. of John Chambre, Esq. of Lanfoist; and d. in 1764, leaving issue.

Thomas, d. in 1778, leaving issue.

The eldest son (to leave issue),

CAPEL HANBURY, Esq., M.P. for Monmouth, b. 2 Dec. 1707, m. 7 Oct. 1743, Jane, dau. of Thomas-Charles, 5th Viscount Tracy; and dying 7 Dec. 1765, left, with two daus., Henrietta and Frances, one son,

JOHN HANBURY, Esq. of Pont-y-pool, M.P. for the co. Monmouth, b. in 1744; who m. Jane, dau. of Morgan Lewis, Esq. of St. Pierre, in that shire, and by her (who wedded 2ndly, Thomas Stoughton, Esq. of Ballyhorgan, co. Kerry) had issue,

John-Capel, d. unm. aged 21, in 1796.

CAPEL, of Pont-y-pool, lord-lieut. of Monmouthshire; b. 6 Oct. 1776; who assumed, in 1797, the surname and arms of LEIGH. He m. 13 April, 1797, Molly-Anne, only dau. of Nathaniel Myers, Esq. of Neath, Glamorganshire, and relict of Sir R.-H. Mackworth, Bart. CHARLES, created BARON SUDELEY.

Mr. Hanbury d. 4 April, 1784.

Mary-Rose.
Frances-Margaret.

His lordship inherited as 16th Earl of Suffolk and 9th Earl of Berkshire, at the decease of his father, 23 Feb. 1820. The Earl of Suffolk is colonel of the Wiltshire militia.

Lineage.

This is a branch of the house of Howard, Dukes of Norfolk, springing from Thomas, the 4th duke, and his 2nd wife Margaret, only dau. and heiress of Thomas, Lord Audley, of Walden, K.G., through their only son,

LORD THOMAS HOWARD, the heir of his mother's estates, and a distinguished naval officer in the reign of QUEEN ELIZABETH. His lordship was restored in blood (his father, the duke, having been attainted and beheaded in 1572) by act of parliament, in the 27th year of her majesty; and in twelve years afterwards, 24 Oct. 1597, summoned to parliament, as Lord Howard, of Walden. His lordship was created EARL OF SUFFOLK, 21 July, 1603, and installed a knight of the Garter. The plate of the earl's installation, which remains yet in the chapel of St. George, at Windsor, in the ninth stall, denominates him, "Thomas, Earl of Suffolk, Baron of Walden, and grand-treasurer of England;" but he was not appointed to the latter high and important office until the 11th of July, 1614. The plate must, therefore, have been set up subsequently to that period. This nobleman, in 1605, being then lord-chamberlain of his majesty's household, was employed, with Lord Mounteagle, who had given the alarm, to institute a strict search about the parliament-house; and to his lordship's vigilance the subsequent discovery of the gunpowder treason, the detection of the conspirators, and the preservation of the king and parliament, are mainly attributable. His lordship was elected chancellor of the University of Cambridge in 1613, and constituted lord-high-treasurer of England in the following year; of which high office he was deprived in 1618, after an investigation of the conduct of himself, his countess, and Sir John Bingley, treasurer's remembrancer, when the two former were fined £30,000, and committed to the Tower during pleasure; and Bingley, £2000, and sent to the Fleet. The earl was, however, in public opinion, generally deemed guiltless; but the countess had incurred much odium by extorting money from all persons who had any matters to dispatch at the Treasury. His lordship m. 1st, Mary, sister and co-heiress of Thomas, Lord Dacre, of Gillingham, but had no issue. He espoused 2ndly, Catherine, (the lady who incurred the censure of the star chamber,) eldest dau. and co-heiress of Sir Henry Knevet, Knt. of Charlton, co. Wilts, and widow of the Hon. Richard Rich, eldest son of Lord Rich, by whom he had, (with other issue,)

I. THEOPHILUS, his successor.

II. Thomas, who succeeded to the inheritance of his mother at Charlton, co. Wilts, and being master of the horse to CHARLES, Prince of Wales, was elevated to the peerage, as Lord Howard, of Charlton, and Viscount Andover, 23 Jan. 1621-2; installed a knight of the Garter, 16 Dec. 1625, and created EARL OF BERKSHIRE, 6 Feb. 1625-6. This nobleman, during the civil wars, espoused with great zeal the royal cause, and subsequently lived in retirement until the restoration of the monarchy, when, in consideration of his fidelity, he obtained a grant, heritable by his son, Sir Robert Howard, of the farm of the revenue of post-fines, for forty-eight years, from 1660, for the yearly rent of £2276. His lordship m. Elizabeth, one of the daus. and co-heiresses of William, Earl of Exeter, by whom he had nine sons and four daus., viz.,

CHARLES, } who inherited as 2nd and 3rd earls.
JOHN, }

Mary Stewart, only dau. and heiress of Andrew, Lord Castle-Stewart, of the kingdom of Ireland, namely, three sons, Henry, Edward, Charles, and a dau., Diana, the wife of Colonel John Pitt. The earl d. 10 Dec. 1709, and was s. by his eldest son,

HENRY, 6th earl; who had been created, in the lifetime of his father, Baron Chesterford and Earl of Bindon, and constituted deputy-earl-marshal; in which capacity his lordship held, in 1707, a court of chivalry, of which the following account appears in the Gazette:—

"Westminster, April 26th.—This day, the Right Hon. Earl of Bindon, &c., deputy to his grace, Thomas, Duke of Norfolk, earl-marshal, and hereditary-marshal of England, &c., held his court of chivalry in the painted chamber, according to ancient custom and the law of arms, being accompanied by divers noblemen and gentlemen of quality, and attended by several doctors of the civil law, the kings and officers of arms, proctors, and officers of the court."

The earl m. twice, but had issue by his 1st wife, Penelope, dau. of Henry, Earl of Thomond, only. His lordship d. 2 Oct. 1718, and was s. by his eldest son,

CHARLES-WILLIAM, 7th Earl of Suffolk and 2nd Earl of Bindon; who d. without issue in 1722, when the honours inherited from his father expired; while the Earldom of Suffolk reverted to his uncle,

EDWARD, 8th earl. This nobleman d. unm. 22 June, 1731, and was s. by his brother,

CHARLES, 9th earl; who m. Henrietta, sister to John, Lord Hobart, afterwards Earl of Buckinghamshire; and dying 28 Sept. 1733, was s. by his only son,

HENRY, 10th earl. This nobleman m. Sarah, only dau. and heir of Thomas Iniven, Esq. of Southwark; but dying issueless, 22 April, 1745, the Earldom of Suffolk united with that of Berkshire by devolving upon

THE RIGHT HONOURABLE HENRY-BOWES HOWARD, 4th Earl of Berkshire, (refer to descendants of Thomas, 1st Earl of Berkshire, second son of Thomas, 1st Earl of Suffolk.) His lordship inherited, at the decease of his great-uncle, the Hon. Henry Howard, without issue, in 1663, the estate and manor of Rivenby, co. Lincoln. The earl m. 5 March, 1708-9, Catharine, dau. of James Grahame, Esq. of Levens, co. Westmorland, and had issue,

WILLIAM, Lord Andover, m. Mary, 2nd dau. of Heneage, Earl of Aylesford, and left at his decease, in 1735, (being killed by a fall from his carriage,)

HENRY, who s. his grandfather.

Frances, m. to Richard Bagot, Esq., 4th brother of the 1st Lord Bagot, who assumed, by sign-manual, the surname of HOWARD. Of this marriage there is an only dau.,

MARY HOWARD, m. to the Hon. Fulke Greville Upton, who has assumed the surname of HOWARD.

Charles, d. s. p. in 1773.

THOMAS, who s. to the honours, as 14th earl, at the decease of his grandnephew.

The earl, who had been declared deputy-earl-marshal of England during the incapacity of Thomas Howard, Duke of Norfolk, in 1708, d. 21 March, 1757, and was s. by his grandson,

HENRY, 12th Earl of Suffolk and 5th Earl of Berkshire, b. 16 May, 1739. His lordship m. 1st, in 1764, Mary-Constantia, dau. of Robert, Lord Trevor, but of that marriage there was no surviving issue; and 2ndly, in 1777, Lady Charlotte Finch, dau. of Heneage, 3rd Earl of Aylesford. The earl d. 6 March, 1779, and was s. by his posthumous son, 8 Aug. following,

HENRY, 13th Earl of Suffolk and 6th Earl of Berkshire; who d. on the second day after his birth, 10 Aug. 1779, when the honours reverted to his great-uncle,

THOMAS, as 14th Earl of Suffolk and 7th Earl of Berkshire, b. 11 June, 1721. His lordship m. in 1747, Elizabeth, dau. of William Kingscote, Esq. of Kingscote, in Gloucestershire, and had an only dau. and heiress, DIANA, m. in 1782, to Sir Michael Le Fleming, Bart. of Rydal, in Westmorland.

The earl d. 23 Feb. 1783, and leaving no male issue, the line of the six elder sons of the first Earl of Berkshire terminated; but the honours devolved upon the great-grandson of the seventh son, (refer to Philip, youngest son of Thomas, 1st Earl of Berkshire, which Thomas was second son of Thomas, 1st Earl of Suffolk,)

JOHN HOWARD, Esq., as 15th Earl of Suffolk and 8th Earl of Berkshire. This nobleman was born at Tralee, in Ireland, 7 March, 1739. He m. in 1774, Julia, dau. of John Gaskarth, Esq. of Penrith, by whom (who d. 19 Oct. 1819) he had issue, SUSSEX.

SUSSEX, HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS THE DUKE OF, (Prince Augustus-Frederick ; F.R.S. and D.C.L.,) Earl of Inverness, and Baron of Arklow, all in the peerage of the United Kingdom ; b. 27 Jan. 1773 ; m. at Rome, by a protestant minister, 4th April, 1793, and at St. George's, Hanover Square, London, 5 Dec. in the same year, Lady Augusta De Ameland, dau. of John (Murray), 4th Earl of Dunmore, by whom (who d. 5 March, 1830) he has issue,

SIR AUGUSTUS-FREDERICK D'ESTE,* K.G.H., a colonel in the army ; b. 13 Jan. 1794.

AUGUSTA, Mademoiselle D'Este.

These nuptials having been deemed a violation of the Royal Marriage Act (12 GEORGE III. c. ii.), were declared by the Prerogative Court null and void, and dissolved accordingly, in August, 1794. His royal highness, who is 6th son of KING GEORGE III., brother of KING WILLIAM IV., and uncle of her present majesty, was created a peer of the realm in the above dignities, 7 Nov. 1801, and installed a knight of the most noble order of the Garter.

Arms—The royal ensigns, with the necessary label of cadency.

York, in the peerage of England ; Earl of Sutherland and Baron of Strathnaver in that of Scotland ; and a baronet ; b. 8 Aug. 1786 ; s. his father, as 2nd duke, 19 July, 1833 ; inherited the Scotch honours upon the demise of his mother, in 1838 ; m. 27 May, 1823, Harriet-Elizabeth-Georgiana, 3rd dau. of George, 6th Earl of Carlisle, and has issue,

GEORGE-GRANVILLE-WILLIAM, Marquess of Stafford, b. 19 Dec. 1828.

Frederick, b. 11 Nov. 1832.

Elizabeth-Georgiana.

Evelyn.

Caroline.

Constance-Gertrude.

His grace was summoned to parliament in the lifetime of his father, as Baron Gower, (the late duke's barony.) He is lord-lieutenant of the county of Sutherland.

Lineage.

All our antiquaries coincide in attaching a long and distinguished line of ancestors to this family, and in giving it an Anglo-Saxon origin ; but they differ as to the identity of its founder, some tracing that honour to Sir Allan Gower, Lord of Sittenham, in Yorkshire, and high-sheriff of the county at the time of the Conquest ; while others name William Fitz-Guyer, of Sittenham, who was charged with a mark for his lands in the sheriff's accounts, anno 1167. In more than a hundred years afterwards (towards the close of the thirteenth century) we find

SIR JOHN GOWER one of the persons of note summoned to be at Carlisle, with horse and arms, on the feast of the Nativity of St John the Baptist, to march against the Scots ; and again, in the following year, the same personage is summoned, for a like purpose, to proceed to Berwick. After Sir John comes

LAWRENCE GOWER, who obtained the king's pardon in the 7th EDWARD II. for having been concerned with the Earl of Lancaster in the murder of Piers Gaveston, at Blacklow Hill, 19 June, 1312. This Lawrence was s. by

SIR NICHOLAS GOWER, who was returned one of the knights of the shire, co. York, in the 12th EDWARD III. to a great council summoned by Edward the Black Prince, then guardian of the realm, and held at Northampton ; for which service, being in attendance fourteen days, he received the sum of £5. 12s. In the 24th of the same monarch, we find Sir Nicholas obtaining the king's permission to go to Rome, with six valets and seven horses in his retinue ; and in 1351, he was commissioned to investigate some outrage committed upon Hugh, Archbishop of Damascus, at Newstead, near Boland. From Sir Nicholas we pass to his grandson,

SIR JOHN GOWER, who was standard-bearer to Prince Edward, son of KING HENRY VI., and having been made prisoner at the battle of Tewkesbury, 4 May, 1471, was there beheaded. This gallant but unfortunate soldier had married Elizabeth, dau. of Edward Goldsborough, one of the barons of the Exchequer in the reign of HENRY VII., and left, with other children, his successor,

SIR EDWARD GOWER, who m. Margery, dau. of Sir Robert Constable, of Flamborough, and relict of John St. Quintin, of Harpham, and was s. by his eldest son,

THOMAS GOWER, who was captain of a band of light horsemen in the army which invaded Scotland, under the Duke of Somerset, in 1547, and master of the ordnance in the expedition against the same kingdom in 1560. He m. Anne, dau. of James Maleverer, and co-heiress of her grandfather, Sir William Maleverer, of Arncliffe, by whom he had an only son, his successor,

SIR EDWARD GOWER, who m. Barbara, dau. of John Baxter, Esq., and was s. by his eldest son,

THOMAS GOWER, Esq. This gentleman m. Mary, dau. of Gabriel Fairfax, Esq. of Seeton, and was s. by his eldest son,

I. SIR THOMAS GOWER, Knt. of Sittenham, co. York, who was created a Baronet, 2 June, 1620. Sir Thomas m. Anne, dau. and co-heiress of John Doyley, Esq. of Merton, co. Oxford, and was s. by his eldest son,

II. SIR THOMAS. This gentleman, who was twice sheriff of Yorkshire, remained firm in his allegiance to KING CHARLES I., and was ultimately a considerable sufferer. He m. 1st, Elizabeth, dau. of Sir William Howard, of Naworth Castle, but by that lady had no issue; and 2ndly, Frances, dau. and co-heiress of Sir John Leveson,* Knt. of Haling, in Kent, and of Lilleshul, co. Salop, by whom he had two sons and a dau. He was s. by (the son of his eldest son, Edward Gower, by Dorothy, dau. of Thomas Wentworth, Esq. of Elmsall,) his grandson,

III. SIR THOMAS GOWER. This gentleman, who was a colonel of foot, d. in the camp at Dundalk in 1689; and never being married, the title reverted to his uncle,

IV. SIR WILLIAM LEVESON-GOWER, who, by the adoption of his uncle, Sir Richard Leveson, of Trentham, in Staffordshire, knight of the Bath, inherited the entire of that gentleman's extensive estates. Sir William was one of the Duke of Monmouth's bail in 1683, and represented Newcastle-under-Line in the four parliaments of KING CHARLES II., in the Convention Parliament in 1688, and in all others to the time of his death. He m. Lady Jane Granville, eldest dau. of John, Earl of Bath, (eventually one of the co-heiresses of her nephew, William-Henry, Earl of Bath, with whom that peerage expired in 1711, see BURKE'S Extinct Peerage;) by whom he had three sons and two daughters, and was s. in 1691, by his eldest son,

V. SIR JOHN LEVESON-GOWER, who was elevated to the peerage, as Baron Gower, of Sittenham, co. York, 16 March, 1702-3. His lordship m. Lady Catherine Manners, dau. of John, 1st Duke of Rutland, and had four sons and two daus., of whom three only married, viz.,

* The Levesons of Staffordshire are of great antiquity, and the name occurs in the records of the county so early as the reign of EDWARD I., when

RICHARD DE LEVESON, of Willenhall, was living. He had three sons, viz.,

I. RICHARD, d. s. p.

II. WILLIAM, of Wolverhampton, whose lineal descendant,

SARAH, m. to Charles Fowler, Esq. of Pendeford, co. Stafford; and from this marriage lineally derived the late

THOMAS LEVERSAGE FOWLER, Esq. of Pendeford, who m. his cousin, Miss Harriet Fowler; and d. in 1815, leaving, with three daus., three sons, THOMAS FOWLER, Esq. of Pendeford; RICHARD FOWLER, Esq. of Barton, who has assumed the surname of BUTLER; and William Fowler, of Birmingham. (See BURKE'S Commoners.)

III. John, of Willenhall, ancestor of

JOHN LEVESON, Esq. of Haling, in Kent, who left two daus., his co-heirs, Charlotte-Sophia, m. 16 May, 1791, to Henry-Charles, 6th Duke of Beaufort.

Susan, m. 30 July, 1795, to Dudley, 1st Earl of Harrowby.

The earl, when Lord Trentham, was unanimously returned to parliament for the city of Westminster in 1747; but vacating his seat in two years afterwards, in consequence of being appointed one of the lords of the Admiralty, he was strongly opposed in his re-election by Sir George Vandeput, Bart., but succeeded by a majority of 150; at the next election, however, in 1754, his lordship relinquished Westminster, and came in for the city of Lichfield. Having, after his accession to the peerage, filled the high offices of lord-privy-seal, lord-chamberlain, and lord-president of the council, he was installed a knight of the Garter, and created MARQUESS OF STAFFORD, 28 Feb. 1786. His lordship d. 26 Oct. 1803, and was s. by his eldest son,

GEORGE-GRANVILLE, 2nd marquess, b. 9 Jan. 1758; who, during the lifetime of his father, had been summoned to parliament as Baron Gower, (the marquess's barony.) His lordship, who was a privy-councillor and knight of the Garter, was created DUKE OF SUTHERLAND, 14 Jan. 1833. He m. 4 Sept. 1785, Elizabeth, Countess of Sutherland and Baroness of Strathnaver in her own right, and by her (who d. in 1838) left issue,

GEORGE-GRANVILLE, present duke.

Francis, P.C., M.P.; b. 1 Jan. 1800; who assumed the surname and arms of EGERTON only, 24 Aug. 1833, in consequence of inheriting the Bridgewater estates. His lordship m. 18 June, 1822, Harriet-Catherine, eldest dau. of Charles Greville, Esq., and has issue, George-Granville-Francis, b. 15 June, 1823.

Francis, b. in 1824.

Algernon, b. 2 Jan. 1826.

Arthur-Frederick, b. 6 Feb. 1829.

A son, b. 2 Oct. 1834.

Supporters—Two wolves, ar., each collared and lined, or.

Motto—Frangas non flectes.

Seats—Trentham, Staffordshire; Dunrobin Castle, Sutherland; and West Hill, Surrey.

Earldom of Sutherland.

This peerage, according to the traditionary details of some of the Scottish writers, is the most ancient in North Britain, and gives way to few, if to any, in all Europe beside. Those writers state that, in the reign of CORBRED II., A.D. 76, a colony, called Catti, coming from Germany into Scotland, separated into two divisions; one of which establishing themselves in the north, called their new quarters Caithness; while that which went southward denominated the country Sutherland.

ALLAN, Thane of Sutherland, who gave a very signal defeat to the Danes, and was murdered by MACBETH for his fidelity to MALCOLM Cean-mohr, was father of

WILLIAM, who, according to tradition, was created Earl of Sutherland by KING MALCOLM, and was s. by his son,

ROBERT, who built Dunrobin Castle, which still continues the principal seat of the family. This Robert was s. by his son,

HUGH, who was s. in 1204, by his eldest son,

WILLIAM, under the title of "Willielmus Dominus de Sutherlandia." From an indenture, dated in 1275, it appears, that there was a William, Earl of Sutherland, between the years 1222 and 1235, and it has been conjectured that ALEXANDER II. created this William Baron Strathnaver and EARL OF SUTHERLAND for assisting to crush the rebellion of Gillespock, in the north, in 1228. This nobleman d. in 1248, and was s. by his son,

WILLIAM, 2nd earl; who was one of the Scottish nobles attending the parliament of ALEXANDER III. at Scone, in 1283-4, when the succession to the throne was settled. He swore fealty to EDWARD I. in 1296, signalized himself, although advanced in years, at the battle of BANNOCKBURN, on the side of BRUCE, in 1314, and subscribed the letter to the pope, asserting the independence of Scotland, at Aberbrothwick, 6 April, 1320. His lordship d. in 1325, after enjoying the dignity for seventy-seven years, and was s. by his son,

KENNETH, 3rd earl; who fell at Halidon Hill, 19 July, 1333, valiantly supporting the cause of King DAVID II. He m. a dau. of the Earl of Marr, and was s. by his elder son,

WILLIAM, 4th earl. This nobleman m. Lady Margaret Bruce, eldest dau. of King ROBERT I. and sister of King DAVID II.; which latter monarch erected the Earldom of Sutherland into a regality in favour of the existing earl and countess, by charter, dated 10 Nov. 1345. His lordship d. in 1370, and was s. by his only surviving son,

WILLIAM, 5th earl, who was s. by his elder son,

ROBERT, 6th earl. This nobleman m. Lady Mabilla Dunbar, dau. of John, Earl of Moray; and dying in 1442, was s. by his eldest son,

JOHN, 7th earl; who m. Margaret, dau. of Sir William Baillie, of Lamington, and was s. at his decease, in 1460, by his son,

JOHN, 8th earl. This nobleman m. Lady Margaret Macdonald, eldest dau. of Alexander, Earl of Ross, by whom he had,

JOHN, his successor.

Elizabeth, who s. as Countess of Sutherland.

His lordship d. in 1508, and was s. by his son,

JOHN, 9th earl; at whose decease without issue, in 1514, the honours devolved upon his only sister,

ELIZABETH, as Countess of Sutherland. Her ladyship had previously espoused Adam Gordon, of Aboyne, 2nd son of George, Earl of Huntly, who assumed, in consequence, the title of Earl of Sutherland. The countess, upon a resignation, obtained a new charter from King JAMES V. (1 Dec. 1527) of the earldom (after the decease of herself and husband) in favour of Alexander their son, and his heirs. Her ladyship d. in 1535, and the earl in 1537, when the honours devolved upon their grandson,

JOHN, 10th earl, (eldest son of Alexander, master of Sutherland, by Lady Janet Stewart, eldest dau. of John, 2nd Earl of Atholl.) His lordship m. 1st, Elizabeth, only dau. of Colin, 3rd Earl of Argyll, and relict of James, Earl of Moray, but by her had no issue; he espoused 2ndly, Lady Helen Stewart, dau. of John, 3rd Earl of Lennox, by whom he had a son and two daus.; and 3rdly, Marian, eldest dau. of George, 4th Earl of Seton, relict of John, 4th Earl of Menteth, who perished with the earl by poison in July, 1567, when his lordship's only son, ALEXANDER, inherited as 11th earl. His lordship m. 1st, Barbara, eldest dau. of George, Earl of Caithness, from whom he was divorced in 1573. He espoused 2ndly, in the same year, Jean, 3rd dau. of George, 4th Earl of Huntly, the divorced wife of James, Earl of Bothwell, (husband of Mary, Queen of Scots,) and had, with two daughters,

JOHN, his successor.

Robert, (Sir) the historian of the illustrious family from which he sprang; b. 14 May, 1580. Sir Robert was a gentleman of the privy-chamber to KING JAMES VI., and was created a Baronet of Nova Scotia, 28 May, 1625. (See SIR JAMES GORDON, Bart. of Gordonstoun and Letterfourie.)

Alexander, (Sir.) This gentleman was compelled to remove into Ireland with his family, in 1631, by the persecution he was subjected to for professing the Catholic religion.

His lordship d. in 1594, and was s. by his eldest son,

JOHN, 12th earl; who m. in 1660, Anne, eldest dau. of Alexander, 4th Lord Elphinston; and dying 11 Sept. 1615, was s. by his eldest surviving son,

JOHN, 13th earl. This nobleman m. 1st, Lady Jean Drummond, only dau. of James, 1st Earl of Perth, by whom he had two surviving sons and a dau.; and 2ndly, in 1639, Anne, eldest dau. of Hugh, 8th Lord Lovat, but had no other issue. His lordship d. in 1663, and was s. by his eldest son,

GEORGE, 14th earl; who m. Jean, eldest dau. of David, 2nd Earl of Wemyss, and relict of Archibald, Earl of Angus; and dying in 1703, was s. by his only son,

JOHN, 15th earl, K.T.; who m. 1st, Helen, 2nd dau. of William, Lord Cochrane, by whom he had a son, WILLIAM, Lord Strathnaver, and two daus. He espoused two other wives, but had no other issue. He was s. by his grandson,

WILLIAM, 16th earl, (son of William, Lord Strathnaver, by Catherine, dau. of William Morison, Esq. of Preston Grange, co. Haddington.) His lordship m. in 1734, Lady Elizabeth Wemyss, eldest dau. of David, 3rd Earl of Wemyss; and dying in 1750, left, with a dau., Elizabeth, wife of her cousin, the Hon. James Wemyss, an only son, WILLIAM, 17th earl, b. in 1735; m. in 1761, Mary, eldest dau. and co-heiress of William Maxwell, Esq. of Preston, and left issue an only dau., ELIZABETH, late Countess. The earl d. 16 June, 1766, when Sir Robert Gordon, Bart. of Gordonstoun, and George Sutherland, Esq. of Force, contested the succession with the deceased lord's heiress, but the House of Lords decided in her ladyship's favour, 21 March, 1771; she m. in 1785, George-Granville, MARQUESS OF STAFFORD, and was mother of the present DUKE OF SUTHERLAND.

Creation—About the year 1228. It has, however, been stated to have been created in 1057.

Arms—Gu., three stars within a bordure, or, charged with a double-tressure, (as a mark of the royal descent of the family from KING ROBERT I.,) flowered and counter-flowered with fleurs-de-lis of the field.

Supporters—Two savages, wreathed about their heads and waists with laurel, each holding a baton over his exterior shoulder, ppr.

Seat—Dunrobin Castle, in the co. of Sutherland.

Note.—Upon the visit of GEORGE IV. to Scotland in 1822, it was determined by his majesty that the right of carrying the sceptre before the king was in the Earls of Sutherland; and his majesty was graciously pleased, upon that occasion, to permit Lord Francis Leveson-Gower to act as deputy for his mother, the Countess of Sutherland.

Elizabeth, m. 7 June, 1828, to John-William Bowden, Esq., eldest son of John Bowden, Esq. of Grosvenor Place.

Lineage.

This very ancient family derives its surname from Swinburne Castle, in Northumberland, which it possessed from so remote a period, that (although Sir William Dugdale notes them not as such) the Swinburnes of Swinburne Castle have been esteemed feudal lords.

SIR ADAM DE SWINBORNE, representative of the family temp. EDWARD II., left a son, Adam de Swinborne, of Swinborne, who d. s. p., and three daus., viz.,

CHRISTIAN, m. to John de Widdrington, and thus Swinburne Castle, the ancient seat of the Swinburnes, passed to the Widdringtons, from whom it was purchased, in 1695, by Thomas Riddell, Esq. of Fenham, and is now the property of that gentleman's descendant, the present THOMAS RIDDELL, Esq. of Felton Park and Swinburne Castle. (See BURKE'S Commoners, vol. iii. p. 207.)

BARBARA, m. to John de Strivelyn, of Built Castle, in Cumberland.

ELIZABETH, m. to Walter Heron, of Haddiston.

The family immediately before us, which springs from a common progenitor with the Swinburnes of Swinburne Castle, and has preserved a male succession, derives directly from

SIR WILLIAM DE SWINBORNE, living temp. HENRY III., who obtained by grant from Gilbert de Umfravile, Earl of Angus, the lordship of Chollerton, in Northumberland. He was lineal ancestor of

THOMAS SWINBURNE, Esq. of Capheaton,* co. Northumberland, who m. Margaret, dau. of Lawson, of Little Usworth, in the county palatine of Durham, and was s. by his eldest son,

Northumberland, by whom he had two sons and three daus.; and 2ndly, Jane, dau. and co-heiress of Matthew Bell, Esq. of Ninebricks, in the same shire, by whom he had five sons and two daus. He d. in 1653, and was s. by his grandson,

I. JOHN SWINBURNE, Esq. of Capheaton, (only son of John Swinburne, Esq., by his 2nd wife, Isabel, dau. of Sir Thomas Tempest, of Stella, co. Durham,) who was created a Baronet, 26 Sept. 1660, and is called in the patent, "Virum patrimonio censu, et morum probitate spectabilem." Sir John m. Isabel, only dau. and sole heiress of Henry Lawson, Esq. of Brough, co. York, by Catherine, only daughter and heiress of Sir William Fenwick, Knt. of Meldon, co. Northumberland, and had issue,

WILLIAM, his successor.

Anne, m. to Nicholas Thornton, Esq. of Witton, co. Northumberland, and had a son,

John Thornton, Esq. of Netherwitton, who had, with a dau., Mary, wife of John Fenwicke, Esq., grandfather of the present John-Manners Fenwicke, Esq., a son, James Thornton, Esq. of Netherwitton, who left two daughters and co-heirs; Margaret, m. to Walter Trevelyan, Esq.; and Mary, m. to Thomas Witham, Esq. of Lartington Hall.

Troath, m. to William Dacre, Esq. of Leonard Coast Abbey, co. Cumberland.

Sir John was s. at his decease, 19 June, 1706, by his son,

II. SIR WILLIAM. This gentleman m. in 1697, Mary, dau. of Anthony Englefield, Esq. of White Knights, co. Berks, and had issue,

JOHN, his successor.

Matthew, b. in 1700; m. in 1738, Eleanora, dau. and heiress of William Thirlwall, Esq. of Thirlwall Castle, co. Northumberland; but d. s. p.

TAAFFE, VISCOUNT, (Francis Taaffe,) of Corren, and Baron of Ballymote, co. Sligo, in the peerage

* She was first-cousin to Arthur Wolfe, Viscount Kilwarden, chief-justice of the King's Bench in Ireland.

of Ireland; inherited as 8th viscount, at the decease of his father, 7 June, 1830; m. 11 April, 1811, the Countess Antonia-Amadée de Varkony. Lord Taaffe is a Count of the Holy Roman Empire, chamberlain to the Emperor of Austria, and major in the Austrian service.

Lineage.

The members of this noble family have resided for a series of years in the Austrian dominions, and have filled the highest offices, civil and military, under the imperial government, doubtless from having heretofore, as catholics, been debarred the prouder gratification of serving their own. The Taaffes are of great antiquity in the counties of Louth and Sligo, and have produced in ancient times many distinguished and eminent persons, amongst whom was Sir Richard Taaffe, who flourished temp. KING EDWARD I., and d. in 1287; contemporary with Sir Richard was the

LORD NICHOLAS TAAFFE, who died in 1288, leaving two sons, John Taaffe, Archbishop of Armagh, who d. in 1306; and

RICHARD-FITZ-NICHOLAS TAAFFE, whose eldest son,

RICHARD TAAFFE, Esq., was seated at Ballybraggan and Castletumpnagh. This gentleman served the office of sheriff for the co. Louth in 1315, and to his custody was committed the person of Hugh de Lacie, the younger, Earl of Ulster, after his condemnation for high-treason, in inciting the invasion of Ireland by Edward Bruce, until the execution of that unfortunate nobleman at Drogheda. From this Richard lineally descended

SIR WILLIAM TAAFFE, Knt. of Harleston, who distinguished himself by his services to the crown during Tyrone's rebellion in 1597; and subsequently maintained his reputation against the Spanish force which landed at Kinsale in 1601. Sir William d. in 1630, and was s. by his only son, (by his 2nd wife, Ismay, dau. of Sir Christopher Bellew,)

SIR JOHN TAAFFE, Knt., who was advanced to the peerage of Ireland, 1 Aug. 1628, in the dignities of Baron of Ballymote, and Viscount TAAFFE, of Corren, both in co. Sligo. His lordship m. Anne, dau. of Theobald, 1st Viscount Dillon, by whom he had, (with other issue,)

THEOBALD, (Sir) who succeeded to the honours.

Lucas, a major-general in the army, appointed governor of Ross in 1649, to defend that place against CROMWELL. He was subsequently obliged to expatriate himself, and served as a col. in Italy and Spain. He returned, however, and d. in Ireland.

Francis, a colonel in the rebellion of 1641; m. an Italian lady, and left a son, CHARLES.

Peter, a canon of the order of St. Augustine, killed at Drogheda, 1649.

Jasper, slain in battle, and d. s. p.

WILLIAM, m. Margaret, dau. of Connor O'Kennedy Roe, by whom he had, with three daus.,

FRANCIS, who m. Anne, dau. of John Crean, Esq. of O'Leary's Castle, in Sligo, and had issue,

NICHOLAS, who inherited as SIXTH VISCOUNT. Anne, m. to John Brett, Esq. of Rathdoony, co. Sligo.

His lordship d. in 1642, and was s. by his eldest son,

THEOBALD, 2nd viscount, who was advanced to the Earldom of Carlingford, 26 June, 1662. This nobleman espoused zealously the royal cause during the civil wars, and had his estate sequestered by the Usurper. After the Restoration, he obtained however a pension of £800 a year; and upon being advanced in the peerage, received a grant of £4000 a year, of the rents payable to the crown out of the retrenched lands of adventurers and soldiers during such time as the same remained in the common stock of reprisals, and out of forfeited jointures, mortgages, &c. The earl was s. at his decease by his eldest surviving son by his 1st wife, Mary, dau. of Sir Nicholas White, of Leixlip,

T A A

NICHOLAS, 2nd earl and 3rd viscount. This nobleman fell at the battle of the Boyne, in the command of a regiment of foot, under the banner of KING JAMES, and leaving no issue, the honours devolved upon his brother,

FRANCIS, 3rd earl, the celebrated Count Taaffe of the Germanic empire. This nobleman, who was sent in his youth to the city of Olmutz to prosecute his studies, became first one of the pages of honour to the EMPEROR FERDINAND, and soon after obtained a captain's commission from CHARLES, the 5th Duke of Lorraine, in his own regiment. He was subsequently chamberlain to the emperor, a marshal of the empire, and councillor of the state and cabinet. His lordship was so highly esteemed by most of the crowned heads of Europe that, when he succeeded to his hereditary honours, he was exempted from forfeiture by a special clause in the English act of parliament, 1st WILLIAM AND MARY; and in the acts passed in Ireland, 9th of the same reign, to hinder the reversion of divers outlawries and attainders, it was provided, that nothing therein contained should extend to attain or convict of high-treason Nicholas, Earl of Carlingford, or his brother, &c. &c. The earl d. in Aug. 1704, and leaving no issue, the honours devolved upon his nephew,

THEOBALD, 4th earl, (son of the Hon. Major John Taaffe, who fell before Londonderry in the service of KING JAMES, by Lady Rose Lambart, dau. of Charles, 1st Earl of Cavan.) This nobleman m. Amelia, youngest dau. of Luke, 3rd Earl of Fingal; but d. without issue, in 1738, when the Earldom of Carlingford expired, while the viscounty and barony passed to his lordship's next heir male,

NICHOLAS, Count Taaffe of the Germanic empire, as 6th viscount, (refer to WILLIAM, son of the 1st viscount.) This nobleman obtained the golden key, as chamberlain, from the EMPEROR CHARLES VI., as he did from his Imperial Majesty's successor, which mark of distinction both his sons enjoyed. His lordship, as Count Taaffe, acquired great renown during the war with the Turks in 1738, and achieved the victory of BELGRADE with high honour. He m. Mary-Anne, dau. and heiress of Count Spendler, of Lintz, in Upper Austria, a lady of the bedchamber to her Imperial and Hungarian Majesty, and had issue,

JOHN, councillor imperial aulick of the empire; who m. Maria, Countess Chotek, countess of the empire; and pre-deceasing his father in 1768, left (with a younger son and a dau.), RODOLPHUS, the 7th viscount.

Francis, lord of the bedchamber, general in the Austrian service, and count of the empire; m. in 1772, the Hon. Frances-Maria, eldest dau. of John, Lord Bellew, which lady d. without issue in 1792.

His lordship d. 30 Dec. 1769, and was s. by his grandson,

RODOLPHUS, 7th viscount, b. 6 Oct. 1761; m. 11 April, 1787, the Countess Josephine Haukowitz, and had issue,

FRANCIS, present viscount.

Louis, chamberlain to the Emperor of Austria; b. 25 Dec. 1791; m. 10 June, 1822, Princess Amelia, dau. of Charles-Augustus, late Prince Prezenheim, of Regenz, lady of the palace to the Emperor of Austria, and has issue,

- 1 Charles, b. 20 April, 1823.
- 2 Another son.
- 1 Clementina.
- 2 Amelia-Walpurga.

Lord Talbot was constituted viceroy of Ireland on the retirement of the late Duke of Richmond, and executed the duties of that important government until the appointment of the Marquess Wellesley in 1821. His lordship is lord-lieutenant of the county of Stafford.

Lineage.

This branch of the ancient house of Talbot lineally descends from JOHN TALBOT, Esq. of Salwarp, grandson of Sir Gilbert Talbot, of Grafton, knight-banneret, knight of the Garter, one of the most renowned warriors and statesmen of the era in which he lived, 3rd son of John, 2nd Earl of Shrewsbury, by his wife, Lady Elizabeth Butler, dau. of James, Earl of Ormonde. His lordship m. 2ndly, Margaret, dau. of Andrew Sayers, Esq., but has no other issue. Lord Talbot is a colonel in the army, and represented the co. of Dublin many years in parliament. He inherited the honours of his family, on the decease of his mother, 27 Sept. 1834.

Lineage.

The castle and lordship of Malahide, on the sea-coast, near Dublin, have been possessed by the family of Talbot from a period contemporary with the first introduction of English government into Ireland, and at this moment they furnish an instance unusually rare, of a baronial estate having continued for upwards of 650 years in the male heirs and name of him on whom it had been originally conferred by HENRY II. It is remarkable, too, that of the ancient seigniorial estates in Ireland, whose lords were vested with the dignity of parliamentary barons, not one can be traced to have been held directly and immediately under the crown but the Lordship of MALAHIDE.

* And grandau. of David Jenkins, Esq. of Hensol.

HOWTH, the peninsula so called, which so lately as the 14th century is admeasured at merely twenty-seven acres, was held certainly in capite by grant from the King of England; but the adjoining manors, which formed the strength and substance of the baronial estate, were held of subjects, by rent, suit, and service; viz., Ratheny, Killester, &c. manors were held of the monks of Christchurch at a chiefry of 3s. 4d. yearly. Kilbarrock, at a service paid for or under the family of De Tuyte of a pair of furred gloves. DELVIN, which has been time immemorial inherited by the Nugent family exclusively, whether styling themselves De Nogent, De Capella, or Fitz-John, was but a subinfeudation made to his kinsman by Hugh de Lacy, as an ancient copy of his charter for that purpose still extant fully evinces. LIXNAW was held as a subinfeudation under the lords of the liberty of Desmond. ATHENRY was feudatory to the lords (and lady-dowagers occasionally) of the Lordship of Connaught for the time being as a manor.* SLANE, another of the ancient baronies, was held of the heirs of De Verdon as of their manor of Dulak, to whom the Lords Le Fleming yearly rendered rent and service. Of the other remaining dignities,—viz., De Courcy, or Kingsale, Offaley, (the first title obtained by the ancestors of the Duke of Leinster in the country,) Gormanstown, Killeen, and Dunsany,—though they may have existed in Ireland long before the practice of creating peers by patent commenced, and in that supposition only are here named, yet they are of such recent or modern acquirement in the families which now possess them, that they are excluded from any consideration in the discussion of a fact solely relating to seignioral territories acquired in the reign of HENRY II. and now possessed by the descendants of the blood and name of the original founders. In this respect Malahide seems to have been unique in Ireland, and its lords, pursuant to the nature of their original tenure and the terms of their royal charters, never rendered homage, suit, or service, to any but the crown, nor acknowledged any superior but the King of England alone. Richard de Talbott, who is mentioned in Domesday-Book, was the common ancestor of the Lords of Malahide and of the Earls of Shrewsbury; and in consequence of the well-known affinity of those two branches, the family in Ireland, by ancient entails and settlements, made the members of the house of Shrewsbury next heirs in remainder to their Irish estates.

RICHARD TALBOT, "Chevalier," was Lord of Malahide in the reign of HENRY II., and after that monarch conferred the dominion of Ireland on his son, Prince (subsequently King) JOHN, Sir Richard obtained a confirmatory grant of the lordship, with Sach and Sech, Tol and Them, infangthef, and the judgment of Water, and of Iron, the Duel, the Pit, the Gallows, and all other the appendages of civil and criminal jurisdictions as possessed by the baronage of that day, to hold to him and his heirs by rendering to the king the service of one archer with a horse and coat-of-mail for ever. Sir Richard had also confirmed to him the advowson of the church of Malahide, and having, about the year 1193, presented his brother, Walter Talbot, to that benefice, he died, leaving two sons, Reginald and Adam. The elder,

REGINALD TALBOT, being a minor at his father's decease, the wardship of the estates devolved to the crown; and during his nonage, Walter, his uncle, having died, the church became vacant, whereupon Henry de Londres, Archbishop of Dublin, then acting as justiciary, or chief governor, of Ireland, appointed a clerk to the benefice in right of the king, as is set forth in an ancient inquisition. Reginald soon after died without issue, and was succeeded by his brother and heir,

ADAM TALBOT, Lord of Malahide, whose descent is specifically set forth in some proceedings taken by the crown to protect the estates of the family against certain encroachments of the Archbishop of Dublin. His son and heir was

RICHARD TALBOT, who is entered on the Exchequer roll of 1278 as Lord Richard Talbot, and who, by the name of Richard-Fitz-Adam Talbot, Knt., granted to King EDWARD I., in the year 1286, all wardships, reliefs, marriages, escheats, &c., happening within his Lordship of Malahide; and it further appeared by the same deed, which is enrolled on the Antiquissimæ rolls of Ireland, that he settled Malahide on his son,

SIR MILO TALBOT, who was succeeded by his son,

SIR RICHARD TALBOT, who was commanded, in 1316, to appear at the Exchequer with one horse caparisoned, to hear and perform what the judges there, by advice of the king's privy-council, should order, as part of the service by which he held the family estates. On the remembrancer's roll of the 9th of EDWARD II., he is entered as being abroad in the public service, or "in servitio domini regis;" and afterwards, while at home, was entrusted with high power by the crown. He was the associate in arms of Sir John Birmingham, who, with several noblemen and gentlemen, having defeated Bruce when he invaded Ireland, was created Earl of Louth by EDWARD II. in 1319, with £20 yearly fee out of the profits and rents of the county; and this creation, which vested the seigniority of Louth in Sir John, was so resented by the more ancient families of De Verdon, Gernon, Savage, &c., that in the year 1329, the earl and about one hundred and sixty noblemen and gentlemen were slain by those families at Ballibragan. Historians have all agreed in noticing this event, and amongst the few names which they have left us of those who were killed, are those of the earl, some of his kinsmen, and Talbot, Lord of Malahide. By his lady, Margaret (de Ashebourne), he had a son and heir,

THOMAS TALBOT, who, at his father's death, being a minor, was taken into the crown's guardianship, and King EDWARD, by patent tested at Guilford, 7 July, 1329, made a grant of the wardship of all his estates during minority. On coming of age, the king sent orders to the Exchequer that those estates should be discharged of the royal services due when certain scutages and hostings were proclaimed, as he the heir was then a minor. By a patent, dated at Westminster, 20 May, 1352, the king granted that he, Lord Thomas, for life, should be exempt from juries and assizes, and should not be made sheriff, escheator, or other minister against his will; the importance of this exemption or privilege may be estimated when it is known that, in the reign of EDWARD III., and for nearly a century afterwards, peers were obliged to discharge the offices of sheriff &c. in common with all other persons; and in the sheriff's rolls we find Thomas, Duke of Surrey, (whose sister, Elizabeth, married Thomas, 1st Duke of Norfolk,) personally acting within that period as sheriff of the co. Louth, where he had estates; but in the reign of HEN. VI., it being found that such offices interfered with their parliamentary affairs, an act was passed in Ireland exempting peers from discharging such duties. On 15 Feb. in the 46th year of EDWARD III., a parliament, or great council, was convoked in Ireland, and the writs of summons* to the prelates, peers, &c. are still remaining on the close-roll of that year; amongst the peers is "Thomam Talbot, militem;" and it is a circumstance worth noticing, that he and all the other peers of Ireland (two only excepted) are upon this occasion directed to be forewarned by the county sheriff. He was afterwards summoned in the year 1374, a parliament being called; but particularly a special parliamentary writ, tested at Naas, 20 Nov., was issued to the same Sir Thomas, and of the forty-four lay peers then summoned, his name stands in the consimilar writ as the fourth after the Earls of Ormond, Kildare, and Desmond; and by the foregoing and other ancient lists still existing it is proved this family had place and rank amongst the most ancient parliamentary peers of Ireland. By his lady, Agnes, he had issue two sons, Richard and Thomas.

SIR RICHARD TALBOT, the elder son, was sheriff of the co. Dublin; and by his wife, Cecilia, (who afterwards married Robert Gallane, and had dower in Clonaghless,) left issue a son,

THOMAS TALBOT, a minor at his father's death, who died, leaving a son and heir,

CHRISTOPHER TALBOT, whose guardianship and estates in the cos. of Dublin, Meath, and Kildare, were granted to Sir Thomas Fleming, Baron of Slane, by patent, dated at Westminster, March 1, in the 1st year of King HENRY IV., and in this patent it is provided, that Lord Slane should have his marriage "absque disparagacione," and that he should find him sufficient maintenance, and sustain the mansion-houses, and woods, and all other burthens and services incumbent on the estates he should discharge, rendering an account to the Exchequer of the surplus. Christopher died a minor and without issue, whereupon the lordship devolved on

THOMAS TALBOT, son of Lord Thomas, (who was summoned to the great councils and parliament in the reign of EDWARD III., as above mentioned.) For him, as "Thomas, filius Thomæ Talbot militis," homage of two-thirds of Malahide, was respited, 12 Nov. 1430; but he died soon after, as it appears that on the 8 Nov. 1432, the king granted to Thomas Cusacke and others the custody of all estates in the several counties of Dublin, Meath, and Kildare, of which he had lately died seised, and which were now vested in the crown by the minority of his son and heir,

RICHARD TALBOT, Lord of Malahide, who m. the Lady Matilda Plunkett, dau. of Christopher, Baron of Killeen. Of this lady a word en passant. There is among the ancient paintings in the castle at Malahide a whole length, in which the horned cap of the 15th century is very conspicuous; and this painting family tradition points out as the Hon. Maud Plunkett, dau. of Christopher, 1st Baron of Killeen, the widow of Hussey, Baron of Galtrim, and wife of Sir Richard Talbot. There is also in the ruined church attached to the castle an altar-tomb with a representation in bold relief of the same lady, and the escutcheons at the base are charged with the arms of Plunkett, Cusack, and Talbot. Of this Lady Maud the legend of the country pathetically tells us, that she was maid, wife, and widow in one day, her husband having been killed immediately after marriage: and it must be here observed, as a proof of the accuracy of such traditions and family reputation, that on examining the public records it is found, that the Lady Matilda Plunkett was daughter of Lord Killeen, and was married to Thomas Hussey, Baron of Galtrim, who was murdered as already mentioned, and that she obtained a patent wherein the king recognises her as wife of Sir Richard Talbot, and granted her possession of her late husband's (Thomas, Baron of Galtrim) estates in the county of Meath. Her ladyship, on the death of Sir Richard, married John Cornwalsh, who was chief-baron in the reign of HENRY VI., on the Wednesday after the feast of the blessed Virgin Mary, 1444, and enjoyed with her husband, dower out of the lordships of Galtrim and of Malahide, in right of her two former lords. There are numerous other records as to this lady in the Exchequer, where it can be traced that she died on the 17 July, in the year 1482, having survived her 3rd husband several years. Sir Richard Talbot, by Lady Maud, left a son and heir,

THOMAS TALBOT, who, on the 15 Nov. in the year 1469, had a patent of privileges conferred on him by the crown, as "Thomas Talbot, Armiger Dominus de Malahide;" and in the evidence-chamber are several deeds, whereby the lordships of Louth, Ashe, Castlefrank, &c. were conveyed to him by Sir James Strangeways, Knt., Richard Strangeways, his son and heir, John Conyers, Knt., Margery, his wife, and John Conyers, their son, who were co-heirs of the Barons Darcy of Knaith, and the latter of whom was ancestor to the Earls of Holderness. On the 15 Nov. 1469, the king granted him a patent as "Thomas Talbot, Armiger Dominus de Malahide," exempting him from attendance at assizes; and on the 21 Sept. 1475, he had licence, as Lord of Malahide, to absent himself out of Ireland for three years. Soon after this, his majesty KING

EDWARD IV., by a patent under the great seal, still preserved amongst the family deeds at the castle, 8th March 1476, granted him all the customs of merchandize coming to the port of Malahide, and that he and his heirs should be admirals of that port, with power of holding courts of Admiralty, and appointing officers, gaugers, searchers, water-bailiffs, &c.; and further, that he should have respite of his homage due to the crown for that manor for fifty years; that he should not be obliged to take on him the order of knighthood; that he should for ever have outfangthef and free warren within the manor; that neither he nor his tenants should be compelled to attend the county courts, but should have view of frank pledge by his seneschal, and leet and law days, with the return and execution of all writs; that none of his heirs should serve the office of coroner or escheator; that he and his heirs should hold their court, and hear and determine all pleas to any amount by his seneschal, or other officers, with power to arrest, attach, &c. within said lordship, to hold a court baron, with all amercements, ransoms for escapes of felons, fugitives, or murderers; with licence of absence for him and his heirs out of Ireland, and many other valuable privileges. In the 16th of EDWARD IV., when required in the Exchequer to do homage for his lordship of Malahide and other estates, he pleaded his exemption by the above patent, and was accordingly exonerated from homage, as he and his descendants afterwards were from several other duties and restrictions pursuant to the same grant. He d. 23 July, 1487, when all his estates in the counties of Dublin, Meath, Louth, and Kildare, were taken into the king's hands. By a settlement which was executed 14 Sept. previous to his death, his estates were conveyed to him by trustees as "Dominus de Malahide," and to Elizabeth, his wife, for life, and remainders were created therein, for John, Richard, and Thomas, his younger sons. By the said Lady Elizabeth, who survived him, he left as his son and heir,

SIR PETER TALBOT, who did homage in the Exchequer for the family lordships, and is styled "Dominus de Malahide" in the records of that court. He m. the Lady Catherine Fitz-Gerald, dau. of Gerald, Earl of Kildare; and afterwards, Lady Elizabeth Preston, who d. 20 July, 1529; and having vested his estates in trustees by his last will, 12 Sept. 1529, he desired to be buried in the church of Malahide, by Dame Jenett Eustace; and after leaving several considerable bequests for the repair and maintenance of the chancel, he devised all his lordships of Malahide, Garristown, Louth, and Castlering, to his son and heir, Thomas, and next to his sons, John and Walter, with remainder to his brothers, John and William; all his estates in the county of Waterford and Kilkenny he leaves to his son William. By inquisition he was found to have died 10 July, 20th of HENRY VIII., leaving, as his son and heir,

SIR THOMAS TALBOT, who, on the 18 Dec. in the year 1529, had a grant of livery of all his father's estates in several counties in Ireland. Sir Thomas, 16 Oct. 1532, being sued in the Exchequer for not executing the office of sheriff of the county of Dublin, to which he had been elected and appointed, was called to the bar there, and informed by the court that it was the pleasure of the lord-deputy, Sir William Skeffington, that he should act as sheriff, and was required to say whether he was willing to exercise that office. Sir Thomas, however, pleaded the patent granted to his grandfather by KING EDWARD IV., already mentioned, exonerating him and his heirs from such offices, and declared that he would not act as sheriff; whereupon the proceedings were discontinued. By Katherine, his wife, he had three sons; one of whom, Robert, was father of William Talbot, who acquired the estate of Carton, co. Kildare, and who, being created a Baronet, 4 Feb. 1622, was grandfather of Colonel Richard Talbot, who, by patent, dated 20 June, 1685, was created Baron of Talbot's town, Viscount of Baltinglass, and Earl of Tyrconnell,* with remainder in tail-male to his nephews; and

* OF RICHARD TALBOT, Duke of Tirconnel, much ill has been written, and more believed; but his history, like that was subsequently, 20 March, 1689, advanced to the dignity of Marquess and Duke of Tyrconnell by KING JAMES II., in whose service, as chief-governor of Ireland, he died. The duke, by Frances, Countess Hamilton, left two daus., of whom Charlotte was m. to the Prince de Vintimiglia, and had issue two daus.; the one m. to M. Verac, and the other to the Prince Belmonte; but both dying without issue, Richard Wogan Talbot, now Baron of Malahide, became heir-general to the Duke of Tyrconnell, as descendant and sole heir of Frances, the duke's sister. In the castle there is a half-length painting by Sir Peter Lely, and notwithstanding all that was written by his successful yet unforgiving enemies at the Revolution, this portrait goes far to support what we find said of the duke in Count Grammont's memoirs, that he was "one of the tallest men in England, and possessed of a fine and brilliant exterior; his manners were noble and brilliant;" and that he was "one of the most genteel men in the court of CHARLES II." There is also a painting of the duchess, who was eldest dau. and co-heiress of Richard Jennings,* of Sandridge, in Hertfordshire, and sister to Sarah, Duchess of Marlborough; and her beauty and character are thus depicted by a cotemporary:—"She had the fairest and brightest complexion that ever was seen; her hair a most beautiful flaxen, her countenance extremely animated, though, generally, persons so exquisitely fair have an insipidity; her whole person was fine, particularly her neck and bosom. The charms of her person and the unaffected sprightliness of her wit gained her the general admiration of the whole court: in these fascinating qualities she had there (CHARLES's court) other competitors; but scarcely one except Miss Jennings maintained throughout the character of unblemished chastity." After the death of the duke, whose sincere attachment to his unfortunate sovereign has never been disputed, the duchess was permitted to erect a house (still standing) in King-street, Dublin, as of his unfortunate country, has only been written by the pen of party steeped in gall, and copied servilely from the pages of prejudice by the lame historians of modern times, more anxious for authority than for authenticity. Two qualities he possessed in an eminent degree—wit and valour; and if to gifts so brilliant and so Irish be joined devotion to his country, and fidelity to the unfortunate and fated family with whose exile he began life, and with whose ruin he finished it, it cannot be denied that in his character the element of evil were mixed with much great and striking good. Under happier circumstances the good might have predominated; and he, whose deeds are held even by his own family in such right estimation, might have shed a lustre on his race by those talents and heroism which gave force to his passions and celebrity to his errors.

While KING JAMES was arming (for the BATTLE OF THE BOYNE) in Slane Castle, another scene equally striking was acted in the hall of Malahide. Before the dawn of day, the Talbots, with their kinsmen, to the number of fourteen, assembled, armed to the teeth, round the breakfast table, at which the sister of the king's lieut.-gen., (Tirconnell,) the Lady Frances, widow of the head of this loyal party, (Richard Talbot, of Malahide, who d. in 1703,) presided. They set forth with a light to join their kinsman the duke, the king's camp lying on the near shore of the Boyne, and found Tirconnell, with the Duke of Berwick, reconnoitering the position of KING WILLIAM on the opposite side of the river. While WILLIAM was mounting his horse, it happened that a man and two horses standing near him were killed by a cannon ball. A second bullet rebounding, glanced over the right shoulder of the gallant WILLIAM, and inflicted a flesh wound; his officers crowded round him, and it was thought by the enemy that he was killed. A shout of joy rose from the Irish camp; and Tirconnell, prompt to avail himself of the great event, sent forth a squadron of cavalry to profit by the consternation. In this petulant attack perished the party of the Talbots, one only returning to the castle to tell the story of the eventful day. This one was a stripling youth, Richard, son, heir, and successor of the then Talbot of Malahide.—LADY MORGAN'S IRISH SKETCHES IN THE METROPOLITAN MAGAZINE.

a nunnery for poor Clares; and in this obscure retirement, burying all the attractions and graces which once so adorned the court of England, she died at the age of 92, and was interred in Patrick's Cathedral, 9 March, 1730. But to return to Sir Thomas Talbot; he was s. by his son and heir,

WILLIAM TALBOT, who became possessed of the lordships of Malahide, Garristown, Louth, Ashe, and Castle-ring, with all the courts and royalties attached thereto, and to his estates in the counties of Waterford and Kilkenny, and having settled all the family estates in the counties of Dublin, Meath, and Kildare on his grandson, Richard, and the heirs male of his own body, he left a remainder over to the use "of the right heirs of John Talbot, of Grafton, within the realme of Englande," ancestor to the Earls of Shrewsbury, and his heirs for ever. To his 2nd son, John, he left his Louth estates; and this Sir John afterwards m. Bridget, dau. of Sir John Talbot, of Grafton, and d. 7 Nov. 1613. Sir William Talbot d. 4 Feb. 1595, leaving his grandson,

RICHARD TALBOT, his heir, then aged eleven years and three months; after succeeding to his estates, he, in common with the other ancient and dignified families of the country, incurred the tyrannous jealousy of Lord Strafford, then lord-lieutenant of Ireland, who sought to wrest from him the admiralty of the port of Malahide, and other his valuable rights; but on pleading the ancient charters under which his family had so long inherited, the court gave judgment against the crown, and thus Strafford's designs were defeated. Sir Richard d. 29 July, 1640, having previously executed a settlement of his lordships of Malahide, Garristown, and the Louth estates, (which had lately reverted to him,) leaving by his wife, Eliza, dau. of Sir German Kempe, of Sussex, a son and heir,

JOHN TALBOT, who, during the Commonwealth government, had the mortification to see his castle occupied by the celebrated Myles Corbet and other regicides; and though, on the restoration of CHARLES II., he re-obtained possession of the chief portion of his paternal estates, yet a valuable property was then usurped from the family by the crown, and still so continues, notwithstanding that three several monarchs subsequently admitted the fact, that spoliation had been committed. By his wife, the Lady Catherine Plunket, dau. of Luke, Earl of Fingall, he left a son and heir,

RICHARD TALBOT, who was appointed auditor-general of Ireland immediately before the Revolution. He m. Frances, sister of Richard, Duke of Tyrconnell, a lady of strong and masculine spirit, by whom (who d. in 1718) he left issue at his decease, in 1703,

This family descends from

RICHARD TANKARD, who, as appears by evidences without date, was seised of several lands in Boroughbridge, where stands the ancient family mansion. The name has been variously written Tanckard, Tankard, Tanckred, and Tancred; but the true appellation is Tankred, which was famous amongst the Danes when they were in England. This RICHARD TANKARD m. Adela Bussye, and was s. by his eldest son,

Lineage.

This ancient family derives its surname from the manor of Temple, co. Leicester, and it deduces its descent from Leofric, Earl of Chester, (erroneously styled Earl of Leicester,) who lived in the reign of EDWARD THE CONFESSOR. This Leofric married the celebrated Godiva, of Coventry notoriety, who is said to have appeased the wrath of her offended lord, and to have obtained a restitution of privileges for the good citizens of Coventry, by exhibiting on horseback in the simple habiliments of Eve, to the confusion of an unlucky knight of the needle, whom tradition hath stricken blind for presuming to peep. Certain it is, that pictures of the earl and his countess were set up in the south window of Trinity church, in that ancient city, about the reign of RICHARD II., more than three centuries after the occurrence of the supposed event; his lordship holding a charter in his right hand with the words,

I, Lurick, for love of thee,
Do set Coventry toll free.

And there is still a yearly procession of a naked figure observed by the grateful citizens on Friday after Trinity Sunday. From this Earl of Chester lineally descended

PETER TEMPLE, Esq., who, in the latter years of KING EDWARD VI., obtained a grant of the manor of Marston Boteler, co. Warwick, and became lord of the manor of Stowe, co. Buckingham. This gentleman m. Millecent, dau. of William Jekyl, Esq. of Newington, co. Middlesex, and had two sons,

JOHN, his heir.

Anthony, from whom the Viscounts Palmerston.

He d. in 1577, and was s. by his elder son,

JOHN TEMPLE, Esq. of Stowe, who m. Susan, dau. and heiress of Thomas Spencer, Esq. of Everton, co. Northampton, and was s. by his eldest son,

I. SIR THOMAS TEMPLE, Knt. of Stowe, who was created a Baronet, 25 November, 1612. This gentleman m. Esther, dau. of Miles Sandys, Esq. of Latimers, co. Bucks, by whom he had thirteen children; and Fuller, in his "Worthies of England," relates, that Lady Temple lived to see seven hundred of her own descendants. Of this numerous progeny

PETER (the eldest son) s. to the baronetcy.

John (Sir, 2nd son) received the honour of knighthood, and marrying Dorothy, dau. and co-heiress of Edmund Lee, Esq. of Stanton Bury, left (with other issue) at his decease, in 1632,

PETER, (Sir) whose only surviving son,

William, of Lillingstone Dayrell, was father of WILLIAM TEMPLE, Esq., who s. as 5th baronet.

Sir Thomas was s. by his eldest son,

II. SIR PETER, M.P. for the town of Buckingham in the two last parliaments of KING CHARLES I. This gentleman m. 1st, Anne, dau. and co-heiress of Sir Arthur Throgmorton, of Paulerspury, co. Northampton, by whom he had two daughters,

Sir Peter m. 2ndly, Christian, sister and co-heiress of Sir Richard Leveson, Knt. of Trentham, co. Stafford, and by that lady had two other daughters and an only son, his successor in 1683,

III. SIR RICHARD, b. in 1634. This gentleman, who was a leading member of the House of Commons in the reign of CHARLES II., m. Miss Knap, an heiress, by whom he had, with other issue who d. young,

I. RICHARD, his successor.

II. Hester, m. in 1710, to Richard Grenville, Esq. of Wootton, co. Bucks; and of this marriage the present Duke of Buckingham is the great-great-grandson.

III. Christian, m. to Sir Thomas Lyttleton, Bart.

IV. Maria, m. 1st, to Dr. West, prebendary of Winchester; and 2ndly, to Sir John Langham, Bart.

V. Penelope, m. to Moses Berenger, Esq.

Sir Richard d. 15 May, 1697, and was s. by his son,

IV. SIR RICHARD. This gentleman acquired considerable renown as a military commander under the great Duke of Marlborough in Flanders, and having risen to the rank of lieutenant-general, was elevated to the peerage, as Baron Cobham, of Cobham, co. Kent, 19 Oct. 1714; and created VISCOUNT and BARON COBHAM, 23 May, 1718, with special remainder, in default of male issue, to his sister, Hester, wife of Richard Grenville, Esq., and her male descendants. His lordship m. Anne, dau. of Edmund Halsey, Esq.; but dying without issue, in 1749, the first barony expired, while the second and the viscounty devolved, according to the limitation, upon the deceased lord's sister, Mrs. Grenville, who then became Viscountess Cobham, and was created, 18 Oct. in the same year, Countess Temple, (see Duke of Buckingham,) and the baronetcy reverted to his lordship's next male heir,

V. SIR WILLIAM TEMPLE, (refer to Sir John Temple, Knt., 2nd son of the 1st baronet,) who m. 1st, Elizabeth, dau. and sole heiress of Peter Paxton, M.D., and had an only surviving child,

HENRIETTA, m. to William Dicken, Esq., and had issue, John Dicken, who assumed the surname and arms of TEMPLE in 1796.

The first member of this family who settled in Ireland was,

HENRY UPTON, Esq., a captain in the army of the Earl of Essex in 1598, 2nd son* of Arthur Upton, Esq. of L'Upton, co. Devon, by Gertrude, dau. of Hugh Fortescue, Esq. of Filleigh, and great-nephew of Sir Nicholas Upton, one of the knights of Malta. He fixed his abode in the county of Antrim, and was returned to parliament for the town of Carrickfergus. Mr. Upton m. Mary, dau. of Sir Hugh Clotworthy, Knt., and sister of John, Viscount Massereene, by whom he had four sons and three daus., and was s. by the eldest,

ARTHUR UPTON, Esq. of Castle Upton, M.P. for the co. of Antrim for a series of forty years. This gentleman m. Dorothy, dau. of Michael Beresford, Esq. of Coleraine, co. Derry, and was s. by his 4th, but eldest surviving son, CLOTWORTHY UPTON, Esq. of Castle Upton, M.P. for the co. of Antrim. This gentleman raising a party of men joined the standard of WILLIAM at the siege of Limerick, and was taken prisoner there, after entering the breach sword in hand and almost alone, his followers, nearly to a man, being cut to pieces. Mr. Upton m. 1st, Mary, only dau. of Roger Boyle, Earl of Orrery, but by her had no issue. He m. 2ndly, Margaret, dau. of William Steward, Esq. of Killymoon, co. He m. 2ndly, 16 July, 1828, Sarah, dau. of Sir Anthony Brabazon, Bart. of Brabazon Park, co. Mayo.

Lineage.

The original surname of this family, Musard, was first changed for Rubra Spatha, and that to Rospear, Rouspee, Rooper, Ropere, and finally Roper.

HASCULPHUS MUSARD, Lord of Stavely, co. Derby, was grandfather of WILLIAM MUSARD, of Miserden, co. Gloucester, who assumed the surname of Rospear, or De Rubra-Spatha, and with his wife, Elnith, dau. and heiress of Thomas Appledore, of Dean Court, in Appledore, Kent, was a great benefactor to the priory of St. Martin's, in Dover, temp. HENRY III. His son,

ADAM ROPER, was seated at Swacliff, in Kent; from him we pass to

EDWIN ROPER, with whom Philipot, in his Heraldic Visitation of Kent, in 1619, commences the pedigree, and from whom lineally descended

JOHN ROPER, Esq. of Wellhall and St. Dunstan's, in Kent, high-sheriff of that shire in the 12th of HENRY VIII., prothonotary of the King's Bench, and attorney-general in the same reign. This gentleman m. Jane, dau. of Sir John Fineux, Knt. of Swingfield, in the same county, chief-justice of the court of King's Bench, and co-heiress of her mother, Elizabeth, dau. and heiress of William Apulderfeld, Esq., by whom he had, with six daus., two sons,

WILLIAM, his successor.

Christopher, ancestor of Lord Teynham.

He d. in 1524, and was s. by his eldest son,

WILLIAM ROPER, Esq., clerk of the King's Bench; who m. Margaret, dau. of SIR THOMAS MORE, lord-chancellor of England, (this lady d. in 1544, and was buried, according to her dying request, with her father's head in her arms,) by whom he had two sons and three daus.; Elizabeth, m. to Sir Edward Bray, Knt.; Margaret, m. to Sir William Dawtrey, Knt. of Moor House, now represented by John Taylor-Gordon, M.D., late of Clifton, (see BURKE'S Commoners, vol. i. p. 8;) and Mary, m. to Stephen Clarke, and 2ndly, to Mr. Basset. William Roper dying in 1577, was s. by the elder son,

THOMAS ROPER, Esq., chief-clerk of the court of King's Bench. This gentleman m. Lucia, daughter of Anthony Browne, Viscount Montagu, and was s. in 1597, by his eldest son,

SIR WILLIAM ROPER, Knt. of Eltham and St. Dunstan's, who m. Catherine, dau. and co-heiress of Sir Anthony Browne, Knt. of Ridley Hall, chief-justice of the court of Common Pleas, and was s. by his eldest son,

ANTHONY ROPER, Esq., with whose only son,

EDWARD ROPER, Esq., the male line of this branch of the family terminated, while the estates of Eltham and St. Dunstan's passed with his only surviving dau. and heiress, ELIZABETH, to her husband, Edward Henshaw, Esq. of Hampshire, and subsequently, by co-heiresses, to the families of Sir Edward Dering Bart. of Surrenden, and of Sir Rowland Wynne, Bart. of Nostell.

The male line now centered in the descendants of the younger son of John Roper, by Jane Fineux; namely,

CHRISTOPHER ROPER, Esq. of Badmangore, co. Kent, who m. Elizabeth, daughter of Christopher Blore, Esq. of Teynham, in the same county, by whom he had issue, three sons and five daus., and was s. by his eldest son,

SIR JOHN ROPER, Knt., who was elevated to the peerage, 9 July, 1616, in the dignity of BARON TEYNHAM, of Teynham, co. Kent. His lordship m. Elizabeth, dau. and co-heir of Richard Parke, Esq. of Malmaine, Kent; and dying 30 Aug. 1618, was s. by his eldest son,

CHRISTOPHER, 2nd baron. This nobleman m. Catherine, dau. of John Le Bourne, Esq. of Sutton St. Michael, co. Hereford, and was s. in 1622, by his eldest son,

JOHN, 3rd baron, K.B.; who m. Mary, dau. of William, 2nd Lord Petre, by whom he had three sons and four daus. His lordship d. 12 Feb. 1627, and by the inquisition taken after his decease, at Sittingbourn, in Kent, 4 Aug. 1628, he appears to have possessed no less than twenty extensive manors in the co. of Kent, with other considerable estates. He was s. by his eldest son,

CHRISTOPHER, 4th baron; who was in ward to King CHARLES I. This nobleman m. 1st, Mary, dau. of Sir Francis Englefield, of Wotton Bassett, co. Wilts, by whom he had one surviving dau., Frances, m. to John Wildman, Esq. of Becket, in Berkshire. His lordship espoused 2ndly, Philadelphia, dau. of Sir Henry Knollys, Knt. of Grove Park, Hants, and widow of Sir John Mill, Bart., by whom he had three sons and a dau., Anne, m. to Bernard Howard, Esq.; dying in 1673, he was s. by the eldest,

CHRISTOPHER, 5th baron, lord-lieut. and custos-rotulorum of the co. of Kent. His lordship m. Elizabeth, dau. of Francis Browne, 3rd Viscount Montagu, and grandaun. of Henry, Marquess of Worcester, by whom he had four sons and eight daus.* He d. in 1692, and was s. by his eldest son,

CHRISTOPHER, 7th baron; who d. likewise unm., and was s. by his brother,

HENRY, 8th baron. This nobleman conformed to the established church, and took his seat in parliament, 29th Feb. 1715-16. His lordship m. 1st, Catherine, daughter of Philip (Smythe), 4th Viscount Strangford, of the kingdom of Ireland, by whom he had two sons, PHILIP and CHARLES, and a dau., Anne, m. to John Webbe, Esq., son and heir-apparent of Sir John Webbe, Bart. His lordship espoused 2ndly, Mary, dau. of Sir John Gage, Bart. of Firle, co. Sussex, but by that lady had no issue. He wedded 3rdly, Lady Anne-Barret Lennard, relict of Richard Barret Lennard, Esq., and dau. of Thomas (Lennard), Earl of Sussex and Baron Dacre, (at whose demise, in 1715, the earldom expired, but the barony descended to her ladyship,) by whom he had,

Charles, b. 21 May, 1721; m. Gertrude, sister and co-heiress of John Trevor, Esq. of Glynde, co. Sussex, and left at his decease, in 1754, TREVOR-CHARLES, who became 18th Lord Dacre.

Henry, killed in a duel, and d. unm.

GERTRUDE, m. to Thomas Brand, Esq. of the Hoo, and s. her brother in the Barony of Dacre.

Richard-Henry, in holy orders, rector of Clownes, in Ireland; who m. 1st, Mary, dau. of William Chetwynd, Esq., brother of Viscount Chetwynd, by whom (who d. in 1780) he had no issue; and 2ndly, Mary, dau. of Thomas Tenison, Esq. of Ireland, by whom he left at his decease, in Nov. 1810, with several daus., three sons, viz.,

Henry, b. 19 March, 1761.

THANET.

THANET, EARL OF, (Henry Tufton,) in the co. of Kent; Baron Tufton, of Tufton, co. Sussex; and a baronet; b. 2 Jan. 1775; s. as 11th earl, at the demise of his brother, 20 April, 1832. His lordship is hereditary-sheriff of the county of Westmorland.

Lineage.

The surname of this family, TOKETON, as originally written, was derived from a place of that name in Kent, of which its remote ancestors were feudal lords.

NICHOLAS TUFTON, of Northyam, co. Sussex, m. Margaret, dau. and heiress of John Heaver, of Cranbrook, in Kent, and dying 31 Dec. 1538, was s. by his son,

JOHN TUFTON, Esq. of Hothfield, co. Kent, sheriff of that shire, 4th QUEEN ELIZABETH; who m. Mary, eldest

dau. of Sir John Baker, of Sisinghurst, chancellor and under-treasurer of the Exchequer, and was s. at his decease, 10 Oct. 1567, by his only son,

I. SIR JOHN TUFTON, Knt. of Hothfield, high-sheriff of Kent, 18th QUEEN ELIZABETH, who was created a Baronet, 19 June, 1611. Sir John m. 1st, Olympia, dau. and heiress of Christopher Blower, Esq. of Sileham, in Kent, and had three daus., viz.,

Anne, m. to Francis Tresham, Esq. of Rushton, co. Northampton.

Elizabeth, d. young.

Margaret, m. to Sir Thomas Carill, Knt. of Benton and Shipley, co. Sussex.

He espoused 2ndly, Christian, dau. and co-heiress of Sir Humphrey Brown, Knt., one of the justices of the court of Common Pleas, by whom he had six sons and four daus. He d. in 1624, and was s. by his eldest son,

II. SIR NICHOLAS TUFTON, Knt. This gentleman being amongst those who met KING JAMES I. at Newcastle-upon-Tyne on his coming into England, received the honour of knighthood from that monarch, 13 April, 1603; and was elevated to the peerage, 1 November, 1626, in the dignity of Baron Tufton, of Tufton, co. Sussex, and created EARL OF THANET, 5 August, 1628. His lordship m. Lady Frances Cecil, dau. of Thomas, 1st Earl of Exeter, and had issue,

JOHN, his successor.

Elizabeth, m. to Sir Ed. Dering.

Dorothy, m. to Sir Ralph Assheton.

Mary, m. to Sir Edward Bishopp, Bart.

He d. 1 July, 1632, and was s. by his eldest surviving son,

JOHN, 2nd earl; who m. in April, 1629, Lady Margaret Sackville, eldest dau. and co-heiress of Richard, Earl of Dorset, by Anne, Baroness Clifford, only dau. and heiress of George, Earl of Cumberland, and had issue,

JOHN,

RICHARD,

THOMAS,

Sackville, whose son, SACKVILLE, became 7th earl.

George.

Margaret, m. to George, 3rd Lord Coventry.

Frances, m. to Henry Drax, Esq.

Mary, m. to William Walter, Esq.

Anne, m. to Samuel Grimston, Esq.

Cecily, m. to Christopher, 1st Viscount Hatton.

This nobleman was obliged to compound for his estate with the sequestrators of the rebel parliament at no less a sum than £9000, which, it is observable, is the largest compromise in the list of 1654. His lordship d. 6 May, 1664, and was s. by his eldest son,

NICHOLAS, 3rd earl. His lordship m. in 1664, Elizabeth, 2nd dau. of Richard Boyle, Earl of Burlington, by whom (who d. in 1725) he had no issue. In 1655, the earl was committed by CROMWELL to the Tower, but soon afterwards released. He was, however, re-committed in 1656, and detained for nearly two years. In 1678, he inherited the Barony of Clifford upon the decease of his mother; but d. s. p. 24 Nov. 1679, when all his honours devolved upon his brother,

JOHN, 4th earl; who had previously s. his mother, one of the co-heiresses of the Earl of Dorset, in the estates of Clifford, Westmorland, and Vesey; and his cousin, Lady Alatheia Hungerford, wife of Edward Hungerford, Esq., and only dau. and heiress of James, Earl of Northampton, by Isabella, youngest dau. and co-heiress of his grandfather, Richard, Earl of Dorset, whereby he became vested in the whole inheritance of his grandmother, Anne, only dau. and heiress of George, Earl of Cumberland, who m. 1st, Richard, Earl of Dorset, and after his decease, Philip, Earl of Montgomery and Pembroke. The Earl of Thanet dying unm. 27 April, 1680, all his honours and estates passed to his brother,

RICHARD, 5th earl; who d. unm. 8 March, 1683-4, when the honours devolved upon his brother,

THOMAS, 6th earl. This nobleman m. in 1684, Lady Catherine Cavendish, dau. and co-heiress of Henry, Duke of Newcastle, by whom he had three sons, who d. in infancy, and five daus., his co-heirs, viz.,

CATHERINE, m. to Edward Watson, Viscount Sondes, heir-apparent of Lewis, Earl of Rockingham, and had issue, LEWIS, 2nd Earl of Rockingham.

THOMAS, 3rd Earl of Rockingham.

CATHERINE, m. to Edward Southwell, Esq. of King's Weston, and her son,

EDWARD SOUTHWELL, inherited, in 1776, the Barony of DE CLIFFORD.

ANNE, m. to James, 5th Earl of Salisbury.

MARGARET, m. to Thomas Coke, Earl of Leicester, and was declared, in 1734, BARONESS CLIFFORD.

MARY, m. 1st, to Anthony Grey, Earl of Harold; and 2ndly, to John, 1st Earl Gower.

ISABELLA, m. 1st, to Lord Nassau Paulett; and 2ndly, to Sir F. Blake-Delaval, K.B.

His lordship claimed the Baronies of Clifford, Westmorland, and Vesey, in right of inheritance from his grandmother, and that of CLIFFORD was confirmed to him by the House of Lords, 12 Dec. 1691, when he assumed the additional title of Baron Clifford, which barony at his decease, in 1729, fell into abeyance between his daus. and co-heirs, and so continued until the crown, in 1734, interposed in favour of Margaret, Countess of Leicester, his lordship's 3rd dau.; but at her ladyship's decease without issue, in 1775, it relapsed into abeyance between her sisters, which abeyance the crown again terminated, in 1776, in favour of Edward Southwell, as stated above. The Earl of Thanet's other honours reverted to his nephew,

SACKVILLE TUFTON, Esq., as 7th earl, (eldest surviving son of the Hon. Col. Sackville Tufton, of the guards, by Elizabeth, dau. and sole heiress of Ralph Wilbraham, Esq. of Newbottle, co. Northampton, 2nd son of Sir Thomas Wilbraham, Bart.) This nobleman m. in 1722, Lady Mary Savile, youngest dau. and co-heiress of William, Marquess of Halifax, by whom he had surviving issue,

SACKVILLE, his successor.

Mary, m. to Sir William Duncan, Bart., one of the royal physicians; and d. in 1806.

Charlotte, d. in 1803.

His lordship d. 4 Dec. 1753, and was s. by his son,

SACKVILLE, 8th earl, b. in 1733; m. 30 Aug. 1767, Mary, dau. of Lord John Sackville, and grandau. of Lionel, 1st Duke of Dorset, and sister of John-Frederick, the 3rd duke, by whom he had,

SACKVILLE, his successor.

CHARLES, who s. his brother.

HENRY, present earl.

Elizabeth.

Caroline, m. 26 July, 1792, to Joseph-Foster Barham, Esq., M.P., who d. 28 Sept. 1832. Lady Caroline Barham d. 3 Nov. in the same year, leaving a son, the late John-Foster Barham, Esq. of Trecwn, co. Pembroke, M.P.

His lordship d. 10 April, 1786, and was s. by his eldest son,

SACKVILLE, 9th earl, b. 30 June, 1769; m. 28 Feb. 1811, Anne-Charlotte de Bojanovitz, a noble lady of Hungary, who d. without issue in 1819. His lordship d. in Jan. 1825, when the honours of the family devolved upon his next brother,

CHARLES, 10th earl, b. 10 Sept. 1770. This nobleman dying unm. 20 April, 1832, the honours of the family devolved on his only surviving brother, the Hon. HENRY TUFTON, present Earl of Thanet.

THOMOND.

THOMOND, MARQUESS OF, (William O'Bryen,) Earl and Baron of Inchiquin, and Baron of Burren, co. Clare, in the peerage of Ireland; Baron Tadcaster, of Tadcaster, co. York, in the peerage of the United Kingdom; m. 16 Sept. 1799, Elizabeth, only dau. and heiress of Thomas Trotter, Esq. of Duleck, by whom he has issue, SUSAN-MARIA, m. 12 Aug. 1824, to the Hon. Captain George-F. Hotham, R.N.

Sarah, m. 3 April, 1830, to Major William-Stanhope Taylor, son of Thomas Taylor, Esq. of Seven Oaks, and grandson to Charles, late Earl Stanhope.

Mary, m. in 1836, to Richard, Viscount Berehaven, son of the Earl of Bantry.

Elizabeth, m. 22 Dec. 1835, to George-Stukeley Buck, Esq. of Hartland Abbey, Devon.

His lordship s. to the Irish honours, as 2nd marquess, at the decease of his uncle, 10 Feb. 1808; and acquired the Barony of the Empire by patent, in 1826. The Marquess of Thomond is a knight of St. Patrick, a privy-councillor, and one of the representative peers of Ireland, although since his election he has obtained an hereditary seat in the legislature.

Lineage.

This family (one of the few native houses at present to be found in the peerage of Ireland) deduces its descent from the royal line of Thomond, a race of princes which sprang from the celebrated Hibernian monarch, Brian Boiroime, who commenced his reign in 1002, and terminated it with his life at the battle of Clontarffe, in 1014. The last of those princes,

CONNOR O'BRYEN, who was inaugurated King of Thomond in 1528, d. in 1540, when his son was set aside and the principality usurped by his brother,

MURROUGH O'BRYEN, who surrendered his royalty to KING HENRY VIII., and was created in consequence by that monarch, 1 July, 1543, Earl of Thomond, with remainder to his deposed nephew, Donough O'Bryen, and Baron of Inchiquin, to his own heirs male; and for the better support of these honours, the king granted and confirmed to him and his heirs male all his lands and possessions in Thomond beyond the river Shannon, with all and singular the advowsons and patronages in the said premises, bishopricks excepted, to hold by knight's service.

His lordship d. in 1551, when the earldom devolved accordingly upon the said

DONOUGH, who, on surrendering the patent to KING EDWARD VI., obtained a new grant of the dignities to himself and the heirs male of his body, by patent, dated 7 November, 1552, and also possession of all the honours and lands which had fallen to the crown by the death of his uncle. From this nobleman the Earldom of Thomond passed in regular succession to HENRY, 8th EARL OF THOMOND and 1st VISCOUNT TADCASTER; at whose decease s. p. in 1741, it expired with his lordship's other honours; and the Barony of Inchiquin was inherited by Earl Murrough's son and heir, by Eleanor, dau. of Thomas Fitzgerald, knight of the Valley,

DERMOID,* 2nd baron; to whom his father assigned the castle and lands of Inchiquin and other extensive territorial possessions. His lordship m. Margaret, eldest dau. of Donough, 2nd Earl of Thomond; and dying in 1557, was s. by his son,

MURROUGH, 3rd baron; who m. Mable, eldest dau. of Christopher, 9th Lord Delvin, and was s. at his decease, in 1573, by his son,

DERMOID, 5th baron; who m. Ellen, eldest daughter of Sir Edmond Fitzgerald, Knt. of Cloyne, and was s. at his decease, 29 Dec. 1624, by his eldest son,

MURROUGH, 6th baron; who was advanced to the Earldom of Inchiquin, 21 October, 1654. This nobleman, a military officer of great renown, served first under the republican banner, but afterwards espousing the cause of royalty, became an exile until the restoration of the monarchy. During his sojourn abroad, his lordship was appointed lieutenant-general by the French king, and viceroy of Catalonia, upon the conquest of that province in 1654. The earl m. Elizabeth St. Leger, dau. of the president of the province of Munster, in Ireland, Sir William St. Leger, Knt.; and was s. in 1674, by his son,

WILLIAM, 2nd earl; who was appointed captain-general and governor of Jamaica by KING WILLIAM III. His lordship m. 1st, Lady Margaret Boyle, dau. of Roger, 1st Earl of Orrery, by whom he had WILLIAM, his successor. He espoused 2ndly, Elizabeth, youngest dau. and co-heiress of George, Lord Chandos, and relict of Edward, Lord Herbert, of Cherbury, but by that lady (who wedded 3rdly, Lord Howard, of Escrick, and d. in 1717,) had no issue. He d. in 1691, and was s. by his eldest son,

WILLIAM, 3rd earl. This nobleman m. Mary, youngest dau. of Sir Edward Villiers, governor of Tinmouth Castle, by Lady Frances Howard, dau. of Theophilus, 2nd Earl of Suffolk, (Sir Edward's eldest son, Edward, was created Earl of Jersey,) by whom he had issue, THOROLD.

THOROLD, SIR JOHN - CHARLES, of Marston, in the county of Lincoln; b. 26 June, 1816; s. as 11th baronet, upon the demise of his father, 7 July, 1831.

Lineage.

This very old Lincolnshire family boasts of having given vicecomites, or sheriffs, to that county prior to the Conquest.

THOROLDUS DE BUCKENHULD was sheriff of the county of Lincoln in 1052, and during his shrievalty gave his manor of Spalding for a cell to the abbey of Croyland, as appears by the date of the charter, in Ingulph's History of Croyland. From him descended

SIR RICHARD THOROLD, Knt. of Selby, co. York, living temp. EDWARD III., who m. Joan, dau. and heiress of Robert de Hough, of Marston, co. Lincoln. His successor, THREIPLAND.

THREIPLAND, SIR PATRICK-MURRAY, of Fingask Castle, co. Perth; s. his father, 11 Jan. 1837.

Lineage.

I. PATRICK THREIPLAND, Esq. of Fingask Castle, co. Perth, was made a knight-bachelor by KING CHARLES II. in the year 1674, and afterwards a Baronet of Nova Scotia, by KING JAMES II., 10 Nov. 1687, with remainder to his heirs male. Sir Patrick was a staunch supporter of the family then on the throne. He took an active lead in the politics of his country during the usurpation of CROMWELL, and for many years successively discharged, with infinite credit, several important public duties which were committed to his care. He m. 13 March, 1665, Euphemia, dau. of John Conqueror, Esq. of Frierton, by whom he had one son and six daus.; and dying in 1689, was s. by his son,

II. SIR DAVID, who m. 1st, in 1688, Elizabeth, dau. of Sir James Ramsay, Bart. of Banff, by whom he had seven sons and three daus.; and 2ndly, in 1707, Dame Catherine Smythe, of Barnhill, by whom he had two sons and four daus. Sir David Threipland having imbibed all the Tory principles of his father, held a secret correspondence with the son of JAMES II. and his adherents; and in 1715 he was among the first, with his sons and a party of followers, to aid the Earl of Marr in setting up the standard of the Chevalier de St. George and in proclaiming that prince king, under the title of JAMES VIII. of Scotland and Third of England; in consequence of which, Sir David's title was attained by act of parliament, in the 1st year of

KING GEORGE I., and his estates and effects were annexed to the crown. He d. in 1746, and was s. by his youngest and only surviving son,

(III. SIR) STUART, who being also strongly attached to the cause of the house of Stuart, linked his fate with that of the unfortunate Charles-Edward in 1745, and participated in all the difficulties and misery which that prince and his followers were doomed to undergo. After the result of the battle of Culloden, so fatal to the hopes of the Jacobites, Sir Stuart Threipland's maternal property, as had been the case with his paternal in 1716, was forfeited; and a reward having been offered for his apprehension, he contrived to escape into France, where he remained at the court of the Stuarts, until the act of indemnity permitted his return to Scotland in security; when, at a sale of forfeited lands, in 1782, he repurchased the family estates, which are now in the possession of his descendants. He m. 1st, in 1753, Jannet, eldest dau. of David Sinclair, Esq. of Southdun, by whom he had a son and dau., who both d. issueless; and 2ndly, in 1761, Miss Jannet-Budge Murray, of Pennyland, by whom he had four sons and a dau., viz.,

PATRICK-MURRAY, late bart.

Elizabeth, dau. of Walter Campbell, Esq. of Shawfield.

David, who d. in India.

Sir Stuart d. 2 Feb. 1805, and was s. by his son,

IV. SIR PATRICK-MURRAY, b. in Nov. 1762, who petitioned GEO. IV., when his majesty was in Scotland, in 1822, for the restoration of the honours of his house, which had been forfeited on account of his grandfather's accession to the rising of 1715, and the king was graciously pleased to signify his assent, 25 April, 1826, to the introduction of a bill into parliament, whereby the attainder of Sir David Threipland was reversed. Sir Patrick m. Jessy-Murray, dau. of William-Scott Kerr, Esq. of Chatto, and had issue,

PATRICK.

THROCKMORTON.

THROCKMORTON, SIR CHARLES, of Coughton Court, co. Warwick; b. 2 Nov. 1757; m. 27th Dec. 1787, Mary, youngest dau. of Edmund Plowden, Esq. of Plowden Hall, in Shropshire, but has no issue. Sir Charles s. as 7th baronet, at the decease of his brother, 27 July, 1826.

Lineage.

SIR JOHN THROCKMORTON, Knt., (descended from John de Throckmorton, who, according to Sir William Dugdale, was lord of the manor of Throckmorton about sixty years after the Conquest,) was a very eminent personage in the reigns of HENRY V. and HENRY VI., and in the latter bore the title of under-treasurer of England. Sir John m. Eleanor, dau. and co-heiress of Sir Guy de Spineto, Lord of Coughton, co. Warwick; and dying in 1445, was s. by his eldest son,*

THOMAS THROCKMORTON, Esq., high-sheriff of Warwick and Leicester in the 5th of KING EDWARD IV. This gentleman m. Margaret, dau. and co-heiress of Sir Robert Olney, Knt. of Weston, co. Buckingham, and was s. by his eldest son,

The RIGHT HON. ROBERT THROCKMORTON, one of the privy-council of KING HENRY VII. This gentleman, who was remarkable for piety, undertook a pilgrimage to the Holy Land at an advanced period of life, but died in the attempt beyond the seas, and was s. by his eldest son, (by his 2nd wife, Catherine, dau. of Alderman Sir William Marrow, of the city of London,)

SIR GEORGE THROCKMORTON, Knt., high-sheriff for the cos. of Warwick and Leicester in the 18th and 35th years of KING HENRY VIII. Sir George m. Katherine, dau. of Nicholas, Lord Vaux, of Harrowden, and was s. by his eldest son, Temperance, m. to Sir Randal Brereton, Knt.

Sir Robert d. in the 12th year of QUEEN ELIZABETH, and was s. by his only surviving son,

THOMAS THROCKMORTON, Esq. This gentleman's life was one continued scene of difficulty, owing to his religious opinions, his estate being frequently under sequestration and his person often imprisoned. His severest calamity, however, was the loss of the manor of Ravenston, which he held by lease from the crown, at the yearly rent of £63. 13s., payable at Lady-Day and Michaelmas, or within forty days after these periods; but advantage having been taken many years after, (occasioned by a servant's losing part of the money at gaming, which he was sent to pay,) he was deprived of the estate; and although the queen's receiver subsequently had the money, and gave an acquittance for it as if paid at the proper period, yet he could never obtain restitution of the property. Mr. Throckmorton m. Margaret, dau. and co-heiress of William Whorwood, Esq., attorney-general to KING HENRY VIII., and had issue,

JOHN, who m. Agnes, dau. of Thomas Wilford, Esq., son of Sir James Wilford, Knt. of Newman Hall, co. Essex; and dying in his father's lifetime, left issue,

Lineage.

This family—one, it is stated, of importance in the county of Hants before the Norman Conquest—derives its surname from the river Itchen, at the head of which it had possessions, and thence was denominated DE ITCHENBORNE, which time has reduced to the present appellation of TICHBORNE.

SIR ROGER DE TICHBURNE, Knt. of Ticheburne, who flourished in the reign of HENRY II., m. Mabell, only dau. and heiress of Ralph de Lamerston, of Lamerston, in the Isle of Wight, by whom he acquired that estate, and was s. by his son,

SIR WALTER DE TICHBORNE, Knt., whose son,

SIR JOHN DE TICHBORNE, Knt., was a person of great eminence, and represented the county of Southampton in parliament in the 9th and 10th years of KING EDWARD II., and was sheriff of that shire in the 14th year of the same reign. He was also one of the king's justices-itinerant. Sir John d. about the year 1334, and was s. by his grandson,

SIR JOHN DE TICHBORNE, Knt., from whom lineally descended

I. SIR BENJAMIN TICHBORNE, Knt. of Tichborne, who was sheriff of Southampton in the 21st and in the last year of QUEEN ELIZABETH, and knight of that shire in the 35th year of the same reign. This gentleman, so soon as he had intimation of the death of the queen, repaired immediately to Winchester, and, without any orders from the administration, proclaimed, in his capacity of high-sheriff, the accession of KING JAMES I. to the crown of England; for which important service the new monarch took the earliest opportunity of conferring upon his four sons the honour of knighthood, and upon himself the castle of Winchester in fee-farm, and the dignity of Baronet, 8 March, 1620. Sir Benjamin m. Amphilis, dau. of Richard Weston, Esq. of Roxwell, co. Essex, one of the justices of the court of Common Pleas, and had issue,

RICHARD, (Sir) his successor.

Walter (Sir) knighted in 1604, m. in 1597, Mary, younger dau. and co-heiress of Robert White, Esq. of Aldershot, Hants, and had,

His lordship is a lord-in-waiting to the queen.

Lineage.

This family is one of great antiquity in the co. of Kent. Its honours were, however, founded since the Revolution, by the celebrated

ADMIRAL GEORGE BYNG, (eldest son of John Byng, Esq. of Wrotham, by Philadelphia Johnson, of Loans, in Surrey,) one of the most distinguished officers in the naval annals of Great Britain, who received the honour of knighthood from QUEEN ANNE, 22 Oct. 1704; was created a Baronet, 14 Nov. 1715; and elevated to the peerage, 9 Sept. 1721, by the titles of Baron Byng and Viscount Torrington, having been previously constituted rear-admiral of Great Britain and treasurer of the navy. In 1725, his lordship was installed one of the knights-companions of the Bath on the revival of that very ancient order; and in 1727, he was appointed first lord-commissioner of the Admiralty. He m. in 1691, Margaret, dau. of James Master, Esq. of East Langdon, co. Kent, and had eleven sons and four daus.; of whom

JOHN, the unfortunate Admiral Byng, so unjustly executed, 14 March, 1757, under the sentence of a court-martial. On the coffin, in the family vault at South-hill, in Bedfordshire, of the admiral, the following inscription appears engraved upon brass:—

To the perpetual disgrace of Public Justice

The Honourable John Byng,
Vice-Admiral of the Blue,

Fell a Martyr to Political persecution,

On March 14th, in the year 1757,

When bravery and loyalty

Were insufficient securities

for the life and honour

Of a Naval Officer.

The warrant for the execution of this unhappy gentleman received the signature of four of the lords of the Admiralty; but the Hon. John Forbes, another lord, refused to sign it, and explained, in an admirably-written paper, the motives which influenced his refusal,—motives acknowledged to be incontrovertible.

Lord Torrington d. in 1733, and was s. by his eldest son,

PATTEE, 2nd viscount, paymaster-general in Ireland; who m. in 1724, Charlotte, youngest dau. of Charles, 1st Duke of Manchester; but leaving no surviving issue at his decease, 23 Jan. 1746-7, the honours devolved upon his brother, TOWNSHEND.

TOWNSHEND, MARQUESS, (George - Ferrars Townshend,) Earl of Leicester, Viscount Townshend, of Raynham, co. Norfolk, Baron Townshend, of Lynn Regis, in the same county, Baron Ferrars, of Chartley, Baron Compton, one of the co-heirs to the Barony of Bouchier, and a baronet; b. 13 Dec. 1778; m. 12 May, 1807, Sarah, dau. of William-Dunn Gardner, Esq. His lordship inherited as 3rd marquess, at the decease of his father, 27 July, 1811. The marquess is high-steward of Tamworth.

Lineage.

This ancient house deduces its descent from Lodovic, a noble Norman, who, settling in England during the reign of HENRY I., assumed the surname of Townshend, and by marriage with Elizabeth, dau. and heiress of Sir Thomas de Haville, obtained the manor of Raynham, co. Norfolk, which has ever since remained in possession of his descendants, and is now the principal residence of the family. Directly descended from this personage was,

ROGER TOWNSHEND, a lawyer of great eminence in the reign of EDWARD IV., and M.P. for Calne, in Wiltshire. In the 1st year of EDWARD V., Mr. Townshend was constituted king's serjeant-at-law, and the year following, nominated by RICHARD III. one of the justices of the court of Common Pleas, wherein he continued until his decease, his patent being renewed by HENRY VII., who also conferred upon him the honour of knighthood. Sir Roger m. Anne, dau. and co-heiress of Sir William de Brewse, Knt. of Wenham Hall, co. Suffolk; in consequence of which alliance the Townshend family may quarter the arms of the ancient Barons of Brember, of the family of Braose, and likewise of Milo, Earl of Hereford, Newmarch, Baron Brecknock, &c. &c. Sir Roger had issue six sons* and four daus. He d. in the 8th year of HENRY VII., and his eldest son, Sir Roger Townshend, Knt., dying without issue, we shall proceed with the second son,

JOHN TOWNSHEND, Esq. of Brampton, co. Norfolk, who m. Eleanor, dau. of Sir John Heydon, K.B. of Beaconsthorp, in the same co., and was s. by his eldest son,

RICHARD TOWNSHEND, Esq. of Brampton. This gentleman m. Catharine, dau. and co-heiress of Sir Humphry Brown, Knt. of Ridley, co. Chester, one of the justices of the court of Common Pleas; and dying in 1544, was s. by his only son,

SIR ROGER TOWNSHEND, of Raynham, who received the honour of knighthood in 1588, from Charles, Lord Howard, of Effingham, for his spirited conduct against the Armada. Sir Roger m. Jane, youngest dau. of Sir Michael Stanhope, Knt. of Shelford, co. Nottingham; and dying in 1500, was s. by his eldest son,

SIR JOHN TOWNSHEND, Knt., M.P. for the co. of Norfolk, temp. ELIZABETH, and a very distinguished member of the first parliament of KING JAMES. During the sitting of which, however, Sir John had the misfortune to engage in a quarrel with Sir Matthew Brown, of Beachworth Castle, which terminated in a duel, fought on horseback on Hounslow Heath, wherein both the combatants were mortally wounded, Sir Matthew dying on the spot, and Sir John Townshend soon after, on the 2nd August, 1603, leaving two sons by Anne, eldest dau. and co-heiress of Sir Nathaniel Bacon, K.B. of Stiff Key, co. Norfolk; by the eldest of whom,

I. ROGER TOWNSHEND, Esq., M.P. for the co. of Norfolk, who was created a Baronet, 16 April, 1617, he was succeeded. Sir Roger m. Mary, 2nd dau. and co-heiress of Horatio, Lord Vere, of Tilbury, by whom he had two sons and five daus. He d. 1 Jan. 1636, and was s. by his elder son,

II. SIR ROGER; who d. during his minority, when the title devolved upon his brother,

III. SIR HORATIO. This gentleman having rendered essential services to the royal cause during the Usurpation, and being one of the most forward in restoring the monarchy, was elevated to the peerage after the accomplishment of that most desirable event, (20 April, 1661,) by the title of Baron Townshend, of Lynne Regis; and advanced, 11 Dec. 1682, to the dignity of Viscount Townshend, of Raynham. His lordship m. 1st, Mary, dau. and sole heir of Sir Edward Lewkenor, of Denham, in Sussex, but had no issue. He espoused 2ndly, Mary, dau. of Sir Joseph Ashe, Knt. of Twickenham, co. Letitia.

Anne.

Caroline.

Charlotte.

This gentleman assumed, in 1802, the surname of SALUSBURY, in compliance with the testamentary injunction of his cousin, OWEN-SALUSBURY BRERETON, Esq.

Lineage.

This ancient family derives its surname from the lordship of Trelawny, or Treleon, in the parish of Alton, co. Cornwall, which, in the time of EDWARD THE CONFESSOR, was the property of its earliest known ancestor,

EDUNI, whose son,

HAMELIN, was likewise the owner of Treleon after the Norman invasion, by a tenure from the Earl of Mortain, as found at the general survey. From this Hamelin lineally descended

SIR JOHN TRELAWNY, member for the co. of Cornwall and one of the coroners thereof; which office, in former times, was conferred upon the most eminent knights in the shire alone. Sir John, who was a soldier, acquired great renown in the French wars of HENRY V., and obtained from that monarch a pension of £20 a year. Under the figure of KING HENRY, which formerly stood over the great gate at Launceston, was the distich,—

"He that will do ought for me,
Let him love well Sir John Tirlawne."

From this valiant knight we pass over several other very eminent men to

SIR JONATHAN TRELAWNY, who served the office of high-sheriff of Cornwall in the 37th year of ELIZABETH, and was knight of that shire in the 39th year of the same reign, and in the 1st year of KING JAMES. Sir Jonathan m. Elizabeth, 2nd dau. of Sir Henry Killegrew, by whom he had three daus. with two sons, viz.,

JOHN, his heir.

Edward, of Coldrinick, an estate now possessed by CHARLES TRELAWNEY, Esq. of Coldrinick, in Cornwall.

He d. during the parliamentary session of 1604; and the House of Commons, as a mark of high respect, attended his funeral at St. Clement's Danes. Sir Jonathan was s. by his elder son,

I. JOHN TRELAWNY, Esq. of Trelawny, who was created a Baronet, 1 July, 1628. Sir John served the office of sheriff of Cornwall in the 6th year of KING CHARLES I. He m. Elizabeth, dau. of Reginald Mohun, Bart. of Boconnock, and had issue,

JONATHAN, his successor.

Creation—24 Jan. 1661-2.

Arms—Gu., a demi-horse, ar., hooped and maned, or, issuing out of water in base, ppr.; though it appears by old seals that the arms were anciently, a lion, rampant, holding a baton. According to tradition the present bearing is a memorial of one of the family having swam on horseback from the rocks called Seven Stones to the Land's End, in Cornwall, at the time of an inundation, which is said to have overwhelmed a great tract of land and to have severed those rocks from Cornwall.

Crest—Two arms, counter-embowed, ppr., habited, az., holding in the hands a bezant.

Motto—Time trieth troth.

Seats—Nettlecombe Court, Somersetshire; and Wallington, Northumberland, the ancient seat of the Fenwick family.

TRIMLESTOWN.

TRIMLESTOWN, BARON, (John-Thomas Barnewall, M.R.I.A.,) of Trimlestown, co. Meath, in the peerage of Ireland; b. 29 Jan. 1775; m. in 1794, Maria-Theresa, dau. of Richard Kirwan, Esq. of Cregg, co. Galway, by whom (who d. in Sept. 1824) he has issue,

THOMAS, b. in 1796; m. 3 Nov. 1836, Margaret-Randallina, elder dau. of the late Philip Roche, Esq. of Donore, co. Kildare, sister of Lady Louth and niece to Lord Dunsany.

Martha-Henrietta, d. 10 April, 1837.

His lordship s. as 15th baron, at the decease of his father, 16 April, 1813.

Lineage.

This is a branch of the ancient knightly house of Barnewall, of Crickstown Castle, co. Meath, the early descent of which will be found under the head of BARNEWALL, Bart.

SIR CHRISTOPHER BARNEWALL, Knt. of Crickstown, chief-justice of the court of King's Bench in Ireland, m. Maude, widow of Sir — Drake, of Drakerath, and had two sons: Nicholas, the elder, s. at Crickstown, while the younger,

SIR ROBERT BARNEWALL, Knt., was elevated to the peerage of Ireland by KING EDWARD IV., 4 March, 1461, as BARON TRIMLESTOWN, of Trimlestown, co. Meath. "The next patent of creation that occurs," says the late able antiquary and genealogist, William Lynch, in his work upon Feudal Dignities, "is one of considerable importance, as being the first grant (in Ireland) of any description of peerage conveying, by express words, the dignity of a baron of parliament. This patent is dated 4 March, in the 2nd of EDWARD IV., and thereby the king ordained and constituted Robert Barnewall, Knt., for his good services to the king's father when in Ireland, ad essendum unum baronum parlamenti nostri infra terram nostram prædictam, to hold to him and the heirs male of his body lawfully begotten, and to be called by the name of Domini et Baronis de Trymleleston, &c.; and also that the said Sir Robert should be one of his, the king's, council within the said land during his life, with the fee of £10 yearly, payable out of the fee-farm of the Salmon Leap and Chapelizod," &c. His lordship m. 1st, Lady Anne Brune, or Browne, by whom he acquired a considerable estate, and had two sons, CHRISTOPHER, (Sir) his heir.

Thomas, of Irishtown, whose only dau., Elizabeth, m. Sir Bartholomew Dillon, of Riverston.

He m. 2ndly, Anne, dau. of Sir Thomas Plunket, but had no other issue. His lordship was s. at his decease by his elder son,

CHRISTOPHER, 2nd baron; who obtained a pardon for his participation in the treason of Lambert Simnell. His lordship m. Elizabeth, daughter of Sir Thomas Plunket, of Rathmore, and had issue,

JOHN, his heir.

Robert, of Rowston, in Meath.

Ismay, m. to William Bathe, of Rathseigh.

A dau., m. to John Netterville, justice of the King's Bench.

Alison, m. to Christopher Barnewall.

His lordship was s. by his eldest son,

JOHN, 3rd baron; who had been appointed, in 1509, second justice of the court of King's Bench in Ireland. His lordship was appointed vice-treasurer of Ireland in 1522, and high-treasurer in two years afterwards. In 1532, he received a fee-farm grant of 136 acres of arable land in Dunleer, to hold as the manor of Trim; and in 1534, he was constituted lord-high-chancellor of Ireland. His lordship m. no less than four times, and was s. at his decease, in 1538, by the only son of his first wife, Jane, dau. of John Bellew, Esq. of Bellewstown,

PATRICK, 4th baron. This nobleman m. Catherine, daughter of Taylor, of Swords, and relict of Christopher Delahyde, Esq., recorder of Drogheda, and was s. by his eldest son,

ROBERT, 5th baron; who, according to Hollingshed, "was a rare nobleman, and endowed with sundry good gifts, who having well wedded himself to the reformation of his miserable country, was resolved for the whetting of his wit, which nathless was pregnant and quick, by a short trade and method he took in his study to have sipt up the very sap of the common law; and upon this determination sailing into England, sickened shortly after, at a worshipful matron's house at Cornbury, named Margaret Teler, where he was, to the great grief of all his country, pursued with death, when the weal of the public had most need of his life." This nobleman m. Anne, only dau. of Mr. Alderman Richard Fyan, of the city of Dublin; but dying issueless, in 1573, the barony devolved upon his brother,

PETER, 6th baron. This nobleman dying in 1598, was s. by his only son, by Catherine, dau. of Sir Christopher Nugent, and grandau. of Richard, Lord Delvin,

ROBERT, 7th baron; who m. Genet, dau. of Thomas Talbot, Esq. of Dardistown, by whom he had issue,

I. Christopher, who m. two wives; but dying v. p. in 1622, left issue by the 1st, Elizabeth, dau. of Sir Edward Fitzgerald, Knt. of TreCroghan, three sons and two daus., viz.,

1 MATTHIAS, 8th baron.

IV. Richard.

V. Matthew.

VI. Mary, m. to Robert Barnewall, Esq. of Shankhill.

VII. Catherine.

VIII. Ismay.

His lordship had a memorable dispute with the Lord Dunsany regarding precedence, which was decided in favour of Lord Trimlestown by the privy-council, in 1634. He d. in 1639, and was s. by his grandson,

MATTHIAS, 8th baron, (eldest son of the Hon. Christopher Barnewall, by Elizabeth, dau. of Sir Edward Fitzgerald, Knt.) This nobleman serving against the Usurper CROMWELL was excepted from pardon for life, and had his estates sequestered; but surviving the season of rebellion and rapacity, he regained a considerable portion of his lands. His lordship m. in 1641, Jane, dau. of Nicholas, 1st Viscount Netterville, and was s. by his only surviving son, (his only daughter, Alison, m. Martin Dillon, Esq. of Huntstown,)

ROBERT, 9th baron. This nobleman m. Margaret, dau. of Sir John Dungan, Bart., and niece of William, Earl of Limerick, by whom he had two sons and five daus.,

MATTHIAS, } successive lords.
JOHN, }

Jane, d. young.

Bridget, m. to Christopher Nugent, Esq. of Dardistown, major-gen. in the French service.

Dymna, m. to Richard Shee, Esq. of Sheestown.

Catharine, m. to Nicholas Barnewall, Esq. of Baggs-town and Woodpark, co. Meath.

Mary, m. to Michael Nugent, Esq. of Carlanstown.

His lordship sat in KING JAMES's parliament in 1689, and dying in the June of that year, was s. by his eldest son,

MATTHIAS, 10th baron; who had a commission in the 1st troop of KING JAMES's guards, under the Duke of Berwick, and fell in action against the Germans in 1692, when the barony devolved upon his brother,

JOHN, 11th baron. The late lord having been attainted by KING WILLIAM, that monarch granted the estates of the family to Henry, Lord Sidney, created Earl Romney; but those estates were subsequently recovered at law, and are still enjoyed by the house of Trimlestown. His lordship m. Mary, only dau. of Sir John Barnewall, Knt., 2nd son of Sir Patrick Barnewall, Bart. of Crickstown, by whom he had six sons and four daus.,

ROBERT, his heir.

John, m. Lady Waters.

Bridget, m. to Robert Martin, Esq. of Dangan, in Galway.

Catharine, d. unm.

He d. 7 April, 1746, and was s. by his eldest son,

ROBERT, 12th baron. This nobleman lived for many years in France, and pursued the study of medicine with great success; after his return to Ireland he resided at Trimlestown, and gratuitously and freely communicated his advice to all who applied for it. His lordship was s. at his decease by his eldest surviving son, (by his 1st wife, Margaret, dau. of James Rochford, Esq. of Lorrach, co. Kildare,)

THOMAS, 13th baron, a knight of Malta, who conformed to the established church, and had a confirmation of the dignity, (which, although adopted, was unacknowledged from the time of CROMWELL,) 3 March, 1795. His lordship dying unm., the title reverted to his cousin,

NICHOLAS, 14th baron; b. 8 June, 1726. His lordship m. 1st, 1 Nov. 1768, Martha-Henrietta, only dau. of Mons. Joseph D'Aguin, president of the parliament of Thoulouse, by whom he had issue,

JOHN-THOMAS, present peer.

Rosalia, m. 3 Dec. 1795, to Peter, Count D'Alton; and d. in 1815.

The baron m. 2ndly, 8 Aug. 1797, Alicia, 2nd dau. of Major-Gen. Charles Eustace. He d. 16 April, 1813, and his widow m. 2ndly, Lieut.-Gen. Sir Evan Lloyd.

TYRELL, SIR JOHN-TYSSEN, of Boreham House, co. Essex; b. 21 Dec. 1795; m. 19 May, 1819, Eliza, eldest dau. and co-heir of the late Sir Thomas Pilkington, Bart., and by that lady (from whom he was divorced by act of parliament) he has three daus. Sir John s. his father, as 2nd baronet, 3 Aug. 1832, and is M.P. for the northern division of Essex.

Lineage.

This family has been of knightly degree ever since the Conquest, when

SIR WALTER TYRELL, a Norman knight, came into England, and soon after became tenant of the manor of Langham, co. Essex, which he held at the general survey under Richard de Tonbrigg. Of this Sir Walter, Morant, in his History of Essex, observes: "Whether he was the same person who shot William Rufus in New Forest, or whether he did it at the instigation of Archbishop Anselm, through the persuasion of a fanatic monk, as it is asserted by Alan de Insulis, we are not able to determine." It is far indeed from being an ascertained point that this family is descended from the Walter Tyrell who slew Rufus, and as far is it from being certain that the deed was done designedly. Ordericus Vitalis, in his History of Normandie, relates, that Sir Walter Tyrell, on his death-bed, declared that he was not so much as in the field when William Rufus was killed. From Sir Walter Tyrell descended

TYR

SIR THOMAS TYRELL, Knt. of Rumseys Tyrrell, co. Essex, who m. Margaret, dau. of John Fillol, Esq. of Old Hall, and had issue two sons,

I. JOHN, (Sir) of Heron, whose son,

JOHN TYRELL, Esq. of Springfield, in Essex, was created a Baronet in 1673. (Refer to BURKE's Extinct Baronetage.)

II. THOMAS.

The younger son,

THOMAS TYRELL, Esq. of Battlesbury, co. Essex, m. Elizabeth, dau. of Thomas Steward, Esq. of Chelmsford, and was s. by his son,

JOHN TYRELL, Esq. of Billericay, co. Essex, who m. Mary, dau. of Giles Alleyn, Esq. of Haseley Hall, co. Essex; and d. 20 Sept. 1712, leaving a son and heir,

JOHN TYRELL, Esq. of Billericay, who m. Mary, dau. of William Marlow, Esq., by whom he had, with another son who d. unm.,

JOHN TYRELL, Esq. of Hatfield Peverell, co. Essex, high-sheriff of that shire in 1770; who m. 1st, Sarah, youngest dau. and co-heiress of John Higham, Esq. of Boreham, by whom he had no issue; and 2ndly, Anne, eldest dau. of the Rev. William Master, rector of East Hanningfield, co. Essex, by whom he had,

JOHN, created a Baronet.

Mary-Anne, m. to the Rev. John Jenner, D.D., rector of Buckland and Midley, in Kent; and d. in 1805, leaving issue.

Mr. Tyrell d. 3 Nov. 1786, and was s. by his son,

I. SIR JOHN, b. 20 July, 1762. This gentleman was created a Baronet, 28 Sept. 1809. He m. 29 Nov. 1791, Sarah, only dau. and heir of William Tyssen, Esq. of Waltham House, co. Herts, by and her (who d. 19 Dec. 1825) he had issue,

JOHN-TYSSSEN, his successor.

Charles-Tyssen, b. 22 Jan. 1804. This gentleman assumed the name and arms of JENNER in addition to and before those of Tyrell, by royal licence, 5 May, 1828.

Anna-Maria, m. 18 June, 1811, to John-Robert-Spencer Phillips, Esq. of Reffham's Lodge, co. Essex.

Gertrude-Elizabeth.

Sir Francis s. as 3rd baronet, at the decease of his father, in March, 1832.

Lineage.

This family derives from a common ancestor with the noble houses of Vane, Dukes of Cleveland, and Fane, Earls of Westmorland; namely,

HOWELL AP VANE, Esq. of Monmouthshire, from whom lineally descended

SIR HENRY VANE, who received the honour of knighthood for his distinguished bravery at the battle of Poitiers. Sir Henry m. Grace, dau. and heiress of Sir Stephen de la Leke, and was s. by his son,

JOHN VANE, Esq. This gentleman m. Isabel, dau. of Walter Beltoft, Esq., and co-heiress of Martin St. Owen, Esq.; from which marriage descended

HENRY VANE, Esq., who changed his surname to Fane, and marrying Isabel, dau. and co-heiress of Henry Persall, Esq., left three sons at his decease, towards the close of the 15th century. The youngest of whom,

JOHN FANE, Esq. of Hilden, co. Kent, m. Dorothy, dau. of John Dartnall, Esq., by whom he had four sons and three daus. From the eldest son, Richard Fane, Esq. of Badshill, Kent, the Earls of Westmorland descend; and the youngest,

JOHN FANE, Esq. of Tunbridge, having married Joan, dau. and heiress of Sir Edward Hawte, Knt., was s. by his eldest son,

HENRY FANE, Esq. of Hadloe, co. Kent, who m. Elizabeth, dau. of Henry White, Esq. of Christ Church, co. Southampton, and relict of Sir John Goodsall, Knt., and was s. by his only son,

HENRY FANE, Esq. of Hadloe, who m. 1st, Mary, dau. and heiress of Sir Thomas Fane, by whom he had no issue; and 2ndly, Margaret, dau. of Roger Twisden, Esq. of East Peckham; and dying in 1596, was s. by his eldest son,

SIR HENRY FANE, of Raby Castle, co. Durham, confederate to KING CHARLES I., who resumed the ancient surname of Vane. This gentleman m. Frances, dau. and co-heiress of Thomas Darcy, Esq. of Tolleshurst Darcy, co. Essex, by whom he had fourteen children; from the eldest of whom, Sir Henry Vane, so celebrated during the

Protectorate, descends the DUKE OF CLEVELAND; while the 2nd son,

SIR GEORGE VANE, Knt. of Long Newton, co. Durham, marrying Elizabeth, only dau. and heiress of Sir Lionel Maddison, Knt., and dying in 1679, left four sons; the third of whom,

LIONEL VANE, Esq. of Long Newton, co. Durham, m. Catherine, dau. of Sir George Fletcher, Bart., (and grandau. maternally, of Hugh Hare, 1st Viscount Coleraine, a dignity which expired with the 3rd lord in 1749,) by whom he had issue,

GEORGE, whose only son,

The REV. HENRY VANE, was created a Baronet in 1782; and m. Frances, dau. and heir of John Tempest, Esq. of Sherburn, co. Durham, and had an only son,

SIR HENRY VANE, the 2nd bart.; who assumed the surname of TEMPEST, and d. 1 Aug. 1813, when the baronetcy expired, he having left an only child, FRANCES-ANNE, m. to Charles-William, present Marquess of Londonderry.

Henry, who inherited the estates of his mother's family, and in consequence assumed the surname of FLETCHER. He d. unm. in 1761.

WALTER, of whom presently.

Lionel, who m. and had issue.

Mary, m. to John Spearman, Esq. of Sedgefield, co. Durham.

The third son,

WALTER VANE, Esq., upon the demise of his elder brother, succeeded to the Hutton estates, and assumed in consequence the additional surname of Fletcher. This gentleman m. 1st, Mercy, dau. of Samuel Wright, Esq. of Wanstead, co. Essex, by whom he had an only son, his successor; and 2ndly, Mary-Anne, only dau. and heiress of Godfrey Woodward, Esq. of Putney, by whom he had issue,

Godfrey-Woodward, of Twyford, co. Hants, who m. in April, 1763, Sarah, dau. of James Birch, Esq. of Coventry, and had issue, William-Walter.

George.

Godfrey.

Sarah.

Walter, of London, d. unm.

V A U X.

VAUX, BARON, (George Mostyn,) of Harrowden, co. Northampton; b. at Bath, 7 March, 1804; m. 9 July, 1828, Caroline, dau. of Col. Arthur Vansittart, of Shottesbrooke, in Berkshire, by Caroline, his wife, dau. of William, late Lord Auckland, and has issue, GEORGE-CHARLES, b. 3 April, 1830.

Montague-Henry, b. 25 April, 1838.

The abeyance of the Barony of Vaux of Harrowden was determined in his lordship's favour by a writ of summons, dated 12 March, 1838.

Lineage.

Three brothers, HUBERT, RANULPH, and ROBERT, the sons of HAROLD DE VAUX, Lord of Vaux in Normandy, accompanied WILLIAM THE CONQUEROR to England. From HUBERT descended the BARONS VAUX, of Gillesland, which line terminated in an heiress, who carried the Barony of Gillesland to the family of MULTON, from which it passed to that of DACRE. RANULPH, the 2nd son, was ancestor to the VAUX's of Tryermayne, and maternally of LORD BROUGHAM AND VAUX. ROBERT, the 3rd son, was the ancestor of the Lords of Harrowden. His great-grandson, OLIVER VAUX, distinguished himself in the reign of KING JOHN by the services which he rendered to the barons who obtained Magna Charta. The male line of the family was continued by his 4th son,

ROGER VAUX, whose great-grandson,

ELIAS VAUX, obtained the manor of Harrowden by his marriage with the heiress. His grandson,

WILLIAM VAUX, of Harrowden, m. Eleanora, dau. of Sir Thomas Draketon, of Welby, and was by her the father of

SIR WILLIAM VAUX, of Harrowden, who m. Matilda, dau. of Sir Walter Lucy, and had a son and heir,

SIR WILLIAM VAUX, of Harrowden, who adhered to KING HENRY VI., and was slain at the battle of Tewkesbury. Upon the accession of EDWARD IV.,

NICHOLAS VAUX, son and heir of Sir William, was despoiled of his estates in virtue of an act of attainder passed against his father; but in the first of HENRY VII., this attainder was totally reversed, and Nicholas, then Sir Nicholas, was restored to all the possessions of which he had been deprived. Sir Nicholas was highly distinguished as a statesman and a warrior, and was much in favour with HENRY VII. and HENRY VIII., by the latter he was summoned to parliament, as BARON VAUX, of Harrowden, the 27th of April, 1523, but did not long enjoy his honours, as he d. 24 May following. His lordship m. two wives; by the first he had no male issue, but by the 2nd, Ann, dau. of Thomas Green, of Green's Norton, he had (with three daus.) two sons,

The elder,

THOMAS, 2nd Lord Vaux, was only twelve years of age upon his father's death; he took his seat in parliament on attaining his majority, in the 22nd of HENRY VIII. He m. Elizabeth, sole dau. and heir of Sir Thomas Cheney, of Urtlingborough, in Northamptonshire, by the sister of William Parr, Marquess of Northampton, and had issue,

Ann, m. to Reginald Braye, of Steyne, nephew of Edmund, Lord Braye.

His lordship d. in 1562, and was s. by his eldest son,

WILLIAM, 3rd Lord Vaux, of Harrowden, who was several times convicted of recusancy, and as often imprisoned and fined. His lordship m. 1st, Elizabeth, dau. of John Beaumont, Esq. of Grace Dieu, and had issue,

Henry, who d. without issue in his father's lifetime.

Eleanor.

Elizabeth.

Ann.

He m. 2ndly, Mary, dau. of John Tresham, Esq. of Rush-ton, in the co. of Northampton, and by that lady had,

GEORGE, who d. in his father's lifetime, leaving by Elizabeth, his wife, dau. of John, 1st Lord Teynham, EDWARD, successor to his grandfather.

William, who d. in childhood.

HENRY, who s. his brother.

MARY, from whom the present Lord Vaux descends.

JOYCE, a nun; who d. s. p. 1664.

CATHERINE, m. Henry, Lord Abergavenny, and her present representatives are, the EARL OF PEMBROKE, and EDWARD-B. HARTOPP, Esq. of Little Dalby, co. Leicester.

Edward, who d. s. p.

His lordship d. in 1595, and was s. by his grandson,

EDWARD, 4th Lord Vaux, of Harrowden; who m. Elizabeth, dau. of Thomas, Earl of Suffolk, and widow of William, 1st Earl of Banbury. By this lady his lordship had no legitimate issue, but upon her two sons (who bore the name of Vaux, but were born in the lifetime of Lord Banbury) he settled Harrowden and the other family estates, which eventually devolved upon Nicholas, Lady Banbury's youngest son. His lordship d. in October, 1661, and was s. by his only surviving brother,

HENRY, 5th Lord Vaux, of Harrowden, who d. unm. 26 Sept. 1662. Upon his lordship's death the Barony of Vaux, of Harrowden, fell into abeyance between his surviving sister, Joyce, and the heirs of his two deceased sisters, Mary and Catherine, in which state it continued until her majesty was pleased to determine in favour of the present Lord Vaux, of Harrowden.

MARY, the eldest sister of Henry, Lord Vaux, m. Sir George Symeon, of Britwell, in Oxfordshire, and had issue, Ann-Symeon, who d. unm.

ELIZABETH-SYMEON.

Mary, Lady Symeon, d. about the year 1622, and was s. by her daughter,

ELIZABETH SYMEON, who m. 1st, William Conyers, Esq. of Sockburne, in Durham, by whom she had,

He was s. by his eldest son,

THOMAS VAVASOUR, Esq. of Haslewood. This gentleman distinguished himself, with others among the nobility, by his gallant exertions in raising forces and equipping vessels to defend England and its queen against the Spanish Armada. To requite this zeal, and to shew her regard for one of her maids of honour, who was a Vavasour and her acknowledged kinswoman, QUEEN ELIZABETH, who, through her grandfather, Sir Thomas Bulleyn, descended from Maude Vavasour, wife of Theobald, ancestor of the Butlers of Ormond, would never suffer the chapel at Haslewood to be molested, which to this day has continued a catholic place of worship. Mr. Vavasour was created a Baronet, 24 Oct. 1628. He m. Ursula, dau. of Walter Giffard, Esq. of Chillington, co. Stafford, by whom he had issue,

SIR WALTER, 6th bart.; who m. in 1797, Jane, only dau. and heiress of William Langdale, Esq. of Langthorpe; but d. s. p. in 1802, when the title devolved upon his next brother,

SIR THOMAS, 7th baronet; who resided many years in France, and suffered various hardships there during the first revolution. In 1802, he returned to England, and obtained possession of his ancient family estates. At his decease unm. in 1826, the baronetcy expired, while the lands in Yorkshire passed, as stated above, by Sir Thomas's will, to his cousin,

The HON. EDWARD MARMADUKE STOURTON, who assumed the surname of VAVASOUR, and in whose person the baronetcy has been revived.

Creation—14 Feb. 1828.

Arms—Quarterly; first and fourth, or, a fesse, dancettée, sa., in the dexter chief a cross-crosslet, fitchée, of the first, for difference, for VAVASOUR; second and third, sa., a bend, or, between six fountains, for STOURTON.

Crest of VAVASOUR—A cock, gu., charged with a fountain.

Crest of STOURTON—A demi-friar, habited, ppr., and holding in his right hand a scourge, and in his left an open book.

Seat—Halsewood, Yorkshire.

VAVASOUR.

VAVASOUR, SIR HENRY - MERVYN, of Spaldington, co. York; b. 17 June, 1814; inherited as 3rd baronet, at the decease of his father, 4 January, 1838.

Lineage.

The very ancient family which this baronetcy now represents, derived its surname from the high office held in former times by its senior members, that of king's valvasour,* a dignity little inferior to the baronial.

SIR MAUGER LE VAVASOUR is mentioned in Domesday-Book, temp. WILLIAM THE CONQUEROR, as holding in chief of the Percys, Earls of Northumberland, considerable manors and estates in Stutton, Eselwood, Saxhall, &c. He was s. by his son,

SIR MAUGER LE VAVASOUR, whose son,

SIR WILLIAM LE VAVASOUR, Lord of Haslewood, was a judge in the reign of HENRY II., and one of the witnesses to the charter of the Abbey of Sawley, in Yorkshire, refounded by Matilda de Percy, Countess of Warwick. To this abbey he himself also made a considerable donation of land. He was s. by his son,

SIR ROBERT LE VAVASOUR, who was sheriff of Nottingham and Derby temp. HENRY III., and served the office for eight years successively. He had the custody of the honour of Peverel committed to his charge. He m. Julian, dau. of Gilbert de Ross, of Steeton, in Yorkshire, and had issue,

JOHN.

Maude, who was m. to Theobald, brother of Hubert, Archbishop of Canterbury, from whom descended the family of Butler, Dukes, Marquesses, and Earls of Ormond.

Sir Robert dying 38th HENRY III., was s. by his son,

SIR JOHN LE VAVASOUR, Lord of Haslewood; who m. Alice, dau. of Sir Robert Cockfield, and had two sons, viz.,

WILLIAM, (Sir) his successor.

Malgerus, who had the manors of Denton and Askwith, and was ancestor of the VAVASOURS OF WESTON, whose last male descendant, William Vavasour, Esq. of Weston Hall, d. 15 Jan. 1833, leaving the children of his only sister, Ellen, who was m. to the Rev. John Carter, his heirs.

* VALVASOUR. The Valvasours in Lombardy, whence they appear to have originally come, were inferior to the capitanei, which comprehended dukes, marquesses, counts, &c.; but they were invested, either by the sovereign or lord, with some territory of feudal command without any of those designations of nobility. So that Valvasor meant a powerful description of vassal, validus vassalus. "There are," says Bracton, "for the civil government of mankind, emperors, kings, and princes, magnates, or valvasors, and knights."

Sir John was s. by his eldest son,

SIR WILLIAM LE VAVASOUR, who had licence from KING EDWARD I. to castellate his mansion at Haslewood. He was subsequently in the wars of Scotland, and had summons to parliament as a BARON from 6 Feb. 1299, to 7 Jan. 1313. His lordship m. Nichola, dau. of Sir Stephen, and sister of Sir Richard Wallis, of Newton, and had three sons, viz.,

ROBERT, his successor

HENRY, of whom presently.

William, of Deneby (now Danby), in Yorkshire, ancestor to the family of Scroop, now represented by Simon-Thomas Scroop, Esq. of Danby. (See BURKE'S History of the Commons, vol. i. p. 450.)

Lord Vavasour gave to the Archbishop and chapter of York, from his quarry in Thevesdale, the stone of which the present noble edifice, the Minster, is built. He also made and founded St. Leonard's Chapel in his castle at Haslewood, which on the foregoing account was made extra-parochial by the archbishop. Lord Vavasour was s. by his eldest son,

SIR ROBERT VAVASOUR, who likewise served against the Scots, and had summons as a baron, 7th EDWARD II. He m., and left issue two daus.,

Elizabeth, m. to Sir Robert Strelley, Knt. of Nottinghamshire, in whose heirs it is supposed the barony still exists.

Ann.

Robert, Lord Vavasour, dying without male issue, was s. at Haslewood by his brother,

SIR HENRY VAVASOUR, Knt. of Haslewood, who m. and had a son,

Henry, (Sir) who m. Elizabeth, dau. of William Stapleton; and d. vita patris, leaving issue,

WILLIAM, his successor.

HENRY, successor to his brother.

Sir Henry le Vavasour was s. by his grandson,

SIR WILLIAM LE VAVASOUR; who d. without issue in 1387, and was s. by his brother,

SIR HENRY LE VAVASOUR, who m. Margaret, dau. of Sir William Skipwith, Knt., by whom he had a son and successor,

WILLIAM VAVASOUR, Esq., who m. Elizabeth, dau. of Sir John Langton, Knt., and had two sons,

HENRY, from whom derived the VAVASOURS of Haslewood.

JOHN, of whose descendants we have to treat.

The second son,

JOHN VAVASOUR, m. in 1431, Isabel, only dau. of Thomas de la Haye, and sole heir of her grandfather, Sir Peter de la Haye, of Spaldington. By her he acquired that property, and was ancestor of the Vavasours of Spaldington, in Yorkshire, who preserved a male succession until the decease of

THOMAS VAVASOUR, Esq. of Spaldington, in 1679, when his estates passed by settlement to his only dau. and heir,

MARY VAVASOUR, who m. Sir Ralph Assheton, Bart. of Middleton, in Lancashire; and dying in 1694, had three daus. and co-heirs, viz.,

ANNE, m. to Humphrey Trafford, Esq. of Trafford.

MARY, m. to Sir Nathaniel Curzon, Bart.

CATHERINE, m. to Thomas Lister, Esq. of Arncliffe-biggins.

The eldest dau.,

CATHERINE ASSHETON, wife of Humphrey Trafford, Esq. of Trafford, inherited her mother's estate of Spaldington, and had, with other issue who d. s. p., a dau.,

ELIZABETH TRAFFORD, who succeeded to Spaldington, m. Mail Yates, Esq. of Mail, in Lancashire; and dying in 1788, left three daus.; of whom the eldest,

ANNE-ASSHETON YATES, of Spaldington, m. Henry Nooth, Esq., lieut.-col. 4th dragoon-guards, (2nd son of Henry Nooth,* Esq., by Bridget, his wife, eldest dau. and co-heir of John Mervyn, Esq. of Dorsetshire.) Col. Nooth, upon his marriage with Miss Yates, assumed, by sign-manual, dated 26 March, 1791, the surname and arms of

* Eldest son of the Rev. Mr. Nooth, prebendary of Wells.

VAVASOUR, and was created the first Baronet of the United Kingdom, 20 March, 1801. Sir Henry d. 15 March, 1813, leaving an only surviving child,

II. SIR HENRY-MAGHULL-MERVIN, lieut.-gen. in the army; b. 19 July, 1768; m. 14 July, 1807, Anne, eldest dau. of William Vavasour,* Esq., LL.D. of Dublin, and had issue, Seats—Spaldington and Melbourne Hall, both in the co. York.

VENTRY.

VENTRY, BARON, (Thomas-Townsend-Aremberg Mullins,) of Ventry, co. Kerry, in the peerage of Ireland; and a baronet; b. in Jan. 1786; m. in 1821, Eliza, 2nd dau. of Sir John Blake, Bart. of Menlo, and has had issue, DAYROLLES-BLAKENEY, b. in 1828.

Edward, d. 3 Jan. 1836.

A son, b. in 1832.

Christabella.

His lordship s. as 3rd baron, at the decease of his uncle, 5 Oct. 1827.

Lineage.

This family derives from a common ancestor with that of Molyneux, Earls of Sefton; viz.,

SIR RICHARD MOLYNEUX, Knt. of Sefton, co. Lancaster, from whom descended

WILLIAM MOLYNEUX, or MULLINS, of Burnham, co. Norfolk, whose son,

FREDERICK-WILLIAM MULLINS, Esq., settled in Ireland, and obtained considerable grants in the province of Ulster, which he sold, and purchased estates in the co. of Kerry. Mr. Mullins sat in two successive parliaments in the reign of KING WILLIAM. He m. Jane, dau. and co-heiress of the Very Reverend Dean Evelyn, and was s. by his grandson,

WILLIAM MULLINS, Esq. of Burnham, co.  Adelaide-Louisa.

His lordship s. as 5th baron, at the decease of his father, 18 Nov. 1835, and assumed, by sign-manual, 14 Oct. 1837, in compliance with the will of the late Countess Bulkeley,* the surname and arms of WARREN only.

Lineage.

This family descends from the Lords of Vernon, in the Duchy of Normandy. Their common ancestor,

WILLIAM DE VERNON, assumed that surname from the town and district of Vernon, of which he was proprietor in 1052. This William had two sons,

RICHARD DE VERNON, } who both came into England and } with WILLIAM THE CON-
 WALTER DE VERNON, } QUEROR. The elder,

RICHARD, Lord of Vernon, was one of the barons created by Hugh Lupus, Earl of the County Palatine of Chester, by the title of Baron of Shipbroke. This Richard, who, according to Domesday-Book, was a considerable landed proprietor, was s. at his decease by his eldest son,

WILLIAM DE VERNON, whose great-grandson,

RICHARD DE VERNON, had a grant, in the 37th of HENRY III., of the castle and manor of Pecke; and dying before his father, left four sons, whereof

WARINE, who s. his grandfather as Baron of Shipbroke, m. Auda, dau. and co-heir of William Malbank, Baron of Wich-Malbank, now Namptwick, co. Chester, with whom he acquired several manors in that shire, and by whom he had two sons, WARINE and Ralph. He was s. by the elder,

WARINE, Baron of Shipbroke, who m. Margaret, dau. of Ralph de Andeville, and relict of Hugh de Altaribus, by whom he had a son, WARINE, (who d. s. p.) and three daus., his co-heirs, viz.,

MARGERY, m. to Richard de Wilbraham.
 EDITH, m. to Sir William Stafford, Knt.
 ROHESIA, m. to John Littlebury.

These ladies, after prolonged litigation with their uncle, RALPH, were obliged to surrender to him a moiety of their patrimony. The son of this Ralph, Sir Ralph de Vernon, is said to have lived to the age of 150, and thence was generally called the OLD LIVER.

* Lady Bulkeley was only child of Sir George Warren, K.B. of Poynton, Cheshire.

And

SIR WILLIAM DE VERNON, Knt. of Harlaston, in the co. of Stafford (the 3rd son), was chief-justice of Chester in the reign of HENRY III. He m. Alice, dau. and co-heiress of William de Avenall, of Haddon, co. Derby, and was s. by his son,

RICHARD DE VERNON, Lord of Haddon in right of his mother. He m. Margaret, daughter of Robert, Baron of Stockport, and acquired by her the manor of Appleby-Parva, and the advowson of Appleby-Magna, in Leicestershire. His grandson,

SIR RICHARD DE VERNON, m. Maud, dau. and co-heir of William de Camville, BARON CAMVILLE, of Clifton, (see BURKE'S Extinct Peerage,) and was s. by his son,

WILLIAM VERNON, living in 1330, who m. Benedicta, sister and heir of Fulk Pembruge, Knt. of Tonge Castle, in Shropshire, and was s. by his son,

SIR RICHARD VERNON, who was speaker of the parliament held at Leicester, 4th HENRY VI., and was constituted, by patent, treasurer of Calais. He m. Janette, dau. and heir of Sir Rees ap Griffith, Knt.; and dying in 1452, was s. by his son,

SIR WILLIAM VERNON, Knt., treasurer of Calais and constable of England for life. Sir William was the last person who so held the high and important office of constable. Such a grant being considered too influential for a subject, the constableness has ever since been conferred pro hac vice. He m. Margaret, dau. of William Swynfen, and co-heiress of Sir Robert Pype, Knt.; and dying in 1467, was s. by his eldest son,

SIR HENRY VERNON, Lord of Haddon, &c. &c. This gentleman was governor and treasurer to Prince Arthur, eldest son and heir-apparent of KING HENRY VII.; and according to tradition, the prince spent much of his time with Sir Henry at Haddon, where one of the apartments was called the prince's chamber. Sir Henry m. Anne, dau. of John, 2nd Earl of Shrewsbury, by whom he had, (with three daughters and two younger sons,)

RICHARD, (Sir) who inherited Haddon; and marrying Margaret, dau. of Sir Robert Dymoke, Knt., left at his decease, in 1516,

His lordship s. to the Irish honours, and Barony of Verulam, in England, with the baronetcy, at the decease of his father, 1 Jan. 1809; inherited the Scottish dignity from his maternal cousin, Anna-Maria, Baroness Forrester, as 8th baron, in 1808; and obtained the earldom and viscounty of the United Kingdom by creation, 24 November, 1815. Lord Verulam is lord-lieutenant of the county of Herts.

Lineage.

The surname of Grimston was taken from GRIMSTON, co. York, where the founder in England of this family,

SYLVESTER DE GRIMSTON, settled at the time of the Conquest. He was standard-bearer at the battle of Hastings, and the year following was appointed chamberlain to the new monarch, when he did homage for Grimston, Hoxton, Tonsted, and other lands which he held of Lord Roos, as of his honour of Roos, in Holderness. From Sylvester de Grimston lineally descended

WILLIAM DE GRIMSTON, who m. Armatrude, dau. of Sir John Rysam, Knt., and had three sons,

THOMAS, his heir, of Grimston, ancestor of the present CHARLES GRIMSTON, Esq. of Grimston Garth, in Yorkshire, (see BURKE'S Commoners, vol. iii. p. 69.)

ROBERT, of whom presently.

John, dean of Windsor in 1418.

ROBERT DE GRIMSTON, the second son, marrying the dau. of Sir Anthony Spelman, removed to the estates obtained through his wife in Suffolk, (lands at Risehangles and Ipswich,) in which he was s. by his son,

EDWARD GRIMSTON, Esq., who m. 1st, Phillippa, dau. of John, Lord Tiptoft, sister and co-heiress of John, Earl of Worcester, and widow of Thomas, Lord Roos, but had no issue. He m. 2ndly, Mary, dau. of William Drury, Esq. of Rongham, co. Suffolk, and had four sons and three daus., by the eldest of whom,

EDWARD GRIMSTON, Esq., he was succeeded. This gentleman's grandson,

SIR EDWARD GRIMSTON, Knt., served in several parliaments for the borough of Ipswich in the reign of ELIZABETH, was called to the privy-council of her majesty, and continued comptroller of Calais, an office to which he was appointed in 1552 by KING EDWARD VI. In the beginning of 1558, Calais being taken by the Duke of Guise, Sir Edward Grimston, the comptroller, was amongst the chief prisoners, and was closely confined in the Bastille; from which, however, he effected his escape in two years afterwards, by cutting out one of the window bars with a file and letting himself down by a rope conveyed to him by his servant, with whom he changed clothes. Sir Edward lived to the advanced age of ninety-eight, and was s. at his decease by his son,

EDWARD GRIMSTON, Esq. of Bradfield, in Essex, M.P. for the borough of Eye in the 31st ELIZABETH. This gentleman m. Joan, dau. and co-heiress of Thomas Risby, Esq. of Lavenham, in Suffolk, and grandau. maternally, of John Harbottle, Esq. of Crosfield, in the same county, by whom he had two sons, and was s. in 1610, by the elder,

I. SIR HARBOTTLE GRIMSTON, Knt. of Bradfield, who was created a Baronet, 25 Nov. 1612. This gentleman served the office of sheriff of Essex in 1614, and represented that county in three parliaments during the reign of CHARLES I. Sir Harbottle m. Elizabeth, dau. of Ralph Coppinger, Esq. of Stoke, in Kent, by whom he had five sons, and was s. by the 2nd, but eldest surviving,

II. SIR HARBOTTLE. This gentleman, who was a lawyer, and member of parliament for Colchester in the beginning of KING CHARLES I.'s reign, took part against the court as long as he could constitutionally do so; but after the murder of the king (from whose mock trial until the perpetration of that foul deed Sir Harbottle was kept in close confinement) he lived in retirement till the restoration of the monarchy, when he was chosen SPEAKER of the House of Commons, 25 April, 1660, which accomplished that desirable event. He was afterwards called to the privy-council, and constituted master of the Rolls and recorder of Harwich. Sir Harbottle m. 1st, Mary, dau. of Sir George Croke, Knt., one of the justices of the court of Common Pleas, by whom he had six sons, of which five pre-deceased himself, and two daus., viz.,

Mary, m. to Sir Capel Luckyn, Bart. of Messing Hall, and had, with other issue,

SIR WILLIAM LUCKYN, Bart., who m. Mary, dau. of Mr. Alderman Sherrington, of London, and had, inter alios, SIR HARBOTTLE LUCKYN, Bart.

WILLIAM LUCKYN, of whom presently, as heir to his great-uncle, Sir Samuel Grimston.

Elizabeth, m. to Sir George-Grubham How, Bart. of Cold Berwick, Wilts.

He m. 2ndly, Anne, eldest dau. and eventually heiress of Sir Nathaniel Bacon, K.B. of Culford Hall, Suffolk, and widow of Sir Thomas Meautys, by whom he had no surviving issue. Sir Harbottle d. at the advanced age of eighty-two, in 1683, and was s. by his only surviving son,

III. SIR SAMUEL, M.P. for St. Albans in the reigns of KING CHARLES II. and KING WILLIAM, who m. 1st, Elizabeth, eldest dau. of Heneage, Earl of Nottingham, lord-high-chancellor of England, by whom he had an only dau., Elizabeth, who m. William, 2nd Marquess of Halifax. Sir Samuel m. 2ndly, Anne, youngest dau. of John, 2nd Earl of Thanet; but left no male issue at his decease, in 1700, when the baronetcy expired, while his large estates devolved by bequest upon his great-nephew,

WILLIAM LUCKYN, Esq., M.P. for St. Albans, who assumed the surname of GRIMSTON, and was elevated to the peerage of Ireland, 29 May, 1719, by the titles of Baron Dunboyne and Viscount Grimston. His lordship, upon the decease of his elder brother, Sir Harbottle Luckyn, in 1736, unmarried, inherited the baronetcy of his family, as 5th baronet, (a dignity conferred, 2 March, 1628, upon Sir William Luckyn, Knt. of Little Waltham, in Essex.) The viscount m. Jane, dau. of James Cooke, Esq. of the city of London, and had issue,

Samuel, who m. in 1730, Mary, dau. and heir of Henry Lovell, Esq.; but d. s. p. His widow wedded 2ndly, in 1740, William Wildman, 2nd Viscount Barrington.
JAMES, heir to his father.
Harbottle, who took the name of LUCKYN in 1750.
George, m. twice.
William, b. in 1719.
Jane, m. to Thomas Gape, Esq. of St. Albans.
Frances.

His lordship dying in 1765, was s. by his eldest surviving son,

JAMES, 2nd viscount, b. 9 Oct. 1711. This nobleman m. Mary, dau. of John Askell Bucknall, Esq. of Oxney, co. Hertford, and had issue,

JAMES-BUCKNALL, his successor.
William, who assumed the surname and arms of BUCKNALL in compliance with the testamentary injunction of his maternal uncle; and dying in 1814, left by Sophia, dau. and co-heiress of Richard Hoare, Esq. of Boreham, co. Essex, an only surviving dau., Sophia-Askell, m. 22 Nov. 1804, to the Hon. Berkeley Paget, brother of Henry-William, present Marquess of Anglesey.
Harbottle, in holy orders, D.D., who assumed the surname of BUCKNALL; and d. 30 Jan. 1823.
Jane, m. to Thomas Estcourt, Esq., and was mother of the present Thomas Grimston Bucknall Estcourt, Esq., M.P. of Estcourt.
Mary, m. 3 April, 1777, to William Hale, Esq. of King's Walden, and was mother of the present William Hale, Esq. of King's Walden.
Susannah-Askell, m. 15 July, 1781, to John Warde, Esq. of Squerries.
Frances-Cooke.
Charlotte-Johanna, d. unm. 19 Jan. 1837.

His lordship d. in 1773, and was s. by his eldest son,

JAMES-BUCKNALL, 3rd viscount, b. 9 May, 1747; m. 28 July, 1774, Henrietta, only dau. and heiress of Edward Walter, Esq. of Stalbridge, co. Dorset, (by Harriet, 2nd dau. of George Forrester, 5th Baron Forrester, in the peerage of Scotland,) by whom he had issue,

- I. JAMES-WALTER, the present earl.
- II. Harriet.
- III. Charlotte, d. unm. 21 Jan. 1831.

His lordship was enrolled amongst the peers of England, as Baron Verulam, of Gorhambury, co. Herts, 9 July, 1790. He d. 1 Jan. 1809.

Barony of Forrester,

TO WHICH THE EARL OF VERULAM HAS SUCCEEDED.

SIR ADAM FORRESTER, a wealthy burgess of Edinburgh, living temp. DAVID II. and ROBERT II., obtained charters from the crown, and was s. by his son,

SIR JOHN FORRESTER, of Corstorphin, from whom we pass to his lineal descendant,

GEORGE FORRESTER, of Corstorphin, who was created a Baronet in 1625, and a peer of Scotland, by patent, dated 22 July, 1633, as BARON FORRESTER, of Corstorphin. His lordship m. Christian, dau. of Sir William Livingstone, of Kilsyth, by whom he had issue, Helen, m. to William, 9th Lord Ross.

Margaret, m. to John Schaw, of Sornbeg.

Joanna, m. to James, eldest son of Lieut.-Gen. William Baillie, of Torwood Head.
Lillias, m. to William, 2nd son of the said Lieut.-Gen. Baillie.

Lord Forrester having no male issue, his lordship and General Baillie made a settlement of their respective estates on JAMES BAILLIE, and the issue male of his marriage with JOANNA FORRESTER; which failing, on WILLIAM BAILLIE, and the issue male of his marriage with Lillias Forrester; which failing, to their respective heirs general. Lord Forrester also resigned his peerage into the king's hands, and obtained a new charter, with the former precedency, to himself for his life; and after his decease, to the Baillies, as the estates had been settled. His lordship d. in 1654, and was s. in conformity with the renewed charter, by his son-in-law,

JAMES BAILLIE, of Torwoodhead, who had by his 1st wife an only son, WILLIAM, who d. in infancy. He m. 2ndly, Lady JEAN RUTHVEN, dau. of Patrick, Earl of Forth and Brentford, by whom he had three sons and two daus., who all assumed the name of Ruthven. This nobleman was murdered in his garden at Corstorphin, 26 Aug. 1679, with his own sword, by Christian Hamilton, wife of James Nimmo, merchant, and dau. of James Hamilton, of Grange, grandson of the 1st Lord Forrester. She was convicted of the crime and sentenced to death, but escaped out of Edinburgh prison, 29 September in the same year, but was taken the next day, and beheaded at the cross of Edinburgh, 12 Nov. following. His lordship was s. by his brother,

WILLIAM BAILLIE, as 3rd Lord Forrester, but he never assumed the title. He m. as stated above, Lillias, dau. of the 1st Lord Forrester; and dying in 1681, his son, Lalagé-Letitia-Caroline.

This gallant and highly distinguished officer is master-general of the ordnance, lieutenant-general in the army, and colonel of the 12th dragoons. He was created a BARONET, 19 Jan. 1828.

Lineage.

The family of Vivian is of great antiquity in the co. of Cornwall. Mr. Whitaker, in his Treatise on the Ancient Cathedral of Cornwall, claims for them a Roman descent, and in support of his opinion cites a passage from the Annals of Tacitus, in which mention is made of Vivianus Annus, a commander in the Roman legion, and son-in-law of Corbulo, who had been a leader in the imperial armies in Gaul and Germany. Dr. Borlase and others consider the name Celtic, and that the family is of Celtic origin. Be this as it may, whether descended from the Romans or the Celts, the Vivians of Cornwall are indisputably to be considered amongst the oldest inhabitants of the county. The family before us is descended from the branch that resided at Trenoweth, in the parish of St. Columb, in the reign of HENRY VII., and after that at Trewan, in the same parish. These estates, with Withiel and other property in the co. of Cornwall, passed to the Trelowarren family in the reign of WILLIAM III., by the marriage of the heiress, Mary Vivian, with Sir Richard Vyvyan, Bart. of Trelowarren.

THOMAS VIVIAN, (2nd son of John Vivian, of Trewan,* and Mary Cavell, his wife,) b. in the year 1617, was grandfather of THOMAS VIVIAN, of Camprigney, who m. Lucy Glynn, and had a son,

The REV. THOMAS VIVIAN, of Cornwood, Devon, who m. in 1747, Mary, dau. of John Hussey, Esq. of Oakhampton, barrister-at-law, and had issue,

JOHN, his heir.

Thomas, d. unm. 1773.

Richard, in holy orders, rector of Bushey, Herts; m. Miss Emmet; and d. in 1825, leaving four sons and two daughters.

William-Henry, in holy orders, rector of Charles, co. Devon; m. Miss Wingrove, but had no issue.

Mr. Vivian dying in 1793, was s. by his eldest surviving son,

JOHN VIVIAN, Esq. of Truro, vice-warden of the stannaries; who m. 24 Aug. 1774, Betsey, only surviving child of the Rev. Richard Cranch; and dying 7 Dec. 1826, left

RICHARD-HUSSEY, created a Baronet, as above.

John-Henry, of Singleton, near Swansea, Glamorgan-shire, major in the royal Stannary artillery, M.P. for Swansea; b. 9 Aug. 1785; m. 30 Oct. 1816, Sarah, eldest dau. of Arthur Jones, Esq. of the Priory, Reigate, Surrey, and has issue,

Henry-Hussey, b. 6 July, 1821.

William-Graham, b. 25 Nov. 1827.

Sir William s. as 8th baronet, at the decease of his father, in Oct. 1785.

Lineage.

The Wakes are mentioned by Brompton as in the immediate train of the CONQUEROR; but it is the opinion of antiquaries that the individual of the name of Wake recorded in the roll of Battle Abbey was one of those who, being weary of Harold's rule, fled into Normandy, and invited Duke WILLIAM; hence the family is supposed to have been of importance prior to the Conquest. From

BALDWIN, LORD WAKE, founder of the Abbey of Brun, who d. in 1156, descended, through a long line of eminent ancestors,

SIR THOMAS WAKE, a gallant knight who fought with the Black Prince, and distinguished himself particularly at the battle of Najaru. He was sheriff of Northamptonshire for five successive years in the reign of EDWARD III. By Alice, his wife, dau. and co-heir of Sir John Pateshull, Knt. of Bletso, Bedfordshire, he had a son and heir,

SIR THOMAS WAKE, Knt., who m. Maud, dau. of Sir Thomas Pigot, Knt., and was s. by his son,

SIR THOMAS WAKE, Knt. of Blyseworth, sheriff of Northamptonshire in 2nd RICHARD II. He m. Margaret, dau. and co-heir of Sir John Philpot, Knt. of Kent, and was s. by his son,

SIR THOMAS WAKE, Knt., M.P., gentleman of the bed-chamber, and a member of the privy-council to KING EDWARD IV. This gentleman was so extensive a landed proprietor in the counties of Somerset, Northampton, Kent, and the principality of Wales, that he acquired the designation of "The Great Wake." He m. Agnes, dau. and heiress of Sir Thomas Lovell, Knt., and was s. by his son,

ROGER WAKE, Esq. of Blysworth, who was sheriff of Northamptonshire in the 2nd RICHARD III.; and having joined that monarch at the battle of Bosworth was attainted by the parliament of HENRY VII., but afterwards obtained pardon and restitution of his lands. He m. Elizabeth, dau. of Sir William Catesby, of Ashby-Legers, in Northamptonshire, and was s. by his eldest surviving son,

RICHARD WAKE, Esq., who m. 1st, Dorothy, dau. of Sir John Dive, Knt. of Bromham, Bedfordshire; and 2ndly, Margaret, dau. of Thomas Grey, Marquess of Dorset, and was s. by his eldest son, WILLIAM, who s. as 7th bart.

Samuel, who assumed the surname of JONES.
Isaac.

* This gentleman, a cavalier captain during the civil war, was convicted at Exeter of high-treason, and would have forfeited his life, but that in the judge before whom he was tried he had the fortune to find an old Westminster school-fellow, for whom he had, when they were boys, borne the brunt of Dr. Busby's wrath, and suffered flagellation accordingly. The story is told in the "Spectator," No. 313.

Lineage.

The surname of this family, derived from a place in the co. Northampton, was anciently written Walgrave; and we find, so far back as the year 1205, John de Walgrave serving the office of sheriff of London. The great-great-grandson of this eminent citizen,

SIR RICHARD WALGRAVE, Knt. of Smallbridge, co. Suffolk, having represented that shire in parliament in the reigns of EDWARD III. and RICHARD II., was chosen speaker of the House of Commons in the latter, an office which he was obliged to serve by the command of the king, although entreating to be excused. He d. in 1401, and was s. by his son, (by his wife, Joan, dau. and heiress of Silvester, of Bruers, in Suffolk.)

SIR RICHARD WALGRAVE, Knt., who succeeding to the inheritance of his mother, was styled Lord of Bruers and Silvesters; which Sir Richard, with Lord Clinton, Sir John Howard, and Lord Falconbridge, was appointed, in 1402, to keep the seas, and landing 10,000 men in Brittany, won the town of Conquet with the isle of Rhée. He m. Jane, dau. and heiress of Sir Thomas Montechensy, of Edwardstown, co. Suffolk; and dying in 1436, was s. by his son,

SIR WILLIAM WALGRAVE, Knt., whose son,

SIR THOMAS WALGRAVE, received the honour of knighthood for his valour at Towton Field, 20 March, 1461, the day of the battle. Sir Thomas m. Elizabeth, eldest dau. and co-heiress of Sir John Fray, Knt., lord-chief-baron of the Exchequer, by whom he had, with three daus., three sons,

WILLIAM, his successor.

EDWARD, ancestor of the present family.

Richard.

Sir Thomas d. in 1500, and was s. by his eldest son; while the second,

EDWARD WALDEGRAVE, Esq., settled at Boreley, in Essex. This gentleman m. Elizabeth, dau. and co-heiress of John Cheyney, Esq. of the co. of Devon; and dying in 1501, was s. by his only son,

JOHN WALDEGRAVE, Esq., who m. Lora, dau. of Sir John Rochester; and dying 6 Oct. 1543, was s. by his eldest son,

EDWARD WALDEGRAVE, Esq. This gentleman had a grant to himself and his heirs of the manor and rectory of West Haddon, co. Northampton, in the first year of EDWARD VI.; and in the seventh year of the same reign, being a principal officer in the household of the LADY MARY, (afterwards queen,) he incurred the king's displeasure by refusing to forbid the celebration of mass in her house, and, together with Sir Robert Rochester, his uncle, and Sir Francis Englefield, the two other principal officers, who had offended on the same account, was first committed to the Fleet, 29 Aug., and two days afterwards, sent to the Tower. Sir Edward remained in custody, although permitted to remove to his own house in consequence of indisposition, until the accession of his royal mistress to the throne, when he was recompensed by being sworn of the privy-council, constituted master of the great wardrobe, and receiving a grant of the manor of Chewton, in Somersetshire. Sir Edward was subsequently a man of great power during the reign of MARY, but after her decease he was divested of his employments and committed to the Tower by ELIZABETH, where he d. 1 Sept. 1651, leaving two sons and three daus. by his wife, Frances, dau. of Sir Edward Nevil, Knt., and was s. by the elder,

WALLACE OF CRAIGIE.

WALLACE-DUNLOP, SIR JOHN-ALEXANDER, of Craigie, co. Ayr; s. as 7th baronet, upon the demise of his father, and m. Janet, dau. of William Rodger, Esq. This gentleman is a lieut.-general in the army: his gallant conduct at the battle of Busaco, in 1810, as lieut.-colonel of the 88th foot, in leading his regiment to the attack, received the thanks of the Duke of Wellington in his grace's despatches.

Lineage.

The family of Wallace which the baronetcy represents is the parent stock whence the renowned Sir William Wallace descended, and it has been established in Scotland since the reign of KING DAVID, for we find its founder, Eimerus Galleius, a subscribing witness to that monarch's foundation-charter of the abbey of Kelso.

RICHARD WALENSE (supposed to be the son of Eimerus) obtained the extensive estate of Riccarton, which was possessed by his descendants as military tenants of the Stewarts until that family ascended the throne, when the Wallaces, no longer subfeudal vassals, became tenants to the crown in capite. From this Richard (the common progenitor of all the numerous families of Wallace) immediately descended

ADAM WALLACE, of Riccarton, living about the middle of the 12th century, who left two sons,

RICHARD, his successor.

Malcolm, Laird of Ellerslie, who m. Jean, dau. of Sir Ronald Crawford, of Crosbie, sheriff of Ayr, and was father of the celebrated SIR WILLIAM WALLACE, of Ellerslie, the victorious opponent of the English monarch, EDWARD I., and the patriotic upholder of the freedom of Scotland. This illustrious hero, who so often braved the dangers of the battle-field and bade defiance to his own and his country's foes, fell at length the victim of perfidy beneath the axe of the foreigner, 23 Aug. 1305, having been betrayed into the hands of his enemies by one of his associates, Sir John Monteith. Sir William Wallace leaving no legitimate issue, (he had a natural dau., who m. Sir William Baillie, of Hoprig,) his estate of Ellerslie returned to the elder branch of Riccarton, since of Craigie, and went off again in patrimony to another younger branch of the family about the beginning of the reign of KING ROBERT III., whose descendants continued a separate branch until 1678, when the estate again reverted to the original stock. Mrs. Scott, mother of the present Duchess of Portland and of Viscountess Canning, was supposed to be the last representative in the direct line of this immortal hero. His collateral descendant is the present ROBERT WALLACE, Esq. of Kelly, in Ayrshire, M.P. for Greenock. (See BURKE'S Commoners, vol. iii. p. 274.)

Adam Wallace was s. at his decease by his elder son,

SIR RICHARD WALLACE, of Riccarton, whose grandson,

JOHN WALLACE, of Riccarton, m. Margaret, only dau. and heiress of Sir John Lindsay, of Craigie, and was s. by his eldest son,

ADAM WALLACE, Laird of Craigie, from whom lineally descended, through a long line of eminent persons,

JOHN WALLACE, Esq. of Craigie, who m. Margaret Maxwell, dau. of the Earl of Moreton, and sister of the Earl of Nithsdale, by whom he had five sons, and was s. by the eldest,

I. HEW WALLACE, Esq. of Craigie, who was created a Baronet of Nova Scotia, with remainder to heirs general, in 1669. Sir Hew m. Esther Ker, daughter of the Laird of Littledean; but leaving no issue at his decease, the title devolved upon his grandnephew,

II. SIR THOMAS. This gentleman m. Eupham, dau. of William Gemmill, Esq. of Templeland, by whom he had two sons and four daus. Sir Thomas, who filled the high judicial office of lord-justice-clerk, was s. at his decease by his elder son,

III. SIR WILLIAM, who m. Miss Menzies, dau. of Menzies, of Pitfoddels; but leaving an only dau. at his decease, the baronetcy devolved upon his brother,

IV. SIR THOMAS. This gentleman m. Rachael, dau. of Sir Hew Wallace, of Wolmet, and was s. by his eldest son,

V. SIR THOMAS, who m. Eleanor, dau. of Colonel Agnew, of Lochryan, by whom he had a son, a captain in the guards (who pre-deceased him), and an only dau., his heiress,

FRANCES-ANNE WALLACE, who m. John Dunlop, Esq. of Dunlop, and had,

THOMAS, who s. his grandfather.

Andrew, of Dunlop, a brigadier-gen. in the army; d. in 1804.

James, a lieut.-gen. in the army, who distinguished himself under the Duke of Wellington in the Peninsular war. He inherited the estate of Dunlop, in Ayrshire, and d. in 1832, leaving issue. The eldest son was the late SIR JOHN DUNLOP, Bart. of that ilk. (See BURKE'S Commoners.)

John, who m. his cousin, Magdalene, dau. of Robert Dunlop, Esq., and has issue.

Anthony, of the royal navy; m. Ann, dau. of Alexander Cunningham, Esq.

Agnes-Eleanora, m. to Joseph Elias Pirochon, Esq. of London.

Susan, m. to James Henry, Esq.

Frances, m. to Robert Vans Agnew, Esq. of Barnbaroch.

Rachel, m. to Robert Glasgow, Esq. of Mountgreenan. Keith.

The eldest son,

VI. SIR THOMAS DUNLOP, of Craigie, assumed the additional surname and arms of WALLACE. He m. twice, and had by his 1st wife, Eglinton, dau. of Sir William Maxwell, Bart. of Montreith, a son, JOHN-ALEXANDER, his heir, present baronet.

Creation—1669.

Seat—Craigie, Ayrshire.

Lineage.

The family of Waller derives from

ALURED DE WALLER, of Newark, co. Nottingham, who d. in 1183, (see Domesday-Book,) and from whom lineally descended

DAVID DE WALLER, master of the Rolls to KING EDWARD III. for thirty years. This David d. issueless; but from his only brother,

HENRY WALLER, sprang

JOHN WALLER, of Groombridge, co. Kent, who m. the dau. and heiress of Landsdall, of Landsdall, Sussex, and was father of

RICHARD WALLER, a gallant participator in the glories of Agincourt, who, in honour of having made prisoner the Duke of Orleans in that memorable conflict, obtained from HENRY V. the addition to his crest of a shield of the arms of the duke, pendant from the sinister side of a walnut tree, which his descendants have ever since borne. The French prince having been brought to England, was confined at Mr. Waller's seat at Groombridge. The grandson and successor of this gentleman,

JOHN WALLER, Esq. of Groombridge, m. Anne, dau. of William Whetenhall, Esq.; and dying in 1517, left two sons,

WILLIAM, his successor.

John, ancestor of the Wallers of Beaconsfield, co. Bucks; of which family was Edmund Waller, the poet, so celebrated for his abortive suit to Lady Dorothy Sydney, under the name of Sacharissa. The great-grandson of the poet is the present

HARRY-EDMUND WALLER, Esq. of Farmington and Hall Barn, who m. in 1826, Caroline-Elizabeth, dau. of John Larking Esq. of Clare House, Kent, and has issue.

WILLIAM WALLER, Esq. of Groombridge, the elder son, was s. by his grandson,

SIR WALTER WALLER, Knt. of Groombridge, who left two sons by his 2nd wife, Mary, dau. of Richard Hardress, Esq., viz.,

GEORGE, whose son and heir, Sir Hardress Waller, was a major-general in the parliament's army;

And

SIR THOMAS WALLER, Knt., lieutenant of Dover Castle in the reign of KING JAMES I., who m. Margaret, dau. of Lord Dacre, and had a son,

SIR WILLIAM WALLER, Knt., so celebrated as commander-in-chief of the parliament's forces in the west. The youngest son of this eminent person,

THOMAS WALLER, Esq., was grandfather of

THOMAS WALLER, Esq. of South Lambeth, who d. in 1731, leaving an only son, James, who d. without issue in 1802, and a daughter,

ANNE WALLER, who m. 1st, John Allen, Esq. of London, by whom she had no issue; and 2ndly, Jonathan Wathen, Esq. of East Acton, Middlesex, by whom she had an only child,

MARY WATHEN, who m. Joshua Phipps, Esq., 2nd son of Robert Phipps, Esq. of Walthamstow, co. Essex, and left at her decease an only son and dau., viz.,

JONATHAN-WATHEN, who, as sole heir to both his grandmother and uncle, James Waller, assumed, by sign-manual, in 1814, the surname and arms of Waller only, and was created a Baronet, as above.

Mary, m. to Thomas Blunt, of Chelsea.

Creation—27 Dec. 1814.

Arms—Sa., three walnut-leaves, or, between two bendlets, ar.

Crest—On a mount, vert, a walnut-tree, ppr., on the sinister side an escutcheon, pendant, charged with the arms of France, with a label of three points, ar.

Charles, b. 26 Aug. 1837.

Anna.

Fanny.

This gentleman, who is deputy-lieut. of the cos. Hereford and Radnor, was created a Baronet, 30th Sept. 1831, in consideration of his being the eldest co-heir and representative of Gen. Sir Thomas Morgan, Bart., whose title (extinct since 1768) was conferred upon him, in 1660, as a reward for his great military services, and for his zeal in forwarding the Restoration.

Lineage.

The origin of the family of Walsham cannot be clearly traced, although there is little doubt that its ancestry derived their surname from one of the two parishes of Walsham in Norfolk, and most probably from that of South Walsham, in the hundred of Walsham, where they appear to have held, from a remote period, large possessions of the abbey of St. Benedict of Hulme. Their descent has been however deduced by some genealogists from a cadet of the Uffords, Earls of Suffolk, whose armorial bearings do not fundamentally differ from their own, and of whose great estates the manor of Walsham le Willows form a part; but the presumptive evidence of such descent seems sufficiently shaken by the undoubted fact that the name of Walsham occurs on record full seventy years before Robert de Peyton first assumed the designation and founded the family of UFFORD.

JOHN WALSHAM, Esq., a cadet of the Walshams of Walsham, was found to be possessed of a good estate in the immediate neighbourhood of Chester, which soon after devolved on his dau. and heir,

JOAN WALSHAM, by whom it was conveyed in marriage to her kinsman,

RICHARD WALSHAM, Esq., (nephew of Richard Walsham, elected prior of St. Leonard in 1416, and great-nephew of Richard Walsham, abbot of St. Benedict,) who migrated from Norfolk to the borders of Wales in 1424, and was father of

JOHN WALSHAM, Esq. of Presteigne, who obtained considerable possessions in Radnorshire by his marriage with Mary, granddaughter and co-heiress of Sir Jenkin Hervey, Knt. of Llanvair, co. Montgomery, and by her left at his decease, in 1473, a son and successor,

RICHARD WALSHAM, Esq. of Presteigne, who m. Eleanor Powell, and was s. in 1496, by his only son,

JOHN WALSHAM, Esq. of Presteigne, who m. Jane, dau. and co-heiress of Thomas Chapman, Esq. of Discoed, a Herefordshire justice of the peace; and dying in 1524, left a son and successor,

JOHN WALSHAM, Esq. of Presteigne, who m. Anne Williams, and was s. in 1557, by his eldest son,

JOHN WALSHAM, Esq. of Presteigne, m. Anne, dau. of Peter Lloyd, Esq. of Boultribroke, sheriff of the county of Radnor in 1548 and 1557; and dying in 1599, was s. by his eldest son,

JOHN WALSHAM, Esq. of Presteigne, who having m. Barbara, dau. and heiress of Francis Knill, Esq. of Knill Court, co. Hereford, (the lineal descendant of Sir John de Knill, Knt., Lord of Knill in the 12th century,) became possessed of that ancient inheritance, in which he was s. in 1639, by his eldest son,

JOHN WALSHAM, Esq. of Knill Court, who was summoned, in 1643, to the knightly service for the manor of Knill, by attending the king in his wars. He m. Margaret, dau. of Roger Lyde, Esq. of Lyde's Court, co. Hereford; and dying in 1648, was s. by his eldest son,

JOHN WALSHAM, Esq. of Knill Court, sheriff of the county of Radnor in 1653. This gentleman m. Joanna, dau. of John Jones, Esq. of Llandetty Court, co. Brecon, and sister of Colonel Jenkin Jones, one of the judges of KING CHARLES I., and was succeeded in 1667 by his only son,

JOHN WALSHAM, Esq. of Knill Court, sheriff of the county of Radnor in 1670. He m. 1st, Elizabeth, dau. of Sir William Lygon, Knt. of Madresfield Court, (ancestor of the Earls of Beauchamp,) but by her had no issue; and 2ndly, Elizabeth, dau. of Sir William Child, Knt. of Kinlet, in Shropshire; and dying in 1695, was s. by his only son,

JOHN WALSHAM, Esq. of Knill Court, deputy-lieutenant of the county of Radnor. He m. Hester, elder dau. and eventually co-heiress (with her sister, Annaretta, the wife of Thomas Clutton, Esq. of Pensax) of Sir John Morgan, Bart. of Kinnersley Castle, in Herefordshire, M.P. for that county, and governor of Chester, and had issue,

JOHN, his heir.

Thomas, of Mahollam, Herefordshire; d. unm. in 1764.

He was succeeded in 1734 by his eldest son,

JOHN WALSHAM, Esq. of Knill Court, deputy-lieutenant of the county of Radnor; who having m. Elizabeth, dau. and co-heiress of Alderman Ford, of Hereford, died in 1751, without issue male, when his only child,

ELIZABETH WALSHAM, became the sole heiress and representative of the Knills and Walshams, who had been lords of the manor and parish of Knill since the reign of HENRY II.; she was m. in 1767, to Francis Garbett,* Esq.

* Francis Garbett, the baronet's paternal grandfather, was the only son of Samuel Garbett, Esq. of Pool Hall, co. Warwick, a very eminent merchant, whose great-grandfather, John Garbett, Esq. of Morvil, (a Shropshire justice of the peace in the reign of CHARLES I.) was the lineal descendant of Robert Garbett, Esq. of Acton Burnel, an officer in the body-guard of KING HENRY VII., in 1486.

Mary Garbett, m. to John Whittaker, Esq. of Newcastle Court, co. Radnor.

Sophia Garbett, m. to William Davies, Esq. of Cabalra, co. Radnor.

She was s. at her decease, in 1779, by their only son,

JOHN GARBETT WALSHAM, Esq. of Knill Court, colonel of the royal Radnor militia, and deputy-lieutenant of the counties of Hereford and Radnor. Colonel Walsham m. in 1804, Anna-Maria, dau. and sole heiress of Hugh Hughes, Esq. of Bodwryn, in Anglesey, (a gentleman paternally descended from the British Princes of Wales,) by Anna, his wife, grandau. and co-heir of Robert Coytmore, Esq. of Coytmore; and d. in 1819, leaving issue an only child, JOHN-JAMES, who was created a Baronet, as above.

Creation—30 Sept. 1831.

His lordship inherited as 4th baron, at the decease of his brother, 26 April, 1831. Lord Walsingham is archdeacon of Surrey and prebendary of Winchester.

Lineage.

This is a branch from the original stock of the very ancient family of Grey, Earls of Stamford, springing from

WILLIAM DE GREY, of Cavendish, co. Suffolk, 3rd son of Henry de Grey, by Isolda, sister, or niece, and co-heiress of Robert Bardolph, whose 2nd son,

SIR THOMAS DE GREY, m. about the year 1306, Alice, dau. and heiress of Sir Richard de Cornerth, and acquired thereby the estate of Cornerth, in Suffolk. This Sir Thomas d. in 1321, and was s. by his eldest son,

SIR THOMAS DE GREY, who m. Isabel, dau. and co-heiress of Fulk Baynard, Esq. of Merton, co. Norfolk, and obtaining that ancient seat of the Baynards, settled there, and his descendants have ever since made it the principal place of their abode. Sir Thomas was s. by his eldest son,

SIR ROGER DE GREY, of Merton; at the decease of whose son, Thomas, in minority, and his daus. issueless, the estates devolved upon his brother,

THOMAS DE GREY, clerk, who d. in the beginning of the 15th century, and was s. by his nephew,

FULK DE GREY, Esq., from whom we pass, through a long line of distinguished ancestors, to

JAMES DE GREY, Esq., who m. Elizabeth, dau. of Sir Martin Stuteville, of Dalham, co. Suffolk, and was s. by his son,

WILLIAM DE GREY, Esq. of Merton, M.P. for Thetford, in Norfolk, in 1685. This gentleman m. Elizabeth, dau. and co-heiress of Thomas Bedingsfeld, Esq. of Darsham, co. Suffolk, and was s. by his eldest son,

THOMAS DE GREY, Esq. of Merton, M.P. for the co. of Norfolk in the fifth and sixth parliaments of Great Britain, who m. Elizabeth, daughter of William Wyndham, Esq. of Felbrigg, in the same co.; and dying in 1765, was s. by his eldest son,

SIR WILLIAM DE GREY, Knt., a lawyer of eminence, who was appointed solicitor-general by QUEEN ANNE, in 1761, and re-appointed to the same office by KING GEORGE I. in 1764; constituted attorney-general in 1766; and elevated to the bench, 26 Jan. 1771, as chief-justice of the court of Common Pleas, when he received the honour of knighthood. Sir William resigned his judicial office 8th June, 1780, and was advanced to the peerage, 17 October following, by the title of BARON WALSINGHAM, of Walsingham, co. Norfolk. His lordship m. 12 November, 1743, Mary, dau. of William Cowper, Esq. of the Park, county Hertford, by whom he had issue, Charlotte, who m. in 1769, Joseph Wyndham, Esq. of Earsham House, county Norfolk, and d. in 1810, and an only surviving son, his successor in 1781,

THOMAS, 2nd baron, b. 14 July, 1748; m. 30 April, 1772, Augusta-Georgiana-Elizabeth, only dau. of Sir William Irby, 1st Lord Boston, by whom (who d. 28 May, 1818) he had issue,

GEORGE, his successor.

THOMAS, present peer.

Charlotte, m. 18 Sept. 1806, to William Gosling, Esq. of Rochampton, Surrey, who d. 27 Jan. 1835.

Augusta-Mary, d. unm. in 1830.

Lord Walsingham filled for twenty years the office of chairman of the committees of the House of Lords, and was granted by the Prince Regent upon retiring, in 1814, a pension of £2000 a year for life. His lordship was also comptroller of the first fruits and tenths. He d. 16 Jan. 1818, and was s. by his elder son, GEORGE, 3rd baron, b. 11 June, 1776; who m. 16 May, 1804, Matilda, eldest dau. of Paul-Cobb Methuen, Esq. of Corsham, but had no issue. His lordship having been unfortunately burnt to death, together with Lady Walsingham, at his house in Harley Street, 26 April, 1831, the honours of the family devolved upon his brother, the present peer.

Creation—17 Oct. 1780.

WARD, BARON, (William Ward,) of Birmingham, co. Warwick; b. 27 March, 1817; s. his father, as 11th lord, 6 Dec. 1835.

Lineage.

The family of Ward is of great antiquity, and has been seated for many centuries in the county of Norfolk.

WILLIAM WARD, 6th son of Edward Ward, Esq. of Bixley, in that shire, was a wealthy goldsmith in London, and jeweller to the Queen of KING CHARLES I. Having a very ample fortune he resided at Heal, in Staffordshire; and in his lifetime, Edward Sutton, Lord Dudley, bestowed Frances, his grandaun. and heiress, upon

HUMBLE WARD, Esq., the said William Ward's son and heir; which Frances, upon the demise of her grandfather, Lord Dudley, in 1643, succeeded to that barony, (created by writ of summons, 25 Feb. 1342, 16th EDWARD III.,) and became

FRANCES, BARONESS DUDLEY, when her husband, Humble Ward, above-mentioned, was knighted, and subsequently, 23 March, 1644, elevated to the peerage, as

HUMBLE, BARON WARD, of Birmingham. His lordship had issue,

EDWARD, his successor.

William, who m. Anne, dau. and sole heir of Thomas Parkes, Esq. of Willingsworth, co. Stafford, (by Rebecca, his wife, who was heir to the Bodleys.) Mr. Ward thus acquiring the seat of Willingsworth, took up his abode there, and was s. by his only son,

WILLIAM, M.P. for the county of Stafford in the reigns of QUEEN ANNE and GEORGE I.; m. Mary, dau. of the Hon. John Grey, of Enfield; and dying in 1720, left (besides daus.) two sons, viz.,

JOHN, of whom hereafter, as 1st Viscount DUDLEY AND WARD.

William, in holy orders, rector of Himley; m. Elizabeth, dau. of John Hawkes; and d. in 1758, leaving issue,

Humble, who m. in 1779, Susannah Beecroft; and d. in 1785, leaving a son, WILLIAM-HUMBLE, who s. as 10th BARON WARD.

Frances, m. to Washington, Earl Ferrers.

Lord Ward d. 4 Oct. 1670, and was s. by his eldest son,

EDWARD, 2nd Baron Ward; who, at the demise of his mother, in 1701, succeeded also to the Barony of Dudley, as 11th baron, and became LORD DUDLEY AND WARD. His lordship m. Frances, dau. of Sir William Brereton, Bart. of Handford, co. Chester, and sole heiress of her brother, Sir Thomas, and had, with other issue,

WILLIAM, who m. Frances, dau. of Thomas Dilke, Esq. of Maxstoke Castle, co. Warwick, and had issue,

EDWARD, who s. his grandfather.

WILLIAM, who inherited at the decease of his nephew. Frances, m. to William Lea, Esq. of Hales-Owen-Grange, Salop, and had issue, FERDINANDO-DUDLEY-LEA, who s. to the BARONY OF DUDLEY.

Anne, m. to W. Smith, Esq.

Frances, m. Walter Woodcock, Esq.

Mary, m. to Dr. Hervey.

Catherine, m. to Thomas Jardon, Esq.

Elizabeth, m. to the Rev. B. Briscoe.

His lordship was s. by his grandson,

EDWARD, as 12th Baron Dudley and 3rd Baron Ward. This nobleman m. Diana, dau. of Thomas Howard, Esq. of Ashstead, Surrey; and dying in his minority, in 1704, was s. by his posthumous son,

EDWARD, 13th and 4th baron; who d. unm. in 1731, when the family honours reverted to his uncle,

WILLIAM, 14th and 5th baron; at whose decease unm. in 1740, the old BARONY OF DUDLEY devolved upon his nephew, FERDINANDO DUDLEY LEA, Esq., (refer to Frances, grandaun. of Edward, 2nd Baron Ward,) at whose decease unm. in 1751, it fell into abeyance between his sisters, as it still continues amongst their representatives, while the BARONY OF WARD passed to the Lord Dudley and Ward's kinsman, (refer to William, son of 1st Lord Ward,)

JOHN WARD, Esq. of Sedgley Park, Staffordshire, as 6th baron. His lordship was advanced to a viscounty, by letters patent, dated 23 April, 1763, as VISCOUNT DUDLEY AND WARD, of Dudley. He m. 1st, Anna-Maria, dau. of Charles Bouchier, Esq. of the city of Dublin, by whom he had one son,

JOHN, his successor.

And 2ndly, Mary, dau. and heiress of John Carver, Esq., by whom he had another surviving son, WILLIAM. His lordship d. in 1774, and was s. by his elder son,

JOHN, 2nd viscount, LL.D.; who d. without issue, in 1788, when the honours devolved upon his half-brother,

WILLIAM, 3rd viscount, b. 21 Jan. 1750; m. 1 Aug. 1780, Julia, 2nd dau. of Godfrey Bosville, Esq. of Gunthwaite, Yorkshire, by whom he had an only son,

JOHN-WILLIAM.

His lordship was distinguished by the purest and most munificent benevolence of character. He d. 25 April, 1823, and was s. by his son,

JOHN-WILLIAM, 4th viscount, who was created Viscount Ednam, of Ednam, in Roxburghshire, and EARL DUDLEY, of Dudley Castle, in 1827; but d. unm. 6 March, 1833, when the titles conferred on himself, together with the Viscounty of Dudley and Ward, became EXTINCT, while the Barony of Ward devolved on his second-cousin,

WILLIAM-HUMBLE, 10th lord, in holy orders, b. 9 Jan. 1781; who m. 22 May, 1816, Amelia, dau. of William Gooch Pillans, Esq. of Bracondale, co. Norfolk, and had issue,

WILLIAM, his heir.

Humble-Dudley, b. 20 Dec. 1821.

Julia-Susannah.

WARDLAW.

WARDLAW, SIR WILLIAM, of Pitreavie, in the county of Fife; b. 15 May, 1794; s. as 13th baronet, at the decease of his brother, 20 Jan. 1833.

Lineage.

This Anglo-Saxon family was amongst those that fled into Scotland at the period of the Conquest, and being hospitably received by KING MALCOLM CANMORE, settled in that kingdom. Of the Wardlaws, Cardinal Wardlaw compiled a genealogical account from their first coming from Saxony into England, about the beginning of the sixth century, up to his own time, a copy of which was in the royal library of France until the Revolution; and, according to family tradition, the elder branch of the house, the Wardlaws of Torrie, had also a copy, which was carried down to his own time, the close of the 15th century, by Sir Henry Wardlaw.

SIR HENRY WARDLAW, Knt. of Torrie, co. Fife, m. a niece of Walter, the great steward of Scotland, and had issue,

ANDREW, his successor.

Walter, the celebrated CARDINAL WARDLAW, Bishop of Glasgow, and ambassador to England in 1368.

Christian, m. to Sir Thomas Hay, of Lockerett, ancestor of the family of Tweeddale.

Ellen, m. to the Count de Rohan, ancestor of the Duke de Rohan.

Sir Henry was s. by his elder son,

SIR ANDREW WARDLAW, Knt. of Torrie, (the genealogist of the family mentioned above,) who m. the dau. and heiress of James de Valloniis, (which alliance brought the estate of Lochor into the Wardlaw family,) by whom he had two sons,

I. WILLIAM, his successor.

II. Henry, was Archbishop of St. Andrews and one of the most celebrated men of his time. He and his brother, Sir William, were the faithful friends of ROBERT III., supporting the sickly monarch against the insidious arts of the Duke of Albany, when loyalty had almost forsaken the land. To Wardlaw the king committed the charge of the heir to the throne, and by him France was selected as a secure retreat for the Earl of Carrick. The captivity of the prince in England, by a breach of the law of nations, was the consequence of this measure, which the prelate could not have foreseen. On the return of the royal JAMES to his kingdom, he found his venerable guardian still filling his archiepiscopal chair of St. Andrews. Wardlaw was immediately sent for, and during his life he continued the chief stay of his royal master. Besides founding the University, this munificent prelate built a bridge over the mouth of the Eden, of six arches, long considered the first in Scotland, at his own expense. Archbishop Wardlaw was legate from Pope Benedict III. to Scotland and Ireland in 1412, and protector of the children of Hotspur after the battle of Shrewsbury.

Sir Andrew was s. by his elder son,

SIR WILLIAM WARDLAW, of Torrie, about the year 1421; who dying in 1432, was s. by his son, (by Margaret, dau. of Sir John Oliphant, lineal descendant of the Princess Elizabeth, dau. of ROBERT BRUCE,)

SIR HENRY WARDLAW, of Torrie. This gentleman was one of those who attended the daughter of the Scottish monarch on her way to Rochelle, upon her marriage with the Dauphin of France. He m. Margaret, dau. of John, Lord Lindsay, of Byres, ancestor of the Earls of Crawford, by Lady Anne Stuart, dau. of the Lord of Lorn, and was s. by his only son, Family of De-la-Poer.

SIR ROGER LE POER, Knt., who accompanied Strongbow into Ireland, obtained for his services there considerable territorial grants. Of Sir Roger, Cambrensis writes, "It might be said without offence, there was not a man who did more valiant acts than Roger le Poer; who, although he were young and beardless, yet he shewed himself a lusty, valiant, and courageous gentleman, and who grew into such good credit, that he had the government of the country about Leighlin, as also in Ossory, where he was traitorously killed; on whose slaughter a conspiracy was formed among the Irish to destroy the English, and many castles were destroyed." Sir Roger m. a niece of Sir Amory St. Laurence, (ancestor of the noble house of Howth,) and left a son,

JOHN LE POER, from whom descended,

NICHOLAS LE POER, who had summons to parliament, as BARON LE POER, 23 Nov. 1375, and thrice afterwards, in 1378, 1381, and 1383, being the most ancient writs to be found in the Rolls' office of Ireland. This nobleman was s. by his son,

RICHARD, 2nd baron; who was created Lord Le Poer, Baron of Curraghmore, by KING HENRY VI. in 1452. His lordship m. a dau. of Richard Butler, second son of the Earl of Ormonde, and was s. by his son,

PETER, 3rd BARON LE POER and 2nd Baron of Curraghmore, who m. the dau. of Lord Decies, and left

RICHARD, who was re-created, 13 Sept. 1535, Lord le Poer, Baron of Curraghmore. This nobleman m. Catharine, dau. of Pierce, Earl of Ormonde; and dying in 1551, was s. by his eldest son,

JOHN (More), Lord le Poer, b. in 1516. Of this nobleman, Sir Henry Sidney, in his account of the province of Munster to the lords of the council, thus writes:—"27 Feb. 1575. The day I departed from Waterford, I lodged that night at Corraghmore, the house that the Lord Power is baron of; where I was so used, and with such plenty and good order entertained, (as adding to it the quiet of all the country adjoining, by the people called Power Country, for that surname has been since the beginning of Englishmen's planting inhabitants there,) it may be well compared with the best ordered country in the English Pale. And the lord of the country, though he be of scope of ground a far less territory than his neighbour is, yet he lives in show far more honourably and plentifully than he or any other, whatsoever he be, of his calling, that lives in this province." His lordship m. Ellen, dau. of James, 15th Earl of Desmond, and was s. by his only son,

RICHARD, Lord le Poer; who m. Catharine, dau. and heiress of John, Viscount Buttevant; and dying in 1607, was s. by his grandson,

JOHN, Lord le Poer, (son of John Oge, the late lord's eldest son, who was killed in his father's lifetime by Edmund Fitzgerald, the White Knight, by Hellen, dau. of David, Viscount Buttevant.) His lordship m. Ruth, dau. and heiress of Robert Pyphoe, Esq. of St. Mary's Abbey, Dublin, and was s. by his eldest son,

RICHARD, Lord le Poer. This nobleman was advanced,

9 Oct. 1673, to the Viscounty of Decies and Earldom of Tyrone. His lordship m. in 1654, Dorothy, dau. of Arthur, Earl of Anglesey; and dying in 1690, was s. by his eldest surviving son,

JOHN, 2nd earl; at whose decease unm. in 1693, the honours devolved upon his brother,

JAMES, 3rd earl; who m. Anne, eldest dau. and co-heiress of Andrew Rickards, Esq. of Dangan Spidoge, co. Kilkenny, by whom he left at his decease, 19 Aug. 1704, an only dau. and heiress,

LADY CATHARINE POER, who m. Sir Marcus Beresford, (as stated in the family of Beresford.)

Upon the decease of his lordship, the Earldom of Tyrone, and all his other honours, except the original barony by writ, expired, but that devolved upon his dau., as BARONESS LE POER.

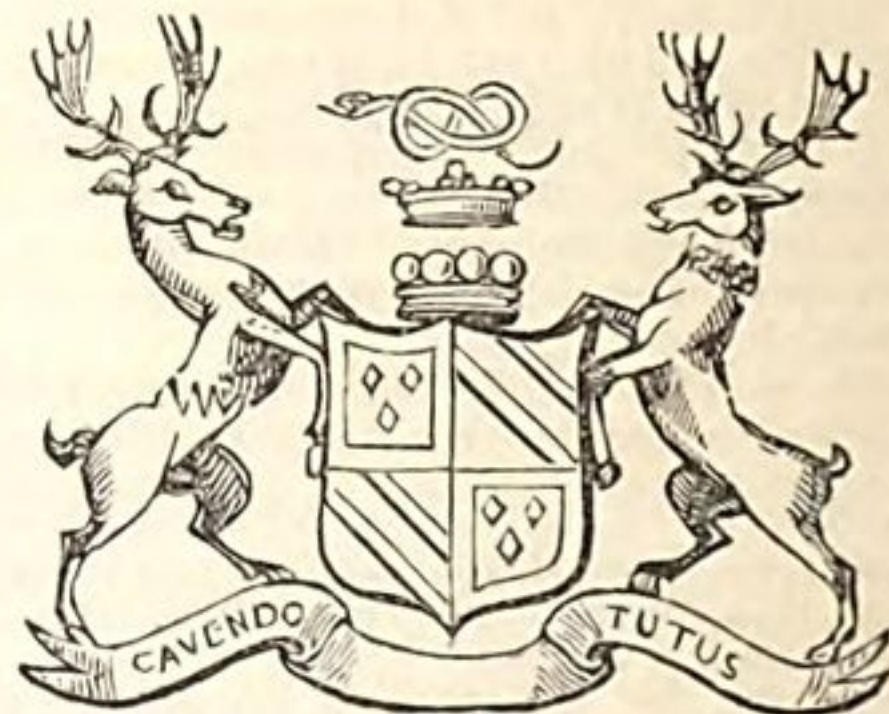

WATERFORD AND WEXFORD.

WATERFORD AND WEXFORD, EARL OF, (John Talbot,) Baron of Dungarvon, and hereditary-high-seneschal of Ireland, (Earl of Shrewsbury, in England—see that dignity.)

On 17 July, 1446, KING HENRY VI. created John Talbot first Earl of Shrewsbury, whom his majesty styles in the patent, "John, Earl of Shrewsbury and of Wexford, Lord Furnivall and Le Straunge," Earl of Waterford, and Baron of Dungarvon, to hold the same, with the extensive estates and royalties therein mentioned, by the service of being seneschal of the king in Ireland, in remainder to the heirs male of his body. These honours, with the estates then granted, as well as the whole county of Wexford, already in Lord Shrewsbury's possession by inheritance, continued in the enjoyment of the successive earls until 1537, when the "Act of Absentees" was passed, by which the estates of the Talbot family, and others, were seized on by the crown. On this account, in 1612, when Gilbert, Lord Shrewsbury, sought his writ, as a peer of Ireland, the English judges were consulted, who gave an opinion that the act which divested the estates had the same effect as to honours, which, according to their construction, could not exist without territorial possessions. But there appear, in the paper offices, numerous acts of the king and his council, of the lord-lieutenant and privy-council of Ireland, petitions of the nobility of England, and the resident peers of Ireland, as also several orders on the journals of the lords' house, proving that however well founded this opinion might be as to peerage in England, it was wholly opposed to, and inconsistent with, the long established rights of the peerage, prerogative of the crown, and law of parliament, as then and previously known in Ireland. Therefore numerous creations of persons (who had no estates in Ireland) by JAMES I. and his successor, and the different subsequent resolutions of the House of Lords, shew that this opinion was not received as law, and consequently, in the years 1661, 1692, and 1697, Francis and Charles, Earls of Waterford, are recognised on the journals of the house as Earls of Waterford and peers of Ireland. On the death of the latter, the titles devolved upon a branch of the family labouring under religious disabilities, and these disabilities continued from that year, 1717, until 1829, when they were removed by parliament; and the present earl, in 1831, petitioned the House of Lords for leave to vote for representative peers of Ireland, as eldest heir male of John, 1st Earl of Shrewsbury under the patent of HENRY VI., creating the Earldom of Waterford, Barony of Dungarvon, and seneschalship of Ireland, as above-mentioned. This petition was referred to a committee of privileges, wherein, after hearing counsel on several occasions, and after much legal argument, it was at length decided that his lordship's claim and right to vote should be, and was thereby allowed.

* He was grandson of Colonel John Foster, of Jamaica. Colonel Foster left besides, four sons and two other daus., of whom William was ancestor of the Fosters of Brickhill, Joseph assumed the surname of Barham, and Sarah m. his Excellency William Matthew Burt, and was grandmother of Eliza Barham Hansard, m. in 1812, to John Taylor-Gordon, M.D.

† This place, so celebrated, arose immediately after the battle of Hastings, when WILLIAM, elated with his triumph, founded, in commemoration of the fortunate issue of the war, and as a lasting memorial of his victory, a monastery, dedicated to St. Martin, and called De Bello, or Battle, upon the very spot where HAROLD breathed his last. A town soon afterwards sprung up of the same name; and as the monastery enlarged, one hundred and fifteen houses were built around it, and those formed the original town of Battle Abbey. In this monastery were deposited the CONQUEROR'S sword and coronation robes, and the celebrated roll of his companions in arms, which was lost, however, at the suppression of religious houses by KING HENRY VIII.

WEDDERBURN.

WEDDERBURN, SIR DAVID, of Ballindean, co. Perth; b. in March, 1775; m. 3 Sept. 1800, Margaret, dau. of George Browne, Esq. of Illestone, in Roxburghshire, but has no surviving issue; s. his father, 13 June, 1803; and was created a Baronet of the United Kingdom, with remainder to the heirs male of his great-grandfather, Sir Alexander Wedderburn, 18 Aug. 1803. Sir David represented St. Andrews in two parliaments; he resigned his seat in 1818, and was appointed postmaster-general of Scotland in 1823.

Lineage.

This surname, spelt Wederburn, Wedderburne, or Wedderburn, was assumed from the lands and barony of Wedderburne, co. Berwick, but at what period is uncertain.

WALTER DE WEDDERBURN swore fealty to EDWARD I. of England at "Berewyk on Twed," 28 Aug. 1296. His lineal heiress,

ALICE, OF WEDDERBURNE, m. in 1413, Sir David Home, of Thurston, who obtained, in consequence, a charter of the barony from the superior, Archibald, 4th Earl of Douglas, which was confirmed under the great seal, 19th April, 1430. From this marriage descended the Earls of Marchmont, &c. &c., while the collateral male-heir of the family,

JAMES WEDDERBURNE, who settled, about the year 1400, in the county of Forfar, left a son,

DAVID WEDDERBURNE, mentioned in charters of 1464 and 1481, whose great-grandson,

DAVID WEDDERBURNE, of Croft, co. Forfar, had two sons, the younger a general-officer in the Swedish service, and the elder, his successor,

ROBERT WEDDERBURNE, of Croft, whose son,

ALEXANDER WEDDERBURNE, of Croft, m. in 1560, Janet, dau. of James Myln, of Drimmie, and had, inter alios, two sons,

ALEXANDER, his heir.

James, D.D., Lord Bishop of Dunblane, and dean of the Chapel Royal; d. in 1639, and was interred in the Cathedral at Canterbury.

Mr. Wedderburne was s. by his elder son,

ALEXANDER WEDDERBURNE, of Kyngany, who accompanied KING JAMES VI. into England in 1603; and when about to return to Scotland, received a diamond ring from the monarch's own finger, a mark of royal friendship still preserved by his successors. This gentleman m. Helen, dau. of John Ramsay, Esq. of Brachmont, co. Fife, by whom (with daus.) he left at his decease, in 1626,

Alexander, of Kyngany, b. in 1581; and d. in 1683, leaving a son,

Alexander, of Kyngany, M.P. for, and provost of, Dundee in 1661 and 1662, whose grandson,

Alexander, of Kyngany, obtained a charter under the great seal, 12 March, 1708, erecting Kyngany and other lands into one barony, to be called WEDDERBURNE. He d. in 1717, and his male heirs failed in 1761, but he is represented in the female line by the present Henry-Scrymgeour Wedderburn, of Wedderburn, heritable royal standard-bearer for Scotland, who is married, and has issue.

JAMES, progenitor of the present barts.

Of this very ancient Lincolnshire family several members had the honour of representing their native county in parliament; amongst whom were Richard Welby, in the 9th year of HENRY V.; Nicholas Welby, in the 29th of HENRY VI.; Richard Welby, in the 12th of EDWARD IV.; and in the years 1654 and 1656,

WILLIAM WELBY, Esq., (descended from John, Lord Cayston, otherwise Welby, a surname derived from the manor of Welby, near Grantham, who assisted Robert de Todeni, Baron of Belvoir, in the defence of his castle, temp. WILLIAM THE CONQUEROR.) This gentleman having purchased the manor of Denton from Sir William Thorold, removed from the adjoining mansion, where his ancestors had resided from the time of KING HENRY VIII. Mr. Welby was so highly esteemed at the Restoration, that he was one of the Lincolnshire gentlemen nominated for the honour of knighthood of the Royal Oak, but the idea of forming such an order was subsequently abandoned. He m. in 1633, Eleanor, dau. of John Williams, Esq., by whom he had seven sons and as many daus. He d. in 1657, and his youngest son,

RICHARD WELBY, Esq., became eventually his heir. This gentleman served the office of sheriff of Lincolnshire in 1705, and was lord of the manors of Welby, Saperton, Swinstead, and Stragglethorpe. He m. Mary, dau. and heiress of John Towers, Esq. of Haddenham, in the Isle of Ely; and dying in 1713, left

WELLESLEY.

WELLESLEY, MARQUESS, (Richard Wellesley, K.G., K.P., K.S.L., and D.C.L.,) of Norragh, Earl Mornington, of Mornington, Viscount Wellesley, of Dangan Castle, and Baron Mornington, all in the county of Meath, in the peerage of Ireland; Baron Wellesley, of Wellesley, county of Somerset, in the peerage of Great Britain; b. 20 June, 1760; inherited the Earldom of Mornington and the inferior Irish honours at the decease of his father, Garrett, 1st Earl of Mornington, 22 May, 1784; obtained the British barony, by patent of creation, 20 Oct. 1797; and was elevated to the Irish marquessate, 2 Dec. 1799, in consideration of his distinguished services as governor-general of India, where he triumphed over the SULTAN TIPPOO, and destroyed the empire of Mysore. His lordship m. 1st, in 1794, Hyacinthe-Gabrielle, only

* This lady, through her grandmother, Lady Conway, one of the daus. and co-heirs of John Digby, Esq., was fifth in descent from Sir Kenelm Digby, and his wife, Venetia, who was co-heiress of Sir Edward Stanley, of Eynsham, (grandson of Edward, 3rd Earl of Derby,) by the Lady Lucy Percy, his wife, one of the daus. and co-heiresses of Thomas, Earl of Northumberland, beheaded in 1572.

dau. of Monsieur Pierre Roland, by whom (who d. 5 Nov. 1816) he had no issue; and 2ndly, 29 Oct. 1825, Marianne, dau. of Richard Caton, Esq. of the United States of America, widow of Robert Patterson, Esq., and grandau. of the celebrated Carroll of Carrollstown.* The marquess has twice filled the high office of viceroy of Ireland.

Lineage.

The surname of this eminent family was originally COWLEY, or COLLEY, and it deduces, paternally, its descent from

WALTER COWLEY, Esq., solicitor-general of Ireland in 1537; who, on surrendering that office, in 1546, to John Bathe, was appointed, by patent, dated 5 Nov. 1548, surveyor-general of the kingdom. The elder son and heir of this learned person,

SIR HENRY COLLEY, of Castle Carbery, who was a captain in the army of QUEEN ELIZABETH, a privy-councillor in Ireland, and a personage of considerable influence, m. Catherine, dau. of Sir Thomas Cusack, of Cusington, co. Meath, lord chancellor of Ireland, and had two sons,

George, (Sir) of Edenderry, whose male line terminated with his grandson, and his estates were carried by his grandau. into the family of Blundell;

And

SIR HENRY COLLEY, of Castle Carbery, who, in the reign of ELIZABETH, was constable of the fort of Philipstown, seneschal of the King's county, and providore of the army, (A.D. 1561.) This gentleman m. Anne, 2nd dau. of Adam Loftus, Archbishop of Dublin, by whom he had two sons and three daus., and was s. by his elder son,

SIR HENRY COLLEY, of Castle Carbery, who m. Anne, dau. and heiress of Christopher Peyton, Esq., auditor-general of Ireland; and dying in 1637, was s. by his eldest son,

DUDLEY COLLEY, Esq. of Castle Carbery, member for Philipstown in the first parliament after the Restoration. This gentleman m. 1st, Anne, dau. of Henry Warren, Esq. of Grangebegg, co. Kildare, and had eight sons and seven daus.; of whom Elizabeth, the third but eldest surviving dau., m. Garrett Wellesley, Esq. of Dangan, co. Meath, (see family of Wellesley, at foot,) and had surviving issue,

1 William Wellesley.

2 Garret Wellesley.

3 Mary Wellesley, m. to Wentworth Harman, Esq. of Bawne, co. Longford, captain of the battle-axe guard.

Mr. Wellesley was s. by his elder son,

WILLIAM WELLESLEY, Esq. of Dangan, at whose decease s. p. the estates devolved upon his brother,

GARRETT WELLESLEY, Esq. of Dangan, M.P. for the co. Meath; who m. Catharine, dau. of Maurice Keating, Esq. of Marraghmore, co. Kildare; but d. without issue, 23 Sept. 1728, when all his estates devolved under his will upon his cousin, RICHARD COLLEY, Esq., on that gentleman's assumption of the surname and arms of WELLESLEY.

Dudley Colley† m. 2ndly, Elizabeth, widow of Henry Bolard, Esq. of Dublin, and dau. of George Sankey, Esq. of Balenrath, in the King's county, by whom he had three daughters, and was s. at his decease, in July, 1674, by his eldest son,

HENRY COLLEY, Esq. of Castle Carbery, who m. Mary, only dau. of Sir William Usher, of Dublin, by Ursula, his wife, only dau. of George St. Barbe, Esq., (see BURKE'S Commoners, vol. ii. p. 448,) and had issue,

* This eminent patriot, whose signature appears to the declaration of American independence, was of the ancient Irish sept of O'Carroll, deriving directly from a branch established in the Queen's county.

† Mary, one of the daus. of Dudley Colley, Esq., m. William Ashe, Esq. of Summerstown, whose descendant is the present CAPTAIN WILLIAM WELLESLEY ASHE, of Ashfield.

Henry, M.P. for Strabane, who m. in 1719, Lady Mary Hamilton, 3rd dau. of James, Earl of Abercorn; and dying 1723, left one son, Henry, who d. in infancy, and two daus., the younger of whom, Mary, m. in 1747, Arthur Pomeroy, Esq.

RICHARD, of whom presently.

Anne, m. to William Pole, Esq. of Ballyfin, Queen's co., by whom (with four daus.) she had two sons, Pariam Pole, Esq., who was s. by his brother, William Pole, Esq., who dying without issue, in 1778, bequeathed his estates to his kinsman, the Hon. William Wellesley, who assumed, in consequence, the additional surname and arms of Pole, and is the present Lord Maryborough.

Mr. Colley d. in 1700, and his younger son,

RICHARD COLLEY, Esq., having succeeded, 23 Sept. 1728, to the estates of the Wellesley family, (refer to descendants of Elizabeth Colley, who m. Garrett Wellesley, of Dangan,) assumed the surname and arms of Wellesley. In 1713, Mr. Colley had been appointed second chamberlain of the court of Exchequer in Ireland, and sat in parliament for the borough of Trim, until elevated to the peerage of Ireland, 9 July, 1746, by the title of Baron of Mornington. His lordship m. 23 Dec. 1719, Elizabeth, eldest daughter of John Sale, LL.D., registrar of the diocese of Dublin, and M.P. for Carysfort, by whom he had one surviving son and two daughters,

GARRET, his heir.

Elizabeth, m. in 1743, Chichester Fortescue, Esq. of Dromiskin, co. Louth, and had issue,

- 1 THOMAS FORTESCUE, Esq. of Dromiskin, grandfather of the present THOMAS FORTESCUE, Esq. of Ravensdale Park.
- 2 Sir Chichester Fortescue, rear-adm. R.N.; m. and had issue.
- 3 Gerald Fortescue, appointed Ulster king-of-arms in 1787, who left one son, Thomas, late civil commissioner at Delhi, and one daughter, Anne, m. to William-Richard Hopkins-Northey, Esq. of Suffolk Lawn, Cheltenham, son and heir of Lieut.-Gen. Northey-Hopkins, of Oving House, Bucks.
- 4 Elizabeth Fortescue, m. to William-John, Marquess of Lothian, and was grandmother of the present marquess.

House of Wellesley.

THE MARQUESS'S MATERNAL FAMILY.

The very eminent family of Wesley, or Wellesley, or, as it was formerly written, de Welesley, alias Welseley, was founded in Ireland by a gentleman of that name, of an ancient Anglo-Saxon family, who held the honourable station of standard-bearer to KING HENRY II.; and having accompanied that monarch into Ireland in 1172, obtained for his military services large grants of land in the counties of Meath and Kildare, a considerable portion of which his descendant still enjoys. From this successful soldier descended

WILLIAM DE WELLESLEY, who appears to have been summoned to parliament as a baron of the realm, by the title of Baron of Noragh, in 1330, and had a grant by patent from EDWARD II. of the custody of the castle of Kildare for life; but that monarch conferring subsequently the office upon John-Fitz Thomas, Earl of Kildare, together with the county of Kildare, to hold to his heirs male for ever, William de Wellesley was removed, and lost the fee of £20 a year annexed thereunto; in recompence whereof, however, KING EDWARD III. granted him a commission, dated at Molyngar, March, 1342, to have the custody of the manor of Demor, then in the crown, from 1 Aug. 1341, with the annual fee of twenty marks. His lordship was father of

SIR RICHARD DE WELLESLEY, who served the office of sheriff of Kildare in the year 1418. This gentleman does not appear to have inherited the barony from his father, and for what reason that dignity ceased with the first possessor we have not been able to ascertain. Sir Richard m. Johan, eldest dau. and eventually heiress of Sir Nicholas de Castlemartin, by which alliance he obtained the lordships of Dangan, Mornington, Clonebreny, and several other manors, and was s. by his son,

GERALD DE WELLESLEY, of Dangan, from whom lineally descended

WILLIAM WELLESLEY, Esq. of Dangan Castle, who m. Elizabeth, dau. of James Cusack, Esq. of Portraine, co. Dublin, and was s. by his eldest son, VALERIAN WELLESLEY, Esq. of Dangan Castle. This gentleman m. Anne, relict of Christopher Nugent, Esq., (brother of the 1st Earl of Westmeath,) and dau. of — Cusack, Esq., by whom he was father of Garret Wellesley, who espoused, as stated above, Miss Colley.

WELLINGTON.

WELLINGTON, DUKE OF, (Arthur Wellesley,) Marquess of Douro, Marquess of Wellington, Earl of Wellington, of Wellington, co. Somerset, Viscount Wellington, of Wellington and of Talavera, and Baron Douro, of Wellesley, co. Somerset; b. at Dangan Castle, co. Meath, 1 May, 1769; m. 10 April, 1806, Catherine, 3rd dau. of Edward-Michael, 2nd Lord Longford, by whom (who d. 25 April, 1831) he has issue,

ARTHUR, Marquess of Douro, M.P., b. 3 February, 1807; lieutenant-col. in the army; m. 18 April, 1839, Lady Elizabeth Hay, dau. of the Marquess of Tweeddale.

Charles, b. 16 Jan. 1808; major in the army.

To attempt even the most abridged epitome of the glorious achievements of this pre-eminent military commander would far, very far indeed, exceed our limits, and would, in the present day at least, be a work of supererogation. We shall, therefore, merely confine ourselves to stating, that his grace, who is 3rd son of Garrett, 1st Earl of Mornington, and brother of the present Marquess Wellesley, commenced his military career upon active service in 1794, when he commanded a brigade, under his Royal Highness the Duke of York, in the unsuccessful expedition to Holland; that he was subsequently engaged in India, where he exhibited traits of that transcendent military genius, which, at no distant period, was destined to elevate him to the enviable rank of one of the first and greatest captains of the age; that in 1808, he entered upon the field where the full harvest of his renown was to be reaped; and that his good sword has since opened to him the very highest honours of the state—honours conferred with the most enthusiastic approbation of the people, and accompanied by the most popular and liberal grants from the national purse. His grace was created Baron Douro, of Wellesley, co. Somerset, and Viscount Wellington, of Talavera, and of Wellington, in the same county, 4 Sept. 1809; Earl of Wellington, 28 Feb. 1812; Marquess of Wellington, 18 Aug. 1812; and Marquess of Douro and DUKE OF WELLINGTON, 3 May, 1814. His grace is also Duke of Ciudad Rodrigo, and a grandee of the first class in Spain; Duke of Vittoria, Marquess of Torres Vedras, and Count Vimiera, in Portugal; and most illustrious of all, PRINCE OF WATERLOO, a principality conferred by the King of the Netherlands upon his grace, in consideration of his last, greatest, and most decisive victory over the French army, commanded by the EMPEROR NAPOLEON in person, 18 July, 1815. The Earl of Wemyss was enrolled amongst the peers of the United Kingdom, as Baron Wemyss, of Wemyss, co. Fife, 17 July, 1821. His lordship is lord-lieutenant of the county of Peebles.

Lineage.

This ancient family traces its origin to John, baronial Lord of Weems, whence the surname was probably derived, who was younger son of the celebrated Macduff, Thane of Fife, the vanquisher of the tyrant MACBETH.

SIR MICHAEL DE WEMYSS was sent, according to Fordun, in 1290, with Sir Michael Scot, to Norway, by the lords of the regency in Scotland, to conduct the young QUEEN MARGARET to her dominions; but her majesty unfortunately died upon the journey, at the Orkneys. Sir Michael swore fealty to EDWARD I. in 1296, and he witnessed the act of settlement of the crown of Scotland by KING ROBERT I., at Ayr, in 1315. From Sir Michael lineally descended*

SIR JOHN WEMYSS, of Wemyss, who m. 1st, in 1574, Margaret, eldest dau. of William, Earl of Morton, but by that lady had no issue; and 2ndly, in 1581, Anne, sister of James, Earl of Moray, by whom he had, with other issue,

SIR JOHN WEMYSS, of Wemyss, who was created a Baronet, 29 May, 1625; and elevated to the peerage of Scotland, as Baron Wemyss, of Elcho, 1 April, 1628. His lordship was advanced to the dignities of EARL OF WEMYSS, in the co. Fife, and Lord Elcho and Methel, 25 June, 1633. This nobleman, although indebted for his honours to KING CHARLES I., took part against his royal master, and sided with the parliamentarians. He m. in 1610, Jane, dau. of Patrick, 7th Lord Gray, by whom he had six children, and was s. in 1649, by his only son,

DAVID, 2nd earl. This nobleman m. 1st, in 1628, Jean, dau. of Robert Balfour, Lord Burleigh, by whom he had an only surviving daughter,

Jane, who became, first, the wife of Archibald, Earl of Angus; and after his lordship's decease, of George, Earl of Sutherland.

The Earl of Wemyss m. 2ndly, Lady Eleanor Fleming, dau. of John, 2nd Earl of Wigton, but by that lady had no issue. He espoused 3rdly, Margaret, dau. of John, 6th Earl of Rothes, (widow successively of James, Lord Balgony, and Francis, Earl of Buccleuch,) by whom he had an only surviving dau., MARGARET, in whose favour his lordship, having resigned his peerage to the crown, obtained, 3 Aug. 1672, a new patent, conferring the honours of the family, with the original precedence, upon her ladyship. He d. in 1680, when the baronetcy expired, but the other dignities descended accordingly to his dau.,

LADY MARGARET WEMYSS, as Countess of Wemyss. Her ladyship espoused SIR JAMES WEMYSS, of Caskyerry, who was created, 15 April, 1672, for life, Lord Burntisland, having had previously a charter of the castle of Burntisland. The issue of this marriage were,

DAVID, successor to the countess's honours.

Anne, who m. David, Earl of Leven and Melville, and had issue.

Margaret, m. to David, Earl of Northesk.

The Countess of Wemyss m. 2ndly, George, 1st Earl of Cromarty, but had no issue by his lordship; she d. in 1705, and was s. by her only son,

DAVID, 3rd earl. This nobleman, who was appointed by QUEEN ANNE lord-high-admiral of Scotland, sworn of the privy-council, and constituted one of the commissioners for concluding the treaty of union, m. 1st, in 1697, Lady ANNE DOUGLAS, dau. of William, 1st Duke of Queensberry, and sister of James, Duke of Queensberry and Dover, and of William, 1st Earl of March, by whom he had one surviving son,

JAMES, his successor.

His lordship m. 2ndly, Mary, dau. of Sir John Robinson, Bart. of Farmingwood, in the co. Northampton, but had no issue; and 3rdly, in 1716, Elizabeth, dau. of Henry, Lord Sinclair, by whom he had two daus., namely,

Elizabeth, wife of William, 16th Earl of Sutherland.

Margaret, wife of James, Earl of Moray.

Lord Wemyss, who was one of the representative peers, d. 15 March, 1720, and was s. by his only son,

JAMES, 4th earl, b. 1699; m. in 1720, Janet, only dau. and heiress of Colonel Francis Charteris, of Amisfield, in the co. Haddington, by whom he had issue,

I. DAVID, Lord Elcho.

II. FRANCIS, who inherited the estates of his maternal grandfather, and assumed the surname of Charteris before that of Wemyss. He s. as 5th earl.

III. James, M.P. for the co. of Sutherland; who m. in 1757, his cousin, Lady Elizabeth Sutherland, only dau. of William, 16th Earl of Sutherland, and had issue,

1 William, of Wemyss, a lieut.-gen. in the army; m. in 1788, Frances, dau. of the late Sir William Erskine, Bart. of Torrie; and dying in 1822, left issue,

James, now of Wemyss, captain, R.N., M.P.; b. in 1789; m. in 1826, Lady Emma Hay, dau. of William, 16th Earl of Errol, and has issue,

Elizabeth Brodie, m. in 1813, to George, 5th Duke of Gordon.

IV. Frances, m. to Sir James Stuart, Bart.

V. Walpole, m. to M. Chastel de la Barthe.

VI. Anne, m. to John Hamilton, Esq.

VII. Helen, m. to Hugh Dalrymple, Esq. of Fordel.

The earl's eldest son,

DAVID, Lord Elcho, having been involved in the rising of 1745, fled into France after the battle of Culloden, and was attainted. The family honours remained, therefore, from the death of the earl, (the 21 March, 1756,) during his lordship's life, under the influence of that penal statute; but at his demise without issue, in 1787, they were revived, and inherited by his brother,

The HON. FRANCIS CHARTERIS-WEMYSS, as 5th earl, b. in 1723; m. in 1745, Lady Catherine Gordon, dau. of Alexander, 2nd Duke of Gordon, by whom he had issue,

Francis, Lord Elcho, b. 31 Jan. 1749; m. 18 July, 1771, Susan, dau. of Anthony Tracy-Keck, Esq.; and dying in 1808, left issue,

WEMYSS OF BOGIE.

WEMYSS, SIR JAMES, of Bogie, co. Fife; s. to the Baronetcy of Nova Scotia, conferred in 1701 on SIR JAMES WEMYSS, of Bogie, at the decease of his father, but does not assume the title.

Lineage.

SIR JAMES WEMYSS, the first of the Wemyss's of Bogie, was the 2nd son of Sir David Wemyss, lord of that ilk, progenitor of the Earls of Wemyss. He obtained from his father, in patrimony, the lands of Bogie, with many others too numerous to specify. Sir James had the honour of knighthood conferred upon him by KING JAMES VI., and was appointed vice-admiral of Scotland in 1591. He m. Margaret, dau. of Sir John Melville, of Raith, by whom he had several children, but none of them arrived at maturity except one son,

JAMES, who m. Margaret, dau. of Andrew Kinninmouth, of that ilk, by Helen, his wife, dau. of Henry, Lord Sinclair, and by her he had three sons and a dau.,

- 1 JOHN, (Sir) of Bogie, who became his grandfather's heir.
- 2 David, of Balforg, who carried on the line of the family, as hereafter mentioned.
- 3 Henry, whose descendants now represent the family, as shewn hereafter.

Sir James d. in the year 1640, having lived to a very great age, and was s. by his grandson,

SIR JOHN WEMYSS, who had the honour of knighthood conferred on him by KING CHARLES I. He twice married; 1st, Margaret, dau. of Sir John Aiton, of that ilk; and 2ndly, a dau. of Sir Archibald Johnston, of Warriston, by neither of whom had he any children. He lived in great extravagance, and died in 1679, leaving the estate overwhelmed with debt, and was s. by

SIR JAMES WEMYSS, eldest and only surviving son of David, of Balforg, who was a great loyalist, and invariably attached to the interests of the royal family. Being negligent of his private affairs, and a very bad economist, he greatly increased the encumbrances which were left upon the estate by his uncle. Upon the death of David, Earl Wemyss, in 1680, without issue male, Sir James became the male representative, and, by the old investitures, would have succeeded both to the estates and honours of Wemyss, but Earl David having altered their destination, and having resigned them into the hands of the crown, obtained a new grant of the estate and honours to himself in life rent, and to his youngest dau. and her heirs male in fee. Sir James, in consequence, as the heir male, and his posterity, ever after carried the arms of Wemyss simply, without any mark of cadence. He m. a dau. of Sir John Aiton, of that ilk, by whom he had three sons and one dau., who, with their families, all died, excepting his eldest son, John. Sir James was, in 1701, created a Baronet by QUEEN ANNE, by patent to him and his heirs male whomsoever; and dying soon thereafter, was s. by his only son,

SIR JOHN, of Bogie, who m. a dau. of Sir William Lockhart, advocate, by whom he left one son,

SIR JAMES, of Bogie; who being no economist, found himself, not many years after his succession, in such difficulties as to be under the necessity of parting with the family estate, which had been handed down to him loaded with debt. He accordingly sold it, and retired to his house in Kirkaldy, where he died a bachelor a few years afterwards. Upon that event, the representation in the male line devolved on the descendants of HENRY WEMYSS, 3rd son of James, and grandson of Sir James Wemyss, the 1st of Bogie. This

HENRY WEMYSS got from his grandfather, Sir James, a considerable inheritance, and m. a daughter of Sir John Kirkaldy, of Grange, by whom he had two children, a dau. and a son. The latter,

JAMES WEMYSS, displeasing his father by marrying contrary to his wishes, was left by him at his death with very slender means, his father having bequeathed the most of his property to his daughter. Having betaken himself to an agricultural life, he obtained from his uncle, Sir John, an advantageous lease of the mains of Bogie, which his descendants in a direct line continued to possess till towards the end of the last century. He was s. in the farm by his only son,

JOHN WEMYSS, b. in 1684; who had several children, and upon his death was s. by his eldest son,

JOHN WEMYSS, who was b. in 1714, and m. Cecil, dau. of Robert Durie, Esq., a near cadet of the ancient family of Durie of that ilk, in Fife, by whom he had four sons, David.

James.
John.
Robert.

He d. in the year 1794, at a very advanced age, and was s. by his eldest son,

DAVID WEMYSS, a brewer in Kirkaldy; who d. without issue, in 1818, and was s. by his brother,

JAMES WEMYSS, minister of the parish of Burntisland, Fifeshire. He m. Christian, dau. of Samuel Charteris, Esq., solicitor of customs for Scotland, by whom he left several daus. and one son,

JAMES WEMYSS, writer to his majesty's signet, Edinburgh, who is now the representative of the family of Bogie, and, as such, entitled to assume the baronetcy, which he does not at present do.

Creation—1701.

WENMAN.

WENMAN, BARONESS, (Sophia-Elizabeth Wykeham,) of Thame Park, co. Oxford; so created in 1834.

Lineage.

The family of Wykeham has been settled at Swalcliffe from a very remote period: we find mention of a Sir Ralph Wykeham living in the time of KING JOHN, and of a Sir Robert Wykeham contemporary with HENRY III., but of these knights little more is recorded. The great luminary of the family was the celebrated Bishop of Winchester—WILLIAM OF WYKEHAM—the founder of Winchester College, and New College, Oxford. It is still, however, a contested point whether this eminent churchman was, or was not, a descendant of the Wykehams of Swalcliffe. They have, from time immemorial, claimed him as one of their race; and in later times an intermarriage has taken place between Richard Wykeham, of Swalcliffe, and the sister of Richard Fiennes, last Viscount Saye and Sele, who was the lineal descendant and ultimate heiress of William of Wykeham.

ROBERT WYKEHAM, Lord of Swalcliffe at the commencement of the 14th century, was direct ancestor* of

RICHARD WYKEHAM, Esq. of Swalcliffe, who m. Vere-Alicia, dau. of the Rev. Richard Fiennes, and sister and co-heir of Richard, last Viscount Saye and Sele, by whom (who d. in 1768) he had issue,

WILLIAM-HUMPHRY, his heir.

Richard, vicar of Sulgrave and Chacombe, father of the present FIENNES-WYKEHAM MARTIN, Esq. of Leeds Castle, in Kent. (See BURKE'S Commoners, vol. i. p. 422.)

George, R.N., m. Mary, dau. of — Waddington, Esq., and had issue.

Vere, m. to the Rev. Richard Nicoll, D.D.

Susanna, m. to Benjamin Holloway, Esq.

Mr. Wykeham d. in 1751, and was s. by his eldest son,

WILLIAM-HUMPHRY WYKEHAM, Esq. of Swalcliffe, who m. the Hon. Sophia Wenman, eventually sole heiress of her brother Philip, Viscount Wenman, and had issue,

WILLIAM-RICHARD, his heir.

Philip-Thomas, m. 1st, Hester-Louisa, dau. of Fiennes Trotman, Esq. of Siston Court, and had two sons, Philip-Thomas-Herbert, now of Tythorp House, Oxon.

Aubrey-Wenman, m. 22 June, 1836, Georgiana, sister of Sir James Musgrave, Bart. of Barnsley Park.

He wedded 2ndly, Eliza, eldest dau. of Fiennes-Wykeham Martin, Esq. of Leeds Castle; and d. in 1832.

Sophia-Anne, d. unm.

Harriet-Mary, m. 1st, to the Rev. Willoughby Bertie; and 2ndly, to Sir Edward Johnson, K.C.S.

Mr. Wykeham d. in 1783, and was s. by his son,

WILLIAM-RICHARD WYKEHAM, Esq. of Swalcliffe; who m. 1st, Elizabeth, dau. of W. Marsh, Esq.; and 2ndly, Miss Hughes. By the 1st he left at his decease, in 1800, an only surviving child, the present BARONESS WENMAN.

Creation—1834.

Arms—Az., two chevronels, between three roses, gu.

Supporters—Two greyhounds, gu., each gorged with a collar, or, suspended therefrom an escutcheon of the arms.

Seats—Thame Park, and Swalcliffe House, Oxfordshire.

WENTWORTH.

WENTWORTH, SIR CHARLES-MARY, of Parlut, in the county of Lincoln, D.C.L.; b. 18 Jan. 1775; s. as 2nd baronet, at the decease of his father, 1820.

Lineage.

"The ancient and honourable family of Wentworth," says Thoresby, in his History of Leeds, "which for six hundred years hath borne the honour of knighthood, was seated four hundred years before that in the county of York; the ancient and chief seat of the principal branch of this noble family hath been for many ages at Wentworth Woodhouse, in the wapentake of Strafford, whence they spread into other parts, at Ganthorpe Hall, and Potter Newton, in the parish of Leedes." Thoresby gives two pedigrees of the Wentworth family. In the second, wherein he deduces the descent to Sir Thomas Wentworth, Earl of Strafford, who was beheaded 12 May, 1641, he commences with Reginald Wyntword de Wyntworth, whose descendant in the seventh generation, Robert de Wentworth, living in the reign of HENRY III., m. Emma, dau. and heiress of the ancient family of Woodhouse.

The Wentworths of Yorkshire intermarried with the Neville and Clifford families previous to the sixteenth century, and with many other families of the first distinction; and we find on record, William de Wentworth, abbot of the priory of Monk Bretton, in Yorkshire, in 1323; and Hugh, son of Henry de Wentworthe, who gave eleven acres of his demesne lands in Wentworth to the said priory in 1392. Of this very illustrious family was

WILLIAM WENTWORTH, Esq., who emigrated from co. York to Boston, in America, in the year 1628, and removed subsequently to New Hampshire. This gentleman was grandfather of

JOHN WENTWORTH, Esq., lieutenant-governor of New Hampshire; who m. Sarah, dau. of Mark Hunkyn, Esq., by whom he had eighteen children, and was s. by his eldest son,

BENNING WENTWORTH, Esq., governor of New Hampshire; at whose decease, without issue, the estates devolved upon his nephew,

I. JOHN WENTWORTH, Esq., LL.D., eldest son* of Mark Hunkyn Wentworth, Esq. of Portsmouth, in New Hampshire, by Elizabeth, dau. of John Rindge, Esq. of the same place, who was nominated, in 1766, governor of New Hampshire, and surveyor-general of the woods in America, which high offices he continued to fill until the breaking out of the civil war; when remaining firmly attached to the cause of his sovereign, he was rewarded with the government of Nova Scotia, and the honourable privilege of bearing, in the chevron of his arms, two keys, emblematic of his fidelity. Mr. Wentworth, who was created a Baronet, 16 May, 1796, returned to England in 1810, after forty-six years of faithful and devoted services in North America. He m. Frances, dau. of Samuel Wentworth, Esq. of Boston, in North America, by whom he had an only son, CHARLES-MARY, the present baronet. He d. in 1820.

Creation—16 May, 1796.

Arms—Sa., on a chev., engr., or, between three leopards' faces, ar., two antique keys, chevron-wise, az., wards upwards.

Crest—On a mount, vert, a griffin, passant, per pale, or and sa., charged with two antique keys, erect, in fesse, counterchanged.

WESTMEATH.

WESTMEATH, MARQUESS OF, (George-Thomas-John Nugent,) and Earl of Westmeath, in the peerage of Ireland; one of the representative lords; b. 17 July, 1785; m. 29 May, 1812, Emily-Anne-Bennet-Elizabeth, 2nd dau. of James, 1st Marquess of Salisbury, and has an only surviving daughter,

ROSA-EMILY-MARY-ANNE.

His lordship inherited the earldom, as 8th earl, at the decease of his father, 30 Dec. 1814, and obtained the marquessate, by patent of creation, 12th Jan. 1822. The marquess is lord-lieutenant of the co. Westmeath and colonel of its militia.

Lineage.

This family has been settled in Ireland since the subjugation of that country by HENRY II. Its founder,

1093

SIR GILBERT DE NUGENT, one of the knights who accompanied Hugh de Lacie in the expedition to Ireland, having m. Rosa, the sister of the said Hugh, obtained thereby the Lordship of Delvin; but his sons pre-deceasing him, he was s. at his decease by his brother,

RICHARD NUGENT, whose only dau. and heiress carried the Barony of Delvin into the family of Johns, or Jones, into which she married, and it so remained until brought back by the intermarriage of

SIR WILLIAM NUGENT, of Balrath, descended from Christopher Nugent, Esq., the 3rd brother of Sir Gilbert, with Catherine, daughter and heiress of John Fitz Jones, Baron of Delvin. This Sir William was elected, 10 Nov. 1401, sheriff of Meath, by the county, in which office he was confirmed by the king for one year, and again during pleasure, by patent, 21 Nov. 1402. He was s. at his decease by his eldest son,

RICHARD, 2nd Baron of Delvin; who, in consequence of his services and expenses in the king's wars, to the impoverishment of his fortune, had an order, dated at Trim, 20 Feb. 1428, to receive twenty marks out of the Exchequer. This Richard m. Catherine, dau. of Thomas Drake, sister and heiress of Nicholas Drake, of Drakerath, county of Meath, and was s. by his eldest son,

JAMES, 3rd Baron of Delvin; who m. Elizabeth, elder dau. and co-heiress of Sir Robert Hollywood, of Artane, co. Dublin, and grandau. maternally, of Christopher, 3rd Lord of Killeen, and had four sons, viz.,

CHRISTOPHER, his heir.

Robert, of Drumcree, co. Westmeath.

Lavallin, of Dysert, co. Westmeath.

Andrew, of Donore, co. Westmeath, ancestor (in the female line) of the present SIR PERCY NUGENT, Bart. of Donore.

His lordship was s. by his eldest son,

CHRISTOPHER, 4th Baron of Delvin; who m. the dau. of Sir Robert Preston, of Gormanston, and was s. by his son,

SIR RICHARD NUGENT, Knt., 5th Baron of Delvin; who m. Elizabeth, dau. of the Earl of Kildare, and was s. by his son,

CHRISTOPHER, 6th baron; who was father of

RICHARD, 7th baron; who had summonses to parliament in the years 1486, 1490, and 1493, and was constituted by the lords-justices and council, in 1496, commander and leader in chief of all the forces destined for the defence of the counties of Dublin, Meath, Kildare, and Louth. His lordship was subsequently summoned to parliament in 1498, but failing to appear, he was fined forty shillings for non-attendance. In 1504, Lord Delvin accompanied the Earl of Kildare to the famous battle of Knocktough, in Connaught, and was the first to throw a spear into the ranks of the Irish, by which he chanced to kill one of the Burkes. In 1527, he was nominated lord-deputy of Ireland, and conducted the public affairs with integrity and honour, until treacherously taken prisoner by O'Connor. That native chieftain having made inroads upon the confines of the Pale, in 1528, Lord Delvin ordered the detention of a yearly rent due to him out of certain carucates of lands in the county of Meath; which procedure led to a conference at the castle of Rathin, belonging to Sir William D'Arcie, when by stratagem the lord-deputy was seized and detained prisoner, many of his attendants being slain, wounded, and taken. Walter Wellesley, of Dangan Castle, and Sir Walter Delahide, of Moyclare, were subsequently deputed to expostulate with O'Connor, and to procure his lordship's liberation, but ineffectually, when another lord-deputy was appointed to administer the government, and Lord Delvin remained in confinement until O'Connor's pension was restored. His lordship m. Elizabeth, dau. of Lord Houth, and had two sons,

Sir Christopher Nugent.

Sir Thomas Nugent, of Carlanstown, founder of the family now represented by the Duke of Buckingham, as Earl Nugent.

His lordship d. 28 Feb. 1537, and was s. by his son,

CHRISTOPHER, 8th Baron of Delvin. This nobleman obtained a commission from the crown, in 1567, authorizing him to extirpate the O'Mores, sons of Ferrasse Mac Rosse, and their followers; but notwithstanding the zeal his lordship evinced in that service, he was himself sent prisoner to London, in 1580, and committed to the Tower, on suspicion of holding correspondence with the rebels of Leinster; but his innocence being soon afterwards fully established, he was enlarged, and returning to Ireland, was present in Sir John Perrott's parliament, in 1585. In 1588, he obtained a grant of the priory of Foure, county of Westmeath; and being, in 1593, appointed by commission leader of the forces raised in the county of Westmeath at the general hosting on the hill of Tarah, he brought, with the Nugents, his kinsmen, twenty horsemen thither; and so acceptable were his services to QUEEN ELIZABETH, that, by privy seal, A.D. 7 May, 1597, she ordered him a grant in fee farm of so many manors and forfeited lands in the counties of Cavan and Longford at his election as should amount to the crown-rent £100 a year English. But this grant not having been executed during his life, on account of the troubles in Ireland, KING JAMES, 10th Aug. 1603, ordered £60 in lands, per annum, to be granted to his widow and son. His lordship m. Mary, daughter of Gerald, 11th Earl of Kildare; and dying in 1602, was s. by his eldest son,

RICHARD, 9th Baron of Delvin by tenure, and 4th by writ. This nobleman was arrested in 1607, and committed by the Lord-Deputy Chichester to the castle of Dublin, upon a charge of high-treason, being concerned in a conspiracy with the Earls of Tyrone and Tyrconnel, and others, to surprise the castle of Dublin, cut off the lord-deputy and council, dissolve the state, and set up a government of their own. His lordship effected, however, his escape, by the assistance of his servant, and was subsequently proclaimed a traitor. Surrendering in the following year, he obtained a pardon under the great seal, (A.D. 1608,) and so entirely re-established himself in a few years in royal favour, that he was created EARL OF WESTMEATH, 4 Sept. 1621. He m. Jane,* dau. of Christopher, 9th Lord Killeen; and dying in 1641, was s. by his grandson,

RICHARD, 2nd earl, (only son of Christopher, Lord Delvin, who pre-deceased his father, by Anne, eldest dau. of Randall M'Donnell, Earl of Antrim.) This nobleman m. Mary, dau. of Sir Thomas Nugent, Bart. of Moyrath, and had, with junior issue,

CHRISTOPHER, Lord Delvin, who m. Mary, eldest dau. of Richard Butler, Esq. of Kilcash, and niece of James, 1st Duke of Ormonde; and dying in the lifetime of his father, left, with three daus., three sons,

RICHARD, who s. as 3rd earl.
Thomas.
John.

Thomas, of Pallace, co. Galway, lord-chief-justice of the court of King's Bench, was created Baron Nugent, of Riverston, co. Westmeath, in 1689, but the title being conferred after the king (JAMES II.) had abdicated the English crown, is not acknowledged in his descendant and representative, the present proprietor of the estate of Pallace.

The earl d. in 1684, and was s. by his grandson,

RICHARD, 3rd earl. This nobleman adopting a religious life, became a friar of the order of Capuchins; and dying in April, 1714, at Wassey, in a convent of his order, the honours devolved upon his brother,

THOMAS, 4th earl; who had a colonel's command in the army of KING JAMES II., and was outlawed in consequence in 1691; but being one of the hostages exchanged for the observance of the articles of Limerick, the outlawry was reversed, and he was restored to his estates and honours. His lordship m. Margaret, only dau. of John, Lord Bellew, by whom he had (with two sons, Christopher, Lord Delvin, who d. unm. at Bath, 12 April, 1752; and John, who d. unm. in 1725) two daughters, in whose descendants the Barony of Delvin is presumed to have fallen into abeyance; namely,

* From John Nugent, Esq., grandson of the Earl of Westmeath, derive the NUGENTS, of Killasonna, co. Longford.

I. LADY MARY NUGENT, who m. Francis, 21st Lord Athenry, and had several children. Her eldest son, Thomas Bermingham, Baron of Athenry, became Earl of Louth. He d. in 1799, having had three daus.,

Elizabeth Bermingham, m. 1st, to Thomas Bailly Heath Sewell, Esq., by whom she had,

THOMAS-BERMINGHAM-DALY-HENRY SEWELL, who m. the Hon. Harriet Beresford, dau. of the 1st Lord Decies, and has had one son, Thomas, lieut. 13th light infantry, d. in India in 1837, and four daus.

Elizabeth-Blake Sewell, m. to the Rev. Francis Cole, and is deceased.

Her ladyship m. 2ndly, Francis Duffield, Esq.; and 3rdly, J. Russell, Esq. She d. in 1838.

Mary Bermingham, m. to William, 2nd Earl of Howth, and pre-deceased her father, leaving four daus.,

Harriet, m. to Arthur-F. St. George, Esq. of Tyrone, co. Galway.

Isabella, m. to William-Richard, Earl of Annesley.

Matilda, m. to Major William Burke.

Mary, m. to Clifford Trotter, Esq.

Louisa Bermingham, m. to Joseph-Henry Blake, Esq. of Ardfry, by whom she had a dau.,

Anastasia, m. to Luke, 2nd Lord Clonbrock.

II. LADY CATHERINE NUGENT, m. to Andrew Nugent, Esq. of Dysert, and had issue, Lavallan, of Dysert and Tullaughan, who claimed the Barony of Delvin in 1799; but d. s. p.

Patrick-Anthony, captain in the army; d. unm. in 1785.

Margaret, m. to Andrew Savage, Esq. of Portaferry, co. Down, and had a son and successor,

Patrick Savage, who m. in 1765, Anne, dau. of Roger Hall, Esq. of Narrow Water, and had a son and heir,

ANDREW SAVAGE, Esq. of Portaferry, who assumed the surname of NUGENT on inheriting a portion of Governor Nugent's fortune, and claimed the Barony of Delvin in 1814.

Barbara, m. to James O'Reilly, Esq. of Ballinlough, and was mother of the late Sir Hugh O'Reilly, Bart., who assumed the name of NUGENT.

The earl d. at the advanced age of ninety-six, in 1752, and was s. by his brother,

JOHN, 5th earl, a major-general in the army; who m. Margaret, dau. of Count Molza, of Modena, by whom he had three sons and a daughter. His lordship d. in 1754, and was s. by his eldest son,

THOMAS, K.P., 6th earl, who conformed to the established church. This nobleman m. 1st, in 1742, Mary, only dau. and heiress of Walter-Durand Stapleton, Esq., by whom he had an only son, Richard, Lord Delvin, who fell in a duel in 1761. He espoused 2ndly, in 1756, Catharine, dau. and co-heiress of Henry White, Esq. of Pichfordstown, co. Kildare, by whom he had surviving issue,

GEORGE-FREDERICK, his successor.

Catherine, who m. in 1784, the Hon. John Rodney.

His lordship d. in 1791, and was s. by his only son,

GEORGE-FREDERICK, 7th earl, b. 18 Nov. 1760; m. 1st, in 1784, Marianne, eldest dau. of James St. John Jeffreys, Esq. of Blarney Castle, in the co. of Cork, and niece of John, 1st Earl of Clare, lord-high-chancellor of Ireland, by whom he left GEORGE-THOMAS-JOHN, the present Marquess of Westmeath. His lordship's marriage being dissolved by act of parliament, in 1796, (her ladyship wedded 2ndly, the Hon. Augustus-Cavendish Bradshaw,) he m. 2ndly, in 1797, Lady Elizabeth-Emily Moore, dau. of Charles, 2nd Marquess of Drogheda, and by that lady had,

Robert-Seymour, b. 2 June, 1805; deceased.

Thomas-Hugh, b. 3 Sept. 1807.

His lordship s. to honours already acquired by his family, as 2nd Earl Grosvenor, &c., upon the demise of his father, 2 June, 1802, and was created Marquess of Westminster in Sept. 1831.

Lineage.

This noble family traces its descent in the male line to an illustrious house which flourished in Normandy for a century and a half before the conquest of England, and obtained its surname from having held the high and powerful office in that principality of LE GROVENOUR. The founder of the English Grosvenors, Gilbert Le Grosvenor, came over in the train of the CONQUEROR, and was nephew of Hugh Lupus, Count of Avranches, afterwards Earl of Chester, uncle of the victorious monarch. The immediate ancestor of the ennobled family before us,

SIR THOMAS LE GROSVENOR, Lord of Hulme, m. a dau. of Sir William Phesant, Knt., and had three sons, viz.,

I. ROBERT, Lord of Hulme, who left six daus.,

WESTMORELAND.

WESTMORELAND, EARL OF, (John Fane,) and Baron Burghersh, K.G.; b. 1 Jan. 1759; inherited as 10th earl, at the decease of his father, 26 April, 1774; m. 1st, 20 May, 1782, Sarah-Anne, only dau. and heiress of Robert Child, Esq. of Osterley Park, co. Middlesex, an eminent banker of London, by whom (who d. 9 Nov. 1793) he has issue,

JOHN, Lord Burghersh, G.C.H. and C.B.; b. 3 Feb. 1784; m. 26 June, 1811, Priscilla-Anne, dau. of the Right Hon. William Wellesley-Pole, (now Lord Maryborough,) by whom he has,

George-Augustus-Frederick-John, b. 18 June, 1819.

Ernest-Fitzroy-Neville, b. in 1824.

Francis-William-Henry, b. 19 Nov. 1825.

Julian-Henry-Charles, b. 10 Oct. 1827.

* One of the earl's ancestors, Sir Robert le Grosvenor, had a protracted litigation with Sir Richard le Scrope about a coat of arms, in which that gentleman was plaintiff and Sir Robert defendant. The suit was tried before the high-constable and high-marshal of England, and others commissioned for that purpose, and lasted three years, not being decided until 1389.

Sir Richard le Scrope complained of Sir Robert le Grosvenor's using a particular coat; viz., azure, a bend, or, which belonged to him; and the decision of the court confirmed Sir Richard's right, but permitted Sir Robert le Grosvenor to use instead, "Az., a GARB, or," which has ever since continued the arms of the family.

The Earl of Westmoreland m. 2ndly, 24 March, 1800, Jane, daughter and co-heiress of Richard-H. Saunders, M.D., by whom he has,

Henry-Sutton, lieut.-colonel, 34th foot; b. 14 Jan. 1804. Montague-Villiers, b. 19 Sept. 1805.

Cecily-Jane-Georgiana.

His lordship is lord-lieutenant and custos rotulorum of the co. of Northampton.

Lineage.

It appears from an ancient pedigree that the ancestors of the Earls of Westmoreland and of the Duke of Cleveland originally wrote their surname Vane, and that they were descended from Howell ap Vane, of Monmouthshire, who lived long antecedently to the Conquest. The immediate progenitor, however, of these noble houses,

JOHN VANE, of Hilden, co. Kent, lived temp. HENRY VI., and had a grant during that reign of the manor of Hadloe, in the same county. This gentleman m. Isabel, dau. of John Darell, Esq., and had (with three daus.) four sons,

Henry, who d. without issue, in the 25th of HENRY VIII. RICHARD, progenitor of the family now before us.

Thomas.

John, ancestor of the Earls of Darlington, (recently advanced to the Dukedom of Cleveland.)

The second son,

RICHARD FANE, Esq. of Badsell, in Tudely, in Kent, inherited the manor of Snergate, with other extensive possessions, from his father, and was residuary legatee of his elder brother, Henry. He m. Agnes, dau. and heiress of Thomas Stidolph, Esq. of Badsell; and dying in 1540, was s. by his only son,

GEORGE FANE, Esq. of Badsell, who served the office of sheriff of Kent in the 4th and 5th of PHILIP and MARY; and marrying Joan, daughter of William Waller, Esq. of Groombridge, in the same county, was succeeded at his decease, in 1571, by his elder son,

THOMAS FANE, Esq., who being involved in the rebellion of Sir Thomas Wyatt, in the 1st year of QUEEN MARY, was committed to the Tower, and attainted for high-treason, but pardoned by her majesty and set at liberty, after he had been ordered for execution. Mr. Fane, in the ensuing reign, was knighted at the castle of Dover, 26th Aug. 1573, by Robert, Earl of Leicester, in the presence of the queen. He m. 1st, Elizabeth, dau. of Thomas Colepepper, of Bedgbury, but had no issue. He espoused 2ndly, in 1574, Lady Mary Neville, only dau. and heiress of Henry, Lord Abergavenny, the lineal descendant of Edward Neville, younger son of Ralph Neville, 1st Earl of Westmoreland of the family of Neville, (see BURKE'S Extinct Peerage;) by whom he had issue, four sons and two daus. Sir Thomas d. 13 March, 1589; and in fifteen years afterwards, 25 May, 1604, his widow,

LADY MARY FANE, was restored to the dignity of Baroness Le Despencer, the letters patent of restoration beginning thus:—"Whereas, Hugh Le Despencer, formerly justice of England in the reign of KING HENRY III., was one of the barons of England, by the name of Baron Le Despencer, to him and his heirs, and was summoned to parliament among the barons, 49th HENRY III.; and whereas, Mary Fane, dau. and heiress of Henry, Lord Abergavenny, son and heir of George, Lord Abergavenny, son and heir of George, Lord Abergavenny, son and heir of Elizabeth, eldest dau. of Isabel, sister and heiress of Richard Le Despencer, Earl of Gloucester, and Lord Le Despencer, son of Edward, Lord Le Despencer, by Elizabeth, dau. and heiress of Bartholomew, Lord Burghersh, son of Edward Le Despencer, son of Hugh, Lord Despencer, Earl of Winchester, and Baron Le Despencer, who was son of Hugh, the aforesaid justice of England, who was summoned to parliament, 49th HENRY III., among the peers; and not only born of an honourable and illustrious stock, but shewed himself adorned with all virtues, and worthy of his descent, &c. &c." Her ladyship d. 28 June, 1626, and was s. in the ancient barony thus restored by her eldest son,

II. CHARLOTTE LUTHER, m. as in the text, to HENRY FANE, Esq.

III. REBECCA LUTHER, m. to JOHN TAYLOR, Esq.

- 5 Charlotte, m. in 1813, to Col. John Potter Hamilton.
- 6 Georgiana, m. to Joseph Warner Henley, Esq.
- 7 Augusta, m. in 1815, to Benjamin Keene, Esq.

II. Francis, M.P. for Dorchester, d. s. p.

The earl d. 23 March, 1628, and was s. by his eldest son,

MILDMAY, 2nd earl. This nobleman was made one of the knights of the Bath at the coronation of CHARLES I.; and at the breaking out of the civil war, arrayed himself under the royal banner; but in 1643, according to Whitlock, in his Memorials, "The Earl of Westmoreland, and divers other delinquents, came into the parliament, desiring the benefit of the declaration of both kingdoms for composition;" and 22 April, 1645, "The Earls of Westmoreland, Holland, Thanet, Monmouth, and the Lord Saville, took the oath appointed by parliament for such as came unto them before the commissioners of the great seal." His lordship concurring, however, in the restoration of the monarchy, was constituted, jointly with John, Earl of Bridgewater, 30 July, 1660, lord-lieutenant of the co. Northampton. He m. 1st, Grace, dau. of Sir William Thornihurst, of Herne, in the co. Kent, and granddaughter, maternally, of Thomas Howard, Viscount Bindon, by whom he had one son (his successor) and five daus.; and 2ndly, Mary, dau. and co-heiress of Horace, Lord Vere, of Tilbury, and relict of Sir Roger Townshend, Knt. of Raynham, in the co. Norfolk, by whom he had Vere, who s. his brother in the earldom &c., and four daus. Lord Westmoreland was author of a scarce volume of poems, printed only for private circulation, in 1648, entitled "Otia Sacra," of which the following specimen is extracted from Parke's Royal and Noble Authors:—

"Virtus vera nobilitas."

"What doth he get who e'er prefers
The 'scutcheons of his ancestors?
This chimney-piece of gold or brass?
That coat of arms blazoned in glass?
When these with time and age have end,
Thy prowess must thyself commend.
The smooty shadows of some one
Or other's trophies carved in stone,
Defac'd, are things to whet, not try
Thine own heroicism by;
For cast how much thy merit's score
Falls short of those went there before;
By so much art thou in arrear,
And stain'st gentility, I fear.
True nobleness doth those alone engage
Who can add virtue to their parentage."

His lordship d. 12 Feb. 1665, and was s. by his eldest son,
CHARLES, 3rd earl. This nobleman m. twice; but d. without issue, in Sept. 1691, when the honours devolved upon his half-brother,

VERE, 4th earl, K.B.; who m. Rachael, only dau. and heiress of Mr. Alderman Bence, of the city of London, by whom he had four sons and six daus. His lordship d. 29th Dec. 1693, and was s. by his eldest son,

VERE, 5th earl. This nobleman dying unm. 19 May, 1699, within a few days of being of age, the honours devolved upon his brother,

THOMAS, 6th earl; who m. Catherine, widow of Richard Beaumont, Esq. of Whitley, and dau. and heiress of Thomas Stringer, Esq. of Charleston, in Yorkshire; but dying without issue, 4 June, 1736, the honours devolved upon his next brother,

JOHN, 7th earl. This nobleman having distinguished himself as a military officer under the Duke of Marlborough, had been previously elevated to the peerage of Ireland, 4 Oct. 1733, by the title of Baron Catherlough. His lordship subsequently attained the rank of lieutenant-general in the army. He m. Mary, only dau. and heiress of Lord Henry Cavendish, second son of William, Duke of Devonshire; but dying without issue, 26 Aug. 1762, the Irish peerage expired, while the Barony of Despencer, being a barony in fee, was confirmed to Sir Francis Dashwood, Bart. of West Wycomb, in the co. Buckingham, 19 April, 1763, as only son and heir of Sir Francis Dashwood, Bart., by Lady Mary Fane, eldest dau. of Vere, 4th Earl of Westmoreland, by his wife, Rachael, dau. of Mr. Alderman Bence; and the Earldom of Westmoreland with the Barony of Burghersh reverted to the next male heir,

THOMAS FANE, Esq., M.P. for Lyme Regis, as 8th earl, (refer to descendants of Sir Francis Fane, K.B., 3rd son of Francis, 1st earl.) His lordship m. Elizabeth, dau. of William Swymmer, a merchant of Bristol, by whom he had two sons and two daus., viz.,

JOHN, his successor.

WILLOUGHBY.

WILLOUGHBY DE BROKE, BARON, (Henry-Peyto Verney,) b. 5 April, 1773; inherited as 8th baron, at the decease of his brother, 1 Sept. 1820; and as heir-general to the Barony of Latimer, created by writ of summons, 20 Dec. 1299, his lordship is by right Lord Latimer, although he has not established his claim; m. in March, 1829, Margaret, 3rd dau. of Sir John Williams, Bart. of Bodelwyddan.

Lineage.

This is a branch of the house of Willoughby de Eresby, springing from

SIR THOMAS WILLOUGHBY, Knt., (3rd son of Sir Robert

1105

Willoughby, 4th Lord Willoughby de Eresby, by his 1st wife, Alice, dau. of Sir William Skipwith;) which Sir Thomas m. Elizabeth, dau. and heiress of John Nevill, Lord Latimer, and was s. by his only son,

SIR JOHN WILLOUGHBY, whose only son and heir, by Joan Welby, an heiress,

SIR JOHN WILLOUGHBY, Knt., m. Anne, dau. and co-heiress of Sir Edmund Cheney, Knt. of Broke, in the co. Wilts, and was s. by his elder son,

SIR ROBERT WILLOUGHBY, Knt. of Broke, who aiding the cause of Henry, Earl of Richmond, and participating in the victory of Bosworth, was advanced to the peerage by the new monarch (HENRY VII.), by writ of summons, dated in the 7th year of his reign, 12 Aug. 1492, as LORD WILLOUGHBY DE BROKE. His lordship m. Blanch, dau. and heiress of Sir John Champernoun, by whom he had one son, ROBERT, and a dau., Elizabeth, m. to John, Lord Dynham. Lord Willoughby was captain-general of the forces sent in aid of the Duke of Brittany against the French in the 4th of HENRY VII., and marshal of the English army sent into France in four years afterwards. His lordship d. in 1502, and was s. by his only son,

ROBERT, 2nd baron, summoned to parliament 28 Nov. 1511. His lordship m. 1st, Elizabeth, eldest dau. and co-heiress of Richard, Lord Beauchamp, of Powyck, by whom he had an only son,

EDWARD, who pre-deceased him, leaving by his wife, Elizabeth, dau. of Richard Nevile, Lord Latimer, three daus., viz.,

1 ELIZABETH.

2 Anne, d. unm.

3 Blanch, m. to Sir Francis Dantrey, Knt.; and d. s. p.

The eldest daughter,

ELIZABETH WILLOUGHBY, m. Sir Fulke Greville, 2nd son of Sir Fulke Greville, of Milcote, in Warwickshire, and had, (with two younger sons, ROBERT, ancestor of the present EARL OF BROKE AND WARWICK, and Sir Edward,)

SIR FULKE GREVILLE, who m. Anne, dau. of Ralph Nevile, Earl of Westmoreland; and dying in 1606, left a son and dau., viz.,

FULKE, created Lord Broke, of Beauchamp's Court, in 1620; d. unm. in 1628, when the dignity ceased.

Margaret, who became sole heiress at the decease of her brother, Lord Broke. This lady m. Sir Richard Verney, Knt. of Compton Murdac, in Warwickshire, and had eight children; the eldest of whom,

Sir Greville Verney, Knt., m. Catherine, dau. of Sir Robert Southwell, Knt. of Woodrising, co. Norfolk, and grandau. (maternally) of Charles Howard, Earl of Nottingham, and had issue, Greville, whose line ceased with his grandson, William, in 1683.

RICHARD, of Belton, of whom, as the restored Baron Willoughby, we shall treat presently.

George, who d. unm. in 1649.

Elizabeth, m. to William Peyto, Esq. of Chesterton, co. Warwick.

Lord Willoughby m. 2ndly, Dorothy, dau. of Thomas Grey, Marquess of Dorset, by whom he left two daus.,

Elizabeth, m. to John Powlett, Marquess of Winchester. Anne, m. to Charles Blount, son and heir of William, Lord Mountjoy.

His lordship d. in 1522, when the barony fell into abeyance, and so remained until claimed, in 1694, and allowed to

SIR RICHARD VERNEY, Knt. of Belton, co. Rutland, whose immediate descent is particularized above,* as 3rd baron. Sir Richard was born 28 Jan. 1621, and represented the co. of Warwick in parliament before and after the Revolution. He received the honour of knighthood, 1 April, 1685, upon presenting an address from Warwickshire to KING JAMES II. His lordship m. twice: 1st, Mary, dau. of Sir John Prettyman, Knt. and Baronet, of Lodington, co. WILLOUGHBY DE ERESBY.

* The family of Verney derives from WILLIAM DE VERNAI, whose son WILLIAM is mentioned as living in the beginning of the 12th century, and the said William's grandson, ROGER DE VERNAI, or VERNEY, as seated, towards the close of the same era, at Bromshulfe, co. of Stafford.

WILLOUGHBY DE ERESBY, BARON, (Peter-Robert Drummond-Burrell,) and Baron Gwydyr, of Gwydyr, co. Carnarvon; and a privy-councillor; b. in March, 1782; m. 20 April, 1807, Clementina-Sarah, dau. and sole heiress of James Drummond, 1st Lord Perth, (a dignity now extinct,) by whom he has issue, ALBERIC, b. 25 Dec. 1821.

Clementina-Elizabeth, m. 8 Oct. 1827, to Gilbert-John Heathcote, Esq., M.P., eldest son of Sir Gilbert Heathcote, Bart.

Elizabeth-Susan.

Charlotte-Augusta-Arabella.

In consequence of his alliance with the heiress of Lord Perth, his lordship assumed, by sign-manual, 5 Nov. succeeding his marriage, the additional surname and arms of DRUMMOND. He inherited the Barony of Gwydyr, as 2nd baron, at the decease of his father, 29 June, 1820, and the ancient Barony of WILLOUGHBY DE ERESBY, as 19th baron, upon the demise of his mother, 29 Dec. 1828, as well as the joint hereditary great-chamberlainship of England.

Lineage.

This is one of the very ancient baronies created by writ of summons, which pass, being heritable by heirs male or female, at different periods into different families, and sometimes remain for centuries dormant; for in the instance of there being no male heir, but several female, the barony does not devolve upon the eldest dau., but upon all conjointly, and cannot, consequently, be inherited until there be a single heir to the whole, without the especial interference of the crown.

The lordship of Eresby, which constituted the head of this barony, was settled by WILLIAM THE CONQUEROR, with other manors, upon

WALTER DE BEC, one of his companions in arms, who m. Agnes, dau. and heiress of Hugh, son of Pinco, Lord of Tatshall, in the co. Lincoln, and was s. by his eldest son,

HENRY DE BEC, of Eresby, in the co. Lincoln, whose son and heir,

WALTER BEKE, m. Eva, niece and heiress of Walter de Grey, Archbishop of York, and was s. by his eldest son,

HENRY BEKE, who m. Hawise, sister of Thomas de Muleton, and was s. by his son,

WALTER BEKE, who left three sons,

JOHN, of whom presently.

Anthony, Bishop of Durham and Patriarch of Jerusalem.

Of this prelate, Godwin, in his Catalogue of Bishops, gives the following account:—"Before the end of that yeere, 1283, it seemeth Anthony Beake was invested in the Bishopricke of Durham, in which he so flourished, as neuer I think any of his predecessors came neer him. He was wonderfull rich, not onely in ready money, but in lands also and temporal reuenues; for he might dispend yeerely (besides that which belonged to his myter) 5000 markes. Much of that he had of the Lord Vessy, who thinking so to conueigh it vnto his base son, William, (for that he had no other issue,) passed it over to this bishop in trust, which trust, men say, he never answered. A man now of this extraordinary wealth must not content himself with ordinary titles, therefore he procured the pope to make him patriarch of Hierusalem, and obtained of the king the principality of the Isle of Man." (For a more detailed narrative of this celebrated prelate and the family of Bec, see BURKE'S Extinct and Dormant Peerage.)

Thomas, Lord Bishop of St. David's.

The eldest son and heir,

JOHN BEKE, had licence of KING EDWARD I., in the 4th year of that monarch's reign, to make a castle of his manor-house at Eresby, and was summoned to parliament, amongst the barons of the realm, in the 23rd and 24th of the same reign; dying in seven years afterwards, his lordship left issue by his wife, Sarah, dau. of Thomas, Lord Furnival,

WALTER, his son and heir, Lord of Eresby, who survived his father but a few years, and d. issueless, when the BARONY OF BEC, of ERESBY, fell into ABEYANCE, as it still continues.

Alice.

Margaret, m. to Richard de Harcourt.

ALICE BEKE, the eldest dau., and one of the co-heiresses of her brother, married

SIR WILLIAM DE WILLOUGHBY, Knt., great-grandson of Ralph de Willoughby, lord of the manor of Willoughby, in the co. Lincoln; which Sir William de Willoughby, in the 54th of HENRY III., was signed with the cross, together with many other persons of the first rank, who accompanied that monarch's son, PRINCE EDWARD, into the Holy Land. He d. in 1306, and was s. by his eldest son,

ROBERT WILLOUGHBY, who, upon the decease of Anthony Beke, Bishop of Durham, succeeded as next heir to that prelate. This Robert Willoughby being actively engaged in the French and Scottish wars of KING EDWARD I., was summoned to parliament among the barons of the realm, in the 7th of EDWARD II., (26 July, 1313,) as LORD WILLOUGHBY DE ERESBY; and dying in three years afterwards, was s. by his son, (by Margaret, dau. of Edmund, Lord Deincourt,)

JOHN WILLOUGHBY, then a minor, who was committed to the wardship of William, Lord Zouch, of Harringworth, for which that nobleman paid a thousand marks to the king. In the 20th of EDWARD II., this John Willoughby received the honour of knighthood, by bathing, &c., having all the necessary appendages out of the king's wardrobe; and in the 1st of EDWARD III., making proof of his age, had livery of his lands, and was summoned to parliament from 27 Jan. 1322, to 10 March, 1349. His lordship subsequently distinguished himself in the Scottish wars, and was one of the principal commanders at the battle of Cressi. He m. Joan, dau. and heiress of Sir Thomas Rosceline, Knt., and was s. by his eldest son,

JOHN, 3rd Lord Willoughby de Eresby. This nobleman was engaged in the wars of Gascony in the 29th of EDWARD III., and in the next year participated in the glory of Poitiers. His lordship m. Cicily, dau. of Robert de Ufford, Earl of Suffolk; and dying in the 46th of EDWARD III., was s. by his son,

ROBERT, 4th baron; who inherited as nephew and one of the co-heirs of William de Ufford, Earl of Suffolk, upon the decease of that nobleman, in the 5th of RICHARD II.; and in four years afterwards, his lordship accompanied John of Gaunt, Duke of Lancaster, into Spain, for the recovery of the inheritance of Constance, his duchess, eldest dau. and co-heiress of Peter, King of Castile. Lord Willoughby m. 1st, Alice, elder dau. of Sir William Skipwith, Knt., lord-chief-baron of the Exchequer, temp. EDWARD III., by whom he had,

WILLIAM, his successor.

Robert.

Thomas, ancestor of the Lords Willoughby de Broke. (See that dignity.)

John.

Bryan.

His lordship espoused 2ndly, Margery, dau. of William, Lord Zouch, of Harringworth, but had no issue; and 3rdly, Elizabeth, dau. and heiress of William, Lord Latimer, and widow of John Nevil, Lord Raby, but it does not appear that he had any other issue. He d. 13th RICHARD II., and was s. by his eldest son,

WILLIAM, 5th baron. This nobleman was one of the peers in the parliament of the 22nd of RICHARD II., when that monarch made a formal resignation of his royal dignity. His lordship m. 1st, Lucy, dau. of Roger, Lord Strange, of Knokin, by whom he had, (with four daus.,)

ROBERT, his successor.

Thomas, (Sir) a celebrated warrior, who received the honour of knighthood for his valour in the field. He m. Joan, dau. and co-heir of Sir Richard Arundell, Knt., and was s. by his elder son,

ROBERT, (Sir) who was also found to be next heir male to his uncle, ROBERT, Lord Willoughby, in the 30th HENRY VI. He m. Cicely, 2nd dau. of Leo, Lord Welles; and dying in the 5th EDWARD IV., was s. by his elder son,

ROBERT, (Sir) who d. in two years afterwards, and was s. by his brother,

CHRISTOPHER, (Sir) who m. Margaret, dau. of Sir William Jenney, of Knottshall, Suffolk, and had issue,

WILLIAM, his successor, of whom hereafter, as 9th LORD WILLOUGHBY.

Christopher, from whom the Lords Willoughby of Parham derived.

Thomas, ancestor of Lord Middleton.

Lord Willoughby m. 2ndly, Joan, dau. of Thomas Holland, Earl of Kent, (by Joan, surnamed the Fair Maid of Kent, only dau. of Edmund, of Woodstock, Earl of Kent, son of KING EDWARD II.,) and widow of Edmund of Langley, Duke of York, son of KING EDWARD III. (Her ladyship, after Lord Willoughby's decease, m. a 3rd husband, Henry, Lord Scrope; and a 4th, Henry Bromflete, Lord Vesey.) Lord Willoughby de Eresby d. in the 11th of HENRY IV., and was s. by his elder son, ROBERT, 6th baron. This nobleman took a distinguished part in the French wars of HENRY V., and participated in the triumph of AGINCOURT. He was subsequently at the storming of the castle of Caen, and at the protracted siege of Roan. In the reign of HENRY VI., he shared the laurels of Vernoi; and with Sir John Falstolf, soon afterwards, gallantly defeated a projected surprise of Charles de Villiers. For all these eminent services his lordship was created Lord Willoughby, of Monblay and Beaumesguil, and Earl of Vendosme and Beaumont, and installed a knight of the most noble order of the Garter. His lordship m. 1st, Elizabeth, youngest dau. of John Montacute, Earl of Salisbury, by whom he had an only dau., JOAN. He espoused 2ndly, Maud, dau. of Sir Richard Stanhope, Knt., and cousin and co-heiress of Ralph, Lord Cromwell, of Tatshall, but had no other issue. His lordship dying in the 30th of HENRY VI., the honours acquired by himself expired, while the barony devolved upon his only dau. and heiress,

JOAN WILLOUGHBY, who m.

SIR RICHARD WELLES, Knt., who bore in her right the title of Lord Willoughby de Eresby, and was summoned to parliament, as 7th baron, in 1455. His lordship was son of Leo, 6th Baron Welles, who fell in one of the conflicts between the houses of York and Lancaster, and was attainted in 1461. Lord Willoughby obtained a full restoration, however, in blood and honours in 1468; but fell a victim afterwards himself to the vibrations of fortune between the red and white roses, and was beheaded in 1469, when he was s. by his only son,

ROBERT, 8th Lord Welles and 8th Lord Willoughby; who coming into immediate conflict with the Yorkists, under KING EDWARD IV., at Stamford, and suffering a signal defeat, was taken prisoner and beheaded, (refer to BURKE'S Extinct Peerage.) The baronies then devolved upon the last lord's only sister and heiress, JOANE WELLES, who m.

RICHARD HASTINGS, and he was summoned to parliament as Baron Welles; but dying without issue, in 1503, and his lady in three years afterwards, the ancient Barony of Willoughby reverted to her ladyship's kinsman, (refer to Sir Thomas Willoughby, younger son of WILLIAM, 5th baron,)

WILLIAM WILLOUGHBY, as 9th baron. This nobleman d. in 1525, and was s. by his only dau., (by his 2nd wife, the Lady Mary Salines,)

KATHERINE, Baroness Willoughby de Eresby. Her ladyship m. twice; 1st, Charles Brandon, Duke of Suffolk, brother-in-law of KING HENRY VIII., by whom she had two sons, Henry and Charles, who both d. in minority. She espoused 2ndly, Richard Bertie, Esq., by whom she had a son and heir, Peregrine. Her Grace the Duchess of Suffolk, d. in 1580, when her son,

PEREGRINE BERTIE, claimed the ancient barony, and was summoned to parliament as 10th Lord Willoughby de Eresby, 16 Jan. 1581. His lordship m. Lady Mary Vere, daughter of John, Earl of Oxford, and sister and heiress of Edward, 17th Earl of Oxford, lord-high-chamberlain of England, by whom he had five sons and a daughter, Catherine, who m. Sir Lewis Watson, of Rockingham Castle, county Northampton, subsequently created Lord Rockingham. Lord Willoughby d. in 1601, and was s. by his eldest son,

ROBERT, 11th baron; who claimed the Earldom of Oxford and the great-chamberlainship of England in right of his mother, but succeeded in establishing his pretensions to the chamberlainship only; he was, however, created Earl of Lindsay, 22 Nov. 1626. In 1630, his lordship was installed a knight of the Garter; and at the breaking out of the civil war, was nominated commander-in-chief of the king's forces. Of this nobleman, Lord Clarendon says, "He was a man of great honour, and spent the youth and vigour of his age in military actions and commands; and albeit he indulged to himself great liberties of life, yet he still preserved a very good reputation with all men, and a very great interest in his country, as appears by the supplies he and his son brought to the king's army, the companies of his own regiment of foot being commanded by the principal knights and gentlemen of Lincolnshire, who engaged themselves in the service principally out of their personal affection for him." The Barony of Willoughby de Eresby merged in this Earldom of Lindsay and the Dukedom of Ancaster, to which honour the 4th earl was elevated, until the demise of Robert, 4th duke, without issue, in 1779, (see BURKE's Extinct Peerage,) when the Dukedom of Ancaster and the Marquessate and Earldom of Lindsay reverted to his grace's uncle, the Hon. Brownlow Bertie, with whom those honours expired in 1809; and the ancient Barony of Willoughby de Eresby fell into abeyance between his grace's sisters and heiresses,

PRISCILLA-BARBARA-ELIZABETH, the wife of Sir Peter Burrell, Bart., 1st Baron Gwydyr;

And

GEORGIANA-CHARLOTTE, the wife of George-James, 1st Marquess Cholmondeley;

And it so remained until the abeyance was terminated by the crown, 18 March, 1780, in favour of the elder co-heir,

PRISCILLA, who thus became Baroness Willoughby de Eresby. Her ladyship was b. 16 Feb. 1761; she m. as stated above, 23 February, 1779, Sir Peter Burrell, Bart., 1st Lord Gwydyr, by whom (who d. in 1820) she had issue,

PETER-ROBERT, 2nd Lord Gwydyr, and present LORD WILLOUGHBY DE ERESBY.

Ellen-Frances, m. 10 May, 1837, to J. Sawrey Morritt, Esq.

Lineage.

The name of Wylmot, or Wilmot, is very ancient in England. Speed mentions Wilmot, a nobleman of Sussex in the time of KING ÆTHELRED. The family before us (as we find by deeds in their possession, some of which were made before the custom of dating those instruments, and others bearing date 1382) was settled antecedently to the Conquest in Nottinghamshire, from whence it removed into the county Derby in 1539, where, according to Sir William Dugdale, it flourished in great repute, and produced many eminent persons.

JOHN WILMOT, Esq. of Spondon, purchasing the estate of Chaddesden, in Derbyshire, made it the place of his residence, where his descendants have since continued. From this John lineally sprang

ROBERT WYLMOT, Esq. of Chaddesden, who purchased considerable estates at Osmaston, Litchurch, and other places in Derbyshire. This gentleman m. Dorothea, dau. of Lawrence Shrigley, of Shrigley, co. Chester, and had issue,

EDWARD.

NICHOLAS, ancestor of the WILMOTS (Baronets) of Osmaston.

Mr. Wylmot was s. by his elder son,

The REV. EDWARD WYLMOT, D.D., father of

EDWARD WILMOT, Esq. of Chaddesden, who m. in 1667, Susanna, 2nd dau. of Richard Coke, Esq. of Trusley, and had three sons,

I. ROBERT, his heir.

II. Edward, of Spondon, who m. his cousin, Catherine-

Cassandra-Isabella, eldest daughter and co-heir* of William Coke, Esq. of Trusley, and left a son and successor,

Francis-Ballidon, of Trusley, who m. Elizabeth, dau. of Richard Wilmot, Esq. of Derby, and left issue,

- 1 Francis, rector of Trusley and Pinxton; who d. unm. 21 April, 1818, when the estates of Trusley and Spondon devolved on his sister,
- 2 Susanna, m. to John Coke, Esq. of Debdale and Trusley.

III. Richard, M.D., m. Henrietta, dau. of William Cavendish, Esq. of Doveridge, and had issue.

The eldest son,

ROBERT WYLMOT, Esq., rebuilt the mansion of Chaddesden. He m. Joyce, dau. and eventually co-heir of William Sacheverel, Esq. of Staunton, in Leicestershire, and had issue, Mary-Grey, d. 18 March, 1838.

Another daughter.

Another daughter.

Lineage.

The family represented by this peerage and the house of Cholmondeley derive from a common progenitor, namely,

ROBERT FITZHUGH, of Malpas, in Cheshire, one of the barons of Hugh Lupus, Earl of Chester, temp. WILLIAM THE CONQUEROR, whose only dau. and heiress married

WILLIAM LE BELWARD, who thus acquired the Barony of Malpas, and was s. by his son,

WILLIAM LE BELWARD, Baron of Malpas, who m. Beatrix, illegitimate dau. of Hugh (Kevelioc), Earl of Chester, and had three sons,

DAVID, of whom presently.

Robert, who assumed the surname of Cholmondeley, from his seat within the barony, and founded the family of Cholmondeley.

Richard.

The eldest son,

DAVID DE MALPAS, otherwise Le Clerc, from being secretary to the Earl of Chester, m. Margaret, dau. and heiress of Ralph ap Eynion, by whom he had two sons,

William, Baron of Malpas, who left no issue but a bastard son, David;

And

PHILIP DE EGERTON, (the youngest son,) which name he assumed from the Lordship of Egerton, within the Barony of Malpas, where he took up his abode sometime in the beginning of the thirteenth century. This Philip was s. by his son,

DAVID DE EGERTON, who was heir to his uncle, William, Baron of Malpas, but was ousted of his inheritance by his bastard-cousin, David. It is, however, stated by Camden, that he eventually recovered a moiety of the barony. From this David lineally descended

SIR JOHN EGERTON, Knt. of Egerton, who fell, with the flower of the Cheshire gentry, in the memorable battle fought, 2 Sept. 1459, at Bloreheath, in Staffordshire, between the Lord Audley, on the part of HENRY VI., and Richard Neville, Earl of Salisbury, the general of Richard Plantagenet, Duke of York. Of this memorable conflict, Drayton, in his "Poly-olbion," alluding to the knights of Cheshire, thus speaks:—

"There Dutton Dutton kills; a Done doth kill a Done;
A Booth a Booth; and Leigh by Leigh is overthrown;
A Venables against a Venables doth stand;
And Trouthbeck fighteth with a Trouthbeck; hand to hand
There a Molineux doth make a Molineux to die;
And Egerton the strength of Egerton doth try.
O Cheshire! wert thou mad of thine own native gore;
So much until this day thou never shed'st before!
Above two thousand men upon the earth were thrown,
Of whom the greater part were naturally thine own."

Sir John Egerton m. Margaret, dau. of Sir John Fitton, of Cheshire, and was s. by his eldest son,

PHILIP EGERTON, Esq. of Egerton, who m. Margaret, daughter of William Mainwaring, Esq. of Ightfield, and had issue,

William, his successor, who d. issueless.

JOHN, of whom presently.

Ralph, (Sir) of Ridley, from whose illegitimate son, by Alice Sparke, Sir Ralph Egerton, of Ridley, the extinct noble house of Bridgewater sprang.

JOHN EGERTON, Esq., the 2nd son, having succeeded to the fortune upon the decease of his brother, became "of Egerton," and marrying Elizabeth, dau. and heiress of Hugh Done, Esq. of Oulton, in Cheshire, was s. by his only son,

PHILIP EGERTON, Esq. of Egerton and of Oulton, who m. Jane, dau. and heiress of Sir Gilbert Smith, of Cuedley,*

* Brother of William Smith, Bishop of Lincoln, founder of Brasenose College, Oxford.

and had (with a daughter, Margaret, wife of Sir Hugh Starkey, Knt.) an only son and heir,

SIR PHILIP EGERTON, Knt., sheriff of Cheshire in the 5th of QUEEN MARY. This gentleman m. Eleanor, dau. of Sir Randal Brereton, of Ipstones, and was s. by his son,

JOHN EGERTON, Esq., who m. Jane, dau. of Piers Mostyn, Esq. of Talacre, co. Flint, and (with a younger son, Philip, who d. issueless, and a dau., Elizabeth, wife of Sir William Stanley, of Hooton) left a son and heir,

SIR JOHN EGERTON, Knt. This gentleman m. 1st, Margaret, dau. of Sir Rowland Stanley, of Hooton, by whom he had issue, ROWLAND, his successor.

John, killed in a duel by Ed. Morgan, 20 April, 1608.

Peter, m. to Margaret, dau. of Alderman Sir Thomas Hayes, of London.

Frances, m. to John Minshull, of Minshull; her dau. m. Cholmondeley of Vale Royal.

Margaret, m. 1st, to Thomas Hall, Esq.; and 2ndly, to Laurence Whitaker, Esq.

Mary, m. to Richard Cartwright, Esq. of Aynhoe.

He m. 2ndly, Anne, dau. of Robert Bernard, Esq., but had no other issue. He d. in 1614, and was s. by his eldest son,

I. SIR ROWLAND EGERTON, of Egerton and Oulton, who was created a Baronet, 15 April, 1617. This gentleman m. Bridget, dau. of Arthur, 15th Lord Grey, of Wilton, lord-lieutenant of Ireland, (son of William, Lord Grey, of Wilton, K.G., by his wife, Mary, dau. of Charles Somerset, Earl of Worcester,) and only sister and heiress (at his lordship's decease, a prisoner in the Tower) of Thomas, Lord Grey, of Wilton, which dignity being a barony in fee, passed originally from the Longchamps to the Fitzhughs, and from that family, by an heiress, to John, Lord Grey, in 1317, whence it descended to Thomas, the last baron, who was attainted in 1604, when it expired, (refer to BURKE'S Extinct Peerage.) Sir Rowland Egerton had issue,

THOMAS, who m. Barbara, dau. of Sir John St. John, Bart.; but d. s. p. before his father.

JOHN, his successor.

Philip, (Sir) from whom the present SIR PHILIP DE MALPAS GREY-EGERTON, Bart., immediately descends, and through whom he inherits this ancient baronetcy. Sybil, m. 1st, to Edward Bellott, Esq. of Moreton, in Cheshire; and 2ndly, to Sir Edmund Anderson, Bart. of Broughton.

Elizabeth, m. to Sir William Radcliffe, Knt. of Foxdenton. Mary, d. unm.

Sir Rowland d. in 1646, and was s. by his 2nd, but eldest surviving son,

II. SIR JOHN, who m. Anne, dau. of George Wintour, Esq. of Derham, co. Gloucester, and left at his decease, in 1674, (with three daus., Bridget, m. 1st, to Ralph Thicknesse, Esq. of Balterley, in Staffordshire, and 2ndly, to Timothy Hildyard, Esq.; Margaret, m. to Windsor Finch, Esq.; and Anne, m. to John Gardiner, Esq.) a son and successor,

III. SIR JOHN, who m. 1st, Elizabeth, dau. of William, and sister and sole heir of Edward Holland, Esq. of Heaton and Denton, in Lancashire, by whom he had six sons. He espoused 2ndly, Ann, only dau. and heir of Francis Wolferstan, Esq. of Statfold, in Staffordshire, but by that lady had no issue to survive. He was s. by his eldest son,

IV. SIR HOLLAND. This gentleman m. in 1712, Eleanor,* youngest dau. of Sir Roger Cave, Bart. of Stanford, in the co. of Northampton; and dying in 1730, was s. by his eldest son,

V. SIR EDWARD; who d. unm. in March, 1744, when the title devolved upon his brother,

VI. SIR THOMAS-GREY. This gentleman m. in 1748, Catharine, dau. of the Rev. John Copley, rector of Thornhill and Wakefield, in the co. York, and was s. in 1766, by his son,

VII. SIR THOMAS, who was elevated to the peerage, 15 May, 1784, by the title of Baron Grey de Wilton, of Wilton Castle, in the co. Hereford. His lordship m. in 1769, Elenor, youngest dau. and co-heiress of Sir Ralph Asheton, Bart., by whom he had several children, but one only to survive; namely, ELEANOR, who m. in 1794, Robert, Viscount Belgrave, now MARQUESS OF WESTMINSTER. In consequence of the decease of Lord Grey de Wilton's elder children, his lordship obtained a new patent, 26 June, 1801, creating him Viscount Grey de Wilton and EARL OF WILTON, with special remainder to the 2nd and to all the younger sons successively of his dau., by her then husband, Lord Belgrave, or to her male issue by any future husband. His lordship d. 23 Sept. 1814, when the baronetcy reverted to John-Grey Egerton, Esq. of Oulton Park, in the co. Chester, the lineal descendant of Sir Rowland Egerton, the 1st baronet, through his 2nd son, Sir Philip Egerton, Knt.; the Barony of Grey de Wilton, created in 1784, expired; but the earldom and viscounty of 1801 devolved, according to the limitation, upon his lordship's grandson, the HON. THOMAS GROSVENOR, second son of Robert, present Marquess of Westminster.

Annabella, m. 6 Aug. 1827, to Captain William Ramsden, R.N., 2nd son of Sir John Ramsden, Bart.

Cecilia.

His lordship is premier marquess of England.

Lineage.

This family is said by Collins to derive its surname from the Lordship of PAULET, in Somersetshire, whereof its

* She m. 2ndly, John Brooke, Esq.

progenitor, Hercules, Lord of Tournon, in Picardy, became proprietor, upon settling in England, in the reign of HENRY I. But by Collinson's History of that county it appears, that Walter de Dowai owned this lordship in the time of the CONQUEROR and that from him it descended to the Paganel, Fitzhardings, Gaunts, and Gournays. It is certain, however, that the Paulets enjoyed, from a very early period, a manor in this parish, and hence doubtless took their surname.

SIR JOHN PAULET, Knt., m. Elizabeth, dau. and heiress of Sir John Creedy, of Creedy, and dying in 1378, left two sons, Sir Thomas, the elder, progenitor of the Earls Paulet; and

WILLIAM PAULET, (the younger son,) of Melcomb Paulet, in Somersetshire, serjeant-at-law, from whom sprang the extinct ducal house of Bolton, and

SIR WILLIAM PAULET, great-grandson of John Paulet, Esq., by Constance de Poynings, one of the co-heiresses of her brother, Sir Thomas de Poynings, Lord St. John, of Basing, (at the decease of which nobleman, the Barony of St. John of Basing and Poynings fell into abeyance, see BURKE'S Extinct Peerage.) This Sir William enjoying the confidence of KING HENRY VIII., was elevated by that monarch to the peerage, 9 March, 1538-9, as Baron St. John, of Basing, and at his majesty's decease was appointed one of the executors to his will. Lord St. John continuing a leading political character, was created in the ensuing reign, 12 January, 1549-50, Earl of Wiltshire, and 12 Oct. 1551, MARQUESS OF WINCHESTER. He was installed a knight of the Garter, and held the important office of LORD-TREASURER OF ENGLAND during the reigns of EDWARD VI., and QUEENS MARY and ELIZABETH. The marquess being asked how he had contrived to preserve the treasurership through so long a series of changeable years, replied, by being a willow, not an oak. This nobleman erected the beautiful and magnificent seat called Basing, in the co. Southampton. His lordship m. Elizabeth, dau. of Alderman Sir William Capel, Knt. of the city of London; and dying at the advanced age of ninety-seven, 10 March, 1572, was s. by his eldest son,

JOHN, 2nd marquess; who had been summoned to parliament in the lifetime of his father, as Lord St. John, and by that title was one of the peers who sat, 10 Jan. 1571-2, on the trial of Thomas Howard, Duke of Norfolk. His lordship m. 1st, Elizabeth, eldest dau. and co-heiress of Robert Willoughby, Lord Broke, by whom he had four sons and two daus.; and 2ndly, Winifred, dau. of Sir John Burgess, Knt., lord mayor of London, and widow of Sir Robert Sackville, Knt., but had no other issue. He d. 4 Nov. 1576, and was s. by his eldest son,

WILLIAM, 3rd marquess; who had been summoned to parliament in the lifetime of his father, as Lord St. John of Basing. This nobleman was a man of letters, and was enrolled amongst the poets of his day. His lordship m. one of the daus. of William, Lord Howard, of Effingham; and dying 24 Nov. 1598, was s. by his only son,

WILLIAM, 4th marquess. This nobleman entertained QUEEN ELIZABETH most magnificently at Basing during one of her majesty's tours, by which, and other expenses, he involved himself in pecuniary difficulties. His lordship m. Lucy, dau. of Sir Thomas Cecil, Earl of Exeter, by whom he had six sons; the second surviving of whom,

HENRY, who was seated at Amport, in the co. of Hants, m. Lucy, dau. of Sir George Philpot, of Thruxton, Hampshire, and was s. in 1672, by his son,

FRANCIS, of Amport. This gentleman m. Elizabeth, dau. and heiress of Sir Richard Norton, of Rotherfield, Hants, and was s. in 1696, by his only son,

NORTON, who m. Jane, daughter of Sir Charles Worsley, of Droxford, and had eight sons; the youngest, but longest survivor, of whom,

GEORGE PAULET, Esq., succeeded as 12th MARQUESS OF WINCHESTER.

The marquess d. in Feb. 1628, and was s. by his eldest surviving son,

JOHN, 5th marquess; who, at the commencement of the civil wars, hoisted the royal banner on the battlements of

Basing, and there triumphantly maintained it so long as a single stone of the noble mansion remained; but that, after a protracted siege, falling by storm into the hands of the Usurper, was burnt to the ground, and the marquess's property, in plate, jewels, &c., destroyed by the rebels, to the amount of £200,000. His lordship had, however, the satisfaction of living to witness the restoration of the monarchy. He d. in 1674, and was buried at Englefield, where the following lines, by Dryden, appear upon his monument:—

“He who in impious times undaunted stood,
And midst rebellion durst be just and good,
Whose arms asserted, and whose sufferings more
Confirm'd the cause for which he fought before,
Rests here, rewarded by a heavenly prince
For what his earthly could not recompense.
Pray, reader, that such times no more appear,
Or, if they happen, learn true honour here.
Ask of this age's faith and loyalty,
Which (to preserve them) heaven confin'd in thee.
Few subjects could a king like thine deserve,
And fewer such a king so well could serve.
Blest king, blest subject, whose exalted state
By sufferings rose, and gave the law to fate;
Such souls are rare, but mighty patterns given
To earth, and meant for ornaments to heaven.”

His lordship m. 1st, Jane, daughter of Thomas, Viscount Savage, by whom he had one son, CHARLES, his successor. He espoused 2ndly, Honora, dau. of Richard, Earl of St. Albans and Clanricarde, by whom he had four sons and three daus.; and 3rdly, Isabel, dau. of William Howard, Viscount Stafford. The marquess was s. by his eldest son,

CHARLES, 6th marquess; who was elevated to a dukedom, 9 April, 1689, as DUKE OF BOLTON. His grace m. 1st, Christian, eldest dau. and co-heiress of John Frecheville, of Stavely, afterwards created Lord Frecheville, by whom he had no surviving issue; and 2ndly, Mary, eldest illegitimate dau. of Emanuel Scroop, Earl of Sunderland, and widow of the Hon. Henry Cary, and by that lady had two sons and three daus.,

CHARLES, his heir.

William, who m. twice, and left issue by both marriages.

Jane, m. to John, Earl of Bridgewater.

Elizabeth, m. to Toby Jenkins, Esq.

Of this duke, Burnet says, “This year (1699) died the Marquess of Winchester, whom the king had created Duke of Bolton. He was a man of a strange mixture. He had the spleen to an high degree, and affected an extravagant behaviour; for many weeks he would not open his mouth till such an hour of the day when he thought the air was pure. He changed the day into night, and often hunted by torch-light, and took all sorts of liberties to himself, many of which were very disagreeable to those about him. He was a man of profuse expense, and of a most ravenous avarice to support that; and though he was much hated, yet he carried matters before him with such authority and success, that he was in all respects the great riddle of the age.” His grace was s. by his eldest son,

CHARLES, 2nd duke, lord-lieutenant of Ireland in 1717. His grace m. 1st, in 1679, Margaret, dau. of George, Lord Coventry, but by her had no issue; and 2ndly, Frances, dau. of William Ramsden, Esq. of Byrom, co. York, by whom he had two sons and two daus.,

CHARLES, } successively Dukes of Bolton.
HARRY, }

Mary, m. 1st, to Charles O'Neal, Esq.; and 2ndly, to Arthur Moore, Esq.

Frances, m. to John, Lord Mordaunt.

The duke wedded 3rdly, Henrietta Crofts, youngest natural dau. of James Scot, Duke of Monmouth, by Eleanor, youngest dau. of Sir Robert Needham, Knt., by whom he had one son,

Nassau, who m. Isabella, daughter of Thomas, Earl of Thanet; and d. in 1741, leaving an only dau.,

Isabella, m. to John James, 3rd Earl of Egmont.

He d. 21 Jan. 1721-2, and was s. by his eldest son,

CHARLES, 3rd duke, K.G., constable of the Tower of London, and lord-lieutenant of the Tower Hamlets. His grace m. 1st, Anne, dau. and sole heiress of John Vaughan, Earl of Carberry, by whom he had no issue. He espoused 2ndly, Mrs. Lavinia Bestwick, well known as an actress in the character of Polly Peachum, by whom he had no legitimate issue, but had three sons* prior to the decease of the first duchess. He d. 26 Aug. 1754, when the honours devolved upon his brother,

HARRY, 4th duke; who m. Catherine, dau. of Charles Parry, Esq. of Oakfield, co. Berks, by whom he had two sons and two daus.,

CHARLES, } successively dukes.
HARRY, }

Henrietta, m. to Sir Robert Colebrook, Bart.

Catherine, m. 1st, to William Ashe, Esq.; and 2ndly, to Adam Drummond, Esq.

His grace was s. by his elder son,

CHARLES, 5th duke,† K.B.; at whose decease unm. in 1765, the honours devolved upon his brother,

HARRY, 6th duke, admiral of the white. His grace m. 1st, in 1752, Henrietta, dau. of — Nunn, Esq. of Eltham, co. Kent, by whom he had one dau.,

Mary, who m. John, Viscount Hinchinbroke, eldest son of the Earl of Sandwich.

The duke m. 2ndly, in 1765, Catherine, dau. of Robert Lowther, Esq., and sister of James, Earl of Lonsdale, by whom he had two daus.,

Katherine, m. to the Earl of Darlington, (now Duke of Cleveland;) and d. in 1807.
Amelia.

His grace d. 24 Dec. 1794, when the dukedom expired, but the Marquessate of Winchester and the minor honours devolved upon his kinsman,

GEORGE PAULET, Esq. of Ampot, (refer to descendants of Lord Henry Paulet, 2nd surviving son of William, 4th marquess.) His lordship m. Martha, dau. of Thomas Ingoldsby, Esq., by whom he had issue,

CHARLES-INGOLDSBY, present peer.

Henry, vice-admiral of the white, and knight-grand-cross of the Bath; m. 26 October, 1813, Anne-Maria, youngest dau. of Edward Ravenscroft, Esq., and left at his decease, 28 Jan. 1832, two sons and two daus., viz.,

- 1 Henry-Charles, (Sir) of West Hill Lodge, Hants, in the dragoon-guards; b. 1 Aug. 1814; created a BARONET in 1836.
- 2 Edward, b. 28 Feb. 1825.
- 3 Anna-Maria.
- 4 Urania.

Urania-Anne, m. 1st, in 1785, to Henry, Marquess of Clanricarde; 2ndly, to Col. Peter Kington, who fell at the storming of Buenos Ayres; and 3rdly, to Vice-Admiral Sir Joseph-Sidney Yorke, K.C.B., who d. 5 May, 1831.

The Marquess of Winchester d. 22 April, 1800.

* CHARLES PAULETT, in holy orders, rector of Itchen, Hants.

Percy Pawlett, an officer in the royal navy, who left a son,

Charles, in holy orders, rector of Roding, Essex.

Armand Pawlett, an officer in the army.

WINCHILSEA.

WINCHILSEA, EARL OF, (George-William Finch-Hatton,) Earl of Nottingham, Viscount Maidstone, of Maidstone, Baron Finch, of Daventry, co. of Northampton; and a baronet; b. 22 May, 1791; inherited as 10th earl, at the demise of his cousin, 2 Aug. 1826; m. 1st, 26 July, 1814, Georgiana-Charlotte, eldest dau. of James, 3rd Duke of Montrose, by whom (who d. 13 February, 1835) he has issue, GEORGE-JAMES, Viscount Maidstone, M.P., b. 31 May, 1815.

Caroline, m. 2 Feb. 1837, to Christopher Turnor, Esq. of Panton House, Lincolnshire.

His lordship m. 2ndly, 15 Feb. 1837, Emily-Georgiana, dau. of the Right Hon. Sir Charles Bagot, G.C.B.

Lineage.

It is the opinion of Sir William Dugdale, that this family is descended from a common ancestor with the Herberts, Earls of Pembroke; namely, Henry Fitz-Herbert, chamberlain to KING HENRY I.; and Leland says, "The Finches that be now say, that their proper name is Herbert, and that, with marriage of the Finche's heir, they took Finche's name. One Vincent Finch, in HENRY IV.'s days, recovered by a suit the manor of ———, by Winchelsea." And in an old inscription in Brabourne church the name is written Herbert, alias Finch.

WILLIAM FINCH, Esq. of Netherfield, co. Sussex, (lineally descended from Vincent Herbert, otherwise Finch, of Netherfield, who lived there about the close of EDWARD II.'s reign,) was sheriff of Sussex and Surrey in the 8th of KING HENRY VI. This William m. Agnes, dau. of Walter Roo, Esq. of Dartford, and was s. by his elder son,

JOHN HERBERT, alias FINCH; who dying issueless, was s. by his brother,

HENRY FINCH, of Netherfield, who m. Alice, only dau. and heiress of Philip Belknap, Esq. of the Moat, near Canterbury, (which alliance caused the first establishment of the family in Kent,) and was s. by his eldest son,

SIR WILLIAM FINCH, Knt., who distinguished himself in the French wars of KING HENRY VIII., and for his services obtained a grant of the manor of Borowe Marche, otherwise Burmarsh, co. Kent, part of the possessions of the monastery of St. Austin, near Canterbury. Sir William m. twice; 1st, Elizabeth, dau. of Sir James Crompter of Tunstal, and relict of Sir Richard Lovelace, of Bethersden, co. Kent, by whom he had three sons. He espoused 2ndly, Catherine, dau. of Sir John Gaynsford, of Crowhurst, co. Surrey, by whom he had two sons and three daus. He was s. at his decease by his eldest son,

LAWRENCE FINCH, Esq., who m. Mary, dau. and heiress of Christopher Kemp, Esq.; but dying without issue, was s. by his brother,

THOMAS FINCH, Esq., who, for his services against Sir Thomas Wyatt, and upon other important occasions, was made one of the knights of the Carpet, 2 Oct. 1553, the day after the coronation of QUEEN MARY, in the palace of Westminster, before her majesty, in her chamber of presence, under the cloth of state, by the Earl of Arundel, who was commissioned to confer the honour. In the 6th year of the next reign, Sir Thomas was made knight-marshal of the forces in Newhaven, then besieged by the French, but perished by shipwreck, with a numerous suite, in his voyage to that place. Sir Thomas m. Catherine, elder dau. and one of the co-heiresses of Sir Thomas Moyle, (chancellor of the court of Augmentations,) of Eastwell, co. Kent, by whom he obtained that estate, and had, with other issue,

MOYLE, his successor.

Henry, (Sir) serjeant-at-law, whose son and heir, Sir John Finch, lord-chief-justice of the court of Common Pleas and lord-keeper of the great seal, was created Lord Finch, of Fordwich, co. Kent; and d. in 1661, (when the dignity expired, see BURKE'S Extinct Peerage;) leaving an only dau., who m. Sir George Radcliffe, of Ireland.

Sir Thomas was s. by his eldest son,

I. SIR MOYLE FINCH, Knt. of Eastwell, co. Kent, who was created a Baronet, 29 July, 1611. Sir Moyle m. Elizabeth, only dau. of Sir Thomas Heneage, Knt. of Copt Hall, Essex, (see family of HENEAGE, at foot,) by Anne, dau. of Sir Nicholas Poyntz, of Acton Poyntz, co. Gloucester, and grandau. maternally, of Thomas, Lord Berkeley, of Berkeley Castle. By this marriage Sir Moyle had, with other issue, THEOPHILUS, his successor.

Thomas.

Heneage, (Sir) serjeant-at-law, recorder of the city of London, and speaker of the House of Commons; m. 1st, Frances, dau. of Sir Edmund Bell, of Beaupre Hall, co. Norfolk, by whom he had seven sons and four daus. Sir Heneage m. 2ndly, Elizabeth, dau. of William Cradock, Esq. of Staffordshire, and widow of Richard Bennet, Esq., by whom he had two daus. He d. in 1631, and was s. by his eldest son,

HENEAGE FINCH, Esq., b. 23 Dec. 1621; one of the leading members in the parliament that restored KING CHARLES II., and solicitor-general in 1663, who had first the honour of knighthood conferred upon him, and was then created a Baronet. In 1661, Sir Heneage was chosen treasurer of the Inner Temple, and autumn or summer reader of the society, in which latter capacity he attained very high reputation, his readings being attended by all the learned professions, by the nobility, and, finally, by the king (CHARLES II.) and his court, and terminating in a grand entertainment given by the learned reader to his majesty in the great hall of the Temple. In 1670, Sir Heneage was constituted attorney-general, and made lord-keeper of the great seal, 9 Nov. 1673, when he was elevated to the peerage, (10 Jan. 1673-4) as Lord Finch, of Daventry, co. Northampton. His lordship was declared LORD-HIGH-CHANCELLOR OF ENGLAND, 19 Dec. 1675, and advanced, 12 May, 1681, to the dignity of EARL OF NOTTINGHAM. He m. Elizabeth, dau. of Mr. William Harvey, and had fourteen children. His lordship d. 18 Dec. 1682, and was s. by his eldest son,

DANIEL, 2nd Earl of Nottingham, of whom presently, as 6th EARL OF WINCHILSEA.

Francis, barrister-at-law.

Sir Moyle d. in 1614, and, in some years afterwards, his widow was elevated to the peerage (8 July, 1623,) as Viscountess of Maidstone, and advanced, 12 July, 1623, to the dignity of COUNTESS OF WINCHILSEA, with remainder of both honours to the heirs male of her body. Sir Moyle Finch was s. by his eldest son,

II. SIR THEOPHILUS; at whose decease, without issue, the baronetcy devolved upon his brother,

III. SIR THOMAS, who succeeded to the peerage, as Viscount Maidstone and EARL OF WINCHILSEA, upon the demise of his mother, 13 March, 1633. His lordship m. Cecilie, dau. of John Wentworth, Esq., by whom he left three sons and five daus. He d. at his house in Charterhouse-Yard, in the (then) suburbs of London, 4 Nov. 1634, and was s. by his eldest son,

HENEAGE, 2nd earl. This nobleman having adhered firmly to the royal family during their misfortunes, and contributed by his exertions to the restoration of the monarchy, was created by CHARLES II., 26 June, 1660, as a special mark of royal favour, and in consideration of his lordship's descent from the ancient house of Herbert, formerly possessors of the manor of Eastwell, Baron Fitz-Herbert, of Eastwell, co. Kent. His lordship m. four wives, by whom he had twenty-seven children, sixteen of whom lived to maturity. His 1st lady was Diana, dau. of Francis, Lord Willoughby, of Parham, by whom he had no surviving child. The 2nd was Lady Mary Seymour, 2nd dau. of William, Duke of Somerset, by whom he had seven sons and four daus. The 3rd, Catherine, dau. of Sir Thomas Norcliffe, of Langton, co. York, (who had been married twice previously; 1st, to Christopher Lister, Esq. of Thornton; and 2ndly, to Sir John Wentworth of Elmsall,) by whom he had two daus.; and the 4th, Elizabeth, only dau. and heiress of John Ayres, Esq. of the city of London, by whom he had a son, JOHN, and two daus. The earl was lord-lieutenant of the co. Kent and governor of Dover Castle at the time that KING JAMES II., making an attempt to depart the kingdom, was stopped at Feversham, when his majesty sent for Lord Winchilsea, who prevailed with the king to return to London. His lordship d. in 1689, and was s. by his grandson,

CHARLES, 3rd earl, (posthumous son of Lord Maidstone, who fell in the naval engagement with the Dutch, 28 May, 1672, by Elizabeth, dau. of Thomas Wyndham, Esq. of Felbrigge Hall, co. Norfolk.) This nobleman m. Sarah, dau. of Henry Nourse, Esq. of Woodlands, co. Wilts; but his only son pre-deceasing him in infancy, the honours reverted at his lordship's decease, 14 Aug. 1712, to his uncle,

HENEAGE, 4th earl; who m. Anne, dau. of Sir William Kingsmill, of Sidmonton, co. Southampton, a lady celebrated for her poetic talents; but d. without issue, 30 Sept. 1726, when the honours devolved upon his half-brother,

JOHN, 5th earl; at whose demise without issue, 9 Sept. 1729, the Barony of Fitzherbert expired; while the Earldom of Winchilsea and the Viscounty of Maidstone reverted to his kinsman,

DANIEL, 2nd Earl of Nottingham and Baron Finch, of Daventry, (refer to Heneage, speaker of the House of Commons, third son of Sir Moyle Finch, 1st bart., and his descendants,) as 6th Earl of Winchilsea. This nobleman took an active part in political affairs before and after the Revolution. His lordship m. twice; 1st, Lady Essex Rich, 2nd dau. and co-heiress of Robert, Earl of Warwick, by whom he had one dau., Mary, who m. 1st, William Saville, Marquess of Halifax; and after his decease, John, Duke of Roxburghe. Lord Winchilsea and Nottingham m. 2ndly, Anne, only dau. of Christopher, Viscount Hatton, by whom he had,

I. DANIEL, his successor.

II. William, M.P., a privy-councillor, envoy-extraordinary to the court of Sweden in 1724, and vice-chamberlain of the household; m. 1st, Lady Anne Douglas, sister of Charles, Duke of Queensberry and Dover, but by that lady had no issue; and 2ndly, Charlotte, 2nd dau. of Thomas, Earl of Pomfret, and had,

GEORGE, who inherited as 8th EARL OF WINCHILSEA.
Charlotte, } both d. unm.
Frances, }
Sophia, m. to Capt. Charles Fielding.
Henrietta, d. unm. 1818.

III. John, d. in 1763, leaving an only dau., Elizabeth, m. to John Mason, Esq. of Greenwich.

IV. Henry, d. unm.

V. Edward, assumed the additional surname of HATTON, in pursuance of the testamentary injunction of his aunt, Anne, youngest dau. and co-heiress of Christopher, Viscount Hatton. Mr. Finch-Hatton, who was M.P. for the University of Cambridge, was employed as a diplomatist, and became subsequently one of the grooms of the bedchamber and master of the robes. He m. Elizabeth, dau. and co-heiress of Sir Thomas Palmer, Bart. of Wingham, co. Kent; and dying in 1771, left issue,

1 George, of Eastwell Park, Kent, b. in 1747; who m. Elizabeth-Mary, eldest dau. of David-Murray, 2nd Earl of Mansfield; and dying 17 Feb. 1823, left issue,

Sir William s. his uncle, Edward Worsley, Esq., 21 March, 1830, and was created a Baronet in 1838.

Lineage.

The family of Worsley, or De Workesley, as it was anciently written, derives from Sir Elias de Workesley, lord of the manor of Workesley, (now Worsley,) about seven miles from Manchester, at the time of the Norman Conquest; he is mentioned in an old chronicle as attending Robert, Duke of Normandy, in his expedition for the recovery of the Holy Land, and tradition affirms that he was buried at Rhodes. This family continued to hold large possessions in the said county till the year 1377, in the reign of RICHARD II., when Elizabeth, daughter of Geoffrey Workesley, being found by an inquisition to have been born out of marriage, the lordship came to Sir John Massey, who had married the sister of Sir Geoffrey; however, the estate was again taken possession of by Robert Worsley; and Thomas Brereton, Esq. of the co. Chester, who married the daughter and heiress of Sir John Massey, recovered it from Robert Worsley by a suit in Chancery; it was afterwards disposed of to the Lord-Chancellor Egerton, from whom it descended to the Duke of Bridgewater, who made the canal from the mill in the township of Worsley, over the river Irwell, at Barton Bridge, to convey coals from his mines to Manchester. The family we are now treating of branched off about the year 1307, in the reign of EDWARD II., and are still in receipt of quit and chief rents over the townships of Worsley, Bedford, Astley, &c., in Lancashire; the remaining branch of the family continued lords of Worsley Hall, in the said county, till the 3rd HENRY VIII., (1512,) when Sir James Worsley, of Worsley Hall, married the heiress of Appuldercombe, in the Isle of Wight; Richard, their descendant, was created a Baronet by JAMES I. in 1611; and his descendant, Sir Richard Worsley, Bart. of Appuldercombe Park, died intestate and without issue in the year 1805; whereupon the baronetcy was inherited by the Rev. Sir Henry Worsley Holmes, with whose son, Sir Leonard, the title expired. The Appuldercombe estate was claimed by Miss Bridgman Simpson, who became the wife of the present Lord Yarborough, but is since dead, and his lordship enjoys the estate.

The family we are now treating of has been traced down by regular descent from the time of the Conquest, and has at various times been connected with many families of distinction.

The immediate ancestor of the present possessor of Hovingham,

THOMAS WORSLEY, Esq. of Hovingham Hall, m. Mary, dau. of Henry Arthington, Esq. of Arthington Hall, in the county of York; and dying 3 May, 1715, left, with a dau., Mary, wife of Francis Foljambe, Esq. of Aldwark, a son and successor,

THOMAS WORSLEY, Esq., who m. in 1710, Mary,* eldest daughter of Sir Robert Frankland, Bart. of Thirkleby Park, in the co. of York, and had a son and heir,

THOMAS WORSLEY, Esq. of Hovingham, who m. in 1735, Anne, dau. of Sir William Robinson, Bart. of Newby Park, in the co. of York, and had several children, most of whom d. young; the third dau., Frances, m. Thomas, Lord Grantham, and the eldest, Mary, Marmaduke Constable, Esq. of Wassand. The eldest son and successor,

THOMAS WORSLEY, Esq. of Hovingham, was for many years member of parliament for the borough of Caln, and was a distinguished cultivator and patron of literature and the arts. He held the office of surveyor-general of the Board of Works, under the auspices of his majesty GEORGE III., from whom he received many flattering marks of royal favour. The family mansion-house at Hovingham was designed and built by this gentleman, and was enriched by him with an extensive library of classical and scientific books, together with a fine collection of pictures and various other works of art. He m. Elizabeth, dau. of the Rev. J. Lister, and had issue several children,

Frances, (unmarried,) being the only one now surviving.

I. NATHANIEL-WILLIAM WRAXALL, Esq. of Wraxall, in Somersetshire, (the grandson of a Bristol merchant,) having obtained a situation in the civil service of the East India Company in India, and filled some offices of importance there, was created a Baronet, 21 Dec. 1813. He was subsequently known as the writer of memoirs, the notorious want of veracity of which subjected him to incarceration in Newgate, and occasioned the following witty and caustic epigram:—

Men, measures, seasons, scenes, and facts all,
Misquoting, misstating,
Misplacing, misdating,
Here lies Sir Nathaniel Wraxall.

He m. in 1789, Jane, dau. of Peter Lascelles, Esq. of Knights House, co. Herts; and dying in 1831, was s. by his son, WILLIAM, the present bart.

Lineage.

About the period of the Norman Conquest the manor of Wrottesley, in Stafford, from which this family derives its surname, was in the possession of the monks of Evesham, and it so continued until the reign of HENRY II., when the holy fathers exchanged it for Moreton and other lands with

SIMON DE COCTON, younger son of William de Cocton, of Cocton, co. Warwick, whose son and successor,

ADAM DE WROTTESELEY, was the first to bear that surname. This Adam appears as a witness to two deeds in the Monasticon. He was living in the reign of HENRY III., and was s. at his decease by his eldest son,

SIR HUGO DE WROTTESELEY, whose son,

SIR HUGH DE WROTTESELEY, attended EDWARD III. at the siege of Calais, and had a licence from that monarch in the same year (23rd of his reign) to make a park at Wrottesley. Sir Hugh was subsequently very famous, and was amongst the first knights of the Garter upon the institution of that noble order. Lineage.

This very ancient family of the principality of Wales is descended from Cadrod Hardd, or the Handsome, a British chieftain, who resided at Tremadog, and was lord of Tallybolion in the beginning of the twelfth century. The paternal surname was originally Williams. The 1st bart.,

I. WILLIAM WILLIAMS, Esq., an eminent lawyer, recorder of Chester, and speaker of the House of Commons in the reign of CHARLES II., was knighted by KING JAMES II. upon his appointment to the solicitor-generalship, and created a Baronet, 6 July, 1688. Sir William, while speaker, was tried upon an information brought against him in the court of King's Bench, for a libel, in causing to be printed (as speaker of the House of Commons) the information of Thomas Dangerfield, gent.; and although he pleaded the privilege of parliament, and that he had acted in obedience to the orders of the house, he was nevertheless fined ten thousand pounds, the greater part of which he was eventually compelled to pay. Sir William was constituted one of the king's council after the Revolution, and terminated his political life by the introduction of the Treating Act, which passed into a law, and still continues one of the safeguards to the purity of parliament. Lineage.

This family derives, maternally, from

WILLIAM PELHAM, (3rd son of Sir William Pelham,* of Laughton, co. Sussex, by his 2nd wife, Mary, dau. of William, Lord Sands, of the Vine,) one of the most eminent military commanders of the reign of ELIZABETH. In 1560, Mr. Pelham commanded the pioneers in the army under the Duke of Norfolk, sent to the assistance of the Scots against the French. In 1562, he was at the taking of Caen, in Normandy, and in 1563, he was wounded in the defence of Newhaven. He was subsequently employed in Ireland, and received the honour of knighthood for his services in that kingdom in 1579; in which year the Lord-Deputy Sir William Draper deceasing, Sir William Pelham was appointed, in October, by the council, justiciar of Ireland, with the authority of lord-deputy, until a lord-deputy should be appointed, and he administered the government until Sept. 1580. Upon his return from Ireland, Sir William was sworn of the privy-council, appointed master of the ordnance, and eventually constituted field-marshal. This barony having fallen into abeyance upon the decease of Sir Cecil Bisshopp, Lord de la Zouche, 11 Nov. 1828, the crown was pleased to terminate the same in favour of his lordship's elder daughter (the present baroness) immediately after.

Lineage.

The family of Bisshopp deduces its pedigree from

WALTER BISSHOPP, who came into England with KING HENRY II. from Gascony. From this individual, through a long line of distinguished persons, lineally descended

THOMAS BISSHOPP, Esq., representative in parliament for Gatton, in Surrey, in 1542; who m. Elizabeth, relict of William Scot, Esq., and only dau. of Sir Edward Belknah, Knt., privy-councillor to KINGS HEN. VII. and HEN. VIII., by which marriage he obtained a considerable estate in Sussex, where he afterwards resided. He had issue, his successor,

I. THOMAS BISSHOPP, Esq., M.P. for Gatton in the 27th of ELIZABETH, and high-sheriff of the co. of Surrey in 1585 and 1602, who was afterwards knighted, and created a Baronet by KING JAMES I. 23 July, 1620. Sir Thomas having lived to an advanced age, was s. by his eldest surviving son,

II. SIR EDWARD. This gentleman suffered incarceration and confiscation by his attachment to KING CHAS. I. He m. Mary, 4th dau. of Nicholas Tufton, Earl of Thanet, and was s. at his decease by his only surviving son,

III. SIR CECIL; who was s. at his decease, in 1705, by his only surviving son,

IV. SIR CECIL. This gentleman was s. in Oct. 1725, by his eldest son,

V. SIR CECIL, M.P.; who d. in 1778, and was s. by his eldest son,

VI. SIR CECIL. This gentleman m. Susannah, eldest dau., and eventually sole heiress, of Charles Hedges, Esq. of Finchley, co. Middlesex, by whom he had two sons and a dau. He d. in Sept. 1779, and was s. by his elder son,

VII. SIR CECIL, who preferred a claim to the ancient Barony of De la Zouche, in right of his mother, and was eventually summoned to parliament in the same, a dignity originally created by summons, 13 Jan. 1308, (2nd Edw. II.,) when

WILLIAM LA ZOUCHE was called to parliament, as Baron De la Zouche, or Zouche. From this nobleman the barony descended in regular succession to

EDWARD LA ZOUCHE, the 11th baron; summoned to parliament from 2 April, 1571, to 17 May, 1625, in which latter year he died, leaving two daus., namely,

Elizabeth, wife of Sir William Tate, of Dela Pre Abbey, in Northamptonshire, M.P.* } between whom and their descendants the barony fell in abeyance, and so continued, until called out by the crown, 27 August, 1815, in favour of Sir Cecil Bisshopp, Bart., whose mother, Susanna Hedges, was, maternally, great-great-

SIR WILLIAM TATE, of Dela Pre, who m. Elizabeth, eldest daughter of Edward, 2nd Lord Zouche, of Haryngworth, was great-grandfather of

BARTHOLOMEW TATE, Esq. of Dela Pre, b. in 1666; m. Mary, dau. and co-heir of Edward Noel, Esq., and had issue,

BARTHOLOMEW, whose line failed.

CATHERINE, m. in 1720, Charles Hedges, Esq. of Finchley, youngest son of Sir William Hedges, Knt., and had a dau. and heiress, SUSANNAH HEDGES, m. to Sir Cecil Bisshopp, Bart.

MARY, m. to Samuel Long, Esq., ancestor of the present HENRY-LAWES LONG, Esq. of Hampton Lodge.

great-granddaughter of Sir William Tate, by Elizabeth Zouche, eldest dau. and co-heiress of the last baron.

Sir Cecil became then

BARON DE LA ZOUCHE. His lordship, who was b. 29 Dec. 1753, m. 27 June, 1782, Harriet-Anne, only dau. and heiress of William Southwell, Esq. of Frampton, co. of Gloucester, and had issue,

Cecil, lieut.-col. in the army; m. Charlotte-Barbara, eldest dau. of the Marquess Townshend; but d. of wounds received in action in Upper Canada, 16 July, 1813, without issue.

Charles-Cecil, R.N., d. unm. 10 May, 1808.

HARRIET-ANNE, present baroness.

Katherine-Annabella, m. in 1826, to George-Richard Pechell, Esq., capt. R.N., M.P., equerry to the queen, and has issue, William-Cecil Pechell, b. 26 May, 1830.

Henrietta-Katherine Pechell.

Adelaide-Harriet Pechell.

His lordship d. 11 Nov. 1828, when the baronetcy passed to his kinsman, Sir George Bisshopp, (see that title), and the barony fell into abeyance between his two daus., and was terminated as stated above.

Creation—13 Jan. 1308.

Count D'Alton is in the commission of the peace and lieutenantcy for the county of Tipperary, and high-sheriff for the present year, (1839.)

Lineage.

The family is stated to have sprung from SIR WALTER D'ALTON, a Norman knight, (and JANE CAPET, his wife, a dau. of the King of France,) who, to avoid the resentment of his sovereign and father-in-law, sought an asylum in Ireland in the year 1142. He subsequently joined the Earl of Pembroke, and, with high military command, acquired large possessions in the cos. of Westmeath and Tipperary. Those, however, in the various revolutions which at so many periods convulsed that ill-fated land were wholly forfeited, with the exception of the estates still enjoyed by his descendant.

The dignity of Count of the Germanic or Holy Roman Empire was conferred by Maria-Theresa, EMPRESS OF AUSTRIA, upon

EDWARD D'ALTON, lieutenant-general in the imperial service, knight-commander of the Theresian military order, and privy-councillor to the Emperor of Germany. General Count D'Alton m. Mary, eldest dau. of John MacCarthy, Esq. of Springhouse, co. of Tipperary, and had issue,

Baron Dimsdale succeeded his father, 25 Sept. 1825. He is a magistrate and deputy-lieutenant for the county of Hertford, a magistrate for Essex and the liberty of St. Albans. He was sheriff of the latter county in 1830-1.

Lineage.

THOMAS DIMSDALE, M.D. of the Priory, in the co. of Hertford, b. 29 May, 1712, member for the borough of Hertford in two successive parliaments, was grandson of Robert Dimsdale, who accompanied William Penn to America in 1684, and fourth son of Sir John Dimsdale, Knt. of Theydon Gernon, in Essex, by Susanna, dau. of Thomas Bowyer, Esq. of Albury Hall, Herts. Doctor Dimsdale, in 1745, made a voluntary and gratuitous offer of his services as assistant to the medical staff of the army sent to the north, under the command of the Duke of Cumberland, to suppress the Scotch rebellion; and he continued in the service until after the surrender of Carlisle to the king's forces, when he received the thanks of his royal highness the commander-in-chief. The ample fortune Dr. Dimsdale enjoyed had induced him to retire for some years from the practice of his profession, when his high reputation in the art of inoculating for the small-pox having reached the EMPRESS CATHERINE of Russia, he was especially invited, in 1762, by her majesty to the court of St. Petersburg, for the purpose of inoculating herself and the grand duke, her son, which invitation he accepted, and acquitted himself so much to the satisfaction of his imperial patients, that her majesty rewarded his services with the appointment of actual councillor of state, and physician to her imperial majesty, with an annuity of £500 per annum, conferring upon him, at the same time, a Barony of the Russian empire, with the title of "Honourable" attached, to be borne by him and the eldest of his lawful descendants in succession. She likewise gave him the sum of £10,000 sterling, with £2000 for the expenses of his journey, and presented him with a miniature of herself and the grand duke, richly set with diamonds. His second son, Nathaniel, who had accompanied him to the Russian court, had conferred upon him, at the same time, a similar dignity, with similar limitations. Her imperial majesty was further pleased to grant to both father and son, and their lawful descendants, permission to add to their family arms a black wing of the displayed eagle of the Russian imperial coat, on a gold shield placed in the centre, with the usual helmet over the shield, surmounted by the baron's coronet. A patent in accordance was ordered by the empress to be made out, embellished with her majesty's portrait and other splendid ornaments, and delivered to the Barons Dimsdale. Baron Dimsdale m. 1st, Mary, only child of Nathaniel Brassey, Esq. of Radford House, Herts, but by that lady, who d. in 1744, had no issue. He m. 2ndly, 17 June, 1746, Anne, dau. of John Iles, Esq., and had by her,

MAGAWLY-CERATI.

VALERIO MAGAWLY-CERATI, a Count of the Holy Roman or Germanic Empire; b. 4 Aug. 1809; m. 17 Nov. 1831, his first-cousin, Jane, only child of the late A. Geoghegan, Esq. of Ballymaglevy, in the co. of Westmeath, and has issue,

FRANCIS-PHILIP, b. 23 Nov. 1832.
Clara-Bendicte.

Count Magawly-Cerati succeeded his father in 1835.

Lineage.

The MAGAWLYS, a family of great antiquity in Ireland, deduce an unbroken descent from NIALL, of the nine Hostages; they were styled "Princes of Calry," in the co. of Westmeath, and they were proprietors of large estates there until the reign of WILLIAM and MARY, when remaining firm in their allegiance to the ill-fated JAMES II., and their chiefs following his fortunes into exile, the greater portion of those lands came within the grasp of the escheator. The family became, however, of eminence abroad, and generation after generation attained honour and distinction at the different courts of Europe. In 1631, the EMPEROR CHARLES VI. conferred upon Field-Marshal Magawly, who m. Margaret d'Este, of Austria, the dignity of a Count of the Holy Roman Empire, and the rank and privileges of a grandee of Spain.

AWLY MAGAWLY, of Frankford, in the King's co., was in the early period of his life in the service of the EMPRESS-QUEEN, MARIA-THERESA, and was employed by her imperial majesty to negotiate the marriage of one of the archduchesses (her daughter) with the Duke of Parma. He m. Miss Fallon, of Runnymede, and had several children. His eldest son,

FRANCIS-PHILIP MAGAWLY, b. in 1788, having been educated and established abroad, was accredited, in 1812, envoy from his holiness the POPE to the EMPEROR NAPOLEON. He was subsequently constituted regent of the Duchess of Parma, Plaisance, and Guastella, and filled that high office until those states were apportioned to the EX-EMPRESS MARIA-LOUISA, in 1815, when he was chosen prime-minister by her imperial highness, and so continued until 1823, when ill health compelled him to resign. He was also counsellor Intime and chamberlain to the Emperor of Austria, chancellor of the order of St. George, knight of the order of the Iron Crown (of Monza), &c. &c. He m. in 1808, Clara, only child of Count Mazzuchini-Guidobono, by Fubria, dau. and sole heiress of the Count Cerati, of Parma, (her mother was Ippolita Pallavicino dei Scipione, the last descendant of that princely house, and niece of POPE BENEDICT XIV., Lambertini.) By this lady Count Magawly left two sons, viz.,

VALERIO, his heir.

Julia-Clara, d. 2 Sept. 1821, unm.

Georgiana-Frances, m. to Matthew-William Tollner, Esq.; and d. 3 Oct. 1836, s. p.

Count Mazzinghi has been acknowledged representative of the Tuscan and Roman Mazzinghis, as well by his Imperial Highness the Grand Duke of Tuscany as by his Holiness the Pope.

Lineage.

The dignity of a COUNT of the Lateran Hall and Apostolic Palace was conferred by POPE GREGORY XVI. upon COUNT MAZZINGHI, as the representative of a race of nobles of the same name which flourished for several centuries in Italy, and as the brevet, or patent, issued by his holiness sets forth the high reputation of those illustrious persons, as well as the merits of the Count himself, we annex a translation of the Latin document, as the most compressed, and at the same time satisfactory, account of the family which our space will admit of.

The Pope's Brevet.

To his beloved son, Joseph, Count Mazzinghi, a Florentine patrician.—GREGORY, P.P. XVI.

Beloved son,—The Roman Pontiffs have always thought proper to bestow health and apostolic benediction, (the clearest evidences of their good will,) as well as honourable distinction, upon those individuals who, conspicuous alike for ancient nobility of birth, ancestral glory, and personal virtues, adhere with firmness to the church of Peter, and strive, under all circumstances, with all their endeavours, to deserve well of it. To us it is by no means unknown that you, though born at London, derive your descent from the house of Mazzinghi, a house which was always rightly and deservedly accounted amongst the most distinguished in Etruria, and noted for its devoted attachment, even in the most trying seasons, to this apostolic chair; has acquired, not merely by its influence,

FOREIGN NOBLEMEN.

but its extraordinary and pre-eminent zeal for the Catholic religion, no mean reputation. From it have sprung most illustrious persons, unequalled in their enthusiastic love for the Roman church,—men, who whether on account of their having filled the most honourable and important offices in the Florentine republic, or for the lustre of their virtues, their military science, their superiority in natural endowments and polite literature, and their excellent observance of the severer disciplines, have commended their names to immortality. From the most conspicuous of whom are pre-eminent, Angelo, Aloissio, and Dominico Mazzinghi; the first, a priest of the Carmelite order, the fame of whose extraordinary and excellent virtues is not forgotten; the second, celebrated for his strenuous exertions and admirable patience and courage manifested in the famous “battle of Lepanto,” against the fiercest and most formidable enemies of the Christian name; the third, Dominico, for his unexampled and dutiful attachment to the apostolic chair, was by our predecessor, EUGENIUS IV., called to the rank of Count of our Lateran Hall and Apostolic Palace. Having learnt, then, from unquestioned testimony, that you, thus ennobled by the merits of your ancestors, are treading in their footsteps; being informed that you are possessed of the best qualities, and that you are of approved probity and of excellent endowments of disposition, and that you entertain the highest zeal for the Catholic religion, and dutiful affection for us and the apostolic chair; therefore we have had no reluctance in assenting to your request, that we would by our own authority confirm to you and your posterity the title of count, and wishing to manifest to you our peculiar regard, absolving you at the same time from all excommunications, interdicts, and other ecclesiastical censures and penances of whatsoever kind, and for whatsoever reason imposed, we by these presents, by our apostolical authority, confirm, declare, elect, and appoint you and your legitimate and natural first born, so long as they remain in the Catholic religion, Counts of our Lateran Hall and Apostolic Palace. Therefore we concede and grant to you that you be called by this title ever in the apostolic letters and public records, and that you may enjoy all and singular the rights, honours, and privileges resulting from the title in as ample a manner as others of the same rank, by prescription, use, or custom, enjoy them, (not however in a more ample manner than the dignities derived from the council, confirmed by the authority of this chair,) any other constitutions and ordinances to the contrary notwithstanding.

Given at Rome, at St. Peter's, under the ring of the fisherman, on the 18th day of April, 1834, in the fourth year of our pontificate. For us, CARDINAL ALBANO.

PROSPERO TOMMASO MAZZINGHI, b. 28 Nov. 1729, an Italian by birth, and son of Guiseppe-Marco Mazzinghi, died in London, 29 May, 1776, leaving by his wife, Juliet Frederick, two sons and two daus., viz.,

JOSEPH, now COUNT MAZZINGHI.

ROTHSCHILD.

LIONEL DE ROTHSCCHILD, a Baron of the Austrian Empire; s. his father, 28 June, 1836; m. 15 June, in the same year, his cousin Charlotte, dau. of his uncle, the Baron Anselm Rothschild, of Frankfort.

Lineage.

MOSES ROTHSCCHILD, the founder of the wealth and influence of this great commercial family, is stated to have been, prior to the invasion of Germany by the republican arms of France, a banker, in no very extensive line of business, at Frankfort-on-the-Main; and his fortune is said to have sprung from an act of fidelity as honourable and disinterested as any probably upon record. The crossing of the Rhine by the republican soldiers, it will be recollected, was followed by the abandonment of their territories by almost the whole of the minor princes of Germany; amongst others, the sovereign of Hesse Cassel became a fugitive, and with his money and jewels arrived at Frankfort, in the hope of finding there a place wherein he might deposit the treasure in some sort of security. The reputable character of Moses Rothschild induced the prince to call upon him, and to solicit his taking charge of the property, which amounted to an immense sum. Rothschild at first refused so great a responsibility, but the importunity of the prince prevailed, and his highness delivered up the money and jewels to the banker, without requiring even a receipt. The French army subsequently entered Frankfort, at the very moment, it is said, that Rothschild had succeeded in burying the prince's treasure in his garden. His own property he did not hide, and of that he was entirely despoiled. In truth, he was, like all the other Jews and citizens of Frankfort, reduced to utter poverty; but the treasure confided to him was safe; and sometime after the French army withdrew, Rothschild recommenced as a banker, extending his concerns with caution, by means of the prince's money, until the year 1802, when the latter returned to Frankfort, on his route to Cassel. He had heard that Rothschild had been despoiled of everything, and, consequently, he had little hope that any portion of his own deposit could have been preserved. He, visited the banker, however, and on asking if the robbers had taken all, was most agreeably astonished when Rothschild assured him that not one kreutzer of his treasure had been disturbed. "I have all the jewels," said he, "which I secured untouched in a 'strong chest,' and the money I have also, with five per cent. beside, for your royal highness, from the day that you entrusted it to me." The prince, it is stated, not only refused the accumulated interest, but the capital itself, insisting that his faithful banker should still retain it for twenty years more, at an interest of two per cent. At the congress of Vienna, the prince of Hesse Cassel represented the conduct of the Frankfort banker in such just and glowing colours, that he secured for him the protection of all the great potentates there assembled, and thus raised him at once to the situation of the first banker in the world. Moses Rothschild was the father of five sons, viz.,

- I. ANSELM, of Frankfort.
- II. Solomon, of Berlin and Vienna.
- III. NATHAN-MEYER, of London.
- IV. Charles, of Naples.
- V. James, of Paris.

The third son,

NATHAN-MEYER ROTHSCCHILD, came to England in 1800; established himself first at Manchester, and afterwards in London, and in a very short time became the most extensive loan-contractor, money-changer, and exchange broker in Europe. He was b. 19 Sept. 1777, and m. 22 Oct. 1806, to Hannah Cohen, 3rd daughter of Levi-Barnet Cohen, merchant, of London, by which lady, who survives him, he left four sons and three daus., viz.,

Lineage.

This family is found amongst the most ancient of Germany. So far back as the ninth century it was settled at Castel Mur, (the Roman Castellum Murum), a stronghold of feudal times, situated in the valley of the Maira, on the Italian frontier of the republic of the Grisons. Halto, Archbishop of Mentz, visited this place in the year 913, on his journey to Rome, and mentions in his travels that it was then held by two brothers, Rodolph and Gubertus a Salice, who, he adds, entertained him hospitably in their castle, and when he departed entrusted him with a sum of money which they requested he would present to his Holiness POPE ANASTATIUS III. as an offering. The house of De Salis directed for several centuries the political affairs, and filled the highest offices of state in the republic of the Grisons; while some of its members, seeking a wider sphere of action, achieved historical renown in the services of Austria and France. The early alliances of De Salis connect its pedigree with the house of Hapsburg, the Duke of Carinthea, and Charlemagne. The branch of which we are more immediately about to treat, although settled in England since the beginning of the last century, continued to the time of the French Revolution in possession of large domains in the valley of the Maira, as well as of the principalities, or imperial feifs, of Widnau and Obereich, situated on the southern side of the lake of Constance. Those feifs were held immediately under the Germanic empire, and conferred the sovereign rights of supreme judicature, coinage of money, &c. on their seigneurs, or lords. The invasion of this territory, in 1802, by the French under Massena, brought with it a proscription of the nobles, a confiscation of their property, and an entire abolition of all seigniorial rights. A considerable portion of the confiscated estates of the Anglo De Salis was restored in 1814, through the influence of the British minister, Viscount Castlereagh, at the congress of Vienna. His Excellency Count John de Salis (of whom hereafter), pursuant to a family arrangement, now enjoys the foreign property, which includes the castle of Obereich on the lake of Constance, and the chateau of Bondo in the valley of the Maira, immediately adjoining the ruins of the old family seat, Castel Mur. His excellency,

PETER DE SALIS came over to England in the year 1709, as envoy and minister-plenipotentiary from JOSEPH I. Emperor of Germany, to QUEEN ANNE; and on the 12th March, 1748, he was created by the EMPEROR FRANCIS a Count of the Germanic or Holy Roman Empire, with remainder to his issue male. He d. in 1749, leaving an only son and heir,

JEROME, COUNT DE SALIS, who was naturalized by act of parliament, 30 March, 1734. He m. in Jan. 1735, the Hon. Mary Fane, eldest dau. of Charles, Viscount Fane, and had issue,

Charles, M.P. for the borough of Reading in 1760; d. s. p. in 1781.

PETER, eventual heir to his father and mother.

Henry-Jerome, in holy orders, D.D. of Queen's College, Oxford, one of the chaplains in ordinary to the king, vicar of Wing, co. Bucks, and rector of St. Antolines, London; d. issueless in May, 1809.

On the decease, without issue, of Charles, last Viscount Fane, in 1772, his sister, Mary, Countess de Salis, inherited the extensive estates in Ireland of the Fane family, (derived from Rachel, Countess of Bath.) She d. in 1784, and was s. by her elder surviving son,

PETER, COUNT DE SALIS, captain in the Coldstream-guards, justice of the peace, and deputy-lieutenant for the county of Middlesex. During a residence of some years abroad, Count de Salis filled the office of president of the Grisons, and was captain-general and governor of the Vatteline and Chiavenna. He m. Anne de Salis; and dying 20 Nov. 1807, left issue,

JEROME, his successor.

John, Count de Salis, a lord of the bedchamber, and member of the Austrian privy-council, at one time president of the Canton of the Grisons, now (1839) minister of state to his Imperial Highness, Francis, Archduke of Modena. His excellency m. in 1835, Eliza, eldest dau. of Gen. Count F.-S. De Salis, first-lady of the bedchamber to the Archduchess of Modena, but has no issue.

The elder son,

JEROME, COUNT DE SALIS, justice of the peace and deputy-lieutenant for the counties of Armagh and Middlesex, obtained in Dec. 1835, a royal licence, permitting him to assume the name of FANE in addition to that of DE SALIS, as the inheritor of the estates, and being the next male representative of Charles, last Viscount Fane. Count de Salis m. 1st, Sophia, daughter and heir of Admiral Sir Francis Drake, and by that lady (who d. in 1803) had issue,

PETER-JOHN, his heir.

He m. 2ndly, Penelope, dau. of R. Freeman, Esq., by which lady (who d. in 1807) the count had one dau. only, viz.,

Sophia-Juliana, m. to W. Filgate, Esq. of Lissrenney, co. Louth, and has issue.

The count m. 3rdly, Henrietta, dau. of William Foster, D.D., Bishop of Kilmore, and niece of the Right Hon. John Foster, last speaker of the House of Commons in Ireland, created Lord Oriel. By this lady (who survives his widow) he had, Rodolph-Leslie, b. 9 May, 1811; capt. 8th hussars.

William, b. 27 Oct. 1812; M.A. Oriel College, Oxford.

Leopold-Fabius, b. 26 April, 1816.

John-Henry, b. 10 Dec. 1818.

Charles-Lewis, b. 4 Jan. 1821; lieutenant, Scots fusileer-guards.

Henry-Jerome, b. 16 Feb. 1828.

Catherine-Barbara, m. in 1832, to George, Lord de Tabley.

Henrietta-Emma.

Count Jerome d. 20 Oct. 1836, and was s. by his eldest son, PETER-JOHN, present COUNT DE SALIS.

Seat—Hillingdon House, Middlesex.

Note.—The members of this family are hereditary knights of the order of the Golden Spur, and enjoy the dignity of Counts Palatine of the Palace of Lateran, confirmed by POPE PAUL IV., anno 1556.

Henry, (Baron Henry de Vismes,) b. 19 Dec. 1808; m. 15 May, 1834, Caroline-Sarah-Sophia, dau. of the Hon. Alexander Jones, captain, R.N., and grandau. of Charles, 4th Viscount Ranelagh, and has issue, Henry-Auriol-Douglas, b. 17 April, 1835.

Sophia-Jane-Mary.

Baron Henry de Vismes was sometime an officer in the British army, and served with his regiment in North America.

Eliza-Jane, (Mademoiselle de Vismes,) m. to Joseph Kane, Esq.

Count De Vismes holds the rank of colonel in the army, and distinguished himself with his gallant regiment, the Coldstream-guards, in the campaigns of 1793 and 1794, particularly at the siege of Lincells. The count, after establishing the nobility of his family, has been officially and legally recognised by the government of France in his hereditary rank and title of COUNT OF THAT KINGDOM, a dignity enjoyed by his ancestors for several centuries, and traceable to a remote period in French history.

Lineage.

The family of DE VISMES,* or DE VISME, (as the name is sometimes written,) derives originally from a branch of the sovereign house of PONTIEU, which was of the blood royal of France, and founded by

COUNT ANGILBERT, one of the great lords of the court of KING PEPIN, and governor of Ponthieu, (a district

* This genealogical history of the noble house of De Vismes is compiled and compressed from the following authorities:—Le Père Anselme's "Histoire Genealogique de la Noblesse," Duchesne's "Dictionnaire de la Noblesse," "L'Histoire Generale des Comtes de Ponthieu," "Le Nobiliaire de Picardie," "The Archives of the Royal Library at Paris," family papers, &c. &c.

comprising the Boulonnois, Montreuil, Guines, VISMES, Ardres, &c.) who espoused BERTHA of France, dau. of CHARLEMAGNE, and had two sons, NITHARD and Hanid, of the younger his name alone is preserved. Angilbert became, towards the close of his life, abbot of the monastery of St. Riquier;* and dying 18 Feb. 814, was s. by his son,

NITHARD, Count de Ponthieu, who was of the court of LOUIS le Debonnaire, and sided with CHARLES the Bald in the family contests which disturbed that monarch's reign. From Nithard we pass to

HARLOWEN, the second of his name, SOVEREIGN COUNT DE PONTIEU and MONTREUIL, who was of the council convoked in 927 by HERBERT, COUNT DE VERMANDOIS, at Trosly. To him succeeded

WILLIAM, the first of his name, SOVEREIGN COUNT DE PONTIEU and MONTREUIL, who was father of four sons, namely,

- I. HILDOVIN, who continued the line of the COUNTS DE PONTIEU.
- II. ARNOUL, who had from his father the Comté of Bologne.
- III. Hugues, who had the lands of St. Paul.
- IV. GUILLAUME, who had the lands of Guines.

The fourth son,

GUILLAUME DE PONTIEU, m. the dau. of Renald, Seigneur de St. Vallery,† and sister and heiress of CILLARD, COUNT DE VISMES, and had several sons;‡ of whom the 2nd, THEOBALD, Sire de Vismes, accompanied the CONQUEROR to England in 1066, and was a distinguished leader in the army; and the eldest,

RAOUL DE VISMES, Seigneur de St. Vallery, was grandfather of another

RAOUL DE VISMES, who signed "la Charte communale" of Abbeville, in 1184, above all the barons, and immediately after the clergy. This Raoul, inspired by the religious fervour of the times, assumed the cross, and embarked for Palestine in 1215 accompanied by his son,

WILLIAM, Count de Vismes, the common ancestor of the different branches of the house of de Vismes which subsequently flourished in France. The representative of the eldest line,

JOHN, Count de Vismes, was father of two sons, viz.,

- I. JOHN, Count de Vismes, whose only dau. and heiress, JEANNE DE VISMES, conveyed the great possessions of the de Vismes to her husband, Mathieu de Cayeu, Lord of Senarpont, and was mother of

JOHN DE CAYEU, Lord of de Vismes, Senarpont, &c., who m. Isabel d'Ailly, and had an only dau. and heiress,

JEANNE DE CAYEU, LADY OF DE VISMES, SENARPONT, &c., who espoused JOHN, SEIGNEUR DE MONCHY, and had issue,

JOHN, Lord of Monchy, d. in Turkey, s. p.
PETER, Lord of Monchy, governor of St. Omer, who left an only dau. and heiress, JULIENNE, Lady of Monchy, who carried that inheritance in marriage to John Bournell, Lord of Thiembrone.

EDMUND, who inherited the Lordship of DE VISMES,§ and acquired from his kinsman, Hugh de Cayeu, Bishop of Arras, the seigneurie of Massy, and was ancestor of the Monchys, Lords of de Vismes, and Marquesses of Senarpont.

- II. WILLIAM, ancestor of the present COUNT DE VISMES.

* This celebrated abbey was situated in the ancient county of Ponthieu, two leagues from Abbeville, and in the vicinity of the Seigneurie de Vismes.

† This RENALD was equally with the Counts de Ponthieu a descendant of the old Kings of France.

‡ Two of those followed the fortunes of Henry, Duke of Burgundy, in his expedition to Portugal and in recompence received a large tract of territory which they called VIMIOSO and VIMIERO.

§ In the year 1680, FRANCIS DE MONCHY, LORD OF DE VISMES, did homage for the Lordship of de Vismes to the king, as held under the house of Ponthieu.

FOREIGN NOBLEMEN.

WILLIAM, the second and younger son of John, Count de Vismes, founded the branch of the family which, on the extinction of the elder, became chief of the illustrious house of de Vismes, and thus entitled to its honours. His son and heir,

HUGH DE VISMES, was great-great-grandfather of

PHILLIPPE DE VISMES, who was established in Normandy, and his heir male,

GERARD DE VISMES, sometime in the 17th century inherited the representation of the family, and thus became COUNT DE VISMES. On the revocation of the edict of Nantes, the family, which had embraced the Protestant religion, became involved in the prescriptions that ensued, and being hopelessly ruined in their own country, were forced, with their fellow-sufferers, the other persecuted Huguenots, to seek an asylum in any foreign land hospitable and tolerant enough to receive and protect them. Thus the heir of this once great and potent house, (the son of this Gerard de Vismes,)

PHILLIPPE DE VISMES,* de jure COUNT DE VISMES, in the temporary eclipse of the fortunes of his family, arrived in England, and resigning his ancestral rank, established himself here. He m. 26 July, 1716 (old style), Marianne de la Majanes,† and had issue,

- I. PHILLIPPE, whose male line is extinct.
- II. Andrew, b. 19 May, 1718; m. Miss Webb, dau. of N. Webb, Esq. of Taunton, (whose family had represented that borough many years in parliament.) He d. s. p.
- III. Lewis, b. 25 Sept. 1720; an eminent diplomatist, who succeeded Sir John Goodricke as envoy-extraordinary and minister-plenipotentiary at Stockholm, where he d. unm. 4 Sept. 1776. FREDERICK THE GREAT, as a mark of personal esteem, granted to his excellency the honour of bearing the eagle of Prussia for a crest.
- IV. Stephen, b. 18 May, 1723; obtained a high and influential employment in India; and d. unm. at Canton, 2 Nov. 1770, bequeathing his fortune to his brother William.
- V. Gerard, b. 6 Jan. 1726. This gentleman held a high office at Lisbon, and was there at the time of the great earthquake. He d. unm.
- VI. Leo, b. 14 Sept. 1727; drowned on his passage home from the West Indies, 17 Aug. 1766, d. s. p.
- VII. WILLIAM, of whom presently.
- VIII. Benjamin, b. 5 March, 1730; who distinguished himself as a volunteer under Lord Clive in India; a capt. in the army; d. unm.
- I. Amelia, m. to John-Emanuel de Bondeli, Baron de Bondeli, of Berne, in Switzerland.

* ANNE DE VISMES, younger brother of Count Phillippe de Vismes (the refugee), adhering to the catholic religion, remained in France, and was secretary to Louis XV. He d. at Paris, leaving four children,

- I. St. Alphonse, fermier general; d. unm. in 1789.
- II. Joseph-Jaques-Martin, major of artillery, governor of the Fortress of Bitseh, chamberlain of Bavaria, and a commander of the military order of St. Louis; d. in 1795, leaving several children, of whom one only survives, viz.,

CHARLES-AUGUSTE, (godson of the late King of Bavaria.)

- III. Anne du Valgus, d. at Caudebec, near Rouen, in 1827, leaving an only dau., who m. the Count d'Orbigny d'Allaye; and d. in 1835, leaving two daus., Mathilde, wife of the Viscount de Boubers, of Abbeville, and Mary.
- IV. Adelaide, m. to M. Auguste de Laborde, first gentleman in waiting to the king, and governor of the Louvre, under Louis XVI. M. Laborde was beheaded in 1793. His widow wedded 2ndly, the Duke de Rohan Chabot. Madame Adelaide, who enjoyed the friendship of the ill-fated Marie-Antoinette, d. in 1835.

† Last descendant of a Protestant branch of the ancient and noble family of Picquet, Marquess de Majanes, originally of Picardy.

The seventh son,

WILLIAM DE VISMES,* heir to his brother Stephen, eventually representative of the family, and as such, de jure COUNT DE VISMES, m. Elizabeth, dau. of Elisee d'Auriol Chevalier, (son of Jean d'Auriol, Baron de Toutens, of an illustrious baronial house of Lower Languedoc, which took refuge in England after the revocation of the edict of Nantes,) and had issue,

ELISEE-WILLIAM, COUNT DE VISMES by inheritance, and the confirmation by the government of France.

James, of New Court House, in the co. of Gloucester; m. Elizabeth, dau. of N. Bearcroft, Esq., chief-justice of Chester, by his 2nd wife, Miss Roger, of Okle, and eventually acquired, through his wife, who became sole heiress of her brother Philip, a considerable property. He left issue,

JAMES, in holy orders, of Okle, co. Gloucester.

Descent of the Dignity.

JAMES JOHNSTON, of Johnston, in Annandale, a favourite of KING CHARLES I., was raised to the peerage by that monarch, by patent, dated at Holyrood House, 20 June, 1633, as LORD JOHNSTON, of Lockwood, to himself and his heirs male for ever, and was created EARL OF HARTFELL, 18 March, 1643, with the same remaindership. His lordship m. Lady Margaret Douglas, eldest dau. of William, 1st Earl of Queensberry, and had issue,

JAMES, his successor.

Mary, m. 1st, to Sir George Graham,* of Netherby; and 2ndly, Sir George Fletcher, of Hutton Hall, both in Cumberland. Her ladyship had issue of both marriages; and dying in 1657, aged 33, was buried at Netherby.

Janet, m. to Sir William Murray, Bart. of Stanhope, co. Peebles, and had issue.

Margaret, m. to Sir Robert Danzell, of Glenae; but d. s. p.

The earl espoused two other wives, but had no other issue. His lordship d. in 1653, and was s. by his son,

JAMES, 2nd earl. This nobleman, who adhered firmly to the STUARTS, was sworn of the privy-council on the restoration of KING CHARLES II. The title of EARL OF ANNANDALE having become extinct by the death of James Murray, the 2nd earl of that family, Lord Hartfell made a resignation of his peerage into the hands of the king, who granted a new patent, 13 Feb. 1661, creating him EARL OF ANNANDALE AND HARTFELL, Viscount of Annand, Lord Johnston, of Lochwood, Lochmaben, Moffatdale, and Evandale, to himself and his heirs male; whom failing, to the eldest heirs female of his body, and the eldest heirs male of the body of such heirs female, bearing the name and arms of Johnston, which arms they shall be bound to assume; whom, all failing, to the nearest heirs whatsoever of his lordship, with the former precedency of 18 March, 1643. He obtained likewise a charter, 3 April, 1662, erecting his whole lands into a lordship, earldom, and regality, with the office of hereditary-constable of the castle of Lochmaben, to himself and his heirs whatsoever. He had

* There is some doubt regarding this marriage, and upon that depends the claim of SIR ROBERT GRAHAM, Bart. of Esk. Sir Robert maintains that this lady did not marry his ancestor, but espoused the Earl of Crawford. He asserts that it was Mary, the niece of her ladyship, and dau. of James, 2nd earl, who did marry Sir George Graham, of Netherby, and that he descends from that marriage. GEORGE, 3rd marquess. The loss of his brother, LORD JOHN JOHNSTON, deeply affecting the spirits of this nobleman, he became eventually deranged; and an inquest from the court of Chancery, in 1748, declared him incapable of managing his own affairs. His lordship d. 29 April, 1792, when his English estates, derived from his mother, passed to that lady's son, (by her 2nd husband,) SIR RICHARD VANDEN-BEMPDE-JOHNSTON, Bart.; his Scottish estates to his grandnephew of the half-blood, James, 3rd Earl of Hopetoun; and his personal property became the subject of litigation before the court of Chancery in England, and court of Session in Scotland. It was finally determined, that he was domiciled in England, and that his personal estate, wherever situated, was distributable according to the law of England. In consequence, that property, amounting to £415,000, fell to be divided into three equal portions, between Sir Richard Vanden-Bempde-Johnston, Charles Johnstone, his uterine brother, and his niece of the half-blood, Lady Christian Hope, widow of Thomas Graham, of Balgowan. I. RICHARD, who s. as 14th baron, at the decease of his father, in 1614, and from him the title passed in regular succession to

THOMAS BIRMINGHAM, 19th lord, who was created EARL OF LOUTH in 1750. His lordship d. in 1799, leaving by his wife, Margaretta, dau. and co-heir of Peter Daly, Esq. of Quansbury House, co. of Galway, three daus., his co-heirs, viz.,

ELIZABETH, m. to Thomas-Baily-Heath Sewell, Esq., son and heir of the Right Hon. Thomas Sewell, Knt., master of the Rolls in England, and had a son,

THOMAS - BIRMINGHAM - DALY - HENRY SEWELL, who m. in 1796, the Hon. Harriet Beresford, dau. of William, 1st Lord Decies, Archbishop of Tuam, and had issue.

Mr. Sewell claimed the Barony of Athenry in 1800.†

* This lady has died, we believe, since the claim was preferred.

† Report of the law officers of Ireland regarding Mr. Sewell's claim.

Upon consideration of all the evidence aforesaid, We are humbly of opinion, that Memorialist (Sewell) has fully proved the several allegations on which he professes to found his hopes and expectations; and that the barony of Athenry appearing to be the most ancient in the list of barons, and being of so great antiquity, and consequently a barony in fee, is now, as stated in the Petition, in abeyance between the said Lady Elizabeth, the mother of Petitioner, the said daughters of Lady St. Lawrence, and the

† The BARONY OF BRAYE is stated to have been created by writ of summons to, and sitting in, parliament in the reign of HENRY VIII., and upon that question the case is now before the House of Lords.

PEERAGES CLAIMED, ETC.

Descent of the Dignity.

SIR EDMUND BRAYE, Knt. of Braye, co. Bedford, was raised to the peerage by writ of summons, it is alleged, in the 21st year of the reign of HENRY VIII.; but as neither the original writ issued to him, nor the enrolment of it, is now extant, the fact cannot be positively substantiated. The reasoning in support of the allegation, however, and the cases adduced in point, appear conclusive. Lord Braye m. Jane, daughter and heiress of Sir Richard Halligwell, of Holwell;* and dying 18 Oct. 1539, left issue,

- I. JOHN BRAYE, who was summoned to parliament, as 2nd BARON BRAYE, from 3 Nov. 1545, to 21 Oct. 1555. This nobleman m. Lady Anne Talbot, dau. of Francis, Earl of Shrewsbury; but dying WITHOUT ISSUE, 18 Nov. 1557, the BARONY OF BRAYE, if created by writ of summons, as it is contended, fell into ABEYANCE amongst his sisters and their descendants, and it still continues in abeyance.

- II. ANNE BRAYE, m. to George Brooke, Lord Cobham, and her grandsons,

HENRY BROOKE, Lord Cobham, who d. in 1619, s.p., and GEORGE BROOKE,† being both attainted of high-treason, (the latter was executed,) and the attainder never having been reversed, the representation of this the elder co-heir is vested in the crown.

- III. ELIZABETH BRAYE, m. to Sir Ralph Verney, Knt. of Pendley and Middle Claydon, co. Bucks, and had issue,

1 Edward Verney, d. s. p. in 1558.

2 John Verney, d. s. p.

3 (SIR) EDMUND VERNEY, m. 1st, Frances, dau. of John Hastings, Esq. of Elford, co. Oxford, but by her had no issue. He wedded 2ndly, Audrey, dau. of William Gardner, Esq. of Fulmere, Bucks, and widow of Sir Peter Carew, and by that lady had an only child,

SIR FRANCIS VERNEY, of Penley, who m. Ursula, dau. and co-heir of William St. Barbe; but d. s. p. abroad, having sold the estate.

Sir Edmund m. 3rdly, Mary, dau. of John Blackney, Esq. of Sparrowham, and widow of Geoffrey Turvile, of Leicestershire, and had by her,

SIR EDMUND VERNEY, Knight, marshal and standard-bearer to KING CHARLES I.; killed at the battle of Edge Hill, 23 October, 1642; m. Margaret, dau. of Sir Thomas Benton, Knt. His son,

SIR RALPH VERNEY, was created a Baronet in 1696. He was s. by his son,

SIR JOHN VERNEY, 2nd bart., who was raised to the peerage of Ireland by

* By his wife, Anne, dau. and heiress of Sir John Norbury, Knt., by Elizabeth, eldest sister and co-heir of Ralph Boteler, Baron Sudley.

† GEORGE BROOKE was executed and attainted in the reign of JAMES I. for participation in Raleigh's conspiracy. He m. Elizabeth, dau. of Thomas, Lord Borough, and left a son,

SIR WILLIAM BROOKE, K.B., who was restored in blood. He m. Penelope, widow of the Hon. Mr. Wilmot, and dau. of Sir Moses Hill, Knt. of Hillesborough Castle, in Ireland, and by her (who wedded 3rdly, the Hon. Edward Russell, son of Thomas, 4th Earl of Bedford) left three daus., who had from the crown, notwithstanding the attainder, a patent of the precedence of a baron's daughters. Of those ladies one m. Matthew Thomlinson, Esq.; another m. Sir John Denham, the poet; and the other,

HILL BROOKE, became the 2nd wife of Sir William Boothby, Bart. of Broadlow Ashe, co. Derby, and had to survive their father, two sons, WILLIAM BOOTHBY, who inherited as 4th bart. of Broadlow Ashe; but his line failed with his grandson, in 1787.

BROOKE BOOTHBY, whose son,

BROOKE BOOTHBY, inherited as 6th bart. of Broadlow Ashe, and his heir male is the present

SIR WILLIAM BOOTHBY, Bart. of Broadlow Ashe.

QUEEN ANNE, as Baron Verney and VISCOUNT FERMANAGH. His lordship m. Elizabeth Palmer, of Little Chelsea, and had issue,

- 1 RALPH VERNEY, 2nd VISCOUNT FERMANAGH, who was created EARL VERNEY. His line entirely failed on the death of his grandau., Mary Verney, who was created BARONESS FERMANAGH; and d. s. p. in 1810.

- 2 ELIZABETH VERNEY, d. unm. in 1767.

- 3 MARY VERNEY, m. to Col. John Lovett, of Soulbury, Bucks, and her issue all d. unm.

- 4 MARGARET VERNEY, m. Sir Thomas Cave, Bart. of Stanford Hall, co. Leicester, and is now represented by SARAH CAVE, her great-grand-dau. and heiress, widow of the late Henry Otway, Esq. of Castle Otway, in Ireland, which lady assumed, by royal licence, 12 March, 1818, the surname of CAVE, and is one of the CO-HEIRS and CLAIMANTS of the Barony of Braye.

- IV. FRIDESWIDE BRAYE, m. Sir Percival Hart, Knt. of Lullingstone, and from her descends (her representative) the present SIR PERCIVAL HART-DYKE, Bart., one of the co-heirs to the BARONY OF BRAYE.

- V. MARY BRAYE, m. to Sir Robert Peckham. Her descendants are presumed to be extinct.

- VI. DOROTHY BRAYE, m. to Edmund, Lord Chandos, and her grandau., the Hon. CATHERINE CHANDOS, having m. Francis Russell, 4th Earl of Bedford, she is now represented by JOHN, 6th Duke of Bedford, one of the co-heirs of the BARONY OF BRAYE.

- VII. FRANCES BRAYE, m. to Thomas Lifield, Esq. of Stoke d'Aubernon, co. Surrey, and had a daughter and heiress,

JANE LIFIELD, who m. Thomas Vincent, Esq., and from that marriage descends the present SIR FRANCIS VINCENT, Bart. of Stoke d'Aubernon, who is said to be one of the co-heirs to the BARONY OF BRAYE.

BUTTEVANT, VISCOUNTY OF, in the PEERAGE OF IRELAND.

Claimant—JAMES REDMOND BARRY, Esq.

Descent of the Dignity.

DAVID BARRY, Lord of Olethan, Buttevant, &c., was summoned to parliament in 1381 (4th and 5th RICHARD II.), as "David de Barry Miles." He d. in 1392, and was s. by his son,

JOHN DE BARRY, who had livery of his estates, 26th Feb. 1393, by the name of "John Fitz-David Barry." He was 25 years old and upwards at his father's death, and was then m. to Ellice, the dau. of Gerald, Earl of Desmond.

The earliest document which mentions the title of VISCOUNT BUTTEVANT* bears date in 1406, and is enrolled on the patent roll, in the Rolls-Office of Chancery in Ireland, of the 12th of KING JAMES I. It recites that John Barry, Esq., required a certain deed to be enrolled in Chancery, dated the Monday next before the Epiphany, in the 7th of KING HENRY IV. (1406), whereby James, VISCOUNT BUTTEVANT, granted to John Stapleton, gentleman, the lands of Island Cullyne, at the rent of two shillings Irish per annum. This JAMES was probably created VISCOUNT BUTTEVANT either by KING RICHARD II., on his last visit to Ireland, or by HENRY IV., soon after his accession.

* The patent, or the enrolment thereof, by which the LORD BARRY, of Olethan, in the kingdom of Ireland, was raised to the dignity of VISCOUNT BUTTEVANT, has not been discovered.

PEERAGES CLAIMED, ETC.

Whether he was son or brother of the above-mentioned John Fitz-David cannot as yet be proved.

WILLIAM BARRY, Viscount Buttevant, was summoned to parliament as Premier Viscount of Ireland in the 6th year of HENRY VII., (1490.)

The grandson of this lord, JAMES-FITZ-JOHN BARRY, Viscount Buttevant, executed a deed, dated 9 Feb. in the 3rd and 4th PHILIP and MARY, whereby he settled his estates of Buttevant, Oletan, &c., upon himself for life, with remainder to the heirs of his body; in failure of which, upon his cousin, JAMES-FITZ-RICHARD BARRY-ROE, commonly called Baron of Ibawne; and after him, upon various other persons. His lordship d. without male issue, 20 March, 1557, and was s. by his cousin afore-said,

JAMES FITZ-RICHARD BARRY-ROE, Viscount Buttevant, who was summoned to the parliament of Ireland which met 12 Jan. 1559. His lordship d. in 1582, leaving (with two younger sons),

I. RICHARD, who never bore the title of Viscount of Buttevant, in consequence of being deaf and dumb. He d. s. p. in 1622.

II. DAVID, who, in consequence of the incapacity of his elder brother, was summoned to parliament as Viscount BUTTEVANT, in 1585. The son of this David, another DAVID BARRY, pre-deceased him, leaving a son,

DAVID BARRY, who succeeding his grandfather and granduncle, became VISCOUNT BUTTEVANT, and was created, in 1627, EARL OF BARRYMORE, in which higher dignity the VISCOUNTY merged until the decease issueless, 20 Dec. 1823, of

HENRY BARRY, 8th EARL OF BARRYMORE, when that dignity became EXTINCT, and the VISCOUNTY OF BUTTEVANT devolved, as he alleges, upon JAMES-REDMOND BARRY, the claimant.

III. WILLIAM, of Lisle, who was s. by his son,

JAMES, who was s. by his son,

WILLIAM, who forfeited the estate of Lisle in the time of CROMWELL. He was living in 1656. His son and successor,

JAMES, was of Ballymachraheen, co. Cork. He d. about 1760, and left a son,

JAMES, of Mount Barry, co. Cork, who d. in 1802, having had issue,

JAMES, of Donoughmore, who d. in 1800, leaving a son,

JAMES-REDMOND BARRY, heir of his grandfather, and claimant of the VISCOUNTY OF BUTTEVANT.

CAMOYS, BARONY OF, in the PEERAGE OF ENGLAND; created by writ of summons.

Claimant—THOMAS STONOR, Esq. of Stonor.

Descent of the Dignity.

SIR THOMAS DE CAMOIS, of Broadwater, in the co. of Surrey, knight of the Garter, and knight-banneret, an eminent warrior in the times of RICHARD II., HENRY IV., and HENRY V., was summoned to parliament as Baron Camois from the 7th year of the reign of the first-mentioned monarch to the 8th of the last. Prior to his being raised to the peerage, Sir Thomas was elected knight of the shire for Surrey, but excused himself from serving, as a banneret, exemption from parliamentary service being one of the privileges of that order of knighthood. Lord Camois had an only son,

RICHARD, (Sir) who d. in his father's lifetime, leaving issue,

HUGH, successor to his grandfather.

MARGARET.* Of this lady in detail, as ancestor of the claimant Stonor.

SOPHIA, widow of the Chevalier Ferdinand de la Cainea.

The baron d. 28 March, 9th of HENRY V., and was s. by his grandson,

HUGH DE CAMOYS, 2nd Baron Camoys; who, at the decease of his grandfather, was seven years of age, and d. in his minority, 12 Aug., 4th of HENRY VI., when the Barony of Camois fell into abeyance, and has so continued ever since. Of his lordship's sister and co-heirs, the elder,

MARGARET CAMOYS, m. Ralph Radmylde, Esq. of the county of Sussex, and had issue by him,

ROBERT RADMYLDE, his heir.

MARGARET RADMYLDE.

ISABELLA, or ELIZABETH RADMYLDE, who m. Nicholas Lewknor, Esq., and was great-grand-mother of

EDWARD LEWKNOR, Esq. of Kingston Bowsey, who was attainted* of high-treason; his son and heir,

SIR EDWARD LEWKNOR, was restored in blood only, in the 1st year of ELIZABETH. The co-heirs of Sir Edward, and consequently co-heirs to the Barony of Camoys are,

HENRY L'ESTRANGE STYLEMAN, Esq. of Hunstanton, co. Norfolk.

SIR JACOB ASTLEY, Bart.

Margaret d. in the lifetime of her husband, who, upon her death, became tenant by courtesy of her moiety of the Camoys estates, and d. on the 3 Aug., 21 HEN. VI., leaving his son,

ROBERT RADMYLDE, Esq., his heir, who, upon a partition of the Camoys estates, was awarded the manor of Broadwater and various other lands. He m. Emelina, dau. of Sir James Feynes, subsequently created Lord Saye and Sele; and dying 22 June, 35th HENRY VI., was s. by his only son, WILLIAM RADMYLDE, afterwards Sir William, who, in the 12th of HENRY VII., levied a fine of Broadwater and the other estates of the Camoys family; and d. in the 14th HEN. VII. without legitimate issue.

MARGARET RADMYLDE, elder sister of Robert, and aunt of Sir William Radmylde, m. John Goring, Esq. of Burton, co. Sussex, and had a son and heir,

JOHN GORING, Esq. of Burton, whose son and heir,

JOHN GORING, Esq. of Burton, upon the death of his cousin, SIR WILLIAM RADMYLDE, succeeded as co-heir to his estates, and as such joined the other co-heir, EDWARD LEWKNOR, in levying a fine of them in the 18th of HENRY VII. He was s. by his son and heir,

SIR WILLIAM GORING, Knt., whose great-grandson,

SIR WILLIAM GORING, was created a BARONET in the 20th JAMES I. He d. in 1657, and was s. by an only son,

SIR HENRY GORING, 2nd bart., who had issue,

WILLIAM, 3rd bart.; who d. s. p. in 1723, when the BARONETCY became extinct.

Henry, d. unm. in 1683. Anne.

The daughter,

ANNE GORING, m. Richard Biddulph, Esq. of Biddulph Castle, co. Stafford; and dying at the age of twenty-one, 25 Oct. 1679, was s. by his son,

* A question arises whether the attainder of any one co-heir to a barony does not effectually extinguish the dignity, if so, the attainder of EDWARD LEWKNOR would terminate the BARONY OF CAMOYS.

* Co-heirs to their brother.

PEERAGES CLAIMED, ETC.

JOHN BIDDULPH, Esq., who had issue, two sons and two daus.,

I. RICHARD BIDDULPH, who became sole heir of his grandfather, SIR WILLIAM GORING, Bart.; and d. himself unm. in 1767.

II. CHARLES BIDDULPH, who s. his brother, Richard. He had three sons, viz.,

JOHN, his heir, d. unm. in 1835.

Thomas, d. s. p. in 1789.

III. MARY BIDDULPH, b. in 1710; m. in 1732, THOMAS STONOR, Esq. of Stonor, co. Oxford, and was great grandmother of THOMAS STONOR, Esq., the CLAIMANT.

IV. ANNE BIDDULPH, b. in 1717; m. Anthony Wright, Esq. of Wealside, and was grandmother of ANTHONY - GEORGE WRIGHT, who has assumed the surname of BIDDULPH, and is co-heir to the BARONY OF CAMOYS.

DE WAHULL, BARONY OF, in the PEERAGE OF ENGLAND.

Claimant—JONATHAN CHETWOOD, Esq. of Woodbrook, in the Queen's county.

Descent of the Dignity.

THOMAS DE WAHULL, of Wahull (now Wodhull, or Odhull), co. Bedford, was summoned to parliament as a Baron, by KING EDWARD I., 26 Jan. 1297. He d. in 1304, seised of the barony of Wahull, as also of the manor of Wahull, co. Bedford, and Pateshill, in Northamptonshire, leaving by his wife, Hawise, dau. of Henry Praers, an infant son and heir,

JOHN DE WAHULL, who, although possessed of the barony of Wahull, had no similar summons to parliament, nor had any of his descendants. This John d. 10th EDWARD III., and from him we pass to his descendant,

ANTHONY WODEHULL, who attaining majority, 31st HENRY VIII., had livery of his lands; but dying in two years afterwards, left by Anne, his wife, dau. of Sir John Smith, an only dau. and heiress,

AGNES WODEHULL, who espoused 1st, Richard Chetwode, Esq., 3rd son of Sir Roger, ancestor of the present Sir John Chetwode, Bart.; and 2ndly, Sir George Calverley, Knt. By the latter she had two sons, who both predeceased her; and by the former, an only son, her heir,

SIR RICHARD CHETWODE. This gentleman, in the time of JAMES I., preferred a claim to the barony of Wahull, as possessor of the manor and castle of Odell (Wahull), and his petition being referred to the Duke of Lennox, the Lord Howard, and the Earl of Nottingham, these noblemen made a report in his favour, (see BURKE's Extinct Peerage;) but their recommendation was not carried into effect, and Sir Richard, in consequence, declined accepting a peerage, under a new creation by patent, which was then offered to him. His son,

RICHARD CHETWODE, m. Anne, dau. and co-heiress of Sir Valentine Knightley, son and heir of Sir Richard Knightley, by the Lady Eliza Seymour, dau. of Edward, Duke of Somerset, and had a son,

VALENTINE CHETWODE, who m. Mary, dau. of Francis Shute, Esq. of Upton, co. Leicester, and had two sons, KNIGHTLEY, in holy orders, dean of Gloucester. This gentleman had two children, John and Eliza, who both d. unm.

JOHN, in holy orders, D.D., who had a son,

KNIGHTLEY, who inherited the estates, and became representative of the family upon the decease of his cousins, John and Eliza. He m. Hesther, dau. and heir of Richard Brooking, Esq. of Totness, co. Devon, and sister of the Bishop of Cloyne, and had (with a dau., Anne, m. to Joseph Stopford, Esq., brother of James, Earl of Courtown) a son,

VALENTINE KNIGHTLEY CHETWOOD, who marrying Henrietta-Maria, daughter of Sir Jonathan Cope, Bart. of Brewern, co. Oxford, aunt of Arabella, Duchess of Dorset, present Countess of Whitworth, and of Catherine, Countess of Aboyne, and also sister of Mary, Lady Jenkinson, 1st cousin of Charles, Earl of Liverpool, left a son, JONATHAN CHETWOOD, Esq. of Woodbrook, Queen's co., the present CLAIMANT to the BARONY OF DE WAHULL.

FITZHERBERT, BARONY OF, in the PEERAGE OF ENGLAND.

Claimant—Sir SAMUEL-THOMAS SPRY, Knt. of Place and Tregolls, in Cornwall, M.P. for Bodmin.

Descent of the Dignity.

JOHN FITZ-REGINALD, Lord of Blenlevenny, in the co. of Brecknock, was summoned to parliament by writ, from 8 June, 1294, to 26 Jan. 1297, and from 29 Dec. 1299, to 26 Aug. 1307. His son and successor, HERBERT FITZ-JOHN, had two sons, MATTHEW FITZHERBERT and REGINALD FITZHERBERT; the elder of whom d. without issue, leaving his nieces, Mary and Elizabeth, the daus. of his brother, Reginald, his co-heirs. The heir-general of those ladies, the present SIR SAMUEL THOMAS SPRY, has petitioned the crown to determine the abeyance of the said barony in his favour, and her majesty has referred the case for the consideration of the attorney-general.

FRASER OF LOVAT, BARONY OF, in the PEERAGE OF SCOTLAND.

Claimant—THOMAS-ALEXANDER, Lord Lovat.

Descent of the Dignity.

HUGH FRASER is the first of the family designed in legal writings "of Ard and of Lovat," lands which still remain in the possession of his descendants. Under this title he figures in the year 1367. The precise period when the Frasers of Lovat came to the peerage is not ascertained: there is no patent of the honour; and, indeed, prior to the reign of JAMES VI., patents having reference to dignities alone were unknown; but there are strong reasons for believing that the chiefs of the clan sat as parliamentary barons in the reign of JAMES I. Hugh Fraser d. in 1440, and was s. by his son,

HUGH FRASER, 2nd Lord Lovat; from whom the peerage descended in a direct line to

SIMON FRASER, 13th Lord Lovat, who signed the association, in 1740, to join CHARLES-EDWARD, from whom he accepted the commission of lieutenant-general, and general of the highlands, with a patent creating him DUKE OF FRASER. On the breaking out of the Rebellion, five years afterwards, 1745, he sent his eldest son and his clansmen to join the standard of the Chevalier, but remained at home himself. When all was over he was taken into custody, 1746, conveyed to London, and put upon his trial for high-treason, before the House of Lords, on the 7th March, 1747, convicted on the 10th of the same month, and decapitated on Tower Hill, 9 April following, in the 80th year of his age, when his honours fell under the attainder. With Simon Fraser's 2nd son, COLONEL ARCHIBALD-CAMPBELL FRASER, of Lovat, who d. in 1815, the male descendants of Hugh, 9th Lord Lovat, becoming extinct, when the male representation of the family, as well as the heirship to the attained barony, devolved upon (the descendant of the HON. THOMAS FRASER, 2nd son of the 6th lord) THOMAS-ALEXANDER FRASER, of Lovat and Stricken, (since created Lord Lovat, in the peerage of the United Kingdom,) who having presented a petition to his majesty to recognise his claim to the dignity of BARON LOVAT, the same was remitted to the House of Lords before the lords' committee for privileges, of which Lovat, in June, 1827,* terminated the proof of his pedigree.

PEERAGES CLAIMED, ETC.

GALMOYE, VISCOUNTY OF, co. Kilkenny, in the PEERAGE OF IRELAND.

Claimant—GARRET BUTLER, Esq., who has assumed the title.

Opinion of his Majesty's Attorney-General and Solicitor-General for Ireland.

"Upon the whole of this case, we are humbly of opinion that the said Garret Butler, the claimant of said title of Viscount of Galmoye, has well proved his right to the same, in case said attainder were out of the way, and that his majesty may, if he shall be graciously pleased so to do, recommend the proper measures to be taken to reverse the attainder created by the said act of WILLIAM III., in order that the said title, honour, or dignity, of Viscount of Galmoye, of the kingdom of Ireland, may be revived in the person of the petitioner, the said Garret Butler, the more so as such attainder arose from the acts of Piers, the third viscount, who was not the lineal ancestor of the said claimant, he having, as before stated, shewn his right to the said title through the uncle of the said Piers.

"All which is humbly submitted to your excellency as the report of your excellency's obedient and very humble servants, (signed) H. JOY.

"Dublin, 29 June, 1828.

JOHN DOHERTY."

Descent of the Dignity.

THOMAS BUTLER, 10th Earl of Ormonde and Earl of Ossory, K.G., surnamed, from the darkness of his complexion, the "BLACK EARL," left at his decease, in 1614, a legitimate dau. and heiress, and had, beside an illegitimate son,

PIERS-FITZ-THOMAS BUTLER, in whose favour the earl executed a deed of conveyance, in 1597, (when the said Piers had reached majority,) of certain church-lands, considerable in amount, which had been granted by QUEEN ELIZABETH, in 1576, to James Butler, the earl's brother, and which reverted to his lordship at the decease of the said James's son, James, without issue. This Piers-Fitz-Thomas m. Katherine, eldest daughter and co-heiress of Thomas, Lord Slane, by whom he had two sons; and dying in 1601, was s. by the elder,

SIR EDWARD BUTLER, Knt., who was elevated to the peerage of Ireland, 16 May, 1646, as VISCOUNT OF GALMOYE, co. Kilkenny. His lordship m. Anne, daughter of Edmund, 2nd Viscount Mountgarret, by whom he had two sons, viz.,

1. PIERS, of Barrowmount, colonel of dragoons in the royal army, who fell at the battle of Worcester in 1650, leaving by Margaret, dau. of the 1st Lord Netterville,

EDWARD, who s. his grandfather.

Richard, d. in 1678, without male issue.

Edmund, of Killoshulan, co. Kilkenny, ancestor of the present family.

* When the family was first raised to the peerage the title was simply Lord Fraser, as demonstrative of the chief's being the Fraser, or head of the clan.

For a detailed account of the Frasers of Lovat, see BURKE'S Commoners, vol. iii.

Frances, m. to Hervey Morres, grandfather of the 1st Viscount Mountmorres.

Eleanor, m. to William Grace, Esq. of Ballylinch.

- II. Thomas, whose only child, Anne, m. William Cook, Esq. of Painstown.

The viscount d. in 1653, and was s. by his grandson,

EDWARD, 2nd viscount; who m. Eleanor, Lady Aston, dau. of Sir Nicholas White, Knt. of Leixlip, co. Kildare, by whom he had two sons, Piers and Richard; the younger of whom m. and had issue,

JAMES, who assumed the title as 4th viscount; and d. s. p. in 1770.

Sophia, m. William Hay, Esq. of Nantes, ancestor of the Chevalier Hay, of the same place.

His lordship d. in 1667, and was s. by his elder son,

PIERS, 3rd viscount; a distinguished officer in the royal army (KING JAMES's) at the battle of the Boyne, who was outlawed in consequence, 11 May, 1691; but being in the October following one of the commissioners for the surrender of Limerick, his lordship was included of course in the celebrated treaty of that city; following, however, the fortunes of his royal master (who had created him Earl of Newcastle) into France, he was despoiled of all his estates, and attainted in 1697, by the statute 9th WILLIAM III. c. 5. His lordship, who had the rank of lieut.-general in the French service, dying in 1740, without male issue, the viscounty was assumed, notwithstanding the attainder, by his nephew and next male heir,

COLONEL JAMES BUTLER, of the Irish brigade in the French service, (eldest son of the deceased lord's only brother, the Hon. Richard Butler, of his Majesty KING JAMES's body-guard,) as 4th viscount. His lordship d. s. p. in 1770, when the dignity was assumed by the illegitimate son of his youngest brother, Captain Francis-Piers Butler, of the Irish brigade, by Catherine-Julie de Vallory, (a lady whom Captain Butler eventually married, and acknowledging the said son, legitimated him according to the laws of France, but, indisputably, not according to the laws of England,)

PIERS-LOUIS-ANTOINE, as 5th viscount. This Piers dying issueless in 1826, it is of no importance whether he assumed, consistently with the English law of descent, the representation of the family or not; but while he lived, the branch which should have inherited the peerage did not urge their claim, owing to ignorance of the taint in the birth of the said Piers; but upon his decease, the present claimant and next male heir to the (assumed) 4th viscount, Garret Butler, Esq. of Garrendenny Castle, Queen's co., lost no time in asserting his right, upon which the law-officers of Ireland came to the favourable conclusion given above. We shall now deduce the line of the said GARRET.

EDMOND BUTLER, Esq. of Killoshulan, co. Kilkenny, (youngest son of the Hon. Piers Butler, and brother of Edward, the 2nd viscount,) a major in the army of KING JAMES II., m. Catharine, dau. of Sir Nicholas Crisp, of Luddenham, co. Kent; and dying in 1691, left a son,

PIERS BUTLER, Esq., major of dragoons in KING JAMES's army, comprehended within the articles of Limerick. This gentleman m. Domville, eldest daughter of Sir Robert Hartpole, Knt. of Shrute, and granddaughter of Sir William Domville, KING CHARLES II.'s attorney-general, by whom he had,

EDMOND BUTLER, Esq., captain of dragoons in the service of KING GEORGE II., who conformed to the protestant faith in 1719. This gentleman served the office of sheriff of the Queen's co. and of the co. of Kilkenny. He m. Miss Anne Skellerin, by whom he had several children, and was s. by his son,

PIERS BUTLER, Esq., (who, but for the attainder, would have succeeded at the decease of the 4th Viscount Galmoye, in 1775, owing to the illegitimacy of the person who assumed the dignity as 5th viscount.) This gentleman m. Mary, only dau. of Theobald Mandevile, Esq. of Ballydine, and was s. by his only son,

EDMOND-THEOBALD-MANDEVILE BUTLER, Esq., who m. Elizabeth, dau. of Garret Nevile, Esq., and niece of Sir Robert-Adare Hodson, Bart., by whom he had four sons,

PEERAGES CLAIMED, ETC.

Piers-Theobald.
Garret, (present assumed Viscount Galmoye.)
William.
Tobias.

Mr. Butler d. in 1815, and was s. in his estates by his eldest son,

PIERS-THEOBALD BUTLER, Esq.; at whose decease unm. in 1824, the estates and representation of the family devolved upon his next brother,

GARRET BUTLER, Esq., who, upon the demise of the (illegitimate) 5th viscount, Piers-Louis-Antoine, in 1826, as already stated, adopted the usual course of proceeding to establish his right to the peerage.

Creation—16 May, 1646.

Arms—Quarterly; first, or, a chief, indented, az., within a bordure, vert; second, gu., three covered cups, or; third, ar., a lion, rampant, sa., on a chief, gu., a swan, wings expanded of the first, between two annulets, or; fourth, ermine, a saltier, gu.

KELLIE, EARLDOM OF, in the PEERAGE OF SCOTLAND.

Claimant—JOHN-FRANCIS-MILLER ERSKINE, Earl of Marr.

Descent of the Dignity.

The HON. SIR ALEXANDER ERSKINE, Knt. of Gogar, co. of Mid-Lothian, (4th son of John, 4th Lord Erskine, by Margaret, daughter of Archibald, 2nd Earl of Argyll, and brother of John, Earl of Marr, Regent of Scotland,) was sworn, in 1578, of his majesty's (Scottish) privy-council, nominated governor of Edinburgh Castle, and constituted vice-chamberlain of Scotland. He m. Margaret, dau. of George, 4th Lord Home, by whom he had three sons and three daus. On the death of his brother, the regent, in 1572, Sir Alexander was entrusted with the custody of KING JAMES VI., and the keeping of the castle of Stirling, where his majesty resided, which office he executed with great fidelity, until the castle was seized by his nephew, the Earl of Marr, in 1578, who made himself master of the king's person, and turned Sir Alexander out of the fortress; the disgrace of this expulsion so deeply affected his eldest son, Alexander, a youth of great promise, that he is said to have died of grief in the same year. Sir Alexander Erskine's next son,

SIR THOMAS ERSKINE, born in the same year with KING JAMES I., and educated with that monarch, having accompanied him into England, was created, in 1603, Baron of Dirleton, co. Haddington, and 18 May, 1606, Viscount Fentoun, (being the first person raised to that degree of nobility in Scotland,) with remainder to his heirs male whatsoever. His lordship was advanced to the EARLDOM OF KELLIE, 12 March, 1619, to himself, and his heirs male bearing the name of ERSKINE; he was at the same time installed a knight of the Garter and sworn of the privy-councils of England and Scotland. The earl m. thrice, but had issue by his first wife, Anne, daughter of Gilbert Ogilvie, Esq. of Pourie, only, viz., a dau., Anne, and

Alexander, Viscount Fentoun, who m. Anne, dau. of Alexander, 1st Earl of Dunfermline, and left (with a younger son, George, and three daus.),

1 THOMAS, of whom presently.

2 ALEXANDER, who s. as 3rd earl.

3 Charles. This gentleman joined the royalists under the Earl of Middleton, and was taken prisoner at the Braes of Angus, in 1654. In 1663, he was installed Lord-Lyon king-of-arms, and created a Baronet of Nova Scotia, 20 Aug. 1666. Sir Charles purchased the Barony of Cambo, in Fifeshire, 1669; and dying in 1677, was s. by his only son,

SIR ALEXANDER, 2nd Bart. of Cambo, Lord-Lyon king-of-arms, by commission, dated 29 Jan. 1702, to himself and his heirs. This gentleman joined the Earl of Marr in 1715, but having surrendered, suffered but temporary imprisonment. He m. Mary, dau. of the 3rd Earl of Kellie, and had issue,

Charles, } successive barts., all d. unm.

David, who left

CHARLES, 6th bart.

THOMAS, who s. as 9th EARL OF KELLIE.

METHUEN, late EARL OF KELLIE.

Thomas.

Colin, who settled at Rome, and whose son,

CHARLES, obtained a cardinal's hat in 1801; and d. in 1811.

Sir Alexander d. in 1735, and was s. by his eldest son,

SIR CHARLES, 3rd bart., who was s. in 1753, by his brother,

SIR JOHN, 4th bart.; d. in 1754, s. by his brother,

SIR WILLIAM, 5th bart.; d. in 1780, s. by his nephew,

SIR CHARLES, 6th bart.; m. Miss Cheyne, and was s. by his eldest son,

SIR WILLIAM, 7th bart., s. in 1791, by his brother,

SIR CHARLES, 8th bart., of whom hereafter, as EARL OF KELLIE.

Thomas, 1st Earl of Kellie, d. in 1639, and his only son, Lord Fentoun, having pre-deceased him, his lordship's honours devolved upon his grandson,

THOMAS, 2nd earl; at whose decease unm. 3 Feb. 1643, the honours devolved upon his brother,

ALEXANDER, 3rd earl; who was s. in 1677, by his only son,

ALEXANDER, 4th earl. His lordship m. Anne, eldest dau. of Colin, 3rd Earl of Balcarres, and was s. in 1710, by his only son, ALEXANDER, 5th earl. His lordship m. twice, but had issue only by his 2nd wife, Janet, dau. of Doctor Archibald Pitcairn, viz., Thomas, Archibald, and Andrew. The earl being engaged in the rebellion of 1745, his name stands first in the act of attainder of 1746; but his lordship surrendering in due time, the penalties of the act were averted. He d. in 1756, and was s. by his eldest son,

THOMAS, 6th earl; who d. unm. in 1781, when the honours devolved upon his brother,

ARCHIBALD, 7th earl, one of the representative peers of Scotland. This nobleman dying also unm. (8 May, 1797,) the peerage reverted to his kinsman,

SIR CHARLES ERSKINE, 8th Baronet of Cambo, as 8th earl, (refer to descendants of Charles, 3rd son of Viscount Fentoun, eldest son of the 1st earl.) This nobleman dying unm. 28 Oct. 1799, was s. by his uncle,

THOMAS ERSKINE, as 9th earl, (revert to same as the last.) This nobleman, who was b. in 1745, m. in 1771, Anne, dau. of Adam Gordon, Esq. of Ardoch, co. Ross, but had no issue. His lordship was one of the representative peers of Scotland, a knight-commander of the royal Swedish order of Gustavus Vasa, and lord-lieutenant of the county of Fife. He d. 6 Feb. 1828, and was s. by his brother,

METHUEN-KELLIE ERSKINE, as 10th earl. His lordship m. Jane, dau. of the late Adam Gordon, Esq. of Ardoch, but d. s. p. 3 Dec. 1829, when the EARLDOM OF KELLIE became Dormant.

 The EARLDOM OF KELLIE is acknowledged to have vested in the claimant John, Earl of Marr, and his lordship has assumed it accordingly; but those details are allowed to remain, as the most satisfactory mode of explaining the line in which the peerage has descended.

KYME, BARONY OF.

Claimant—DYMOKE WELLS, Esq. of Grebby Hall, in the county of Lincoln.

Descent of the Dignity.

PHILIP DE KYME, of Burwell, in the co. of Lincoln, a distinguished warrior of the martial reign of EDWARD I., was summoned to parliament as a BARON from the 3rd June, 1295, to 26 Nov. 1313. His lordship m. the dau. of Hugh Bigot; and d. in 1322, leaving a son and successor,

PEERAGES CLAIMED, ETC.

WILLIAM DE KYME, 2nd baron; summoned to parliament from 26 Dec. 1323, to the 22 Jan. 1336. His lordship d. without issue in 1338, leaving his sister,

LUCIE DE KYME, m. to Gilbert de Umfraville, Earl of Angus, his heir. Her ladyship had issue,

GILBERT, Earl of Angus, whose only child,

ROBERT, d. s. p.

ELIZABETH, m. to Gilbert Burdon.

The daughter,

ELIZABETH, who m. GILBERT BURDON, had an only child,

ELIZABETH BURDON, who inherited Kyme and other lands from her mother, and m. HENRY TALBOYS, by whom she had a son,

WALTER TALBOYS, of Kyme, whose lineal descendant and representative,

SIR GEORGE TALBOYS, Knt. of Kyme, m. Elizabeth, dau. of Sir William Gascoigne, Knt., and had, with other issue, a dau.,

ANNE, m. 1st, to SIR EDWARD DYMOKE, Knt.; and 2ndly, to Sir Robert Carr.

GILBERT TALBOYS, of Kyme, who was summoned to parliament as Baron Talboys, of Kyme, in 1536. His lordship m. Elizabeth, dau. of Sir John Blount, by whom (who m. 2ndly, Edward Clinton, 1st Earl of Lincoln) he had two sons, George and Robert, who both died in his lifetime issueless, and an only dau.,

ELIZABETH TALBOYS, who m. 1st, Thomas Wimbish, Esq.; and 2ndly, Ambrose Dudley, Earl of Warwick, but had no issue.

At the decease of his lordship the barony devolved upon his daughter,

ELIZABETH WIMBISH, and her husband, Mr. Wimbish, claimed the dignity jure uxoris, when it was solemnly decided, in the presence of KING HENRY VIII., "That no man, husband of a baroness, should use the title of her dignity, until he had a child by her, whereby he should become tenant by the courtesie of her barony." Her ladyship, as stated above, espoused 2ndly, the Earl of Warwick, but d. s. p., when the Barony of Talboys became extinct, while a considerable portion of the estates, and the co-heirship to the original Barony of Kyme, passed to

SIR EDWARD DYMOKE, of Scrivelsby, (champion at the coronations of EDWARD VI., QUEEN MARY, and ELIZABETH,) who had married Anne, sister and co-heir of Gilbert, Lord Talboys, of Kyme. Sir Edward d. in 1566, and was s. by his eldest son,

ROBERT DYMOKE, Esq. of Scrivelsby, whose direct descendant and representative,

SIR EDWARD DYMOKE, Knt. of Scrivelsby, champion at the coronation of CHARLES II., m. in 1624, Jane, dau. of Nicholas Cressy, Esq., and had issue,

- I. CHARLES, (Sir, Knt.) of Scrivelsby, whose line is EX-TINCT.
- II. EDWARD, of whom presently.
- III. Nicholas.
- IV. John, ancestor of the present Hon. Champion HENRY DYMOKE, of Scrivelsby.

The second son,

EDWARD DYMOKE, Esq. of Grebby Hall, Lincolnshire, d. in 1694, and was s. by his son,

ROBERT DYMOKE, Esq. of Grebby Hall, who m. Elizabeth Kniveton; and d. in 1714, leaving (with two sons, whose issue is extinct) an only dau.,

ELIZABETH DYMOKE, b. in 1701; who m. the REV. THOMAS WELLS, rector of Willingham and Springthorpe, co. Lincoln; and d. in 1780, leaving a son and successor,

The REV. ROBERT WELLS, D.D., rector of Willingham and Springthorpe, who m. Susannah, dau. of John Clayton, Esq. of Owersby, co. Lincoln; and d. in 1807, leaving a son and successor,

DYMOKE WELLS, Esq. of Grebby Hall, b. in 1772; who m. in 1793, Anne, dau. and co-heir of Thomas Waterhouse, Esq. of Beckingham Hall, sheriff of Notts in 1787; and d. in 1832, leaving issue,

THOMAS WATERHOUSE WELLS, who d. s. p. 31 July, 1833.

DYMOKE WELLS, CO-HEIR to the BARONY OF KYME, and the PRESENT CLAIMANT.

Edmund-Lionel Wells, of the Middle Temple, barrister-at-law.

TRACY OF RATHCOOLE, VISCOUNTY AND BARONY OF, in the PEERAGE OF IRELAND; created by letters patent, dated 12 Jan. 1642.

Claimant—JAMES TRACY, Esq.

Descent of the Dignity.

SIR JOHN TRACY, of Toddington, in Gloucestershire, was advanced by letters patent, dated 12 Jan. 1642, to the dignity of BARON and VISCOUNT TRACY, of Rathcoole, co. Dublin. He m. Anne, daughter of Sir Thomas Shirley, of Isfield, in Sussex, and had an only son,

ROBERT, 2nd viscount; who m. Bridget, dau. of John Lyttelton, Esq. of Frankly Court, in Worcestershire, and had by her an only son,

JOHN, his successor.

His lordship m. 2ndly, Dorothy, dau. of Thomas Cocks, Esq. of Castleditch, in Herefordshire, ancestor to the present Earl Somers, and by that lady had also a son,

ROBERT, one of the English judges; m. Ann, dau. of William Dowdeswell, Esq. of Pull Court, co. Worcester, and had issue,

ROBERT, whose son, Robert, d. without issue, in 1756.

WILLIAM, who early in life settled in Dublin, where he m. 17 April, 1728, Miss O'Brien, dau. of a merchant of that city. He d. in or about the year 1734, in the King's co., leaving two sons, b. in Dublin, and other children. The eldest son,

JAMES TRACY, b. in Dublin, 27 Jan. 1729, who m. in the King's co. in 1764; and d. in 1794, leaving his eldest son,

JOSEPH TRACY, his heir, b. in 1765. This gentleman petitioned the lords, 15 May, 1835, to be allowed his right, as a peer of Ireland, to vote for the representative peers of that part of the United Kingdom; but d. before a decision could be had, 17 March, 1836, leaving

JAMES TRACY, his eldest son and heir, and PRESENT CLAIMANT.

The 2nd viscount was s. at his decease by his eldest son,

JOHN, 3rd viscount; who m. Elizabeth, eldest dau. of Thomas, 1st Lord Leigh, of Stonleigh, in Warwickshire, and had two sons, viz.,

PEERAGES CLAIMED, ETC.

WILLIAM, his heir.

Ferdinando, who inherited Sir John Tracy's estate at Stanway. He m. the dau. of Sir Anthony Keck, and left an only son, John, who m. the dau. of Sir Robert Atkins, and had four sons, viz., Robert Tracy, John Tracy-Keck, Anthony Tracy, (who m. Lady Susan Hamilton, sister of James, Duke of Hamilton,) and Thomas Tracy. The male line of this branch has become EXTINCT, and the property of Stanway is in the possession of the Earl of Wemyss, the grandson of Anthony Tracy.

The elder son,

WILLIAM, 4th viscount, m. 1st, Frances, dau. of Viscount Hereford, by whom he had an only dau., ELIZABETH, m. to Sir Robert Burdett, Bart. ; and 2ndly, Jane, grandau. of Thomas, 2nd Lord Leigh, by whom he had an only son,

THOMAS-CHARLES, 5th viscount ; who m. 1st, Elizabeth, grandau. of Sir William Keyt, and of this marriage there were two sons and a dau., viz.,

THOMAS-CHARLES, his successor.

Jane, m. to Capel Hanbury, Esq. of Pont-y-pool, co. Monmouth.

His lordship m. 2ndly, Frances, dau. of Sir John Packington, and had by her, with three daus., three sons, viz.,

JOHN, successor to his half-brother as 7th viscount. Robert-Packington, d. young.

HENRY, an officer in the army, 8th viscount.

The viscount d. in 1756, and was s. by his eldest son,

THOMAS-CHARLES, 6th viscount ; who m. Harriet, dau. of Peter Bathurst, Esq. of Clarendon Park, co. Wilts ; but dying s. p. in 1792, was s. by his half-brother,

JOHN, 7th viscount, warden of All Souls, Oxford ; who d. in 1793, s. p., and was s. by his brother,

HENRY, 8th viscount ; who m. Miss Weaver, and d. in 1797, leaving an only dau., who m. in 1798, Charles Hanbury, Esq., who assumed, in consequence, the surname of TRACY. Upon his lordship's decease the peerage became DORMANT. It is now claimed by JAMES TRACY as HEIR MALE.

MEM.—According to the usage of parliament, when the house appoints a select committee, the lords appointed to serve upon it are named in the order of their rank, beginning with the highest; and so, when the house sends a committee to a conference with the Commons, the lord highest in rank is called first, and the rest go forth in like order; but when the whole house is called over for any purpose within the house, or for the purpose of proceeding forth to Westminster Hall, or upon any public solemnity, the call begins invariably with the junior baron.

PEERAGES OF ENGLAND, IRELAND, AND SCOTLAND,

COLLECTIVELY, IN ORDER OF PRECEDENCE.

"All peers of Scotland shall be peers of Great Britain, and have rank next after the peers of the like degree in England at the time of the Union."—23rd Article of Union with Scotland, confirmed by 5 ANNE, cap. 8.

"The Lords of Parliament on the part of Ireland shall have the same privileges as the lords on the part of Great Britain; and all the Lords Spiritual of Ireland shall have rank next after the Lords Spiritual of the same rank in Great Britain, and shall enjoy the same privileges, (except those depending upon sitting in the House of Lords;) and the Temporal Peers of Ireland shall have rank next after the Peers of the like rank in Great Britain at the time of the Union; and all Peerages of Great Britain and Ireland shall in all other respects enjoy the same privileges, except those depending upon sitting in the House of Lords."—Act of Union with Ireland, 39 and 40 GEO. III. cap. 67.

* By the date of Lord Gray's patent, 9 October, 1437, it would seem that his lordship should precede Lord Forbes, whose creation was in 1440, and at the election of peers of Scotland, 12 May, 1739, Lord Gray protested for precedence, and against the calling of Lord Forbes, or any other baron, before himself.

PEERAGES IN ORDER OF PRECEDENCE.

De Saumarez		De L'Isle & Dudley	I.	Oranmore		Beauvale

Note.—The foregoing list comprehends all the peerages extant, excepting minor titles that merge in superior ones of the same kingdom. It must be understood, however, that in many instances two or more dignities centre in one individual: thus—the Duke of Richmond is placed in his precedency as an English duke, and also as a Scottish one, as Duke of Lennox. The Duke of Leinster is amongst the dukes in his Irish dukedom, and amongst the viscounts in his English viscounty, &c. &c. Some lords, too, enjoy distinct peerages of the same grade, inherited from different ancestors, and in such cases both titles are given, each in its own order of precedency.

BRITISH ORDERS OF KNIGHTHOOD.

THE MOST NOBLE ORDER OF THE GARTER.

Instituted by King Edward III. 19th January, 1344.

(K. G.)

THE GARTER of dark-blue velvet, edged with gold, bearing the motto in golden letters, with buckle and pendant of gold richly chased. The garter is worn on the left leg, below the knee.

THE MANTLE of blue velvet, lined with taffeta; on the left breast the star embroidered.

THE HOOD of crimson velvet.

THE SURCOAT likewise of crimson velvet, lined with white taffeta.

THE HAT of black velvet, lined with white taffeta; a plume of white ostrich feathers, in the centre of which a tuft of black heron's feathers, all fastened to the hat by a band of diamonds.

THE COLLAR, gold, consisting of twenty-six pieces, each in form of a garter, enameled, azure, and appended thereto.

THE GEORGE, or figure of St. George, on horseback, encountering the dragon. The George is worn, in common, pendant to a broad dark blue ribbon over the left shoulder.

THE STAR of eight points, silver, upon the centre of which the cross of St. George, gules, encircled with the garter.

By a statute passed on the 17th Jan. 1805, the Order is to consist of the Sovereign and twenty-five Knights-Companions, together with such lineal descendants of KING GEORGE II. as may be elected, always excepting the Prince of Wales, who is a constituent part of the original institution. Special statutes have since, at different times, been proclaimed for the admission of Sovereigns and Extra Knights, the latter of whom have, however, always become part of the twenty-five Companions on the occurrence of vacancies.

BRITISH ORDERS OF KNIGHTHOOD.

THE MOST HONOURABLE ORDER OF THE BATH.

Instituted in 1399. Revived in 1725. Enlarged in 1815.

IN the year 1725, KING GEORGE I. revived the Order of the Bath, which was originally derived from the ceremonial of bathing, which the knights underwent on the vigil of their inauguration, and enacted statutes for its regulation, by which it was ordained to consist of the sovereign and thirty-seven knights companions.

On 2nd of Jan. 1815, it was declared that, "for the purpose of commemorating the auspicious termination of the long and arduous contest in which this empire has been engaged, the order should be composed of three classes; viz.,

1st Class—to consist of knights grand crosses, number not to exceed seventy-two, exclusive of the sovereign and princes of the blood royal; one-sixth of which may be appointed for civil services. The remainder must have attained the rank of major-general in the army, or rear-admiral in the navy, and must have been previously appointed to the second class.

2nd Class—Knights commanders, number not to exceed, upon the first institution, one hundred and eighty, exclusive of foreign officers holding British commissions, of whom not exceeding ten may be admitted as Honorary knights commanders. In the event of actions of signal distinction, or of future wars, the number of this class may be increased. To be entitled to the distinctive appellation of knighthood; to have the same rights and privileges as knights bachelors, but to take precedence of them; to wear the badge, &c., pendant by a red ribbon round the neck, the star embroidered on the left side. This class is not now conferred upon any officer below the rank of major-general in the army, or rear-admiral in the navy.

3rd Class—Companions of the order; not limited in number; they are to take precedence of esquires, but are not entitled to the appellation, style, &c., of knights bachelors. To wear the badge assigned to the third class, pendant by a narrow red ribbon to the button-hole. No officer can be nominated, unless he shall have received a medal, or other badge of honour, or shall have been especially mentioned in despatches in the London Gazette, as having distinguished himself in action. This class has never been conferred upon any officer below the rank of major in the army and commander in the navy.

The new BADGE for the MILITARY CLASSES of the order is a gold Maltese cross, of eight points, enameled, argent, in the four angles, a lion, passant, guardant, or; in the centre, the rose, thistle, and shamrock, issuant from a sceptre between three imperial crowns, or, within a circle, gules; thereon the motto of the order, surrounded by two branches of laurel, proper, issuing from an escrol, azure, inscribed Ich Dien (I serve), in letters of gold. It is worn by the grand crosses pendant from a red ribbon across the right shoulder, by the knights commanders from the neck, and by the companions from the button-hole.

THE COLLAR is of gold, weighing thirty ounces Troy weight, and is composed of nine imperial crowns, and eight roses, thistle and shamrock, issuing from a sceptre, enameled in their proper colours, tied or linked together with seventeen gold knots, enameled white, having the badge of the order pendant therefrom.

THE STAR OF THE MILITARY GRAND CROSSES is formed of rays, or flames of silver, thereon a gold Maltese cross, and in the centre, within the motto, branches of laurel, issuant as in the badge.

THE CIVIL KNIGHTS GRAND CROSSES retain the old badge and star of the order, which is of silver, formed with eight points or rays, charged with three imperial crowns, proper, upon a glory of silver rays surrounded with a red circle, upon which is the motto of the order. Their badge is of gold, and contains a rose issuing from the dexter side of a sceptre, and a thistle from the sinister, all between three imperial crowns encircled by the motto.

THE STAR OF THE KNIGHTS COMMANDERS is in the form of a cross-pattée of silver, having the same centre as the grand crosses, but without a gold Maltese cross thereon.

BRITISH ORDERS OF KNIGHTHOOD.

THE MOST DISTINGUISHED ORDER OF ST. MICHAEL AND ST. GEORGE.

Instituted 27th April, 1818, by Letters Patent, under the great seal of Great Britain, for Natives of the United States of the IONIAN ISLANDS, and of the Island of MALTA and its Dependencies, and for such other subjects of his majesty as may hold high and confidential situations in the Mediterranean.

By statutes, dated 16 Aug. 1832, the order is to consist of fifteen knights grand crosses exclusive of the grand master, twenty knights commanders, and twenty-five cavalieri or companions.

The members of the orders enjoy rank and precedence immediately after the corresponding classes of the order of the Bath; that is to say, the knights grand crosses after knights grand crosses of the Bath; the knights commanders after the knights commanders of the Bath; and the cavalieri and companions after the companions of the Bath, with the exception of the six senior cavalieri, who retain the appellation of British knighthood ("Sir"), and the precedence assigned to them by the original statutes of April, 1818. All natives of the Ionian Islands and of Malta, who receive the third class of the order, are styled "cavalieri," and all natives of Great Britain and Ireland "companions." The grand master is the first and principal knight grand cross, and the lord high commissioner has precedence of all other grand crosses. The knights grand crosses are entitled to bear supporters, and to encircle their arms with the collar, ribbon, and motto of the order. The knights commanders and cavalieri also encircle their arms with the ribbon and motto; and the companions suspend the badge of the order to their arms.

HABIT AND INSIGNIA.

THE STAR of a knight grand cross is composed of seven rays of silver, having a small ray of gold between each of them, and over all the cross of St. George, gules. In the centre is a representation of the Archangel St. Michael encountering Satan, within a blue circle, inscribed with the motto AUSPICIUM MELIORIS ÆVI.

THE COLLAR is formed alternately of lions of England, of Maltese crosses, and of the cyphers S M and S G, having in the centre the imperial crown, over two winged lions, passant, guardant, each holding a book, and seven arrows. At the opposite end of the collar are two similar lions. The whole is of gold, except the crosses, which are of white enamel, and it is linked together by small gold chains.

THE BADGE is a gold cross of fourteen points of white enamel, edged with gold, having in the centre, on one side, the Archangel St. Michael encountering Satan, and on the other, St. George, on horseback, encountering a dragon, within a blue circle, on which the motto of the order is inscribed. The Cross is surmounted by the imperial crown, and is worn by the grand crosses to a wide Saxon blue ribbon with a scarlet stripe from the right shoulder to the left side, and on collar days from the collar.

THE MANTLE is of Saxon blue satin, lined with scarlet silk, tied with cordons of blue and scarlet silk and gold, and has on the left side the star of a knight grand cross.

THE CHAPEAU is of blue satin, lined with scarlet, and surmounted with white and black ostrich feathers.

THE KNIGHTS COMMANDERS wear the badge suspended to a narrower ribbon from the neck, and have on their left side a star composed of four rays, with a small cross of eight points in saltier, of silver, surmounted by the cross of St. George, gules, and having the same centre as the star of the grand crosses.

THE CAVALIERI and COMPANIONS wear the small cross of the order from a still narrower ribbon, at the button-hole of their coats.

MOTTO—AUSPICIUM MELIORIS ÆVI.

VALVASORS.—The first name of dignity, next beneath a peer, was anciently that of Vidames, Vicedomini, or Valvasor, who are mentioned by our ancient lawyers as virī magnæ dignitatis, and Sir Edward Coke speaks highly of them. Yet they are at present entirely out of use; and our legal antiquaries are not agreed upon even their original or ancient office. Now, therefore, the first personal dignity after the nobility is a knight of the order of St. George, or of the Garter, first instituted by EDWARD III., anno 1344.—Blackstone.

(a) Lord Great Chamberlain, when in actual performance of official duty, statute 1st GEORGE I.

 In Canopo ut ad Canopum. Louis, Bt. The sense of this legend is the most obscure in the whole list of mottoes. The following explanation has been offered by a learned correspondent. "Canopus is the name of a city in Egypt (Gens fortunata Canopi, Virg. Georg. iv. v. 237), now Abouquir, a place celebrated during the crusades. The word also signifies a star (fixed) of the first magnitude, in the constellation Argos, and southern hemisphere, (Sidus ingens et clarum, Plin. Hist. Nat. vi. 22.) The motto may therefore have been assumed by a crusader, importing that to have fought for the cross in Egypt (in Canopo), was the road to heaven (ad canopum, a star, equivalent to ad astra.)" Admiral Louis, however, having died on board the ship Canopus, another meaning, though perhaps somewhat similar, is intended.

 Je ne cherche qu'un. I seek but one. Northampton, M.
 Je n'oublierai jamais. I will never forget. Bristol, M.
 Je pense. I think. Wemyss, E. The expression of Descartes, "Je pense, donc je suis," I think, then I am; to shew that thought was the clearest proof of existence. In the life of Sir Humphrey Davy this is further illustrated. Sir Humphrey there relates the powerful impression made upon him on inhaling a certain quantity of nitrous acid. When he tried the dangerous experiment of its effects on respiration, "Nothing exists but thought" was his exclamation.
 Je pense plus. I think the more. Marr, E.
 Je suis pret. I am ready. Farnham, E. Lovat, B. Frazer, Bt.

 Justum et tenacem. Hor. Od. lib. iii. od. 3. Just and firm of purpose. Colthurst, Bt.
 "The man in conscious virtue bold,
 Who dares his secret purpose hold,
 Unshaken hears the crowd's tumultuous cries,
 And the impetuous tyrant's angry brow defies.
 Let the wild winds that rule the seas
 Tempestuous all their horrors raise;
 Let Jove's dread arm with thunder rend the spheres,
 Beneath the crush of worlds undaunted he appears."—Francis.

 Labore et perseverantia. By industry and perseverance. Campbell, Bt.
 Lamh laidir an nachtar. The strongest hand is on high. O'Brien, Bt. The literal translation of this motto is, "The strongest hand uppermost," but by an alteration of one letter in the last word it will mean "The strongest hand is on high," or "in heaven;" and it has been so translated by the Marquess of Thomond, whose motto is in French, "Vigueur de dessus."
 Lamh derg eirin. The red hand of Ireland. O'Neill, E. In an ancient expedition of some adventurers to Ireland, their leader declared that whoever first touched the shore should possess the territory which he reached. O'Neil, from whom descend the princes of Ulster, bent upon obtaining the reward, and seeing another boat likely to land, cut his hand off and threw it on the coast. Hence the traditionary origin of the motto. The RED HAND was adopted by JAMES I., as the badge on instituting the order of Baronet. The design of the institution being the colonization of the province of Ulster, in Ireland, the arms of the province were deemed the most appropriate insignia.

 Though baffled oft, is ever won."—Byron.
 Libertas sub rege pio. Claudian, de laudibus Stiliconis, lib. iii. v. 114. Liberty under a virtuous king. Sidmouth, V.
 The lines of Claudian are,
 "Fallitur egregie quisquis sub principe credit
 Servitium, nunquam libertas gratior exstat
 Quam sub rege pio."
 "He errs indeed who thinks if single sway
 Should rule the land, 'tis slavery to obey:
 A good king's subjects cherish liberty,
 No other freemen are so safely free."
 Libertate quietem. Quiet in liberty. Woodford, Bt. The sentence is, "Manus hæc inimica tyrannis, ense petit placidam sub libertate quietem," written in the album of the University of Copenhagen, by Algernon Sidney, when ambassador from the English commonwealth at the court of Denmark. Sidney also repeated them in the book of mottoes, in the royal library in the same city. Terlon, the French ambassador, being told that these to him unintelligible words contained a revolutionary sentiment, tore them out of the book.

Murus æneus conscientia sana. A sound conscience is a wall of brass. Scarborough, E.
 Mutas inglorius artes. To exercise unambitious of glory the silent arts. Halford, Bt. This motto is an elegant quotation from the description of the physician Iapis, in the twelfth book of Virgil's Æneid, which has thus been rendered by Dryden :

“ Iäpis was at hand to prove his art,
 Whose blooming youth so fired Apollo's heart,
 That, for his love, he proffer'd to bestow
 His tuneful harp, and his unerring bow :
 The pious youth, more studious how to save
 His aged sire, now sinking to the grave,
 Preferr'd the power of plants, and silent praise
 Of healing arts, before Phœbean bays.”

The medical profession was by no means in honour at Rome. Every senator and rich Roman had his family physician among his own bondmen, and none but slaves practised the art until Augustus made Antonius Musa a freed man : in Greece it was different. Tasso, speaking of Erotimo, when attending on the wounded Tancred, closely imitates the lines of Virgil :

“ E già l'antico Erotimo, che nacque
 In riva al Pò, s'adopra in sua salute,
 Il qual de l'herbe, e de le nobil'acque
 Ben conosceva ogni uso, ogni virtute.
 Carò a le Muse ancor ; ma si compì acque
 Ne la gloria minor de l'arti mute
 Sol curò torre à morte i corpi frali,
 E potea far' i nomi anco immortali.”
Tasso, Gier. Lib. canto xi. st. 70.

“ Gray Erotimus, born beside the Po,
 Came to his aid ; a sage who knew the use
 And secret virtues of all springs that flow—
 Of all green herbs the hills and woods produce :
 He, too, was smiled on by the partial muse,
 But valued sweet Castalia's warbling wave
 Less than the mute fall of Poenian dews ;
 His science wounded men from death could save,
 And cancelled names in verse immortally engrave.”—J. H. Wiffen.

IMPORTANT WORKS,
PUBLISHED BY MR. COLBURN,
13, GREAT MARLBOROUGH STREET.

MR. BURKE'S
HISTORY OF THE LANDED GENTRY;

COMPRISING

ACCOUNTS OF ALL THE EMINENT FAMILIES IN THE UNITED KINGDOM,
AND OF UPWARDS OF 100,000 INDIVIDUALS CONNECTED WITH THEM.

ILLUSTRATED WITH THE ARMORIAL BEARINGS OF EACH FAMILY, PORTRAITS, ETC.

* * This important work has been undertaken by Mr. Burke, as a companion to his well-known and established "Dictionary of the Peerage and Baronetage of the United Kingdom," and upon a somewhat similar plan, in order that the two publications may embrace the whole body of the British Peerage, Baronetage, and Gentry, and may furnish such a mass of authentic information, in regard to all the principal Families in the Kingdom, as has never before been brought together.

This important work is now completed in 16 parts, price 7s. 6d. each, large paper, and 4s. 6d. each small paper; and subscribers are therefore advised to send their orders immediately to their respective booksellers for the completion of their sets, to prevent disappointment.

Complete sets may also now be had in four vols., large paper, price 31s. 6d. each.

In four vols., small paper, price 18s. each.

MR. BURKE'S
EXTINCT DORMANT, AND SUSPENDED PEERAGES;

A COMPANION TO ALL OTHER PEERAGES.

Beautifully printed in double columns, price 18s. bound.

This work, formed on a plan precisely similar to that of Mr. Burke's very popular Dictionary of the present Peerage and Baronetage, comprises those Peerages which have been suspended or extinguished since the Conquest, particularizing the members of each family in each generation, and bringing the lineage, in all possible cases, through either collaterals or females, down to existing houses. It connects, in many instances, the new with the old nobility, and it will in all cases shew the cause which has influenced the revival of an extinct dignity in a new creation. It should be particularly noticed, that this new work appertains nearly as much to extant as to extinct persons of distinction; for though dignities pass away, it rarely occurs that whole families do.

DUKE OF WELLINGTON, EMBRACING HIS Military, Civil, & Political Career, to the Present Time.
EDITED BY
SIR J. E. ALEXANDER, K.L.S.
42ND HIGHLANDERS.

No period of modern history lays claim to more absorbing interest, or is susceptible of richer illustration, than that of the celebrated wars in which the great Captain of his age has shone with such distinguished lustre.

As the leader of armies, the character of the Duke of Wellington was known to all the world; but his disposition, his qualities as a man, his conduct as a statesman and diplomatist, remained yet to be portrayed. To supply this desideratum is the object of the biography here announced; which, not confining its scope to the display of that genius which conceived and executed the plans that were crowned with lasting success at Waterloo, and decided the future destinies of Europe, endeavours to bring into fuller view all the most striking points of the character of the individual.

Works of great variety and extent, by able writers, embracing every subject connected with the military history of the times in its minutest details, have doubtless appeared, and still continue to invite public curiosity and attention; but, valuable as these records are, and many of them written by men who bore a share in the memorable scenes which they describe, not one of them has attempted to give more than mere casual sketches of the character and opinions of their illustrious contemporary. In so far, it may justly be observed, that while the great commander has often formed the subject of a portrait, he has never sat for a whole-length view. That any one hand should succeed, however, in delineating all parts of a character like that of the Duke of Wellington would be not less extraordinary than if the same artist were to undertake to represent portrait, landscape, battle-scenes, historical subjects, in all their varieties, and even to draw plans and maps.

To treat with success the numerous important matters essentially connected with the career of such a man required a combined effort. This plan of co-operation has accordingly been adopted; the work thus fully prepared, from exclusive, as well as from open sources, is now presented to the public, and the publisher trusts that he is not too sanguine in his expectation of its proving one of the most comprehensive, interesting, and popular works of its class.

MRS. TROLLOPE'S NEW WORK,

IN SHILLING PARTS FOR UNIVERSAL CIRCULATION.

Now in course of publication, to be completed in Twenty Monthly Shilling Parts, printed and embellished uniformly with "Nicholas Nickleby," &c.

MICHAEL ARMSTRONG,
THE FACTORY BOY.

BY FRANCES TROLLOPE.

It is now several years since the condition of the children in the factories of our manufacturing districts first attracted the attention of a few philanthropic individuals; and from that time to the present, their exertions to obtain the protection of law for these helpless unfortunates have neither ceased nor slackened. But, alas! power, wealth, and influence are arrayed against them. Amid the exulting shout which from a million throats proclaims to the nations of the world England's boasted commercial wealth and prosperity, the still, small voice of helpless infancy—the feeble cry of murdered babes, with whose blood the fabric of this prosperity is cemented—falls unheeded and unheard.

The object of Mrs. Trollope's new work, "Michael Armstrong, the Factory Boy," is to bring the case of these unhappy beings, in a peculiar and striking manner, before the British public. Englishmen know not the appalling horrors of this atrocious system. It may be safely asserted, that were all the facts of the case generally known, such abominations must cease to exist. It cannot be believed, that it is the deliberate will of the British people, that the tree of their national prosperity (as we dare to call it) should be impurely nourished by such a mass of moral putridity and corruption at its root.

It is confidently hoped, therefore, that the exposure of the system, which is the purpose of this work, will serve the cause of justice and humanity.

The cheapest form of publication has been adopted, that the work may find its way into the cottage as well as into the drawing-room, and that the resistless, though not quickly moving, weight of public opinion may be fully brought to bear upon the subject.

It only remains to be added, that although the form of fiction has been chosen as being the most attractive, the facts stated and the circumstances disclosed are no fiction—but most true—most sad realities.

The readers of "Michael Armstrong" are entreated to believe, that none of the details of suffering and oppression which they may find there are overcharged or exaggerated. The true facts of the system, in the nakedness of their own hideous deformity, defy all exaggeration, and throw into the shade all the ideal horrors which the pen of the romancer could create. However startling the disclosed secrets of the prison-house shall be, the public may be assured that such things are—ay, in the very midst of them; in the midst of happy, prosperous, merry England. Let them look to it in earnest, and no longer delay to remedy the evil.

MEMOIRS OF THE BEAUTIES

THE COURT OF CHARLES II.

WITH AN INTRODUCTORY VIEW OF THE STATE OF FEMALE SOCIETY, AND ITS INFLUENCE, DURING THAT REMARKABLE REIGN.

BY MRS. JAMESON,

AUTHORESS OF "CHARACTERISTICS OF WOMEN," ETC.

Comprising a series of twenty-one splendid portraits, illustrating the Diaries of Pepys, Evelyn, Clarendon, and other contemporary writers of that gay and interesting period. Engraved by the most distinguished artists, from drawings made by order of her late Royal Highness the Princess Charlotte.

NEARLY READY,

NARRATIVE OF THE VOYAGES

H.M.S. ADVENTURE & BEAGLE,

BY

CAPTAINS KING & FITZROY, AND CHARLES DARWIN, ESQ.,

NATURALIST OF THE BEAGLE.

In 3 vols. 8vo, with Maps, Charts, and numerous Illustrations by Landseer and other eminent Artists.

These volumes detail the various incidents which occurred during the examination of the Southern Shores of South America, and the Beagle's circumnavigation of the Globe, and add considerably to our knowledge of Hydrography, Geography, and Natural History, and of the habits &c. of the Aborigines. There will be found in them the materials of three distinct works, embracing everything worthy of notice by all engaged in the expeditions during a period of nearly ten years. The first volume by CAPTAIN P. P. KING, F.R.S., relates to the expedition under his command, with an APPENDIX by MAJOR SABINE, R.A., F.R.S., containing discussions on the magnetic observations made during the voyages. The second volume is by CAPTAIN ROBERT FITZROY, and relates to the second voyage, with an Appendix, giving the determination of many positions and measurements of meridian distances and other nautical information. The third volume, by CHARLES DARWIN, Esq., M.A., is an account of his discoveries in Natural History, with novel ideas respecting Geology, the Coral Islands, &c. The work is beautifully illustrated with etchings and engravings on steel, by Mr. Landseer and other eminent artists, from drawings by Mr. Martens and Mr. Earle; and with Charts and Plans by Mr. Gardner and Messrs. Walker; and an entirely new map of South America, by Mr. J. Arrowsmith, in which the position of places may be ascertained to within less than two miles. In the three volumes notices will be found of the Cape Verd, Falkland, and other Islands in the Atlantic Ocean—of the coasts of South America, from Pernambuco to Guayaquil—of the Galapagos Islands—the Dangerous Archipelago, or Low Islands—Otaheite—New Zealand—Australia—the Keeling Islands—Mauritius—and the Cape of Good Hope.
